CAMPBELLFORD

Various Reports Given at H.S. Board Meet

CAMPBELFORD — All members were present at the regular meeting of the North-East Northumberland District High School Board meeting held on February 2nd.

Mr. D. Bennett reported that salary negotiations were being carried on with the teachers' salary committee and the management committee of the board.

He also reported that, on three occasions, several members of he Board had visited high schools in Norwood, Brighton and Belleville to observe details of design and operations of cafeterias and other features of the schools. It was found that the large majority of students in the schools visited use the cafeteria facilities and in addition, these rooms are constantly in use throughout the day as study rooms and as a projection room.

Mr. W. R. Loucks reported that the transportation committee had arrived at an estimated budge for 1962.

Dr. J. E. Trimble reported that requests for permission to use the auditorium had been received from the Public school, county of Northumberland and Seymour township for oratorical contests. These requests were granted and it was decided that in the future all inquiries of this nature should be left to the property committee and the principal with power to act.

The property committee was empowered to carry out the recommendations contained in the inspection report on the boiler, and also to attend to having the balcony railing in the gymnasium repaired at once.

Principal R. M. Hall reported and advised the Board of School activities presently being arranged. A trip to Toronto was being planned and arrangements made for Grade XII Economics students to visit the Bell Telephone office and the Toronto Stock Exchange and for Grade XI Art students to visit the Art Gallery and the Ontario College of Art.

A report on accommodation indicated that one additional classroom will be required to provide accommodation for the predicted enrolment for September 1962. A brief discussion followed as to the best location on the school grounds for the second temporary classroom.

Subscription to the Municipal World was authorized.

It was decided to enter into a maintenance agreement with I.B.M. for the regular maintenance of the master clock and program unit and also agreed that a special meeting be held at the call of the chairman to consider and finalize the budget for 1962.

SUGGESTS SUPERVISION

WINNIPEG (CP) — Federal government supervision of all pension plans in Canada was suggested Tuesday by D. E. Kilgour, president of the Great-West Life Assurance Company. Speaking at the company's annual meeting, Mr. Kilgour said: "It is well known that either heavy investment weather or unfavorable mortality or too optimistic assumptions have tragically impaired many pension plans in the past."

Melrose

Church services are being held in the township hall and have been well attended.

At a congregational meeting a planning board was appointed to formulate plans for the new church which will be built to replace the former structure. When the congregation met again on Saturday evening this board presented its findings and suggestions to the assembly. Nothing definite was decided. A new church trustee board was appointed and a finance committee formed to take care of the new business resulting from the loss of the Melrose United Church. The trustee board is made up of the following members: Russell Macfarlane, Elliott Embury, Mac Lazier, William English and Grant McLaren.

The congregation plans to meet again on the 12th of the month.

The millinery course sponsored by the Melrose W.I. is being held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ken McMechan. Eleven interested ladies were present on Friday to begin work at ten o'clock, but the leader had not arrived as the cab driver had difficulty in locating Melrose However, no time was wasted when she did arrive and much had been accomplished when the meeting closed at 4 p.m. The course continues Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The Friday evening fire which consumed the house of Mr. John Goodfellow was another shock to the community. Mr. Goodfellow was renovating the interior and hoped to move in early this spring. Due to the calm evening and the presence of the firemen with two fire trucks from Belleville, no further property damage resulted.

Miss Margaret English and friend, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mrs. A. English and Billie.

Mrs. Jack McLaren and John called on Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lloyd, Wellington, on Sunday afternoon.

The teachers of the school area entertained the trustees and their wives on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Weese. Cards were enjoyed, high scorers being Mrs. McMechan and Mr. Weese. Delicious refreshments were served. Words of appreciation were expressed by Mr. R. Clarke.

Agrarians Gain, Reds Lose As Result of Finnish Vote

HELSINKI (Reuters) — President Urho Kekkonen's Agrarian party has displaced the Communists as the largest party in the Finnish parliament.

Unofficial returns from the two-day election which ended Monday showed a swing to the right that increased Agrarian representation to 54 from 47 seats while the Communists were reduced to 47 from 50.

The Agrarian party, which up to now has ruled as a one-party minority government with parliamentary support, was given a good chance of forming a coalition government with a working majority in the 200-seat house.

But prospects were dim for a coalition between the Agrarians and the Social Democrats, the third largest party.

Such a coalition, essential to Finnish political stability, appeared to be ruled out by the re-election of anti-Communist Social Democrats who might compromise Finland's delicate relations with Russia.

But the Communist losses were seen as an assurance that the government would continue without Communist representation as it has since 1948.

The Communists had been the biggest group in parliament since 1958 and observers said it would have been difficult to keep them out of a future government if they had maintained or increased their edge in parliament.

The election was called five months earlier than scheduled after Russia's October request for Soviet-Finnish military talks over an alleged security threat from West Germany.

Kekkonen, whose neutralist policy emphasizes cordial relations with Moscow, was re-elected president last month after talking the Russians out of holding military discussions.

Voters ignored Agrarian party calls for defeat of the Social Democrats and the latter party increased its representation to 38 from 37.

But the Social Democrats were seen as suffering a setback because they failed to pick up the seats lost by the Social Democrat Opposition, another party whose representation was cut to three from 14.

The so-called "bourgeois" parties won 122 seats compared with 88 for the Communists and the two left-wing socialist groups. The latter previously commanded a majority with 101 of the 200 parliamentary places.

Apart from the Agrarian gains, Conservative party seats rose to 32 from 29 and Finnish Popularity party representation increased to 11 from eight. The Swedish Popularity party retained its 14 seats and the small Farmers' party held on to its lone representative.

MANSFIELD, HUBBY AND FRIEND SAFE

WAITING FOR WORD—Relatives and friends wait at the entrance of the Luisenthan coal mine near Saarbruecken, Germany, for news about miners trapped below. An explosion caved in large areas of the mine and latest reports from officials of the mine reported 270 were killed with 10 to 70 still missing. (AP Wirephoto).

Loss of Life in Saar Coal Mine Explosion Rises to 270; Number Missing Unknown

VOELKINGEN, West Germany (AP) — The Saar Valley counted 270 dead and 83 severely injured today in Germany's second worst coal mining disaster. Up to 70 miners are believed still missing.

The bodies of miners—burned, gassed or crushed under tons of coal and rock—were being extricated by rescue teams more than 30 hours after a massive firedamp explosion in Luisenthal mine here Wednesday.

The death toll reached 270 when officials of the Saar state mining authority said 268 bodies had been brought to the surface and two men had died in hospital.

The number still buried in the caved-in debris of the mine's fourth level 1,800 feet underground was uncertain. One report said that as many as 70 miners might still be underground. Another report said that the number could be less than 10.

Rescue authorities admitted they could not tell for sure, due to confusion in reporting of survivors.

In any case, rescuers had all but given up hope that any more would be found alive. The last man brought out alive was discovered Wednesday at midday.

Since then rescue crews have found only bodies, many contorted in suffering from burns and asphyxiation.

During the night, rescuers found one group of men "littered like leaves" in one gallery, a miner said.

Dr. Carl Hugo, spokesman for the Saarland Mining Authority, said "I can't even guess" at the number of missing.

Confusion as to the number still in the mine was attributed to the possibility that some survivors might have fled in panic and be at home.

The Saar radio called on such men to report to the management of the state-owned mine.

Most of the 83 survivors in hospitals were listed in critical condition.

A massive explosion bringing down tons of coal and rock thundered through the mine Wednesday. The blast was followed by fire.

Most of the miners whose bodies have been recovered died from carbon monoxide poisoning, Hugo said. Some died from burns and others from the shock wave which hurled them up to 120 feet and smashed their lungs.

FIND ONLY BODIES

The last man brought out alive was rescued at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Since then rescue workers had found only bodies, and they held little hope that any of the men still trapped underground survived.

About 100 more of the mine's work force were not accounted for. It was not known whether they, too, were casualties or whether they had fled in panic from the disaster and were at home. The Saar radio station at regular intervals called on all such men to report to the management of the state-owned mine so that a roll call could be taken.

Many of the rescuers were among the 200 miners who escaped when a sheet of flame shot through the main shaft and set off a blast that sent timbers flying and brought tunnel walls and ceilings crashing down 1,800 feet below the surface.

"It felt like being hit by a giant's fist," said Georg Kneip, 21, who was in gallery No. 2. "Grey, dirty clouds filled the part of the gallery I was in. I could barely see my hands even if I raised them to my face. The lamps at the top of our helmets just did not get through this thick cloud."

Kneip said he managed to reach No. 4 gallery where the explosion occurred and found a scene of horror.

"One body was headless," he said. "The injured looked terrible. Almost all their clothes were burned to ashes. Some looked completely black. Many cried in agony, others moaned."

As dog-tired U.S. troops and German teams continued their rescue work in the mine, an authoritative source said as many U.S. nuclear weapons explosions in the atmosphere.

Kennedy plans to introduce a new demand at the Geneva talks that darken prospects of any progress being reached.

At the same time he is moving closer to a final decision on whether to resume atmospheric nuclear tests. He indicated at OTTAWA (CP)—The government's pension-boosting social welfare improvement program rolled through a benevolent Commons Wednesday keeping pace with galloping speculation about an imminent election.

The House approved a $10 monthly increase — to $65—in the basic old age pension payable to all citizens at age 70. The bill then went to the Senate where it received first reading.

Then it passed a resolution to effect a similar increase in old age assistance — pensions paid to persons aged 65 to 69 who can pass a means test. The legislation itself was given first reading.

PAY HALF THE COST

The provinces pay half the cost of the old age assistance program.

Finally, the Commons passed a resolution to increase blind persons allowances to $65 monthly from $55 monthly. The legislation was introduced and given first reading.

The federal government pays 75 per cent of these pensions, the provinces 25 per cent.

Both the blind pensions bill and the old age assistance bill for those between 65 and 69 contain clauses increasing the ceil-

May He Die Thousand Times Daily Mother's Wish for Son's Slayer

That's the wish of a boy's mother after hearing that the death sentence of his murderer has been commuted to life imprisonment.

The killer, Salvatore Agron, a Puerto Rican, was 16 when two 16-year-old boys were stabbed to death in a Manhattan playground two years ago.

Agron won clemency Wednesday from Governor Nelson Rockefeller. The prosecutor, the sentencing judge and others had urged that Agron's life be spared.

Mrs. Frances Krzesinski, mother of the slain Anthony Krzesinski, refused to talk to reporters, but this note addressed to the press was posted on the door of her apartment:

"Agron will live on our tax which we must pay, but I wish he never has a good day for the rest of his life. May he die a thousand deaths a day."

In another note—addressed to the governor—Mrs. Krzesinski said Agron "should pay the penalty for his crime to the fullest extent, death in the electric chair. . . ."

Mrs. Florence Fontaine, foster mother of the slain Robert Young, asked why Agron's sentence should be commuted.

"He killed two boys," she said. "Why should the state support him now?"

Shad Polier, Agron's counsel, said Robert's father, William, wrote to the governor recently asking clemency for the killer.

Agron and several other Puerto Rican youths arrested for the slaying said they had been told that Puerto Ricans had been ill treated by Irish-American and Italian-American boys in the neighborhood.

U.S., Britain Make New Bid For Nuclear Arms Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain announced today agreement on Christmas Island in the mid-Pacific as a site for United States nuclear-test programs. At the same time, they called for an East-West foreign ministers meeting on disarmament.

The proposal for a foreign ministers meeting was made by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

A joint U.S.-British statement said that foreign ministers of the three powers should meet in advance of the proposed 18-nation disarmament conference opening at Geneva March 14 and should also be ready to participate personally in the negotiations.

The aim of this foreign ministers effort would be to generate a "supreme effort" to bring the nuclear arms race under control, the joint statement said.

On the military side, the two Western governments declared that "the existing state of nuclear development . . . would justify the West in making such further series of nuclear tests as may be necessary for purely military reasons."

An important factor in the present state of nuclear development, the statement said, is the "recent massive Soviet tests."

"The United States and United Kingdom governments," the statement then said, "have therefore decided that preparations should be made in various places and as part of these the United Kingdom government are making available to the United States government the facilities at Christmas Island."

The island, which is a huge atoll, lies more than 1,000 miles south of Hawaii in a lonely section of the Pacific.

U.S. officials said the proposal to raise the disarmament meeting at Geneva March 14 to the foreign ministers level was not a barrier to going ahead with

Defence Minister Controls Temper on Opposition Barbs

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Harkness in the last couple of weeks has demonstrated one of the cardinal attributes to a successful politician: He has kept his temper under control.

He has had to stand off in the Commons a succession of opposition barbs about lack of a government decision on acceptance of American nuclear warheads, especially for the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile.

The 58-year-old former army colonel must find this particularly galling because he himself is understood to favor nuclear weapons for the armed forces.

Under the cabinet system of government, every minister must adhere to and support the cabinet's position or resign.

On Jan. 29, the government conceded in a written reply to a Commons question that there isn't even a conventional warhead for the Bomarc.

The Liberal defence critic, Paul Hellyer, a sharp jabber, asked whether it is government policy to equip the armed forces with unarmed missiles.

This, Mr. Harkness said, wasn't "worthy" of a reply.

Back Mr. Hellyer came Feb. 1. What was the function of the Bomarc base at North Bay, if the missiles couldn't shoot down anything?

On Wednesday, Mr. Harkness said North Bay isn't listed as a prime target area.

Mr. Hellyer wanted to know whether this was because the Bomarcs were unarmed.

"The old practice of asking inappropriate questions," Mr. Harkness said.

Harold Winch (CCF — Vancouver East) asked what was the pupose of the Bomarc installation.

Speaker Roland Michener intervened to prevent any ministerial reply. Mr. Winch switched to the Honest John artillery rocket battery now attached to the Canadian Brigade in Europe. Was the Honest John warhead conventional, nuclear or sand?

Mr. Harkness said the only present warhead is a small explosive charge to allow the training battery to observe its shots.

Mr. Hellyer suggested the Honest John rockets might be used as flares if the brigade needed help.

CHILD KILLED, EIGHT INJURED IN BUS CRASH

Vapor Made Road Visibility Zero

CHAPAIS, Que. (CP) — A packed school bus slammed into the rear of a trailer truck in 50-below zero weather Wednesday, leaving one child dead and at least eight other persons with serious injuries.

Provincial police and other sources in Chibougamau, a mining town 30 miles northeast of here where the accident occurred, estimated temperatures at 50 to 60 below and said icy vapor made road visibility zero.

There were 42 children aboard the bus, plus the driver and an adult hitchhiker, when it plowed into the truck within Chibougamau's limits — just moments from school and safety.

Raymond Savignac, 10, was killed. Claude Boivin, 10, and his brother Serge, 6, were taken to hospital at Montreal with severe head injuries. Their sister Monique, 11, was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

John Papinovics, 14, suffered a broken jaw, leg and head injuries and Eric Taylor, 16, a broken leg. Chislaine Daoust, 8, was to be released from hospital today.

Other children were treated on the scene by Chibougamau doctors for broken noses, bruises and cuts and other minor injuries.

Most were the sons and daughters of miners in this rich copper area.

Hitch - hiker August Lavoie, along with the children, was brought to Opemiska Copper Mines hospital here. He has a broken pelvis, shoulder, hand and kidney contusion.

"I think they'll make it though," said Dr. Pat Fyfe, in a telephone interview. "I think they'll all make it."

Police said an investigation is under way but no charges have been laid.

Couple Almost Came to Blows Before Shooting

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Stillwell had an argument and almost came to blows only 10 days before Mrs. Stillwell was shot to death, a neighbor testified Wednesday.

Stillwell, 23, is charged with the non - capital murder of his 19 - year - old wife Janet Nov. 16. The woman was shot through the heart with a .22 - calibre bullet from a rifle.

In a statement given to police, admitted as evidence by Mr. Justice D. R. Morand, Stillwell admitted shooting Janet but claimed it was an accident.

Mrs. Judy Coote, testifying Wednesday, said that she was having supper with the Stillwells Nov. 6 when Mrs. Stillwell slapped their 16 - month - old son, William, for trying to push his dish on the floor.

"John told her not to . . . she kicked John in the shins. He raised his hand as if to slap her. Then he looked at me and did not slap her."

The trial is continuing.

Feared For Lives When Capsized Boat Was Found

Picked Up Off Beach Returned to Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield, her husband and a Florida friend were found on nearby Rose Island today after a search that began Wednesday when they failed to return from a water-skiing trip.

Their 17-foot open boat was found overturned near the island about sundown. Search boats from Nassau scoured the area throughout the night and planes joined in at daybreak.

At mid-morning today, a Nassau Development Board airplane spotted water skis near the eastern tip of the island and notified a United States Coast Guard plane, which located the three.

The trio—Miss Mansfield, her husband, movie strongman Mickey and their friend, hotel publicist Jack Drury of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. — were found on the beach.

They were picked up by a fishing boat and returned to Nassau.

SUFFER EXPOSURE

The coast guard said they were suffering slight exposure because they were dressed only in swimming suits. Temperatures during the night dropped to 64 degrees.

They skied gaily off from Nassau about noon Wednesday, the actress clad in a scanty bathing suit. Drury piloted the white-hulled boat with an outboard motor.

Photographers in other boats followed for about a mile, shooting pictures of the bosomy actress and her husband, a former Mr. Universe.

The first sign that anything was wrong came when Miss Mansfield missed a 6 p.m. press conference in Nassau.

At 8:30 p.m., a search was begun. The report of the finding of the overturned boat with a broken steering column touched off a wider, more-intense hunt.

All three were reported excellent swimmers.

Rose Island is some six miles from Nassau. It is about nine miles long and a half-mile wide and virtually uninhabited. There are no communications.

ICE THREATENS SHIPPING

ALTON, Ill. (AP)—A huge ice field descended on the Alton dam, ripping 23 barges from their moorings, after a 12-mile ice gorge broke up Wednesday on the Mississippi River. U.S. Army engineers said the ice mass threatened down - river shipping and posed a possible danger to the dam. The 23 barges were adrift. Three towboats also were caught in the floating ice.

Personal Letters Sent to Nikita Urging Ministers' Conference

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today that both he and President Kennedy have sent personal letters to Soviet Premier Khrushchev urging a foreign ministers' conference on banning nuclear tests.

Macmillan also told Parliament that the United States has agreed to provide suitable facilities in Nevada for the underground testing of one particular British nuclear device within the next few weeks.

The prime minister said he and Kennedy proposed that the U.S., British and Russian foreign ministers meet before the 18-nation Geneva disarmament conference opening March 14.

Macmillan's announcement came at the same time as a similar one in Washington which also said Britain had agreed to make its nuclear test base at Christmas Island in the Pacific available to the U.S. as a part of preparation for resuming Western testing in the atmosphere if this becomes necessary.

On Christmas Island, Macmillan said talks now are going on in Washington calling for Britain to allow the U.S. use of the island for a limited period and for a specific program of tests "with which we shall be associated."

Blood Clinic Tops Quota With 307 Bottles Donated

For the first time since the end of World War 2 the citizens of Belleville have provided over 300 bottles of blood to the Red Cross at a single clinic. Yesterday afternoon and evening at the Kiwanis Centre 330 citizens presented themselves as donors and 307 were accepted and the 307 bottles of blood exceeded the 300-clinic quota. If this achievement could be continued for the remaining five clinics this year, Belleville could reach its quota of 1,800 bottles of blood and come close to matching the number of bottles used in the hospital each year.

Yesterday's effort was a joint affair with industry, trade and commerce providing nearly all the afternoon donors and the regular panel of donors together with some from industry, providing the evening's list. Groups came from 14 industrial trade and commercial firms, McFarlane - Gendron, Deacon Brothers, Bakelite, J. & J. Cash, Mead Johnson, International Hardware, Lannings Ltd., Wilson Concrete Products Ltd., Canada Cement Company, Corby Distillery, Ontario Hydro, Ontario Intelligencer, Victoria and Grey Trust Company and Bank of Montreal. Groups from the Bank of Nova Scotia and Royal Bank were asked to wait until the April Clinic as the standing room only sign was out for the afternoon.

Up to date, 24 firms have accepted the Red Cross industrial plan, where employees are allowed to attend clinics in company time and at company expense. As time goes on, it is expected that many more firms will accept this plan.

No person was in the clinic for more than one hour and four minutes and many of them were in and out of Kiwanis Centre in 35 minutes. It was a most successful clinic and shows what organization and co-operation will accomplish.

Robert L. Johnston, 189 Foster Avenue, retired CNR yardmaster, died suddenly Belleville General Hospital late Wednesday afternoon. He was rushed to the hospital on Tuesday suffering from a heart condition which had bothered him for some time.

Mr. Johnston was a keen railroad man and served the CNR for 51 years. He was born in Scotland 77 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, and came to this country as a young man. He entered the railway's employment at Depot Harbor and then came to this city. From 1922 to 1950 he was the general yardmaster at this terminal and he trained many young men in the art of handling trains in the yard. He retired in 1950, but kept active in other occupations until ill health overtook him.

He was a member of Tabernacle United Church and fraternally was a member of The Belleville Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 123, and also of Belleville Chapter, No. 55, of the Order of the Eastern Star. He retained his membership in the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Surviving are his wife, the former Hazel Pearl Charlton, and one sister, Mrs. Scott (Hannah) Campbell of Weston.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon from the John R. Bush Funeral Home, with interment in Harrowsmith cemetery.

Spaghetti Eating Cats Irk Husband

CHICAGO (AP) — Quentin Lapash, 39, complained to police Wednesday night that 40 spaghetti-eating cats kept by his wife, Red Feather, are making his life miserable.

A policeman who went to the five-room Lapash apartment said he lost count because the cats jumped around too much, and, besides, they all looked grey.

Lapash said his wife, a 42-year-old Blackfoot Indian whose name, indeed, is Red Feather, has a degree in animal husbandry from Purdue University.

The cats' feed bill was extremely high, Lapash said, although they recently were put on reduced rations of spaghetti.

"I like cats," Lapash, a factory worker, told policemen. "But I'm tired of living with 40 of them." Police took no immediate action.

Raymond Kwan Of Tweed Fined $2,500 by Court

TORONTO (CP) — Raymond Kwan, 56, of Tweed, Ont., was fined $2,500 or one year in jail after pleading guilty Wednesday to conspiring to arrange the illegal entry of a Chinese into Canada.

Magistrate W. F. B. Rogers was told that Fong York Shung came here in 1953, using a name supplied by Kwan.

Kwan had paid Lee Ling Gong, of Midland, Ont., $1,675 for the "paper name" of his son in Hong Kong.

Information of the Midland resident's son was mailed to Fong York Shung and he came to Canada posing as the son.

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict Of Negligence

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — A coroner's jury Wednesday night returned a verdict of negligence on the part of property owner Stanley Walton of Moncton in connection with a fire here Jan. 13 that killed five children.

The seven-man jury said negligence existed in that there was only one exit from the building. Two exits were present but one was nailed shut previous to occupany by the family of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dempsey, the jury said in its verdict.

The inquest was held into the death of one of the Dempsey children—15-year-old Shelia—as the other foue children were found to have died in the same way in the same fire. They were Joan, 8, Donna, 6, Claude 4 and Heather, four months.

Richard Stevens, building inspector and zone supervisor, described the two-storey frame dwelling as an "obsolete structure, a building suffering from lack of repair and not conforming with any of the city regulations."

He said it was in an area "blighted with overcrowding conditions," but didn't feel its condition was as bad as neighboring property also owned by Mr. Walton.

The Dempseys paid a monthly rent of $36, Mr. Walton testified he would have installed a bathtub but would have had to charge another $10 a month.

BENNY GETS CHECKUP

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—"Remember, it's 50 years in show business—but the age is 39," says Jack Benny, comedian-violinist here for a routine checkup at the Mayo Clinic. After playing his violin for reporters Wednesday, Benny asked: "Why should I retire? One maintains his youth by living—and after a while you get to believe it yourself."

a press conference Wednesday he will make up his mind within a month. Weapons testers said later they can fire the first shot in April if the president signals approval by March.

While Kennedy said the United States will continue to work with all its energy for effective disarmament, he expressed concern that Russia had been able to carry out secret preparations for atmospheric explosions for months without detection.

The West had demanded in previous negotiations there be effective inspection and control over the possibility of sneak explosions in any three-power nuclear test ban treaty. Now Kennedy wants that inspection and control idea extended to cover possible secret preparations for new explosions—a proposal that Russia is certain to reject.

The U.S. and its allies were caught flatfooted when Soviet Premier Khrushchev set off new atmospheric explosions late last summer and fall.

Noting that he already has initiated preparations for testing, Kennedy said: "I shall not hesitate to order the tests themselves if it is decided that they are necessary to maintain the effective deterrent strength of the United States."

He repeatedly emphasized he has not reached a final decision.

(The Associated Press reported that the trend of thinking in the Kennedy administration generally is that nuclear testing in the atmosphere should be resumed and that privately well-informed officials have indicated that Kennedy is moving steadily toward such an order.)

Kennedy expressed worry that Russia may be quietly preparing for a new atmospheric series, even while Russian negotiators talk about disarmament at the conference table. Each series may reduce U.S. nuclear leadership until the point is reached where Russia may jump ahead and feel cocky enough to start a new war.

"We cannot permit these (Soviet) tests to go on year after year and at the same time expect that the security of the Western world is going to be protected," Kennedy said.

"This is a deadly business, this competition, and I don't say that much security comes out of it. But less security would certainly come out of it if we permitted them to make a decisive breakthrough in an area like an (anti) ICBM, so we would certainly have to have some assurances against a repetition of this (Soviet testing) before we would feel that the (disarmament) treaty is a satisfactory one."

County Council Will Name Clerk-Treasurer at Session

Hastings county council today got down to the serious business of naming a new clerk-treasurer to fill the vacancy caused early in January by the death of Erle S. Denyes who had filled the position for 27 years.

Fifteen aspirants for the county post had applications in for the position and a special committee screened the number down to six from which council this afternoon was scheduled to name the new county official.

All of the six applicants remaining in the running are from the county of Hastings and included Tweed Reeve Douglas Spencer and Stirling Reeve Carl Bateman.

Others still in the field are all clerks in county municipalities. They included Thurlow Clerk Earl Dafoe and Jack Kincaid. Madoc village clerk, and former county warden.

A salary of $6,500 has been set for the position.

SCHOOL ISSUE

Also on the agenda for the special session of county councillors is the request of Tweed and Hungerford for withdrawal from the Centre Hastings High School Area.

For the past two months the school issue has been a contentious matter in the Centre Hastings district, but the question has apparently been mutually solved by the parties concerned.

It is understood the high school district board will support the withdrawal of Tweed and Hungerford on the condition of these two municipalities signing an agreement guaranteeing student attendance or financial support to the million dollar technical school proposed for Madoc.

With Centre Hastings High School Board and the two municipalities of Tweed and Hungerford in agreement on the issue, it appears that council approval for the withdrawal of the two municipalities from the high school area will be a formality.

At least that is the way Tudor Reeve Verse McMurray sized up the matter this morning.

"If they are in agreement, what have we to worry about?" he asked.

The school matter was also to be decided at this afternoon's session.

Senior Citizens Entertained by Varied Program

The Belleville Senior Citizens' Club held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday evening at the Recreation Centre on Pinnacle St. The president, Mr. Charles L. Hyde, opened the meeting with "The Queen," followed by a brief singsong and birthday greetings to all members who will be celebrating such an anniversary during the month of February.

A welcome was extended to all guests and a special introduction was given to a number of recently installed new members.

Mrs. Gist reported for the sick and visiting committee, noting with regret that quite a large number of members are somewhat indisposed.

The treasurer's report indicated a rather healthy financial status.

The secretary, Mrs. M. Drummond read the minutes of the January meetings and also the minutes of an executive meeting and several items on the agenda were satisfactorily disposed of and agreed to by all.

The club was grateful to the chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Alker, for presenting a most interesting and enjoyable program which consisted of dancing exhibitions by pupils from the Dorothy Dicked School of Dancing, under the direction of Miss Dickey, with Mrs. Jean Sine as piano accompanist.

VARIED PROGRAM

The several numbers on the program, were as follows:

Toe tap, Carolyn Chisholm; taps by Sharlene Derbyshire, Rochelle Mallory, Linda Musclow and Mary Beth Plumpton; taps by Carolyn Chisholm; taps by two Scotch lassies, Bonnie and Debbie Green; acrobatics by Judy Robinson; Scotch number by entire group, including three wee lassies, Marlene Reid, Rose Doran and Susene Ray.

The prolonged applause by all those present was sufficient evidence of their appreciation of the program presented, and the perfect precision of the youthful artists was a definite reflection on the excellence of the training being given them.

An hour of euchre followed the above program, under the direction of Mr. James Doyle. The winners were, the ladies playing as gents: first, Mrs. Wannamaker; second, Mrs. Drummond, and ladies' first, Mrs. C. Thorn; second, Mrs. Gist. Mr. Frank Bedell won the door prize draw.

The ladies of the refreshment committee served the usual delicacies and tea, and the meeting adjourned by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Driver Taken To Hospital After Collision

A Belleville man, Rolland Belmare, was taken to the Belleville General Hospital early this morning suffering from head injuries as the result of a car-truck collision at the intersection of the Milltown road and the second concession of Thurlow.

A car driven by Belmare, was said to have been northbound on the Milltown road when it collided with a tractor-trailer, which was proceeding east on the second of Thurlow.

The roads were reported in an icy condition and neither vehicle was able to stop in time to avoid the accident.

Two passengers in the Belmare car, Roger Laforte and Arthur Baberstock, were also taken to hospital but released after being treated.

Damage to the car was estimated at approximately $1,000 and $50 damage to the transport.

Cornwall Rink Wins Playoffs At Kingston

A rink, skipped by Peter McKay of Cornwall, upset all the dope in the British Consuls playdowns held at the Kingston Curling Club on Wednesday, when it won the single-rink curling championship semi-finals. McKay defeated Bill Lewis of the RCAF rink at Trenton, in the last end and with the last stone. This is the fourth time McKay has reached the district playoffs, but it is his first divisional title. He will now play the winners of district one, a two of three series at Gananoque for a place in the round robin series to be held at Owen Sound later in the month.

Cornwall played well all three games and defeated Al Cormarty, picked as the sure winner by the experts and Bernie Tetro of the Cataraqui club on his way to the title. The game with the Kingston rink had a large gallery and the rinks were tied coming home, with Cornwall having the last rock, which the skip did not have to throw. Cormarty missed an open takeout with his last rock and it was all over.

Bill Lewis and his sharpshooters from Trenton, disposed of the Belleville rink entered by Ben Corke, who was throwing lead stone and skipping the rink with Tom Carruthers throwing last rocks. After disposing of the Quinte entry rather handily, the Trenton rink defeated the Gananoque rink skipped by Keith Lashay and which had drawn a bye in the first round. It was a knockout competition and the players had to make every stone count. The Cornwall rink was strong at every position and they had a skip who could read the ice, which helped a great deal. This rink will be tough to beat in the semi-finals but will find the going rough at Owen Sound, but they should be able to take care of themselves at any type of game the opposition wants to play.

As usual the hospitality of the host club was excellent and many old friends were met and it was surprising to see the number of old baseball and hockey players of the district who have turned to curling for their recreation. The results of the games are as follows:

VOROSHILOV TO 'RUN'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Marshal Klimenti Voroshilov, 81-year-old former Soviet president who was attacked at the Soviet Communist party congress for joining the "anti-party" group, was nominated Wednesday as candidate for the March 15 Soviet general election. R. Barlow Named President At Annual Meeting of VON TRENTON — "Trenton led the way for Victorian Order of Nurses' service in this area," Frank Follwell, Belleville VON president for 1962, said at last night's 43rd annual meeting of the Trenton branch.

Mr. Follwell pointed out that the Belleville branch could boast of 37 years of service but that Trenton had the "edge" of an extra seven years.

O. W. Larry, Trenton's clerk-comptroller, extended a civic welcome to the guests, on behalf of Mayor James MacDonald and members of council.

In her report on 1961 branch activity, Miss Joan Moyer, nurse in charge, stressed the VON nurse's "individual" approach to the patient. She said that she and her assisting nurses were well aware of the fact that they were dealing with "live" individuals in their visits, and that the patients welcomed them with enthusiasm.

During 1961, prenatal and postnatal clinics were held; the nurses assisted at immunization clinics; daily or periodic visits were made to post-operative patients or to those suffering from a long-term disease; and nurses visited the town's separate schools and spent one hour daily, Monday to Friday, at a local industry.

Total receipts were $10,369 This figure includes a provincial grant of $231 and a grant from the town of Trenton of $1 880 Fund raising activity netted $1,637 and nursing fees came to $4,166. Donations totalled $1,130 and dues and membership fees accounted for $1,229 of total receipts.

Expenditures totalled $8,925. This includes nurses' salaries, amounting to $6,760. Smaller items of expense were such things as supplies and office stationery, car allowances and employees' pension fund payments.

No Quorum, No Meeting Of Council

TRENTON—Due to the fact that not enough members of the Trenton Community Coordination Council showed up at last night's meeting of the organization, to form a "voting" quorum, the members who did attend came to the conclusion that the burning question, "Is there is a need for this type of organization in Trenton?" had just about answered itself, and decided, unofficially, that the answer was "No".

The meeting had been called to decide the fate of the council. President Tom Bedford, William McLaren from the Trenton Legion branch, retiring secretary H. B. Smith and one lone reporter attended the special meeting.

The council was originally formed to co-relate dates of fund raising activities in the town. Last month, Al Perry, Kiwanis representative suggested that the council was serving no useful purpose as various groups had gone ahead and arranged their town dates without consulting the body.

TO GIVE DISPLAY

Next weekend, a search and rescue demonstration and a display of survival equipment will be held on Toronto Island for the benefit of members of the Toronto Flying Club and employees of Central Airways. The demonstration and display will be arranged by 102 Composite Unit, from RCAF Station, Trenton and will be under the guidance of Squadron Leader D. R. Cuthbertson, commanding officer of the unit. The latest search and rescue aircraft, (Albatross, Otter and a helicopter) will be on display, as well as radio and radar and marine rescue equipment and the latest para-rescue equipment. There will be a "live" demonstration of how a "downed" pilot could build a shelter in the wilds.

HEAVY DAMAGE

A two-car crash in Trenton last night resulted in estimated damages of $325 to the two vehicles involved.

Police say that a car driven by Donald Walsh of RR 3 Trenton was struck by a car driven by Maxwell Rowse of the RCAF, Trenton, as it attempted to make a turn on a green light at the intersection of Front St. and Dundas St. West. The Rowse car was proceeding west on Dundas Street West.

WANT HIGHER PRICES

ROME (Reuters) — Police clashed with a crowd of 500 peasants demanding higher milk prices Wednesday night at Terracina, 60 miles south of Rome, and a policeman and a demonstrator were injured. The peasants stopped selling their milk to cheese factories because they felt the price is too low.

Groups Like VON Are Called Democracy's Social Cement

TRENTON — Referring to groups, such as the Victorian Order of Nurses as "the greatest bulwarks between the individual and the state," and "a sort of social cement" in a democratic society, Dr. Pauline Jewett, guest speaker at the 43rd annual meeting of the Trenton V.O.N., last night said that the society with the largest number of autonomous private associations is likely to be and will continue to be a much stronger democratic society than if it lacks these associations."

Dr. Jewett said that membership in such groups could be termed, "training in democracy," and that they provided "lessons in the very workings of democracy."

"A society which throws itself entirely into service to the state is probably the weakest type of society," the speaker said, "If the individual abdicates all responsibility, the system of government is weakened."

Terming her address, "an exchange of thoughts about the workings of democracy," Dr. Jewett outlined the prime factors of a democratic system for her audience.

She said that in a true democracy there is a very wide measure of freedom, freedom of speech, freedom of thought and worship and freedom of the press.

"Anyone living in a democracy should be disturbed when any of these freedoms are threatened." Dr. Jewett said.

"Above all," the speaker said, "we should be concerned about the concept of universal franchise. All adults should have the right to vote. On this hangs the workings of the other freedoms."

Dr. Jewett said that, in theory, in a democratic society, the prime consideration was the "ultimate worth and dignity of the individual."

"We have the trappings of democracy," she said, "but we don't always use them wisely and well."

Speaking of the "emerging world," of the new states which have lately come into being, the speaker said that the real question was: "Will these societies develop into 'free' societies in the future?"

"Will they?" she asked "Should they? Do they want to? Can they? These are big problems."

Dr. Jewett said that the biggest problem in these "guided democracies" was the fact that they had no historical background in democracy. However, she said, with a strengthened economy and an increase in literacy, the people of these countries may become concerned about the "trappings" of their system of government.

"It is even possible that we may see a change in the so-called communist countries in the next 50 years," the speaker prophesied. "Barring the cold war becoming a hot war, they may develop to the point where they can suffer opposition without fear, and it is possible that democracy may yet become a system of univesral practice."

Dr. Jewett, who is the Liberal federal candidate for Northumberland, was introduced by Miss Vera Clark of Brighton and thanked by Ralph Weaver.

Two Brighton Men Killed Near Cobourg

TRENTON — Two Brighton men were killed in an accident on Highway 401, north of Cobourg, around 11 a.m. yesterday.

Provincial police at Cobourg say that John Norman Lackaye 45 and Archibald William Brose, 43, both of Brighton, died instantly, when the car, driven by Lackaye, crashed into the cement abutment at the base of the overpass at the Burnham Street interchange. Lackaye was apparently attemping to pass a large truck on the highway when his car skidded on a snow-covered patch of icy pavement. The men were travelling west from Brighton to Toronto.

Dr. W. A. Gray of Trenton, who was following closely behind the Lackaye car, stopped at once and a department of highways patrol truck, equipped with a telephone system, was on the scene in a matter of moments. The patrol truck driver immediately alerted provincial police at Cobourg.

John (Jack) Lackaye is survived by his wife. He was the owner and operator of Jack's Hobby Shop in Brighton.

A Strange Argument

Delegates to the Western Canada Student Teachers' convention have voted 16 to 13 against a resolution asking that instruction in a second language be introduced at the primary school level.

Four universities had presented a brief requesting the introduction of French as a compulsory elementary school subject.

Saskatchewan Teachers' College opposed the brief on the ground that "the trend today appears to be a reduction in the number of Canadians who are bilingual."

The College's reasoning appears to be strange. Would it oppose instruction in arithmetic if the trend today were shown to be a reduction in the number of Canadians who could add?

In any case, the College is wrong regarding today's trend. There are an increasing number of Canadians who are bilingual, or multi-lingual. What may be true is that there is a reduction in the number of Canadians who speak both English and French fluently. But there are today a great many Canadians who speak one of these languages and one or more other languages. They are immigrants—and the children of immigrants. The speed with which these immigrants learn English or, in Quebec, French, and the ease with which their children born here learn both the language of the region in which they reside and the native tongue, or tongues, of their parents, ought to put the rest of us to shame. We are lazy. And is it not possible that the reason why Saskatchewan Student Teachers do not want French, or in some sections English, introduced into Saskatchewan primary schools as a second language is because they do not relish the task of having to learn a second language themselves?

A Just Case for Justice

S. E. Fennell, Q.C., president of the Canadian Bar Association, recently stressed the need for faster and more efficient handling of court cases, especially those in the higher courts, in the Canadian judicial system.

We wholeheartedly concur with his suggestion. In too many instances legal cases are drawn out affairs, lasting months or years to the great expense of both the Crown and the citizens involved.

Many hold to the attitude that justice is so expensive as to be almost prohibitive except to the wealthy. Such should not be the case in a democratic society such as ours. Each individual citizen should have the opportunity of seeking and obtaining justice from the highest court in the land, if necessary, at a minimal expense.

Mr. Fennell suggests that more courts should be established and more judges should be appointed. This would certainly be a step in the right direction. His suggestion that judges be appointed on a population basis is a most reasonable one. So is his suggestion that the political affiliation of an appointee be discarded in favor of appointing persons on the basis of ability and experience.

In making this suggestion Mr. Fennell stated that he did not imply the majority of those now on the bench are not capable.

The suggestions offered by Mr. Fennell have considerable merit and would appear to be in the best interests of Canadians and Canadian justice.

Communist Plot?

The radio station was warned by an anonymous caller: "If you Commies broadcast the blue book, we're gonna bomb you out of business."

Two San Fernando Valley ministers, one a Lutheran, the other an Unitarian, participated in a panel discussion of right-wing movements. While they were at the Jewish synagogue where this discussion was held, their homes were damaged by bombs.

It is the conviction of extremist right wing groups in the United States that there is a vast communist conspiracy which has infiltrated many seemingly unlikely places.

To the average man these contentions sound ridiculous. But we wonder, is it possible that they are right and that there are communists where nobody would ever think of looking for them? We know of nothing more likely to give the name communist an aura of respectability than the words and actions of these right wing societies. Could there be Red agents provocateur amongst the top bark of the Birch Society?

Ottawa Offbeat

First Victory Claim

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — In the war of political nerves leading up to the last and deciding battles of the general election, Justice Minister Fulton has fired a shot exploding loudly in the campaign headquarters of all four parties.

The command posts here in the capital of the Conservatives, Liberals, CCF-NDP and Social Credit alike have all been busy with pencil and paper, crystal ball and horoscope, ouija board and other assorted bric-a-brac of the fortune teller's trade on Fulton's figures.

Daring Davie has come flat out with a publicly proclaimed prediction of an "overwhelming" Conservative victory from sea to sea in the coming political popularity contest.

This is not without importance, for in an election campaign just as in a prize fight, the men who lands the first blow has the element of surprise in his corner.

Now while Liberal Leader Pearson and New Democrat boss Tommy Douglas alike have been out-shouting each other with loud cries of "Bring on the election", neither has gone so far as to say he would win it, handily, in the same grand slam style as John Diefenbaker did it in 1958.

NO IFS OR BUTS

This piece of seeming recklessness was left to the dashing Davie.

In the face of forbidding reports from the professional political pollsters, he has gone out on what to the rival parties at least, would seem to be a long, long limb, and called the shots province by province.

And he better face it . . . it is a long, long limb, for to repeat the '58 landslide would be a major miracle, reversing all the political laws that sentence a Government to ultimate death from he very day it takes office.

The betting is that the Conservatives will win a second term . . . but "overwhelmingly", as Fulton predicts?

British Columbia: (22 seats, 18 now Conservative) "Social Credit will be a big factor, but campaigning on the Columbia River issue, on the basis of selling out our power rights, they will foot the poll, and we will head it, again".

Alberta: 17 seats, all now Conservatives) "The people are well satisfied with our record and will say so in no uncertain terms on election day".

Saskatchewan: (17 seats, 16 of them Conservative) "The farmers have problems but are unanimous in saying that no Government has done as much for them as this one".

AGAIN A FULL HOUSE

Manitoba: (14 seats, all Conservative) "We can count on another full house."

Ontario: (85 seats, 63 now Conservative) "The people remember the Liberals' days in Ottawa all too vividly, and they know the Socialists too well to fall for NDP propaganda."

Quebec: (75 seats, 49 Conservative) "There have been some dire predictions about what may happen to us. Don't let them kid you. Quebeckers have been fooled too often by the Grits."

New Brunswick: (10 seats, seven Conservative) "The province will stay Tory by at least three seats to one."

Newfoundland: (seven seats, two now Conservative): "Who knows just what might happen . . . perhaps the Tory tide from the other Maritime Provinces may at long last engulf that distinguished literary figure, Canadian baby specialist and all-time great grey eminence to Mackenzie King, the Hon. John Whitney (Jolly Jack) Pickersgill, fisherman extraordinaire."

The liberals have been hooting all this down as so much political whistling through the graveyard.

But right or wrong, exaggerated or under-stated, Fulton, fast on his feet and quick with a political punch, had landed the first propaganda blow.

People, as recent Federal elections have shown, like to ride with a winner, and here is Daring Davie flexing his campaign muscles and pounding his party's chest.

A Pessimist Always Enjoys His 'Woes'!

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It is a wry fact that the pessimist seems to get more consistent pleasure out of his pessimism than the optimist does out of his optimism; the latter may have occasional doubts about the ultimate triumph of virtue, but the former never doubts for a moment that the world is going to the dogs.

There is corruption in every sphere of life; but a man is not lost until he comes to believe — as many do — that the corruption is life itself.

Books that have no business being written have no business being reviewed; why do an obituary for a stillbirth?

When a woman asks her husband, "Do you like this new dress?" she considers him a hypocrite if he hastily answers "Yes," and a brute if he emphatically answers "No."

It is a mistake to believe that people have to learn to think better for the world to get better; we have to learn to feel better, because if our basic feelings are wrong, the more accurately we think the more diabolic will our conclusions be. The worst people are those who use impeccable logic to justify their basic assumption of selfishness.

Mere numbers of church attendance tell us little about the influence of religion on our daily life; as Austin O'Malley observed at the turn of the century, "There are ten church members by inheritance for one by conviction."

Few persons can feel secure or happy unless there is some other group or class they can hate and look down upon; even in prison, the "ordinary" criminal looks down upon the sex pervert; it takes an extraordinarily sane and stable personality to feel worthy in itself, so that it doesn't feel the need to make comparisons.

Most matrimonial difficulties are caused by denying, or ignoring, the natural fact that men and women are basically quite different creatures; and it is only when this difference is accepted and respected that a genuine union can be made.

All art is a form of nervousness; the "normal" and "adjusted" man is as incapable of creating a work of art as he is incapable of creating a religion — which, too, comes from man's sense of alienation from his environment.

If I owe Smith ten dollars for a week, I remind myself to pay him back; if I owe it for a month, I tell myself he really doesn't need it; if I owe it for a year, I am convinced I never borrowed it at all.

RELIGION OF THE BODY

Some years ago a French philosopher issued a book entitled, "The Religion of the Spirit." By this he meant Christianity. A great theologian in speaking to a group of students said, "Christianity is not the religion of the spirit, it is the religion of the body."

This shocked us all considerably, but the more we thought of it the more we saw what he meant. The body is the temple of the Holy Spirit. When God sent His Son into the world He gave him a body and the sacrifice of that body on the cross (the Atonement) lies at the centre of our faith. The resurrection of that body from the dead was the crowning miracle of Christ's life and the basis of our Christian hope.

So Christianity has a lot to say about the body. We live in the body. Christianity is a way of life. Christianity is that divine revelation which shows us how to live a life that is necessarily conditioned in every aspect by a body. If our religion does not extend to our bodies then it has precious little value. There is a way in which, as the French philosopher said, Christianity is the religion of the spirit. But there is a greater way in which Christianity is the religion of the body.

Our bodies are not the enemies of the soul but the instruments of the soul. God evidently had a great purpose in mind when He gave us bodies.

Fads in Words Are Deplored

Brantford Expositor

"Nowadays some people will not simply end or finish anything; they have to 'finalize' it. The same folk would not like to begin anything; they would much rather initiate procedure. They might prefer to call a start an inception or a commencement and they may also call an interval an intermission. Official English is full of this folly and it's always 'operating' instead of working and 'finalizing' or 'terminating' instead of ending."

Dr. Ivor Brown, British journalist, essayist, novelist and authority on words and usage, said that in a recent talk. His mild criticism is deserved.

We are also given to picking up new fad words and using them boringly. We set "targets" instead of objectives. Everything from a nation to a broomstick factory seeks to present a favorable "image" of itself. Instead of saying, "I think so-and-so," we say "My thinking is . . ."

We overwork or misuse words like blueprint, when we mean a plan; cross-section, when we mean sample; conditioned by when we mean dependent on. We minimize instead of belittling or underestimating. We proceed when we mean go. An opinion or view becomes a reaction. Instead of imagining or picturing, we visualize.

And so it goes and could go on for columns. English, foreigners say, is a funny language. We make it funnier.

Blood Vessels Become More Brittle as We Age

"Dear Dr. Molner: My right eye has been filled with blood for the last week. There is no pain and my sight is not affected.

"My doctor said it is 'just one of those things that happen,' but I feel there must be some cause. I am 77. — Mrs. L.B."

I'm sure you'll feel better just to know that this is a rather common occurence among older persons.

The tiny blood vessels of the body (including those in the eye) tend to become more fragile and they may at times leak. Some minor strain or injury can do it — something as simple as rubbing your eyes.

The blood vessels are small, the amount of blood is small, but the color is bright and shows up quite vividly. The sudden appearance of this in the white of the eye can, I agree, be quite frightening.

But the appearance is more of a shock than the condition warrants medically. There usually is no discomfort, and no treatment is required. The blood simply absorbs in a reasonably short time.

You might check up on the amount of Vitamin C and the amount of calcium you are getting. A deficiency of Vitamin C (from citrus fruits or juices, or tomatoe juice, to name the easiest sources) can cause brittleness in these little blood vessels, or capillaires.

Calcium (from milk, skim milk, cottage cheese) also is necessary to help seal up such little capillary leaks before they even become noticeable.

• • •

"Dear Dr. Molner: We understand that you advocate the injection method for hemorrhoids. Please give us the name of a doctor we could call on for this. — R.B.F."

Who's "we"?

I don't advocate any treatment on a "we" basis. I do most fundamentally urge that treatment always be on the basis of what is best for one particular patient.

As to "advocating" injection treatment for hemorrhoids, I don't I know that in some few cases it is adequate. But it has to be just the right cases. And when a patient has staggered along from one treatment to the next without getting lasting relief, it's obvious that the case is ready for permanent cure, not some more "putting off".

For details on why I think so, I suggest reading my booklet on hemorrhoids and related troubles. (To receive a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, requesting his booklet, The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids and enclosing a long - self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover handling.

• • •

"Dear Dr. Molner I have bursitis. Two doctors told me this is caused by calcium deposits, but from your recent article I didn't gather that this was the cause at all. — L.C."

It is and it isn't. A bursa is a sac which provides a "pillow" for the tendons to ride on in a joint elbow, shoulder, knee, etc.

For one reason or another most often excess pressure or a blow on he area) the sac becomes inflamed and sore. In fact, "sore" is hardly a strong enough word. Anyway, that's bursitis.

In the healing process, calcium is deposited in the bursa or tendon — or may be. If the deposit is large enough, it may, in itself, cause further pain, just as a large scar (which is the same sort of thing physiologically) could become painful if it occurred in a strategic spot.

Thus continued bursitis may, indeed, be from a calcium deposit. Yet at the same time, bursitis can occur without such a deposit.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A pair of identical twins with whom I went to war one time had always been dressed alike during their childhood and teens. But when they got out of the army, they had grown tired of being dressed alike. So they departed from the tradition, and had a good deal of fun choosing clothes as different as possible from the other.

But however they dressed the fantastic resemblance between them, especially since they both had rather spectacular brass-colored hair, remained undiminished. Like most twins, they were great companions, and spent a lot of time together. And they enjoyed tricks on the public.

When they were catching the bus downtown for work, one would walk a couple of blocks, and board the bus that much later than his brother. When he climbed aboard, there were astonished double-takes among those who had noticed the first brother enter. They sat just far enough apart, as though strangers, to excite the most intense interest in their fellow passengers. At lunch, differently dressed, they would sit at separate tables, but facing the same way, calmly ignoring the astonished stares of the other customers. They got more fun than most out of the novelty of being twins.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE DEAR OLD FRIENDS

With the passing years dear old friends loom like familiar stars.

As we learn how few there are who really stand the acid test of friendship, then it is that we come to realize how really short life is anyway. For in the span that is ours, there seems but time to gather a little handful our way.

But somehow this little group becomes very precious. The intelligent mind, the understanding heart, the peculiar and interesting personalities of the favored and beloved few grow with the years. Even the failings and faults get from us but a tolerant smile.

For the "overlook" in sincere and enduring friendship is as fine and great as the "inlook."

Some time ago I received a letter from a cherishtd friend of former years. It came to me like a fresh vase of flowers placed in my study. All the fragrance and beauty of the old friendship were there. The humor of the man, the quaint interest in unusual things, the desire for thought food and kindness and gentleness and big heartedness of the man. All glowed from his letter. He signed it "Old Rain in the Face," a name given him in former years because of our journeying together in strange lands.

When losses have come and the clouds got too thick, that dear old friend's interest and love shone through them all and gave sun and shadows that made a beautiful day.

Nothing is ever so bad as it seems. Life is really mostly pleasant and good. But life in general is infinitely bigger than your life! We are wrapped up too much in our own individual desires, lacks, and failings. They do not matter so much as do the things far beyond — other lives, other interests, higher places yet to climb.

If you have but one or two dear old friends, you are full of wealth!

Gold and Bread

Our civilization seems to be reverting to the brutality of a primitive existence which measures everything by the yardstick of gold instead of the real values of life. Will it be necessary to experience the devastating holocaust of nuclear war before men learn that life cannot be measured by gold? In past days, survivors of great disasters offered their gold, their jewels, and even all their possessions — merely for a crust of bread.

ARCTIC HONEYMOON — Rev. Malcolm Emmel, 29, and bride Patricia, 26, married in England in January, are off on a honeymoon at Cambridge Bay in the Canadian Arctic where they will operate an Anglican mission. Mr. Emmel, a qualified engineer, is also a radio operator and Patricia is a registered nurse. (CP Photo).

Two Newlyweds Decide To Go From Bad to Worse

TORONTO (CP)—Most honeymoon couples prefer to spend their first few weeks of matrimony in a more equitable clime, but two newlyweds from damp and drizzly England have decided to go from bad to worse.

Rev. Malcolm Emmel, 29, and his bride Patricia, 26, from Hessle, East Yorkshire, are bound for the Canadian Arctic. What's more, they will be there for five years, perhaps longer.

Mr. Emmel, an Anglican priest, will become a missionary, in the Diocese of the Arctic.

He married Patricia Drinkall, a registered nurse, Jan. 8, just before leaving for Canada. They left here for the barren wastes of Cambridge Bay early in February.

Mr. Emmel has a good background for his Arctic work. He has had six years' training as a mechanical engineer and will be able to look after his own heating and snow vehicle problems.

During his two - year stint with the British Army he added radio operating to his qualifications.

Mrs. Emmel's specialty has a bit of irony. After graduating as a nurse she took a special course in London—at the Hospital of Tropical Diseases. She spent 18 months in Nigeria at a hospital operated by the British Leprosy Relief Association.

Queen Attends Gala Preview Of Pinafore by Canadians

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — The Queen, accompanied by the Duke and Duchess of Kent, Wednesday night attended a gala preview of Sir Tyrone Guthrie's production of HMS Pinafore, first seen at Stratford, Ont., in 1960.

This, the original Canadian production and with a largely Canadian cast, was the second independent version of any Gilbert and Sullivan opera to reach London since the D'Oyly Carte monopoly and Sir William Gilbert's copyrights expired together Dec. 31.

As the curtain went up on a trim quarterdeck set hung with flags, a flutter of expectancy ran through Her Majesty's Theatre. The audience wondered how Guthrie would diverge from the hitherto accepted D'Oyly Carte "stereotype," as he has called it.

In an interview with The Observer recently, he said: "I do not believe my own productions will be more right. But they will be different."

Wednesday night provided no startling innovations but a fresh, spontaneously witty approach to the classic light opera that seemed to please everyone. The gay, effervescent treatment got a warm reception from the glittering preview audience.

ENJOY THEMSELVES

If there were any die - hards from the D'Oyly Carte "establishment" down the road at the Savoy Theatre, they were apparently enjoying themselves.

As the first-act curtain came down, a delighted Canadian voice exclaimed over the applause: "These darn Canadians are more royalist than the English."

It came from Victory Polley, administrative director of the Stratford, Ont., Shakespearean Festival Theatre. On vacation in London with his wife, he had stayed over an extra week to catch the preview.

He explained Guthrie's conservative approach: "Tony started out to be different, but I think he found when he studied the scripts that there really was no need to make any drastic changes."

HAS ONE CHANGE

Probably the most original touch is the portrayal of Sir Joseph Porter — "The ruler of the Queen's navee." He is often played as a burly, blustering, gold-braided clown.

Dapper, Toronto - born Eric House played him as a dessicated, dry old man.

The Queen, seated in a box to the right of the stage, laughed heartily at House's delivery of the famous skit on Victorian admirals who never went to sea.

She also gave an appreciative smile at the closing touch, a huge illuminated sign reading God Bless Our Queen which came slowly down over the Pinafore set.

AIDS FUND

The gala was in aid of King George V's pension fund for actors and actresses.

The second Gilbert and Sullivan production from Ontario—The Pirates of Penzance—opens in London Feb. 15. There will be no special preview. The two operas will then play in repertory for a season.

In her silver-grey gown, white mink stole and diamond tiara, the Queen stayed for a few minutes after the final curtain to acknowledge the audience's applause.

Science Fair To Be Repeated By H-S Students

The first Science Fair held in Belleville last year was such an outstanding success that the venture is to be repeated, bigger and better than before. Students of the Quinte district are busily putting the finishing touches to their projects which will present a wide variety of categories, a few of which are General Science, Electronics, Mathematics, Geography, Neucular Science, Mechanics, Machine design, Engineering, Agriculture and Chemistry.

Friday is the big evening and the Fair will be held in the cafeteria of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School between seven and nine o'clock. Prior to the opening of the show the exhibits will be judged by Mr. D. A. J. McDonald, manager of the Northern Electric Company, Dr. Peter Beltor of the Entomology Research Institute and Mr. Jerry O'Connor of the Sales and Ad Club of Belleville.

The students have worked enthusiasticaly and energetically to make this year's Fair a worthwhile event and it is hoped that parents, friends and the general public will turn out in large numbers to encourage our future inventive and thoughtful citizens.

Will Not Allow 'Harassment' Of Individuals by Inquiry Into Censorship--Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has backed Defence Secretary Robert McNamara in the Senate investigation of "muzzling" of the military and said he will not allow "harassment" of individual censors.

Kennedy told his press conference Wednesday that he would use his executive privilege, if necessary, to keep a special Senate subcommittee from pinpointing which censor altered any particular speech.

The U.S. constitution separates the powers of the three branches of government: Congress, the executive headed by the president, the federal courts.

The president can assert his executive privilege — when he thinks it's in the public interest—to refuse Congress' request for certain information from the executive branch.

WHO DECIDES?

Who decides what's in the public interest? The president says he does in such a case.

The subcommittee is investigating Pentagon censorship practices.

McNamara has given the senators a list of censors but has refused to tie individual censors to particular speeches. And he has forbidden subordinates to do so on the ground morale would be impaired.

Kennedy said he and McNamara could not "agree to a harassment of individuals who are only carrying out the policies dictated by their superiors."

The statement drew criticism from Senator Strom Thurmond (Dem. S.C.), a member of the special Senate subcommittee. Its inquiry was prompted by Thurmond's charge that military men who had tried to speak out against communism had been "muzzled."

Thurmond issued a statement calling the president's words "a reflection" on the presidency and Congress. The senator announced he would fight any claim of executive privilege to withhold testimony. He also called it equivalent to invoking the constitution's Fifth Amendment protection against compulsory self-incrimination.

"The president and the secretary have evidently planned to shield behind the 'executive Fifth Amendment' the state department, where most of the objectional censorship occurred," Thurmond said. He charged the strategy was designed to conceal state department "no-win policies of defeatism in the cold war."

Pentagon speeches which touch on foreign policy require clearance from both Pentagon and state department censors.

BELLEVILLE UNITED APPEAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Chairman, Directors and Contributors,
The Belleville United Appeal,
Belleville, Ontario

217 Pinnacle Street,
Belleville, Ontario
January 31, 1962

I have made an examination of the books of account and supporting records of the 1961 campaign for 1962 operations of The Belleville United Appeal for the period September 1, 1961 to January 30, 1962. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, the foregoing balance sheet and related statement of revenue and expenditure present fairly the financial position of The Belleville United Appeal as at January 30, 1962 and the results of its 1961 Campaign for 1962 operations for the period ended on that date, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

I shall be glad to furnish you with such further information as you may require, relative to my examination or this report.

Yours very truly,
F. A. R. MacFADDEN, C.A.

Examination Procedure Topic At Music Teachers' 'At Home'

Mrs. G. H. Rennie of 12 Eleanor Gardens, was "At Home" to the members of the Belleville Branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association on February 5.

The president, Mrs. Egerton Boyce, opened the session and welcomed all members. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the recording secretary, Mrs. Rennie.

There was also a report of a recent executive meeting. The student recital programs presented over the local broadcasting station, CJBQ, were discussed and plans made to promote these recitals at 4.30 each Sunday afternoon. All students participating to be pupils of registered music teachess.

Miss Virginia Knott, LRAM, LCMT, who was in Belleville conducting the mid-winter examinations for the Royal Conservatory, was an honored guest. She was introduced by Miss Marjorie Woodard of the staff, of Albert College.

Miss Knott is a Canadian, but has spent much time in England where she taught in a girls' school, and did much broadcasting over the London network. She has made recital appearances in London, Vienna, Budapest and elsewhere. Since returning to Canada she has been with the Royal Conservatory, also teaching in the Bishop Strachan School, as a specialist in oral perception and choral training.

After giving interesting items regarding examination procedure and helpful suggestions on ear traing and sight reading, Miss Knott opened a round-table conference. The remark "a genuine musicia hears with his eyes and sees with his ears," opened an animated discussion on musicianship and lack of it. The speaker told of her musical workshop where she trains very young students in rhythm, tapping, clapping, and note reading, the ability to get the "right finger on the right note at right time," and to develop the "pulse" in music. While technical ability is important it is just a means to an ultimate end—the producing of music.

The Peterborough branch members are expected to pay the Belleville group a visit in March.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend expressed the appreciation and gratitude of the teachers in attendance, and Miss Knott graciously replied.

The hostess, assisted by the social convener, Mrs. S. G. Martin, served a delicious buffet luncheon, and Mrs. Turcotte thanked the ladies for a delightful evening.

Fanny Coffey Travel Agent For 25 Years

MONTREAL (CP) — Fanny Coffey celebrating her 25th year in the travel business in Montreal, recalls that men were somewhat less than sympathetic to her pioneer venture.

"So far as I know," she said, "I was the first woman here, or elsewhere in Canada, to start a travel agency.

"Frankly, my male rivals resented me.

"Some of them wouldn't speak to me for a long time and when they did, they took great care to tell me I was attempting to do something totally unsuited to a woman.

"It was frequently pointed out to me that a time of depression was no time to embark on a new venture."

But Miss Coffey's business survived the remaining years of the depression, only to flounder during the Second World War. She was forced to return to secretarial work to help the bureau open.

When tourist travel resumed at war's end, Miss Coffey joined the American Society of Travel Agents and for 10 years was Quebec's only active woman member.

"There were 35 men and me," she said. "By that time I had definitely been accepted."

Born in Montreal, Miss Coffey credits residence in Niagara Falls, Ont., where she was educated at Loretto Academy, with having perhaps influenced her choice of career.

A feature of the annual dinner meeting of the United Appeal last night was the presentation of awards to citizens who had made outstanding contributions to the work of the organization. Left to right, above, are: G. A. Wishart, payroll division chairman, who was both a recipient and distributor of awards; Norman Keith, public service chairman, receiving the David Trophy from 1961 chairman Enos David, and J. J. Awards Presented for Special Services To United Campaign Chairmen at Dinner

Last evening the United Appeal Committee was privileged to have as guest speaker at the annual dinner - business meeting, Charles O. Dalton, D.S.O., president of the Carling Breweries Limited, of Montreal, and former chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto United Appeal.

Mr. Dalton, who was introduced to the assembly of 88 by Mr. Rod Cameron, gave a brief talk, spiked with humor and seriousness, on his experiences in United Appeal work, including a three-hour telephone talk with a party who wanted to donate $1,000 but who was found to be mentally unbalanced.

In this field of work, commented Mr Dalton, what was needed was much enthusiasm which revolves around those making the call . . . "What you pledge at first thought, double it." People are quite willing to give for what entertains them, but many are reluctant to give for what is worthwhile. It is a pity, commented Mr. Dalton, that things so important as giving for church and charity are so low down in the scale. "We have to do our best, and make the appeal work. It is a fact that those who have the least give the most." Concluding his talk, Mr. Dalton, on behalf of Carling Brewery, presented a cheque for the work to Mr. Trudeau, who expressed his appreciation. Mr. Freestone also added his thanks and presented a gift in recognition of the speaker's kindness in being present at the annual meeting.

The highlights of the evening was the announcement that the United Appeal had exceeded 82 per cent of the objective of $80,000, $66,916 pledged and received: Mr. Trudeau commented on the good co-operation from the men and women of Belleville, expressing appreciation for the good work done by the committee.

The presentation of 'Citations' was also a keynote of the meeting with Dr. R. S. Morphy making the presentation to the O.S.D.; and by G. A. Wishart for significant contributions and giving by payroll contributions at the following plants: International Hardware Co. of Canada, Limited; Children's Aid Society; O'Neil Sales Limited; Victoria and Grey Trust Company; Wilson Concrete Products Limited; Canadian General Electric; Deloro Stellite: Canadian National Railways; Belleville Public School Board and Northern Electric Company, Limited.

A citation was also presented to Mrs. J. H. Forrester for her outstanding work in the United Appeal, by Mr. Trudeau. Mrs. Archie Lewis accepted for Mrs. Forrester who was not present.

The following campaign awards were presented by Mr. Enos David to the following: G. A. Wishart, second year as chairman, "Payroll Giving" division, amount raised during 1961 $22,013.59.

A. O. Drysdale, second year as chairman, "National Corporations" division amount raised to date $13,510 from 68 firms, an increase of 3.7 per cent over the previous year.

J. N. Yanover, second chairman, "Special Names" division, amount raised, $4,395.

Dr. R. S. Morphy second chairman, "Professional Division" amount raised $5,465; an increase of 6.9 per cent.

N. Keith, a newcomer last year to Belleville, chairman "Public Services," amount raised $2,730.32, an increase of 34.4 per cent. He was presented with the David trophy.

S. S. Milic, newcomer to Belleville, chairman of business "A" division, amount raised $2,310.50, an increase of 7.9 per cent.

R. L. Beck, chairman of business "B" division, amount raised $2,040.45, an increase of 23.2 per cent and runner-up for David trophy.

David Gale, chairman of business "C" division, amount raised $3,952.71, an increase of 14.7 per cent, finished third for David trophy.

Mrs. J. H. Forrester, chairman residential division, amount raised, $6,874.44, an increase of 5.8 per cent over previous year.

All canvassers in business "D" division amount raised, $3,335.64, an increase of 9.9 per cent over previous year.

PROUD OF TEAM

Mr. Enos David, campaign chairman, in making his report stated that he had 'mixed' feelings, one of disappointment, in that the objective had not been reached as established by the needs of the 11 agencies, and one of gratitude that the campaign did as well as it did considering certain factors which bore on the total result. He found the recruitment of volunteers a tough assignment, but when the organization was completed, the team was one of which to be proud. Of the ten divisions, seven exceeded their last year's figures, with pledges and cash amounting to $66,677.65 raised to date.

SACRIFICIAL GIVING

He was cheered by the sacrificial giving of a great number of people and companies.

Mr. David mentioned certain recommendations including, that each agency interpret its service to the community, else the campaign would suffer; to have an attitude of mutual trust and understanding, and that funds be prudently expended; that the period of two weeks' campaign should be extended to three weeks, which would allow the completion of the general canvass before the final residential "Blitz" takes place, to be completed before the end of the second week. He also felt that the "Kick-Off" dinner was a big help.

Mr. David concluded his report by extending thanks and appreciation to all who had, in any way, contributed to the worthy cause.

Think What The White Cane Means

BY LAURA ANNE SIMPSON

It means the owner walks in a world apart;
Where sunlight enters not, and all is dark,
Except the inner light, that spreads its glow;
The sunshine of the soul, all blind folks know.
A different world, where dark and light,
And sun, and moon, and stars, and day, and night,
Colors, and flowers, trees, and sky, and sea,
Are only words to those who cannot see.

It is the symbol of a valiant heart,
Of one who walks with faith in God, and fellow man.
To keep that faith and courage high, so do your part,
With understanding heart, and helping hand.
What does the white cane mean to you with sight?
Just passing pity for another's plight?
Or does it mean a chance to helpful be?
And gratefulness to God for eyes that see?

We bake to please you!

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Betty W. — I want my father to change his job.

Mrs. J.W. — He likes his work. She's too touchy.

• • •

Betty W. — Yesterday in school the teacher went around the class trying to get each child to make a little speech. She was testing our pronunciation. So she told us to get up and tell what sort of work our fathers did.

When I said mine collected garbage, everybody laughed. I was so embarrassed. The other fathers are lawyers and doctors and engineers and fancy things like that. I know Daddy can go into the automobile business with my uncle, or be a florist like my grandpa. I wish he'd change for something I can brag about, like the other kids do.

• • •

Mrs. J.W. — Imagine Betty's being so sensitive! She's only 9 but I thought she had more sense than to let those snobs annoy her. Now she thinks it will solve everything for her dad to quit his job for one that sounds better to her friends.

Of course he won't. He enjoys the outdoor route, makes a good salary, and has built up a good seniority position in his department. For a fellow who never finished high school, he's ahead of many we know with diplomas. Just because Betty heard us talking about other things her father could do, she's nagging him to change. He wouldn't dream of doing so.

• • •

The Council: Betty, have you watched "What's My Line?" Suppose Dad was the pretzel bender or the sausage stuffer or the horsetail curler who appears there? Everyone laughs — but then, everyone applauds!

Of course, the adults here — both at school and at home — have failed Betty. Had they not been so remiss in strengthening her self-respect, as well as her sense of humor, she'd have emerged from the unfortunate speech assignment in one solid chunk. Instead, she's a bit shattered.

The teacher muffed a golden chance for a lesson in manners, as well as in the American way. "What's funny?" she might have asked, after the first wave of reflex giggles. (These might be excused as the type of automatic response which follows certain words, like Brooklyn, triplets and fertilizer!) She might have pointed out the importance of Betty's father's contribution to the public welfare. She might have cited the before-dawn rounds, the heavy and often unappetizing work, which keep our homes and neighborhoods neat, safe and free of vermin.

And at home Betty might have been better prepared for the carelessness of her peers. She might have been alerted to th use of the term, "Sanitation Worker," for her dad, instead of the plain talk which invites a thoughtless chuckle. Euphemisms are true, though vague, terms which save time and save face when these are scant.

This brings us to the real job for Mrs. W. — building up Betty's pride and self-esteem. After convincing her that her dad's occupation is a vital one, his contribution to the community pivotal — perhaps more so than that of some of the other fathers — Mrs. W. must find other props to hold Betty's head high among her competitive peers. One might be a keener sense of humor!

MAIL CALL

Question: My son is to be married next month, and I want to know if my husband has to stand in the receiving line. He's not keen about the idea, and would prefer to circulate among the guests, along with the bride's father. Would it be correct for him to do so? — Mrs. C.V.B., St. Joseph, Mo.

Answer: The groom's father usually does stand in the receiving line because, unlike the bride's father, he often doesn't know many of the guests and by standing in the receiving line he gets a chance to meet every one. However, if your husband feels he does know practically everybody present, then he may properly greet guests informally as he moves about the room instead of standing in the receiving line.

Question: My sister is miffed because I didn't name her as godmother of my son. I explained that godparents are always close friends of the parents. She said I was wrong, so I'm writing to ask what rules, if any, govern the choice of godparents. — Mrs. M.M.C., Daytona Beach, Fla.

Answer: Actually, there are no hard and fast rules. Custom has established that godparents usually are intimate friends of the parents and members of the same religion. This probably is the result of the theory that a relative, in any event, is an inborn sponsor of the newborn.

However, there is no reason why a relative can't serve as godparent. If the child is orphaned, the godparent becomes responsible for the child's religious training and helps plan its future. Godparents often provide the first feeding utensils for the baby, such as a silver cup or bowl. A charming tradition is the opening of a small bank account, to which the godparent adds on the child's birthdays.

Cuban Press Beats Drums For 'Castroist' Weddings

By JOHN BLAND

HAVANA (Reuters) — The government - controlled Cuban press is giving full publicity to a new social phenomenon-multiple "revolutionary weddings."

No fewer than 30 couples were married simultaneously at a ceremony at the headquarters of the Cuban Women's Federation in Santiago de Cuba.

All the bridegrooms and almost all the brides wore the uniform of the national militia, or of one of the voluntary teachers' brigades mobilized against illiteracy.

The municipal magistrate heard the mass responses of the couples during the short civil ceremony, which took place in the presence of the representative of the Cuban ministry of justice for Oriente province.

A smaller ceremony, the double wedding of four "gradustes" of a school for revolutionary instructors at a village near Havana, was typical of the approved "revolutionary marmiage."

BRIDES IN TROUSERS

Instead of the traditional flowing dresses and white veils, the two brides wore the olive-green shirts, worsted trousers and black boots of the militia.

Their bridegrooms also were in olive-green uniform with the shoulder-badge of the school. A revolver hung in its holster at their hips, and they walked with their brides beneath an archway of rifles held by fellow militiamen.

One press report called the new form of wedding dress "a reflection of the way in which Cubans integrate every one of their acts into the socialist revolution" and quoted with approval a wedding guest's comment: "For once, vanity is absent from such an occasion."

WRONG LEAGUE

MONTREAL (CP) — Karen Blank, 9, scored a goal in the suburban Cote St. Luc boys' mosquito hockey league before officials stopped her playing. Phil Wimmer, director of park league hockey, said the ban was imposed "mostly because of the risk of injury."

Lancashire Hot Pot

by Mary Moore

The name of this dish attracted me to it and I hope it will attract you too.

I used shank beef in it but you can use chuck or leftover roast beef. The "hot pot" part comes from the one-half teaspoon Tabasco it requires, which is really liquid red pepper. It really is not very hot with spicing. The flavor is deliciously beef-rich.

The amount I am giving you will serve seven people. Half of these amounts serve three generously. I should add that since this is a baked dish, if any is leftover, it is easily reheated and seems to be even better the second time. It is an English variation of the well-known 6 or 7-layer dinner and may be prepared and baked in advance, chilled and stored in refrigerator and reheated at mealtime.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

SUNDAY

Lancashire Hot Pot (see Thursday); Large Tossed Salad; Citrus Fruit Cup; Honeymoon Bars' (see Friday); Coffee.

LANCASHIRE HOT POT:

2 lbs. chuck or shank beef or equivalent in leftover roast beef, 3 teaspoons salt, 1 cup water, 5 medium potatoes pared and sliced, 4 medium onions peeled and halved or 1 large Spanish onion cut in eighths, 4 large or 6 medium carrots, scrubbed and sliced, ½ teaspoon Tabasco, 1 20-oz. can tomatoes.

Cut the beef into 1-inch chunks and sprinkle with 1½ teaspoons of the salt. Melt 1 tablespoon drippings in heavy frying pan and brown the beef thoroughly in this. This good browning is what gives the gravy its rich flavor. Skim out the beef. To the pan add the 1 cup of water and scrape down all of the brown particles, stirring. Remove from heat. In a large casserole (or two medium-sized casseroles) layer the browned beef, sliced potatoes, halved onions, sliced carrots, sprinkling each layer with some of the remaining 1½ teaspoons salt. To the reserved pan gravy add the Tabasco and tomatoes, mix and pour evenly over the casserole. Cover and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 3 hours. I served this with a salad and Applesauce Roll Cake (see below).

NOTE:

While this was in the oven I made an Applesauce Roll Cake which required a 350 deg. F. oven for 27 minutes. So I turned the heat up to that temperature for that time and reduced it, when I took the cake out to 325 deg. F. again. It did not do the Hot Pot any harm. Maybe it did good. I will give you the recipe for the filled Applesauce Roll Cake next Tuesday.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS: Could you please explain the difference between the work of the Red Cross and the St. John Ambulance Brigade? INTERESTED.

DEAR INTERESTED: — The Canadian Red Cross covers a broader field than the St. John Ambulance Association. Both offer courses in first aid and home nursing by qualified instructors.

St. John Ambulance maintains a highway patrol in many areas during summer and may provide first aid service at parades and other events.

The Red Cross will give emergency nursing service and loans sickroom equipment. This Society also has a social service department which goes into action in cases of disaster and at other times, making available bedding, clothing and other supplies.

Other Red Cross services include free transportation to clinics, hospitals and doctors' offices, most of this work being done by unpaid but trained volunteers.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—When addressing a letter to a woman whose husband died recently, is it not correct to use "Mrs. John Smith," the same as when her husband was alive? Lately I have been told that it should be "Mrs. Mary Smith."

I feel it is hard enough to lose one so dear, but if it were me I would still want to bear the name given to me by that loved one. L. O. W.

DEAR L. O. W.:—"Mrs. John Smith" is right on the envelope. When the lady signs her letter, though, she signs her name "Mary Smith," without any "Mrs."

"Mrs. Mary Smith" is never correct, although I notice it is often done in the case of a divorcee. The proper title then is Mrs. Jones Smith (using her maiden name in the middle.)

• • •

(Is it a point of etiquette that puzzles you? As a Canadian social worker, Doris can tell you how it is done where you live).

Would Protect Handicrafts From Imitations

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Eskimo and Indian craftsmen need government protection from the competition of cheap, inferior imitation products, the National Council of Women said in its submission to the cabinet Wednesday.

The council said the Canadian public is losing interest in native carvings and handicrafts because the market has been infiltrated by mass-produced imitations.

This was an apparent reference to recent disclosures that some articles sold as Eskimo stone carvings bore tiny Made in Japan labels.

Concern Over Strontium-90 Unwarranted

EDMONTON (CP)—There is much unwarranted concern over the amount of strontium-90 in milk, Dr. C. K. Johnson of Ottawa, an official of the Canadian agriculture department's dairy technology research institute, said Tuesday.

Dr. Johnson told the Alberta Dairymen's Association annual convention the total amount of strontium - 90 in the normal human diet is far below the point at which emergency action is necessary.

There is no reason for the current anxiety regarding the safety of milk, he said, as it is merely analyzed as a means of estimating the amount of radioactive fallout in food. Published reports had left the impression that milk is the main carrier of strontium-90 and some persons had cut down ir its use.

SOCIAL WELFARE

ing on earnings which recipients can make without being disqualified for assistance.

Still to be introduced is legislation covering allowances to disabled persons. The provinces pay half of this program also.

The main debate was on the proposed increase in pensions for the blind.

WILL REFER TO COUNCIL

Health and Welfare Minister Monteith, introducing the legislation, said special needs of such groups as the blind and the disabled will be referred to the National Welfare Council, formation of which was forecast in the speech from the throne.

Mr. Monteith said the cost of the proposed increase will be just over $1,100,000 in a 12-month period, of which the federal share would be $825,000. As at March 1961, he said, about [illegible]00 Canadians received blind persons assistance.

Opposition Leader Pearson said the Liberal party will support the $10 increase to $65 "but the amount should have been $75 and the income limits should have been raised proportionately."

Walter Pitman (NDP — Peterborough) said there should be a "cost of blindness" allowance in addition to the blind persons pension. This would permit blind persons to play a more active role in everyday affairs "and thus become better consumers."

Mr. Pitman said he knows one blind couple who go out to work "in order to feel useful," though they lose money by having to give up the blind persons pension.

Mr. Pitman said that according to an International Labor Organization study, Canada from 1949 to 1957 was tied with Chile for 17th place among nations tallied for the percentage of their national income devoted to social security.

CLAIMS DISTORTION

Ernest Broome (PC — Vancouver South) accused Mr. Pitman of uttering "distortions" about Canada's social welfare program. In other countries, payments to veterans came under the heading of social justice while in Canada they were not so included.

Murdo Martin (CCF — Timmins) suggested that Mr. Brooke's criticism of Mr. Pitman "was "one of the numerous illustrations" the House had seen of "just how deeply hurt the Tories are by the fact that it is not a member of the government party who represents good old Tory riding of Peterborough."

Mr. Broome's speech also produced the rare spectacle of a Liberal front - bencher sticking up for a member of the CCF — New Democratic Party group.

J. W. Pickersgill (L — Bonavista - Twillingate) said Mr. Pitman was, in his experience, "one of the most courteous, though tough, debaters in this House."

W. Huntingdon

WEST HUNTINGDON — Mr. George Dyson was a dinner guest on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Sarles.

The Rev. J. Y. Garrett of St. George, N.B. conducted the service in the Presbyterian Church here and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Haggerty.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wright were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes of Queensboro.

Mrs. Clayton Wright attended a meeting of the United Church Women at Tabernacle United Church on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turk and family of Peterborough were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ashley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hammond and family of Cobourg were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond.

Mr. Russell Sills attended the Federation meeting at Ivanhoe Town Hall on Monday and was elected president.

Ask 'Significant' Spending By Federal Govt. to Solve Problem of Dairy Surpluses

OTTAWA (CP) — A program involving "significant expenditures" of federal funds was advocated by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture Wednesday to deal with the dairy surplus problem.

Lower butter prices for consumers, retention of butter payments to producers at existing levels and steps to halt surplus milk output were contained in a formula endorsed by the national farm group and the Dairy Farmers of Canada.

The program will cost money but it will lower consumer prices and costs for government storage or losses on storage, said the federation's annual submission to the government.

The big delegation, headed by Federation President H. H. Hannam, presented these other views:

Canada's basic trade policy should be toward progressive lowering of barriers and international negotiation of agricultural trade problems. The development of the European Economic Community is a "great fact and on balance an immensely encouraging fact of today's world."

WOULD AID NEEDY

Action taken by the government is appreciated in meeting drought and income deficiencies of western farmers but a special program of assistance should be carried out for those producers most in need.

The brief emphasized the existing dairy situation where the butter surplus exceeds 200,000,000 pounds and consumption continues to decline.

It urged a 14-cent-a-pound consumer subsidy to make butter more competitive with margarine. The present 64-cents-a-pound floor price should continue to be paid to producers.

Deficiency payments paid for milk for manufacturing purposes would be restricted to 1961 levels to discourage further expansion.

LOSS OF LIFE

as 20 more bodies may be pulled out of the rubble. Officials said there was "absolutely no hope" of anyone being found alive.

Relatives and friends gathered at the mine gate through the night. Lights from a nearby blast furnace reddened the skies. The crowd watched in tearful silence as police and rescue cars passed.

Blankets hid the bodies being carried away on metal stretchers to a hall turned into a morgue.

A Saarbruecken radio station reported that faint tap signals had been heard by rescuers but authorities issued a quick denial so as not to raise false hopes.

Wives and mothers of missing miners hurried from hospital door to hospital door in a desperate effort to find their husbands and sons. Inside, doctors administered blood plasma brought by police cars and U.S. army helicopters.

SEEK DISASTER CAUSE

An investigation was started this morning into the cause of the explosion, Hugo said. "At the moment nothing can be said and there is no immediate evidence that any special danger [illegible] been expected at the time of the disaster."

He said there was sufficient air pressure to pump away natural gas in the shaft and the air should have been reasonably clear.

Many of the miners survived the blast and the ensuing rock falls only to be burned by fires that swept through the underground shafts.

The Saar provincial government allocated 200,000 marks ($50,000) as relief for victims and relatives.

New York May Build New Canal In Niagara Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The state legislature will be asked to create a committee to work for speedy federal auhorization of an "all America" canal to link Lakes Erie and Ontario.

The canal, which would cost an estimated $750,000,000 would extend 17 miles through the western part of Niagara County. It would be designed to assume a major share of shipping that now uses the Welland Canal which is entirely within Canada.

A group of state government legislators, including Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, met Tuesday to plan future efforts to win federal approval for the canal.

A resolution to be submitted to the legislature will propose that a committee of five senators and five assemblymen work with federal authorities on the waterway, to be named the All American Canal.

Supporters of the All America Canal say the Welland Canal is inadequate to handle the sharply increased traffic generated by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Collingwood Drunk Driver Found at Reins

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (CP) — The vehicle was doing all right, but the driver was in pretty poor shape, and that's why Erwin McCartney of Collingwood was fined $30 and costs.

McCartney, 40, was fined after Magistrate Alan S. Stewart found him guilty of driving a team of horses while under the influence of alcohol.

Police said they arrested him last Saturday after someone reported the team was being driven in an erratic manner.

Topics Ranging From Ports To Removal of Logging Tax Dealt With by Delegation

TORONTO (CP)—A group of businessmen from northwestern Ontario met the provincial cabinet today, armed with 39 resolutions suggesting ways to improve conditions in that part of the province.

The delegation from the Northwestern Ontario Associated Chambers of Commerce, about 50 strong, gave Premier Robarts and his ministers their views on subjects ranging from ocean port status for the Lakehead to removal of the logging tax.

The delegation, which arrived here by air from Fort William Tuesday night, was headed by association President R. J. Flatt of Fort William and secretary C. W. King of Port Arthur. The group was joined here by Robert Gibson, recently elected Liberal member for Kenora; John Chapple, Liberal member for Fort William and William G. Noden, Progressive Conservative member for Rainy River.

The Northwestern Ontario group is formed by chambers of commerce in Atikokan, Barwick, Beardmore, Dryden, Emo, Ear Falls, Fort Frances, Fort William, Geraldton, Hudson, Kenora, Longlac, Nakina, Nipigon, Port Arthur, Rainy River, Red Lake, Schreiber, Sioux Lookout, Sioux Narrows and Upsala.

SEEK HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Together, they seek this:

A stepped - up program to complete the Trans - Canada Highway between the Lakehead and the Manitoba border.

Early completion of Highway 17 between Atikokan and Fort Frances.

Early meetings with the state of Minnesota to ensure speedy construction of the International Bridge between Fort Frances and International Falls.

Paving of Highway 72 from Dinorwic to Patricia Corners.

Paving of the highway from Hudson to Sioux Lookout.

A new set of regulations for the sale and administration of Crown lands more applicable to the requirements of the northern section of the province.

Removal of the logging tax which is "weakening the competitive position of the Ontario industry."

WANTS IMPROVEMENT

Improvements of firefighting methods by building access roads into inaccessible forested areas; extending the training program in fire fighting for the armed services; conducting more research into new firefighting methods; retaining an emergency supply of equipment such as aerial tankers and helicopters.

Early meetings between the Ontario and Manitoba governments to expedite a reciprocal licensing agreement for trucks.

Formation of a committee to control tourist air traffic in the area—"to curtail the gross violation and exploitation of our territory and resources which is daily growing more serious."

Establishment of an industrial development fund, similar to one in Manitoba, to attract industries to northwestern Ontario.

Formation of a qualified commission to hold hearings throughout the province to ascertain feelings of the people on present liquor laws.

Establishment of a community planning branch of the department of municipal affairs in northwestern Ontario to assist smaller communities.

Those 15 resolutions are given priority rating by the delegation. In other resolutions it seeks:

WANT ROAD COMPLETED

More "industrial roads," where warranted.

Better road signs so tourists can find their way to remote lakes and parks.

Availability of timber to secondary forest industries on a long-term contractional basis.

Construction of more roadside parks for overnight campers along Highways 11 and 17.

SEEKS SUBSIDY

A subsidy on the movement of feed grains and millfeeds from the West to Kenora and the Rainy River district so the Rainy River feeder won't be at a disadvantage with the Southern Ontario feeder; and regulation of freight rates on these feeds from Winnipeg to Kenora and the Rainy River district so they will be equal to, or lower, than the rate from Winnipeg to the Lakehead.

Emergency airport facilities at Atikokan, including the extention of runways to permit scheduled airline service.

Completion of airport improvements at the Lakehead.

Greater use of Lakehead port facilities by all businesses in northwestern Ontario.

Federal government action in providing track facilities and ship apron equipment at the Lakehead in time for the 1962 navigation season.

A federal fund to help industries locate in towns which have lost the railway industry.

Television satellite stations to serve Longlac, Geraldton, Nakina, Caramat, Stevens, Hillsport and other areas without reception.

Municipal relief from welfare payments made to treaty Indians living off reservations and that the care, education and welfare of all off-reserve indians be the responsibility of the department of immigration.

End of Algerian Conflict At Last May Be in Sight

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Current prognostications are that the shape of a settlement should be known by March 15.

The hope is that it will be a peaceful accord between the French government and the Algerian "provisional government" — the Tunis - based leadership of the Moslem rebel forces that have tried for more than seven years to achieve independence from France.

The current trend of events still could lead to a major explosion, but there's a growing feeling that the danger of this has passed.

Predictions of a settlement are being made despite the fact that plastic bombs and cold-blooded gunfire still claim scores of victims weekly both in Algeria and France.

No one underestimates the grave risks President de Gaulle's government must face in pushing through his program of decolonization for the territory.

There still appear to be some divisions within the ranks of the Algerian "provisional government" over the desirability of accepting de Gaulle's terms of settlement.

The right - wing secret army organization which claims much support in Algeria's major cities could unleash a reign of resistance and terror that may endanger any peace plans.

The hopes and predictions of peace are based on progress in the secret talks held by the French and the Algerian provisional government—as well as on an assessment of the probable danger posed by right-wing extremists.

The secret talks apparently have produced agreement on such controversial matters as citizenship, the big Mers-El-Kebir naval base, military and economic co - operation.

It is on the latter three items that there appears to be some division of opinion within the Algerian leadership.

A small but powerful segment is in favor of prosecuting the rebellion to what they feel is its bitter and logical end—the creation of an independent Algeria completely separate from France.

Most of the leaders, however, are believed to feel that co-operation with de Gaulle's government now is essential if transition to statehood is to be achieved with a minimum of further bloodshed.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEET — Urban and rural school trustees from the Eastern Ontario district met at Belleville Wednesday. Seen above are: Lawrence A. Kells, public schools administrator for Belleville; J. S. Darling, president Ontario Trustees' Association; William Townson, chairman Belleville Public School Board, and Rev. A. M. Laverty, Kingston, conference chairman.

$442,500 Worth Of Bearer Bonds Are Stolen

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial police Wednesday launched a country-wide search for $442,500 worth of bearer bonds stolen from a widow's home at Joliette, 35 miles northeast of Montreal.

Police said they believe the theft took place Jan. 21 while Mrs. J. Medard Lafortune, 69, and her sister, Armandine Laliberte, were at Sunday mass.

Apparently, they said, the thieves entered the house by a trap door on the roof and took the bonds kept in a flimsy suitcase in an unused bedroom.

The theft was discovered Feb. 1 when Mrs. Lafortune opened the suitcase to clip coupons from bonds that were due.

Mrs. Lafortune, widow of a successful businessman, said she took the bonds out of a bank deposit box several years ago because she wanted to save herself the trouble of going to the bank when coupons fell due.

Crown Will Not Appeal Acquittal Of Three Men

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Kelso Roberts said Wednesday the Crown will not appeal the acquittal of three men charged with conspiracy to bribe a police officer, but will press other charges connected with alleged gambling offences.

He said the appeal was dropped because special Crown prosecutor Gordon Ford "is satisfied that an appeal from the acquittal could not succeed."

The three are Vincent Feeley, 37, and Joseph McDermott, 40, who still face charges of keeping a common gaming house, and ex-provincial police constable Robert Wright, 28, who is awaiting trial on three charges that he paid money to a police officer with the intention to interfere with the administration of justice.

The three also jointly face a charge of conspiring to get information from a police officer which it was not his duty to divulge.

They were acquitted in June after a nine-day trial which produced evidence of widespread gambling in Ontario.

Mr. Ford indicated after the acquittals that an appeal would be launched.

DECIDE AGAINST

But in his statement Wednesday Mr. Roberts said the special Crown prosecutor had decided against it "after exhaustive examination of the transcript of the evidence and full consideration of the law and the limited right of appeal that the Crown has in criminal cases."

Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario New Democratic Party leader, said the decision to drop the appeal will add further to growing uneasiness in the public mind about the government's whole approach to organized crime.

Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer, whose charges concerning widespread organized crime led to the appointment of a royal commission on crime in December, had no comment.

Philosophy School Boards Should Use in Salary Talks With Teachers Is Outlined

A suggested philosophy for school boards to use during salary negotiations with teachers was outlined to representatives of the Ontario Urban and Rural School Trustees' Association here yesterday as they met for their eastern zone conference at the Corby Public Library.

Approximately 100 school board representatives from the area attended the meeting and heard their Ontario president, J. S. Darling of Kitchener liken salary negotiations with the old technique of horse trading.

"Teachers always ask for more than they expect to get and if that isn't horse trading then I don't know what it is," stated the speaker.

Following Mr. Darling's address on the "Technique of Negotiations" the conference divided into separate groups for discussion on public and high school matters and then reconvened for general discussions and a talk on occupational shop organization by A. C. E. Ritter of Kingston.

The meeting endorsed the brief of the Ontario School Trustees Council and agreed that the council's recommendations with respect to teachers' salaries at the different levels was "realistic and in tune with the times."

The council brief suggested if a school board felt it had to exceed the recommended salaries, it should get in touch with the council before making a final decision.

BOARD ARE HOSTS

Conference chairman was Rev. A. M. Laverty of Kingston, while delegates were welcomed to the city by William Townsen, 1962 chairman of the Belleville Public Schools Board, hosts for the meeting.

Mr. Darling told his listeners that the goal of negotiations was the reaching of a stable, sound and friendly agreement with teachers, the biggest issue of which was salary.

The big responsibility for school boards was to secure a qualified staff, but this did not necessarily mean the highest salaries had to be paid.

On the other hand the school teachers' salaries had to be high enough to attract the most desirable teachers.

Always the board had to keep in mind the three factors of qualification, experience and responsibility when hiring teachers.

Board members were told that salary negotiations were a "two-way street" and both teachers and school boards had to be fair.

RIGHT ATTITUDE

Mr. Darling said that goodwill should not be confused with giving in, nor should firmness be confused with just plain stubbornness.

"We must avoid the attitude of giving teachers all they want but we mustn't take the attitude that we are right and will not budge."

Even if school boards were always right, the speaker said board members would still have to sell this fact to the teachers.

Board members were warned against making trades with teachers during negotiations by giving up something while agreeing to something else.

"That doesn't solve the problems, it only defers it," Mr. Darling said.

The speaker said the board salary negotiating committee must offset teacher objections by presenting the advantages which the board has to offer.

It was suggested there should be a uniform salary schedule across the province as boards had a definite responsibility to each other. The salary schedule which might be readily met by a rich area might be impossible for a board in a poorer district.

Salary negotiations should always be initiated in an informal manner with board allowing the teachers to make known their requests first.

"Then keep calm, don't lose your tempers and keep talking. Don't shut off negotiations," were Mr. Darling's final words.

BBG Feels Repercussions Of 'Second' Station Move

QUEBEC (CP) — The Board of Broadcast Governors Wednesday began feeling the repercussions of the government-directed step to set up so-called "second" television stations across Canada.

It listened for about five hours to a bitter fight for the right to set up a new radio station in Ottawa to follow in the wake of new "second" station CJOH-TV Ottawa. The board itself held up such new licences until after the TV stations got established. It relaxed this policy only recently.

Then a long technical argument broke out over whether the new privately - owned CTV television network, serving the eight second TV stations, or the publicly - owned DBC should have the right to expand coverage in a competitive area of British Columbia.

The Ottawa radio - station applications, one by James A Stewart and the other by John W. Pollie, resulted from the decision of the BBG last fall to lift its two - year freeze imposed on potential new stations until after it gauged the market effect of the TV stations.

Radio stations CFRA Ottawa and CKCH Hull both said radio revenues have dipped sharply since CJOH-TV went on the air last year. CFRA claimed to have suffered its first loss in 15 years.

Both applications were for "good music" stations. Mr. Pollie proposed to expand to Ottawa from station CJET Smiths Falls 40 miles away. Mr. Stewart is an Ottawa lumber company executive who said he hoped to introduce "a quality of gentleness" to Ottawa radio music.

A clash between the publicly-owned CBC and the CTV network, serving the eight English-language "second" stations across Canada, broke out over competing bids to establish rebroadcasting stations in Chilliwack, B.C.

Spencer Caldwell of Toronto, CTV president, indicated that if the BBG wants higher quality in second - station Canadian programming than it can promote this only by giving the CTV network expanded overage, which would lead to more revenues from advertisers.

OshawaWorkers Reject Company Wage Proposal

OSHAWA (CP) — Workers at the R. D. Werner Limited plant Wednesday rejected a company contract proposal that would have ended their eight - week strike.

The company offer, which received majority recommendation from the negotiating committee of Local 2784, United Steelworkers of America (CLC), was turned down by 53 per cent of the 200 employees.

The employees, who produce aluminum parts for dryers, ladders and automobiles, walked out Dec. 15. They protested the company's refusal to include an annual improvement wage increase in its two - year contract proposal.

The offer they rejected Wednesday included an increase of three cents an hour retroactive to June 1, 1961, and four cents an hour effective June 1, 1962.

In addition, the company offered to contribute six cents an hour to a pension fund to become effective Feb. 1, 1963.

James Brown, chairman of the Local 2784 strike committee, said the union's also seeking changes in working conditions and a two - year, rather than a three - year contract.

Ont. Liberal Leader Wants Early Election

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer said Wednesday night that the public endorsement of the Liberal program and candidates in provincial by - elections last month is demonstrative proof that the people of the province are tired of a Conservative regime which refuses to face up to problems.

Speaking on the CBC program Provincial Affairs, Mr. Wintermeyer said the voters responded to the Liberal appeal in the by-elections because they realized "it is time for a change in Ontario, for a change to a party with the programs and the people who want to get things done."

Mr. Wintermeyer noted that the Jan. 18 byelections in Kenora, Renfrew South, Brant, Eglinton and Beaches drew a heavy poll of 90,000 voters and that almost 20 per cent more persons voted for the Liberals than for the Conservative government and candidates. Three Liberal candidates were elected while the Conservatives suffered their first defeat in a byelection contest in 20 years.

VISIT NORAD

OTTAWA (CP)—RCAF headquarters announced Wednesday that 23 Canadian government officials are on a one-day familiarization visit to North American air defence headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. They are scheduled to return to Ottawa today.

Election Campaign Expenses Will Be Severely Restricted If Legislation Is Passed

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's election campaign expenses will be severely restricted if legislation introduced Wednesday in the legislative assembly becomes law.

Campaign expenses would also be paid in part by the provincial government, something no other government in Canada does.

A 219-page bill containing the two revolutionary provisions and rewriting Quebec's Election Act was introduced in the assembly Wednesday. A 47-member committee was immediately named to study it before it returns to the full House for approval.

Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson said limiting the expenses would put government and opposition parties on an equal footing. He declined further comment.

The bill would also stiffen penalties for infractions and allow names of "recognized" party candidates to be accompanied by their party affiliation on the ballot. Independents and candidates of non - recognized parties would not be identified. Party affiliations do not appear on ballots anywhere in Canada at the moment.

NEEDS 60 PER CENT

Under the bill, a party would be recognized if it fielded candidates in 60 per cent of the province's ridings and if it had a party structure and a leader. The chief returning officer would decide which parties should be recognized.

Recognized parties would be limited to expenses totalling 25 cents for each voters. The money, which would come from the party's own funds, would be spent on general, province-wide publicity.

Mr. Lesage told reporters this would mean about $700,000 for each recognized party in the next provincial election, based on estimates that 2,800,000 voters will be eligible. The next election is nominally due in 1964.

Mr. Lesage told reporters the cabinet spent a long time working out the basis of recognition. "We decided on 60 per cent because we felt to be recognized a party should have enough candidates to form a government."

The bill provides that individual candidates, whether independent or members of a recognized party, may spend up to 50 cents per voter in their riding on an election campaign. If the candidate receives a minimum of 20 per cent of the votes cast, he would be paid up to 15 cents per voter by the government.

Mr. Lesage, again using the estimate of 2,800,000 voters, said that if a party sent a full slate of candidates into the fray, total expenses would be no more than $1,400,000.

This figure, added to the $700,000 for the party's general expenses would mean total cost of roughly $2,000,000, he said.

"This is much, much less than what has been spent for decades in Quebec provincial elections," the premier said. Later he told an audience at the party's Reform Club that election spending is "a real scandal." He gave no indication how much parties spend at the moment.

Premier Says Ontario Budget May Be Billion

PERTH, Ont. (CP)—Premier Robarts said here Wednesday night that the next Ontario budget will exceed $1,000,000,000.

He said the Ontario government plans to spend $76,000,000 in the next fiscal year to alleviate what he termed the province's "number - one problem," mental health.

The premier forecast that his government will spend $56,000,000 to operate mental institutions in 1962-63 and an additional $20,000,000 to build new ones.

Speaking at a testimonial dinner tendered by the Lanark Progressive Conservative Association, he said there will be a trend towards smaller mental hospitals, which could offer better treatment.

Mr. Robarts said costs of operating the hospital insurance plan were increasing, but premiums will be frozen at the present level for the next two years.

This would be done by diverting some of the proceeds from the new three-per-cent sales tax to the Hospital Services Commission.

The premier criticized the Liberal Opposition for urging extravagant spending programs. "You cannot spend what you don't have," he said.

Romney Would Retain Stock If He Runs

DETROIT (AP) — George Romney indicated Wednesday that if he runs for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan he will resign as both president and chairman of American Motors Corporation.

Speaking to AMC's annual stockholders meeting Romney said he is the largest shareholder of record with 102,000 shares and that "I have no plans to change my holdings of American Motors stock, regardless of any decision I make about staying with or leaving the company."

Romney said that "in our current financial planning we are projecting a sales volume of about 500,000 cars for fiscal 1962." AMC built 380,525 cars in its 1961 fiscal year which ended last Sept. 30.

The president reported that AMC's working capital stood at $113,400,000 on last Dec. 31 and said that the company had completely paid off $37,500,000 in loans outstanding on Sept. 30, 1957.

Romney said that since American Motors and the United Auto Workers union agreed on a profit - sharing contract last summer progress sharing as he calls it, has been extended to salaried employees.

Survivor of Saar Mine Disaster Tells of Explosion

Editor's Note: George Kneip, 21 - year - old miner is a survivor of the coal mine disaster that killed scores of his fellow workers Thursday. Here is his account, as told to Associated Press Correspondent John Fiehn:

By GEORGE KNEIP

VOELKLIGEN, West Germany (AP)—I went down as usual at 6 a.m. We were five men, assigned to reinforce gallery No. 2. Shortly before 8 we heard an ear - splitting bang. At the time, we were just leaning against the gallery wall to rest.

Immediately following the bang, I felt a terrible draft. We were thrown on the ground. It felt like being hit by a giant's fist. Grey, dirty clouds filled the part of the gallery we were in. I could barely see my hands even if I raised them to my face. The lamps at the top of our helmets just did not get through this thick cloud. There is no other light in the gallery.

We tried to reach one of the three shafts leading down into the mine. But our way was blocked by cars thrown off the rails. There was all kinds of mining equipment scattered around in the gallery.

We went back and eventually got down to No. 4 gallery where the actual explosion had occurred. The centre of the blast was about 600 yards from where we had worked.

We reached the shaft where we met our foreman. He ordered us to help bring out the injured. They arrived piled on cars from deeper inside the gallery. There were several dead. One body was headless. The injured looked terrible. Almost all their clothes were burned to ashes. Some looked completely black. Many cried in agony, others moaned.

I came out at 9:20. At 10:30 I went down again for another hour and a half. I helped bring more of the injured to the elevator that took them up the shaft.

I have been working in Luisenthal mine for four years now. This was terrible. I will never forget the sight of the dead and the injured. Twelve hours after all this happened I was still shaking.

Jay W. Montieth, Federal Minister of Health, Is C.A., Brought Up on Politics

By JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP) — The health and welfare department, an operation that takes nearly one-quarter of federal spending, is directed by a chartered accountant with a keen eye for where a dollar goes.

Jay Waldo Monteith, 56, is a quietly efficient administrator and every inch a businessman. As minister he bosses a department whose disbursements this fiscal year are $1,592,000,000, second highest, after national defence, of any department.

He feels his accounting background has been useful in the post he has held since 1957.

"I think it gives me a proper perspective as to finances."

There's more than business, however, in his background He comes from an Ontario family that has been in politics since Confederation.

GRANDFATHER WAS MP

His grandfather, Andrew Monteith, represented Perth North in the first Ontario legislature in 1867 and from 1874 to 1878 sat in the Commons.

His father, the late Dr. J. D. Monteith, represented Perth North in the legislature in 1923-24 and served as provincial treasurer and minister of labor and public works.

"I was brought up on politics," says Mr. Monteith, Progressive Conservative MP for Perth since 1953. "In my family it was always being discussed."

Like his father, he served two years as mayor of Stratford, Ont., where he was born and where he still maintains a home and business office, the latter in partnership with another accountant. The firm also has an office in Oshawa, Ont.

Once a month he and his wife, the former Mary Strudley, get away from Ottawa to visit Stratford for a day or so of relaxation, though it doesn't always prove relaxing.

FAMILY REUNIONS

"It doesn't take long sometimes for the folks there to find out I am home, and then I may wind up with a series of appointments."

Stratford is also where the Monteiths and their three daughters hold family reunions several times a year. "They visit us here in Ottawa now and then, but separately."

The three are Sally, Mrs. John Wismer of London, Ont.; Nancy, working in Toronto, and Mary, who attends Bishop Strachan School in Toronto.

Mr. Monteith presides over a department with more than 3,000 employees. It is responsible for distributing old age pension cheques—$607,000,000 worth this year; family allowances—$523,000,000; hospital insurance payments to the provinces—$270,000,000, and unemployment relief assistance—$45,000,000.

A matter that occupies much of his attention now is launching of the national fitness and amateur sports program. Parliament earmarked $5,000,000 annually for the program at its last session.

KEEPS IN SHAPE

"There seems to be a great deal—a tremendous amount—of support for the plan. There is widespread acceptance that the fitness of the general citizenry is not what it might be."

Mr. Monteith himself, a trim and vigorous six - footer who weighs 186 pounds and never diets, is a good advertisement for such an enterprise. He keeps in shape with a daily round of exercises from the RCAF SBX manual—"I have reached the level for my age bracket."

Another interest is golf but he doesn't get to play as often as he once did. His best-ever score was 87. "I would be awfully happy to break 100 now."

HEADS BIG DEPARTMENT

Health Minister Jay Waldo Monteith heads a federal department which this fiscal year has estimated expenditures of $1,592,000,000, second highest of any department. A chartered accountant, he finds his background useful in handling department finances. Mr. Monteith has been Progressive Conservative MP for Perth since 1953 and health minister since 1957. Helps Mother, Children Escape

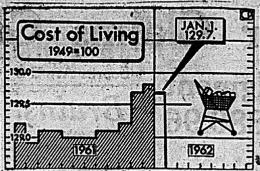
HARROWSMITH, Ont. (CP)—A Verona doctor dashed into a burning house Wednesday to rescue three small children and their mother.

Dr. Bartley Campbell had been attending physician at the birth of two of the children of Mrs. Merlin Titley.

Dr. Campbell was driving a pregnant woman from Verona to Kingston when he saw smoke coming from the Titley home.

He ran in the back door and found Mrs. Titley in hysterics. He loaded twin girls, nine months, into a washtub, tucked Eric, 2, under his arm and had the woman help him carry the children to safety.



DIPS A FRACTION — Canada's cost-of-living index dipped by one-tenth of a point to 129.7 at January 1 from 129.8 a month earlier but up from 129.2 a year ago.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, marked the first decline in six months. Graph traces living costs from January, 1961. (CP Newsmap.)

Communication By Satellite Now Feasible

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Wednesday that global communication by satellite has become technically feasible—and that private enterprise should take charge.

Kennedy asked Congress to charter a communications satellite corporation to build and operate satellites and associated ground stations for the relay of messages to any part of the world.

Shares are to be sold to the public and communications firms.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!

IN 12 MONTHS IN 3 MONTHS

Hair Specialists Here Friday

Will Show Men and Women How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

OTTAWA, Ont. New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Belleville Friday, February 9th at the Quinte Hotel.

Trichologist G. F. Thomson will be in charge, representing the dynamic Roberts Hair and Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 12.00 noon to 8.00 p.m.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all". It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked at regular intervals by a Roberts Specialist.

Who Can Be Helped?

Will the new Roberts treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair-loss—dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea— can be corrected by the Roberts home treatment if caught in time.

"DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE"

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced, you are going to keep right on losing hair 'til you're bald —unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition again.

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Roberts Specialists will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it will cost you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk for Mr. Thomson's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

Examinations are given in private.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

THE CUSTOMERS ALWAYS WRITE!

Dear Sir:—

I see by the papers that there will be no Harmsworth Trophy races this year, due to the fact that there are no challengers from the United States, the Congo, Cuba or wherever the huge putt-putts hail from.

It's too bad because my friends and I are speed enthusiasts and it's going to be a bleak summer afloat if we have no foam-raising hellions to watch on the Long Reach or Hayward Reach, as you suggested. By the way whatever became of the idea to re-name the Reach?

But as an alternative we could turn land-lubber and enjoy the daily free-for-alls and no holds barred on the Pinnacle Street Speedway.

It's too bad the heats are not properly organized. As it is the catch-as-catch-can entries are staggered (so are the pedestrians) and the getaways not synchronized.

They could get 'em away three abreast at the Bridge Street green light. They should be fairly even at the Campbell Street crossing. With the packs starting at 30-second intervals, this would give the Campbell street cross-walkers time to make it without getting their bustles bobbed by bumpers.

Or they could use one of those mechanical starters the harness racing boys use at their meets. They could "Let 'em go" just past Campbell. This would be O.K. for the library crossers, but tougher 'n hell on the Victoria Avenue chance-takers.

But back to the water sports. See where Picton is talking regatta again with "Top USA Speedboats" coming. Back here at home the word is out the "Queen's Putt-Putt, Hatches-Down, Bottoms-Up Club" is planning a meet of its own. Water, that is.

The meet confab is said to have been held aboard the posh flagship of Commander George McGee, Z.I.N., (Zwick's Island Navy), N.Y.R., (not yet retired), the "Quinte Queen."

The "Queen" mounts six can openers, built-in powder rooms, two pants-pressers, ship-to-shore clothes lines, five bunks, a motor, a cut-rate barber shop and a travel bureau.

Then there's the "Scourge of the Reach," a compact style catamaran owned, operated and financed by the Jim Cook Corporation, a one-man company. The "Scourge" once ran the gauntlet guns of Gilly Goyer's Marine Marauders and escaped from the Duffy Dowdies. Her armament is a battery of light cork-screws, three fire extinguishers, two cigarette rollers, a membership in the P. E. Yacht Club and insurance policies for guests.

Third member of the fleet is the "P.P.P. 3rd", (Peever's Private Punt), a rebuilt South Seas kayak-style outrigger. The first two P.P.P.'s were sunk running Dodger wetbacks from Coogan's Bluff across the Gowanus Canal. The P.P.P. carries three sets of oars, a lawn-mower power plant, two escape hatches, six Montreal Canadiens' pucks, pictures of Jerry Mahoney, Bobby Hull, Frank Mahovlich, and "Swimming in Three Easy Lessons."

Chief "Davy Crockett" John Hill will be standing by with his 24-man war canoe. Last season he manned his craft with twelve Liberals and a dozen Conservatives. They never did pull together until the Chief moved an increase in old-age pensions. They gave him an all-standing ovation and the canoe capsized. Later when the craft was raised the chief reclaimed three second-hand scalps, fourteen used, but in fair condition, cigar-butts, four peakless railroad caps, and three volumes of unpublished, uncensored jokes.

Pat O'Meara, the fleet secretary, is in the market for a sea-going puddle-jumper. He wants one large enough to take the entire Ottawa Rough-Riders football squad on a scenic jaunt of the Moira River. He's got a sculptured bust of Casey Stengel ready for a figure-head, and colored pictures of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris as pick-me-ups whenever the Yankees get licked.

That's all for now, boss. Will report the next meeting slated for Telegraph Island as soon as the pickerel start running.

Yours Truly,
Droopy,
(The private eye-lid.)

Has Slipped Disc

Bonin Lost to Habs?

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Bonin, muscular left winger for Montreal Canadiens, may be finished as a National Hockey League player because of a slipped disc in his spine.

Bonin, 29, said Wednesday he has decided to have an immediate operation on the disc to correct a condition that has bothered him for years.

The former member of Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins has been out of action since December, when he was injured in a collision with Pete Goegan, Red Wings defenceman at the time.

Although he has resumed workouts with the Canadiens, his back has pained him and stopped his regaining top form.

Team officials said that even if the operation is successful and Bonin is able to resume hockey, he'll undoubtedly miss the rest of this season. He'll need four or five months' rest after the operation.

"Other players have had this operation before and have returned to play," said Bill Head, team physiotherapist. "But it's hard to say with Marcel. He's not so young as he used to be."

Bonin has played in 455 NHL games, 215 of them with Montreal. He has scored 97 goals. He said that if he can't return to hockey, he'll devote himself to his work as a policeman at nearby Joliette.

Lawyer Claims Giants' Willie Mays Or Judgment Of $1,880.96

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Giants, who scan every incoming mail in the hope of receiving a few signed documents, have one on their hands today that they could have done without.

The signatures they are looking for are those on contracts of Orlando Cepeda, who led the National League last year in home runs and runs batted in, and several of his team-mates.

The one they got belonged to Melvin Belli and it wasn't attached to a baseball contract. Belli, a lawyer, sent them a writ laying claim to Willie Mays unless the Giants pay a judgment of $1,880.96 that Belli won against them.

The Giants promptly did some document signing of their own. They posted bond of $3,760 and won a stay of execution pending appeal. That meant they retained title to Willie, who they have agreed to pay a reported $90,000 to continue operating in centre field at Candlestick Park.

In Puerto Rico, Cepeda, who out-hit Mays for the Giants last year, still isn't satisfied with contract terms. Orlando is reported to want something in the $50,000 neighborhood or nearly twice what he received a year ago.

Belli won his court judgment on Jan. 23 from a municipal court jury which ordered the baseball club to repay him for a 1960 season box in Candlestick Park. Belli charged the place had proved too chilly for him to use because an advertised radiant heating system failed to work.

Belli asked a writ of execution because the club's lawyers had failed to file a motion for a new trial before the legal deadline. Listed at the top of properties which Belli listed for attachment was:

"Located at 3444 Spruce St., San Francisco, Willie Mays, a prime asset of the San Francisco Giants."

A spokesman for the Giants said the order staying Belli's action returned the case to where it was.

Win Fast Game 5-3

Pepsi's Down Uxbridge

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Writer

The Belleville Pepsi's squeezed out a 5-3 victory over a close-checking and fast-skating Uxbridge Black Hawk squad here last night in the best Lakeshore Intermediate game of the season at Memorial Arena.

While the game itself was far above average, the crowd was as small as usual. An estimated 200 fans were in attendance..

The Black Hawks, coached by former Whitby Dunlop Freddie Etcher, checked like fiends most of the evening and prevented the high-scoring Pepsi squad from free-wheeling it in their usual manner most of the night. Belleville outshot the visitors 37-30 on the night's play but the spread came in the third period when the winners held a 17-7 margin.

The clubs battled to a 1-1 deadlock in the first period and it was 2-2 in the second before the Pepsi's opened up a 4-2 lead by the end of the period. Uxbridge cut the margin to 4-3 early in the third before the locals regained their final two-goal lead.

Uxbridge passed up a great chance in the opening minutes of the third period with Belleville ahead 4-2. Marineau had been sent off for slashing at 19.14 of the second and Botly followed him for tripping at 20.00 even. However, with the two-man advantage, the Hawks chose to shoot the puck into the Pepsi zone and chased it in and Jones, Goegan and Crawford had little trouble killing off the twin penalties.

Ronnie Hull and Keith MacDonald were the Belleville scoring leaders. Hull scored his 25th and 26th goals of the campaign, tops in the loop, and also had one assist while MacDonald scored the last two goals. Dave Jones triggered the other. Gary Goyer drew three assists with one apiece for Lionel Botly and Fiori Goegan.

Fred Etcher paced the losers with a goal and an assist. Jack Germond and Wayne Redshaw potted the other goals with Art Rennick, Almo Gibson, and Vern Ferguson receiving assists.

Belleville drew four of the game's six minor penalties. Action roughened up greatly in the third heat and several feuds threatened to develop during the heavy bumping.

Etcher put the visitors ahead 1-0 when his shot from the blueline fooled Barclay while Taylor was in the sin-bin at 5.30. Goyer stole the puck and fed it to Hull uncovered in front to make at 1-1 at 9.12.

Hull sunk Botly's rebound from a point shot to put the Pepsi's ahead for the first time at 11.01 of the second. Germond got that back when he tapped the disc home as it lay on the goalcrease behind Barclay at 15.07 but Jones used players from both sides as a screen to make it 3-2 seconds later.

MacDonald whipped Hull's rebound past Carpentier to end the period scoring at 17.55. The Hawk goalie had made a fine save on the original play as Hull roared in from the wing.

Redshaw knifed his way between two Belleville defenders to sink a hard drive at 2.12 of the third before MacDonald took Goegan's lay-up and scored on a cross-fire at 5.54. For the rest of the game both clubs went all out in slam-bang, wide-open style.

Scores Are 2-2

Bruins, Blues Tie Leafs, Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The lowly Boston Bruins Wednesday night threw a roadblock in Toronto's bid to overhaul Montreal Canadiens for the league championship by holding the Maple Leafs to a 2-2 tie at Toronto.

The night's only other game also ended in a 2-2 tie—between New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings.

The Bruins, winners of only 12 of 52 games, have done better on Toronto ice than any other team this season. In six outings, they have two wins and a tie.

COME FROM BEHIND

Toronto had to come from behind twice to earn the tie with Ron Stewart getting the tying goal at 12:47 of the last period.

Stewart just missed being the goat, however, fluffing badly on a penalty shot, then drawing the game's only penalty.

Referee Vern Buffey awarded the penalty shot—the sixth in the NHL this season—after the Toronto forward was hauled down by Doug Mohns.

At 10:20, Stewart was thumbed off for tripping. But the Leafs held and 27 seconds after stepping back on the ice, he scored his eighth goal of the season.

The other three goals came in the second period. Defenceman Leo Boivin and winger Andre Pronovost tallied for the Bruins and defenceman Tim Horton got one for the Leafs.

BATTLE ALL WAY

Andy Bathgate, the league's leading point-getter, got the tying marker at 19:24 of the second period. It was his 20th of the season, giving him six consecutive 20-goal seasons.

For the Red Wings, the marksmen were Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman. Delvecchio's goal was his 18th while for Ullman it was his 20th. Ullman now has reached the 20-goal circle the last five seasons.

Gets U.S. Brushoff

East German Bid Fails

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany reported a new failure Wednesday night in its efforts to gain admittance to the United States for its hockey team to play in the world championships at Colorado Springs, Colo., March 8-18.

An East German Ice Skating Federation official was reported to have gone to the United States consulate in West Berlin but was unable to see the vice-consul.

NATO countries clamped down on travel by the East Germans after the Communists built the wall through Berlin last August.

Travellers must get a permit from the NATO travel bureau and present it to a representative of the country they want to visit for a visa. They can not get the visa without the permit.

Communist countries withdrew from this weekend's world ski championships at Chamonix, France, when the East German skiers were unable to travel. Some Communist countries have hinted they will boycott the hockey competition if the East Germans are not given permits.

Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finaland announced Tuesday they would compete at Colorado Springs. Galt Terriers are to represent Canada.

AUSTRIANS THREATEN

At Chamonix, where a Canadian squad is getting ready to compete, the powerful Austrian team of eight men and seven women threatened to boycott the world ski games unless it is permitted to enter a bigger quota of racers in each event.

Sepp Sulzberger, director of the Austrian team, pressed a meeting of team leaders to accept more than four entries from a country in each event.

The games open Saturday and run through Feb. 18 as a replacement for the world championships, cancelled when visas were denied the East German team.

A total of 170 team members from 25 countries have checked in and no further arrivals are expected. The Polish team was the only one of the Communist-bloc countries to participate.

Yugoslavia joined Romania and Russia in pulling out of the competition, but gave no reason.

A little matter of about $200,000 shied Canada clear of staging this year's world amateur hockey championships. And the way things are going now, officials are pleased that they bowed out in favor of the money - happy Americans.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, as proposed sponsor of the 1962 championships in Ontario—at Kitchener and Toronto — gladly stepped aside when the Americans talked money. The CAHA couldn't afford to take chances.

"We brought up the matter of holding the 1962 tournament before the International Ice Hockey Federation a couple of years ago or more, and we were serious about it," CAHA president Jack Roxburgh of Simcoe, Ont., said in an interview the other day. "But we dropped out of the picture gracefully when we heard the deal the Americans were prepared to make.

"They said they would underwrite part of the cost of bringing European teams to Colorado Springs to compete. This was $500 a man and when you work it out at 20 teams or more and 18 players a team, it comes to about $200,000. Other costs probably would bring the total bill close to $500,000.

"That was too rich for our blood, so we stepped aside. Now, I'm kind of pleased in a way that we did."

POOR DRAWS

Roxburgh pointed out that many teams — Finland, Romania, Denmark, Holland, France and so on—wouldn't pay their way at the box office. "It would be hard to get crowds out to see these teams but the big ones would draw."

Roxburgh's comments were made shortly after a meeting this week in Colorado Springs between the sponsors and officials of the IIHF. The word was that the March 7-18 tournament would go on as scheduled although there have been reports the last few weeks that Czechoslovakia, Russia and Sweden would drop out if the Allied Travel Office in West Berlin stuck to its decision to refuse permits to the East German team.

If this happened, tournament sponsors likely would take a financial bath. The Czechs, Swedes, Russians, Americans and Canadians are the only drawing cards and without three of them the outlook would be grim.

CANADA WOULD GO

Whatever happens, Galt Terriers will be there to represent Canada.

"There's really not much point in going if the Russians, Czechs and Swedes aren't there, but we said we would go and we'll fulfil our obligations," Roxburgh said. "It would help our friends in the U.S."

Roxburgh is determined to do everything possible to get a full slate of countries in Colorado Springs. This week he sent a telegram to Prime Minister Diefenbaker asking the federal government to protest officially the refusal to grant travel permits to the East Germans.

"We've got to show some initiative and go after authorities. If we give it an honest try in place of sitting around doing nothing, then the Russians, Czechs and Swedes will realize that we are trying to save these championships. It would be awfully hard for them to refuse to participate.

"At least it's worth a try."

Says He'll Vault 16.6

Uelses Answers Critics

QUANTICO, Va. (CP)—John Uelses, the first pole vaulter to clear 16 feet, has fired back at critics who claim the glass pole he uses is unfair.

German-born Uelses, now a marine corporal, said:

"I can't see where there could be any problem. The definition of a pole vault says to get over a height with a pole. It doesn't say what kind of pole." And now that he has surpassed the 16-foot mark, he said, he thinks he could repeat is using a steel pole.

A spokesman for the International Amateur Athletic Federation in London said Tuesday if an outdoor world record was set with a glass pole it would have to be considered carefully before being ratified.

Others, including Olympic champion Don Bragg, have suggested that Uelses gets a slingshot effect from his pole that helps boost him to higher altitudes.

He said the p[illegible] reacts faster than a steel pole, which is used by most other vaulters, and "if your reactions are slow you can't use it."

He predicted he will go even higher this weekend in indoors meets at Philadelphia and Los Angeles, possibly to 16 feet, 2 inches. By midsummer, Uelses said, he plans to be close to 16 feet, 6 inches.

Stepfather Inherits Oil Wells

Brothers Get Ball Club

ST. LOUIS (CP) — The two sons of Mrs. Violet Wolfner have inherited majority interest in St. Louis Cards of the National Football League and say they are going to run the club together.

Their statements have raised doubt about the status of Walter Wolfner, their stepfather and managing director of the team for 12 years.

Wolfner, 64, said: "I certainly want them (the two sons) to be more active in the club."

Estimates of the estate's value run as high as $10,000,000.

Wolfner was left a life income from five oil wells in Oklahoma under the terms of Mrs. Wolfner's will, filed in Chicago probate court Tuesday.

Mrs. Wolfner died Jan. 29.

Wolves Nip Frontenacs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves tightened their grip on the fourth and last playoff spot in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Wednesday night, edging the league-leading Kingston Frontenacs 3-2 at Sudbury.

The win left Wolves five points ahead of the fifth-place Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds, but still 13 points behind Hull-Ottawa Canadiens in third spot.

Orv Tessier and Tom McCarthy, the league's runaway scoring leaders, counted the two Kingston goals. For playing-coach Tessier it was his 39th goal of the season, his 37 assists giving him a total of 76 points. McCarthy has 44 goals and 30 assists for 74 points, 16 more than team-mate Bob Attersley, the league's third best point-getter.

A few fans were on hand for the game, only EPHL action of the night. But the pace was furious throughout. After a scoreless first period, Bettio's two goals gave Sudbury a 2-0 lead midway through the second. Tessier's marker left the score 2-1 going into the third.

Stankiewicz' goal made it 3-1 for the winners near the one-minute mark of the third. Sudbury holding the lead until 9:34 of the period when McCarthy got his goal.

Gentile Has Salary Doubled

The slugging first baseman received a 100-per-cent salary increase when he signed his 1962 contract calling for $30,000 Wednesday. Gentile's pact a year ago was for $15,000.

Gentile, the 16th member of the American League club to agree to terms, drove in 141 runs last season and belted 46 home runs—five of them grand-slammers.

Other players signed Wednesday included: Pitchers Frank Baumann, Cal McLish and Mike Degerick and catcher Sherm Lollar of Chicago White Sox; pitcher Bill Stafford and outfielder Bob Cerv of the Yankees.

A new York physician said Wednesday that Billy Loes' sore arm trouble is so serious that the veteran pitcher's career may be over. The 32-year-old Loes was purchased by the Mets on a conditional basis from San Francisco Giants last October for a reported $25,000.

Hugh O'Brian to Kiss Girl For First Time on Camera

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh O'Brian, after seven long years of fast draws and galloping hooves on TV, finally has made it: He will be able to kiss a girl—for the first time on camera.

This momentous occasion will occur, and live, too, Sunday night when the former Marshal Wyatt Earp plays the Ivy-League - suited hero in a TV adaptation of Spellbound on NBC's Theatre '62. The girl is Maureen O'Hara.

"I never even kissed my horse before," O'Brian said. "This one with Maureen will be a modern, late - evening type kiss."

In TV, the way a modern, late-evening type kiss is routinely handled is to show the clinch and then move the camera slowly and suggestively to a candle burning out or a fireplace with dying embers.

All sorts of network changes of programs are in the works.

CBS will switch its old Robert Young Show and its new Robert Young Show next Monday. Viewers will find that evening that reruns of Father Knows Best have been substituted for Window on Main Street. And Window will pop up on a Wednesday night spot formerly occupied by the repeat shows.

Window on Main Street, generally panned by the critics, proved an expensive disappointment. It probably would have been eliminated entirely, except that the network has a contract for a season's worth of show.

Andre Boudrias of the second-place Montreal Canadiens was held scoreless but picked up three assists and retained second place with 72 points on 28 goals and a league-leading 47 assists.

The top sniper, Hamilton's Lowell MacDonald, retained third place as he notched four goals and one assist to give him a total of 71 points on a 39-32, goals-assists breakdown.

"THE DEVIL AT 4 O'CLOCK" HELD OVER

(Frank Sinatra)

Frank Sinatra plays a cynical convict in violent conflict with a Pacific Island priest, played by co-star Spencer Tracey, in the Mervyn LeRoy - Fred Kohlmar production for Columbia release, "The Devil at 4 O'Clock," Eastman Color drama held over at the Park Theatre. Casting of Sinatra in the role gave him the opportunity to fulfill a long-time desire; he has always wanted to make a picture with Spencer Tracy.

Since it was at Columbia that singer Sinatra won an Oscar for his performance in "From Here to Eternity" and thereby proved that he himself was a gifted actor, the star also welcomed his own return to the studio in another challenging role.

Sinatra came up the hard way to become one of the nation's top singers. His legendary song stints at New York's Paramount Theatre had bobbysoxers swooning at the sound of his voice. He then added another facet to his career with his first starring appearance in a movie symbolically titled "Higher and Higher;" later receiving a special Oscar for his performance in "The House I Live In," a short subject produced and directed by Mervyn LeRoy.

Written for the screen by Liam O'Brien, "The Devil at 4 O'Clock" is based on Max Catto's novel. Feature times: 7.25 and 9.45.

Minor Hockey

The Browns took a 6-1 victory over the Canadiens in the first game of their goals-to-count bantam series last night.

H. Townsend and G. Moore scored two goals apiece for the Browns. M. Fahey and Huntley added a goal each while Townsend and McCreary drew two assists and Moore one. Beecher fired the lone Canadien marker.

In juvenile play, the Blues edged the Black 4-3. Jim Woodcock paced the winners with a goal and two assists. R. Turner had one and one, N. Richards and D. Goodfellow a goal each and D. Boomhower an assist. K. Johnson, B. Symons and J. Rutherford triggered the losers' goals with Youke and Emerson drawing assists.

In an exhibition game played at Brighton, Canadiens of the Belleville peewee league played to a 2-2 tie with the Brighton Peewee All-Stars.

Mark Acquafreddo scored both Belleville goals with Ron MacDonald one assist. Gary Lisle and Terry Graham potted the Brighton goals.

Bill Boyd Recounts Reign Of Idol, Hopalong Cassidy

By BOB THOMAS

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) "Those were fantastic, unbelievable times," said Bill Boyd of his reign as TV's first great idol, Hopalong Cassidy. "But I knew they couldn't last."

This was a relaxed, contented Bill Boyd, living the quiet life with his beautiful wife, the former actress Grace Bradley. They spend half their year at a compact, comfortable home in this desert resort, the other half in a huge trailer by the ocean at Dana Point, Calif.

"We don't even have any help," Bill explained. "We found it bothered us to have other people around. After spending our lives in a crowd for so many years, we love just being alone."

The Boyd saga is one of the great stories of show business. He started in the movie business in 1919 by lying to Cecil B. Demille's secretary that he had an appointment with the great man. He was a Demille leading man in the 1920s, then in the 1930s starred in a routine series of horse operatics as Hopalong Cassidy.

Hoppy appeared to have faded in the 1940s, but Boyd quietly bought up TV rights to the series. He went on TV in 1948 and for six or seven years was a national sensation.

"There had been nothing like it," he recalled, "It got to the point that I called together all my people and said we had to cut down."

"I was on almost every TV channel. I had been on the cover of every magazine. I was in comic books and comic strips. I was on records. My merchandising was in all the stores. I told people we had 94 per cent saturation, and that was too much. When you get up that high, there's only one place you can go, and that's down."

It was Davy Crockett who brought the break. When the Hoppy merchandise started to slide, manufacturers got off the bandwagon and put their money into the coon-skin cap craze, said Boyd—"and they lost a fortune."

Boyd continued making appearances throughout the country and the world to huge audiences. But the life began to pale.

He made his decision three years ago, as he and Grace were returning from appearances in England.

Small Amounts Of Radiation Extend Life

HAMILTON (CP) — Fallout from nuclear tests is insignificant, McMaster University physicist said Tuesday.

In fact, small amounts of radiation actually extend life, he said.

The physicist, Dr. R. H. Tomlinson, a chemistry professor and health physicist for the McMaster nuclear reactor, was addressing the Niagara area annual public health conference here.

To back his statements he said radiologists—who are exposed to radiation every working day—suffer no more cancer or leukemia than anyone else. As a group they live longer than others in the medical profession.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

BOB

An old Malay once taught a British administrator a short but clever lesson. They were disputing whether to eat with tableware or with one's hands. The Malay produced the clinching argument. "I'm sure," he exclaimed, "that my fingers haven't been in anybody's else' mouth. But I'm not so sure about your spoons!"

The lesson he taught is one Westerners need to learn. It is a lesson in cultural empathy — and without the wisdom it imparts, we shall continue to have a rough time winning over the hearts of those outside our orbit. We need to acquire the two skills which emerge from this interesting encounter.

1. To understand the inner logic of the other fellow's way of thinking.

2. The restraint not to judge his thinking as bad just because it is different from our own way.

Empathy is not merely a superficial matter of liking other people or patting the other fellow on the back, or passing resolutions or attending meetings. Rather, it is the result of activating your intellectual sensitivities so that we come to recognize the legitimate existence of valid traditions and cultural systems which are strange to us, as ours may be to others. And once we alert our minds to this recognition, we need the good-sense and the know-how to translate our attitudes into acts which will help the stranger feel at home with us. This can happen only if we're not overwhelmed by his "strangeness" and do not mistake a man's right to his own way of life, with our need to justify our own as the best or the most likely to succeed.

North Americans, whose territory, customs and national advertising stretch out for so many thousands of unbounded miles, sometimes forget these things. The problem is illustrated by a comment from a U.S. Air Force man at a seminar on language training.

"I don't see why you're making such heavy weather of this language thing", he said, rather impatiently. "Why not do what we do around our Air Force bases in Morocco — just make everybody learn English?"

There was an embarrassed silence, broken at last by one who had a bit of temerity. "That takes care of their understanding us", he said calmly. "Now, what do we do about our understanding them?"

Unfortunately, some of us forget about every "them" as long as we can concentrate on every one of "us". "Them and us" — how do we get these to understand each other — still remains the biggest human bar of peace. For, while we have created imaginative and dramatic scientific means to increase the rate and the spread of instrumental communication — we must learn what to say and how to listen, if there is to be lively human communication. Without humane concern and intelligent assessment, electronics can only put two people into contact — it cannot bring them together.

The bridge we build between ourselves and remote peoples, of course, is constructed best by the proper use of local raw materials. There is hardly any point in saying to the black man of Africa that we want to understand him, if his black cousin, here, at home, is bypassed, ignored even maligned.

Like charity, our understanding — which is, after all, the heart of charity — must first begin at home, if it is to be taken seriously anywhere else in the world.

And the best way to begin — is to begin. And the only time to begin — in now!

Tandem-Smoker Introduces Togetherness to Weed Users

MONTREAL (CP) — A U.S. inventor from Kennebunkport, Me., wants to initiate something new in smoking in Canada: Togetherness.

Wise - cracking E. Jonathan Law, 58-year-old bachelor, has a little creation he calls "the tandem smoker." Put simply, it's one cigarette holder and two stems, one stem for each puffing partner.

The circular, steel - base pipe, which fits neatly in the pal mof the hand, uses a long hose arrangement for stems through which the smoke is drawn.

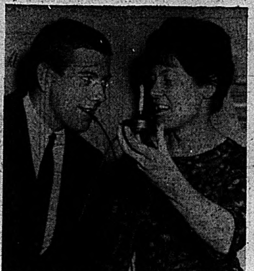
"It brings romance to smoking," says Mr. Law. "There is nothing more apt to produce a social thaw than the tandem smoker. If I could bottle it, I'd sell it as old weather balm."

You can smoke "together" with your wife or girl friend or even your enemy. It's a natural "modern peace pipe."

The Maine inventor and manufacturer of unusual gift items was in Montreal to set up a distribution system for the pipe in Canada where it will retail at $1.98 and up. He hopes to market it next in Britain.

The original Kennebunkport smoker was far from a gimmick. It had a single stem and was used as a bedside safety gadget. If a smoker dosed off, the cigarette remained clutched in the holder while ashes and sparks fell into the metal base.

Mr. Law says many veterans hospitals in the U.S. use the safety smoker.



PUFFING PARTNERS — Inventor Jonathan E. Law of Kennebunkport, Me., says his tandem smoker brings romance to smoking. This couple shows how the smoker works. It has a circular steel-based pipe which sits in the palm of the hand and holds the cigarette. Two long hoses are used for inhaling. Mr. Law has set up a distribution system in Canada and hopes to market the invention in Britain next year.— (CP Photo)

WEST HUNTINGDON

I.F.A. Member Speaks on Farm Requirements

WEST HUNTINGDON — Mr. Charles Munro, of Embro, member of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture, held in the Huntingdon Township hall, on February 5th.

A successful dairy farmer, Mr. Munro pointed out that today a farmer must be as good at marketing his product as he is in producing them. He dealt with the presentation of resolutions to the Prime Minister and the organization's influence in shaping the laws concerning the farmer. One of the requests was a law governing the sale of farm equipment in Ontario, the result of this in Saskatchewan has proved most beneficial. He also commented on the corn vote, the proposed egg vote and the possibility of a milk vote in the future.

The president, Mr. George Carlisle, welcomed the guests and spoke pertaining to activities of the Federation during 1961 and spoke of the Federation display at the Plowing Match last fall which was most successful, also the leadership course held in the I.O.O.F. Hall in Stirling.

Mr. Cecil Ketcheson, representative of the wheat producers sugested the invitation of Peter McKinnon to the February meeting of the executive. Mr. Ross Ketcheson and Mr. Charles Fargey were appointed to attend the Rural Development Conference in Kemptville on February 14 and 15. Rae Cunningham, O.F.A. fieldman, outlined the need of a canvass for a petition for an egg vote.

ELECT OFFICERS

Mr. Gibson Patterson of Stirling spoke briefly and conducted the election of officers for the year 1962, as follows: past president, George Carlisle; president, Griffin Ketcheson; president, Russell Sills; 1st vice-2nd vice-president, George Heasman; treasurer, Harvey Homan; secretary, Wilfred Forestell, and directors, Ross Ketcheson, Glen Morrow, Arthur Bates, Allan Ketcheson and Cecil Ketcheson.

Door prizes donated by the Hastings County cream producers were won by Philo Harris, Charles Fargey and A. W. Reid.

More than 50 gold mines in a 300-mile arc in South Africa produce more than 61 per cent of the free world's gold supply.

Flying Saucers Not Enemy Spacecraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force reports that after 15 years of investigating flying saucers there is no evidence that any of the 7,369 unidentified flying objects checked were spacecraft swooping in from distant planets.

To date, no unidentified flying object has given any indication of threat to the national security, the air force said in summing up its investigations from 1947 through last year.

It said its Project Blue Book has turned up no evidence that any of the unidentified sightings represented technological advances "beyond the range of our present-day scientific knowledge," or that any of the UFOs were "extraterrestrial vehicles under intelligent controls."

At year's end, only 10 of the 1961 sightings still were classified as unidentified. Most of the rest were traced to aircraft, balloons, satellites, astronomical phenomena, birds, lights, hoaxes and other causes.

Gomulka Emerges As Key Supporter of Khrushchev

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

WARSAW (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka, the tough Polish party boss who personally defied Nikita Khrushchev in 1956, has paradoxically emerged as a key supporter of the Soviet premier's disputed claim to leadership of the Communist world.

Five years ago Moscow must have regarded Gomulka as a headstrong maverick who threatened to disrupt Soviet bloc unity. Today he seems to have become an important cohesive force in Communist East Europe.

After the Poznan riots of 1956, discontent at Soviet rule affected even Communists. Gomulka, who had been expelled from the party in 1949, was reinstated an[illegible]tored to party leadership. H[illegible]romised "socialism and freedom" and instituted a number of reforms.

Gomulka was the first Soviet bloc leader to back Khrushchev's hand last October at the Soviet party congress where the bitter dispute with Peking and the Albanians got a public airing.

By ironic coincidence, Gomulka addressed the congress [illegible] Khrushchev's behalf almost fi[illegible] years to the day after their showdown meeting in Sarsaw amid the Poles' feverish preparations for possible armed revolt.

Gomulka returned here from the Moscow congress proclaiming that the Russians had finally seen the light and condemned Stalinism as the Poles had done five years ago.

In return for his important support, Gomulka appears to have won some important concessions from the Kremlin. One of these was Moscow's recognition of Gomulka's maintenance of the capitalist system of private ownership of Poland's farmland. Other Soviet bloc countries have collectivized their agriculture.

WILD NIGHT OF BLOODY RIOTS IN PARIS

Gromyko's Reply To Parley Plea Non-Committal

Most British Papers Back Plans for Tests

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia today was reported to have given a non-committal reply to the Anglo-American proposal for a three-power foreign ministers meeting to discuss a nuclear test ban and disarmament.

Meanwhile most newspapers here reacted sympathetically to Thursday's announcement of the proposal along with agreement for the United States to use Britain's Christmas Island in the Pacific for atmospheric tests while Britain does underground testing in Nevada.

First Soviet reaction to the proposed foreign ministers conference came from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko when he met with the U.S. and British ambassadors in Moscow Wednesday. Reliable sources here said Gromyko merely said he would refer the proposal to his government.

Moscow radio said the agreement was "a serious blow to world peace" and warned that Russia "is hardly likely to sit doing nothing."

Pravda, quoted by Tass news agency, said the agreement was "yet another step along the road to intensifying the nuclear arms race."

MAY OPPOSE

There were fears the agreement may arouse strong opposition in Britain. The Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament hastily organized a torchlight parade to the U.S. Embassy here Thursday night, while 200 demonstrators lobbied in the House of Commons.

However, the agreement got generally sympathetic treatment in British newspapers today.

The Guardian said British tests in Nevada would only be "a direct provocation to other second-class powers to develop nuclear tests," while The Daily Express complained that Christmas Island will never be the same again if used by the Americans.

But The Times, The Daily Herald, The Daily Telegraph, The Scotsman and The Daily Mail all expressed hopes that Russia would agree to the foreign ministers conference.

RECOVER DRUGS

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said Thursday night they have recovered all the narcotics stolen Wednesday from a Canadian National Express delivery truck on downtown Dominion Square. Det. Sgt. Teddy Cartwright of the Montreal force said a check of the CNR shipping records showed that eight parcels of narcotics "worth a small fortune if they had fallen into the wrong hands" had been stolen.

$25 BILLION LOAN GIVEN JOBLESS INSURANCE FUND

Spending Program At Record High

OTTAWA (CP) — A government loan of $25,000,000 for the dwindling unemployment insurance fund in the 1962-63 fiscal year starting April 1 was announced by the government Thursday.

At the same time, the government tabled further supplementary spending estimates of $115,647,429 for the 1961-62 fiscal year ending March 31. This brought to a record $6,479,646,289 the government's planned spending program for the current year, not including $806,570,000 in old age pensions.

This compares with the previous fiscal year's $6,088,225,064 in estimates and $5,958,060,846 in actual expenditures, again not including old age pension pension costs.

Biggest items in the latest supplementary estimates were $35,000,000 for the army, mostly pay and allowances, and $31,000,000 for the RCAF for aircraft and engines — both additions to amounts previously asked of Parliament.

A further $28,400,000 was requested for payments to the provinces under the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act.

LOAN NOT AN ITEM

The loan for the unemployment insurance fund is not considered a budgetary item. At the end of December, the fund totalled $163,305,000. At its peak in December, 1956, it was more than $900,000,000 but higher unemployment has drained it to its present position.

Informants indicated the $25,000,000 loan will be held in readiness if and when the unemployment fund goes bankrupt, which some observers have predicted for this spring.

If the need should arise, the money would then be available. The terms and condition of the loan would be set by the cabinet at that time.

Other items in the estimates include $2,400,000 for purchase of uranium concentrates by the Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited.

The $2,500,000 for road and building construction in national parks included: Point Pelee, $40,200; St. Lawrence Islands, $4,000.

Under transport estimates, there was $1,230,000 against the operating deficit of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority for the last year and $46,860 for alterations and additions to the auto ferry service between Pelee Island and the Ontario mainland.

Today's Chuckle

He could not have been over four, the little boy who stood in front of the lost and found desk during the Christmas rush. There were traces of tears on his chubby face as he inquired, "Has any mother been turned in yet this morning?"

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Cloud and moderating temperature spread eastward across southern Ontario during the night. This will be followed by an area of snow that will spread across southern Ontario this morning. Two to four inches of snow is expected in southwestern Ontario and along the north shore of Lake Ontario. There is a chance of a short period of freezing rain near Lake Erie. Colder air and clearing skies will follow this disturbance.

FINAL DEATH TOLL OF 300 SEEN LIKELY

62 in Hospital In Critical Condition

VOELKINGEN, WEST Germany (Reuters)—A final death toll of about 300 appeared likely today in the grim wake of the worst mine disaster in the history of the big Saarland coal basin.

The official toll stood at 287 following the death in hospital during the night of three injured miners. About a dozen miners were still not accounted for and another 62 were in hospital, many in critical condition.

About 100 miners escaped unharmed in Wednesday's explosion of methane gas deep within the government-owned Luisenthal coal mine here.

Many of the victims were burned to death by a fire which shot through the mine shafts in the wake of the explosion. Others died from inhaling coal gas.

The recovered bodies were brought to the pithead where crowds of weeping relatives kept a round-the-clock vigil, tensely reading typewritten casualy lists.

One silver-haired woman saw her husband's name struck off the "known dead" list and cried out with joy. But the cry changed to a wail of despair when she saw a note explaining that the name was struck off only because it had been entered twice.

All 20 teen-age apprentices working in the mine escaped death by what was believed to be a heroic action by their teacher, Wilhelm Massion. His body was found against a fire door which had been safely closed.

Canada's Policy of Trading With Cuba Defended by PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's policy of trading with Cuba was defended Thursday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker as the same policy now being followed by the Organization of American States.

He told the Commons that critics of the Canadian stand would do well to consider what the OAS decided on Cuban trade at its recent conference.

The OAS had called only for immediate suspension of arms shipments to the Communist-aligned Caribbean nation. "We have consistently followed that course in the last several months," the prime minister said.

In the Senate meanwhile, a Liberal senator was condemning Canadian trade with Cuba as "scab" interference with the United States trade embargo.

Senator J[illegible]de B. Farris of Vancouver said the U.S. gave up trade advantages in Cuba to protect the hemisphere from communism. Canada had stepped in and expanded its sales to Cuba, taking over some of the American markets.

When Senator Arthur M. Pearson (PC — Saskatchewan) protested that the prime minister was being compared with scab labor, the B.C. Liberal replied:

"If that's what you think it amounts to, you can put the cap on and wear it."

Canada has banned the export of arms and strategic goods to Cuba but otherwise maintains normal commercial relations with the Castro regime. Latin American nations and western European members of NATO have done the same.

Informants say that it is possible Canada may decide at some later date to reconsider this policy.

They attach some significance to Mr. Diefenbaker's statement earlier this week that the U.S. has not asked Canada to review its trade policies towards Cuba.

If such an appeal was made by Washington, the Canadian government might be willing to go along, especially if Latin America agreed.

Mr. Diefenbaker said last year that Canadians "cannot be indifferent" to the danger of a Communist "bridgehead" in Cuba.

He also has said repeatedly that Canadian sales to Cuba still are not as high as those of the U.S., despite the embargo. The Americans still ship food and medicine to the island.

Lesage Role in Pre-General Election Period Watched

OTTAWA (CP) — The role Premier Lesage of Quebec plays in the period leading up to a federal general election is being watched closely by federal government supporters.

Conservatives are freely predicting that Quebec's Liberal premier will take no active part in the campaign on behalf of the federal Liberal party.

Liberals agree that Mr. Lesage is unlikely to stump the province for federal Liberal candidates but argue that he will just be observing a tradition of Quebec politics. They say his ministers and supporters will be fully involved in the federal campaign.

However, the Conservatives argue that there is more than tradition in Mr. Lesage's attitude. They see it as partly based on a need on his part to play up to autonomist elements in Quebec by having as few public connections as possible with the federal Liberals.

It is also contended among Conservatives here that Mr. Lesage has long-range ambitions to step into the federal Liberal leadership.

Their theory is that the Liberal leadership would be ripe for Mr. Lesage's plucking should Mr. Pearson and his Liberals fail a second time to defeat the Conservative government in Ottawa.

This is discounted by Liberals who argue that Mr. Lesage is unlikely to give up the Quebec premiership to lead the Opposition in Parliament. They also say that Maurice Lamontagne, a senior member of Mr. Pearson's brain trust and a candidate in Quebec East, has already staked a strong claim to the succession.

The Liberals consider it will be fairly easy to capture many of the 50 seats in Quebec the Conservatives won in 1958 with help from the Union Nationale government, turned out of office in 1960 by Mr. Lesage.

Two Men Killed In 'Copter Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCAF said Thursday night that two men died earlier Thursday in the crash of a helicopter being tested near Fort Churchill, Man., for the army.

Killed were Flt. Lt. Barry Wood, 30, captain and pilot of the craft and an RAF exchange officer whose hometown was Nottingham, England; and LAC P. M. Stewart of Ottawa, a 23-year-old native of St. George, N.B.

An RCAF spokesman said the three-passenger CH-112 Hiller helicopter was being run through climatic trials for the army. Cause of the crash was not known. An investigation will be held.

French Who Lived Under Nazis Feel Right at Home in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—French settlers in Algeria who lived through the Nazi occupation of France say they feel right at home in Algeria today.

Algeria's Moslem majority looks to the expected cease-fire in the Algerian war as the preface to their country's independence. Most of the European settlers view an agreement with the nationalist rebels as a sell-out. They now look on the underground Secret Army Organization as Frenchmen once looked with similar fervor to the wartime resistance movement for ultimate liberation.

As the European settlers see it, Algeria is a country under hostile occupation and the "occupying power" legally is their own government. In private conversations, they compare the government in Paris with Vichy and turn on President de Gaulle the same argument wartime Gaullists used against Pierre Laval.

With the same resentful bitterness, the Europeans of Algiers despise French authorities as "traitors" who have joined hands with an enemy to work for France's downfall. De Gaulle now plays the role of Marshal Philippe Petain and reserves the same fate for the same reasons, they assert.

In the local lexicon, police officers actively fighting the secret army are the hated "barbouze" or the "Gaullist Gestapo," ranked with the Vichy "milice" (special police) who once acted as tools for Hitler's police state.

"There are two people who can never come to Algiers—de Gaulle and Ben Khedda," the Europeans say. They vow that they will never permit rebel premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda to install himself here, and they almost dare Paris to try to install a provisional European-Moslem executive in any of the Algiers public buildings.

TWO POLITICAL RIVALS PUT ON STIRRING DEBATE

PM Hints Election Is Not Imminent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Opposition Leader Pearson came to verbal grips in the Commons Thursday in an election-campaign preview that wandered far from the pension matters under discussion.

Spurred on by the ready cries of their supporting MPs, the two political rivals thumped each other on the past, present and future.

Mr. Diefenbaker at one point dropped what some interpreted as a hint that the election call is not imminent. He said the government hopes to introduce at this session a formal application to the United Kingdom Parliament for the constitutional amendment he insists is necessary for any contributory pension plan.

This hinges on agreement by the 10 provinces, not forthcoming to date.

LIBERAL CRITICIZES

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Diefenbaker promised in 1958 to bring in such a plan after election. Now, four years later, the government was only moving to pave the way for it.

As an excuse, the government claimed that it had wanted to achieve Canadian power of constitutional reform first—rather than going to Britain as the present practice decrees.

"Of all the ridiculous, nonsensical excuses for inaction, that is the greatest," said Mr. Pearson.

If the government itself isn't frightened about the outcome of an election, "why does the prime minister not call an election," retorted Mr. Pearson.

The two spoke — attending each other's addresses closely —on a government resolution to increase aid for 50,600 disabled persons by $10 to $65 a month—part of the government's pensions package.

TEMPERS FLARE

Before the Commons adjourned, other speakers had taken full advantage of the unusual latitude granted on subjects able to be discussed and tempers flared in interjections, heckling and shouted exchanges.

The intervention of the two party leaders raised the heat of the chamber without the addition of many new facts.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the former Liberal government had "starved" old age pensioners to build up a surplus. The government's present deficits were due to increased social security benefits and payments to provinces of $1,000,000,000.

Eight Killed, Hundreds Hurt In Street Fights

Minister Charges Reds Provoked Bloodshed

PARIS (AP) — Communists today threatened strikes and more demonstrations after a wild night of bloody rioting in Paris in which eight persons were killed and hundreds were injured.

The Communists accused the police of "unbelievable savagery" in three hours of fierce street fighting which erupted from a Communists demonstration protesting the government's failure to quell the terrorists of the secret army.

Interior Minister Roger Frey charged that the Communists provoked the bloodshed and said: "These people wanted trouble. Rarely have such well-organized bands of rioters attacked the security forces."

The non-Communist Socialist splinter party led by former premier Pierre Mendes-France demanded the resignation of Paris Police Chief Maurice Papon and the dismissal of Frey. The party claimed many of its members were among the injured.

SETS OFF BOMBS

While the shouting, stone-throwing mobs of leftists surged through the streets battling police, terrorists of the anti-de Gaulle Secret Army Organization set off a dozen or more plastic bombs in scattered sections of the capital. As usual the bombers got away.

Communist party offices and printing plants were attacked. One bomb badly damaged the Paris office of the Soviet news agency Tass in a building owned by the Soviet embassy.

The club-swinging police suffered heavy casualties in the furious fighting as they charged repeatedly to break up the mobs. A communique said 184 policemen were injured, 10 seriously.

Authorities said they could give no idea of the number of rioters injured but there probably were several hundred. They were in hospitals all over the city and were treated at special Red Cross posts.

COMMUNIST KILLED

Among the dead were Jean-Pierre Bernard, Communist secretary of the 15th District of Paris.

The interior ministry said all the dead apparently were crushed in the stampede. It denied a charge by the Communist newspaper Humanite that the police had fired on the mob.

While the battle raged in Paris other demonstrations broke out in Lille, Clermont-Ferrand, Lorient and other French cities.

Authorities reported 83 arrests were made in Paris and ordered an investigation into the rioting.

In Algeria, the daily slaughter went on with European settlers and Moslems wreaking vengeance on each other. Eleven persons were killed and 47 wounded by terrorists. The victims were both Europeans and Moslems.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he hopes to introduce at this session the preliminary document necessary for a constitutional change.

Opposition Leader Pearson again challenged the government to call an election, saying the prime minister is pulling a "bluff."

Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) said the government has been "caught with its pants down" on the question of extending Canada's territorial waters.

The government tabled further supplementary spending estimates of $115,647,429 for the current fiscal year, raising this year's spending to a record.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris (L-British Columbia) called Canadian trade with Cuba "scab" interference with the U.S. trade embargo.

Quebec Outfitters Opposing Move To Open Salmon Rivers to Public

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec outfitters feel strongly about suggestions that private Atlantic salmon streams be made public.

"They'd do it over my dead carcass," growled rangy Rait MacWhirter, who has a $250,000 outfit down on the Little Cascapedia.

Noel Comeau, whose family has outfitted anglers on the Godbout River for 101 years, also is prepared to fight any such move.

"Salmon will survive industrialization but I have little hope they will survive politics," he said lightly.

The Quebec Outfitters Association, holding its annual convention here, today will discuss a resolution recently handed the government by the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations.

It was drawn up by the Hauterive-Baie Comeau branch—Baie Comeau was named after Mr. Comeau's father—and asks that north-shore St. Lawrence salmon rivers now in private hands be opened.

"We were taught how to handle the river by our fathers and grandfathers," Mr. Comeau said. "We have daily records of salmon caught on the Godbout from 1860 to 1923."

The Molson family took over the Comeau holdings in 1923 and has kept records since then, with the Comeaus moving their outfitting business downstream.

Mr. MacWhirter leases his fishing waters from Gaspe farmers, descendants of United Empire Loyalists who went there in the 18th century.

He says the private owners—who are paid good rents for the streams—probably would fight as hard as the outfitters and other salmon fishing groups against any move to expropriate the rivers.

"Not going to be so nice if the public gets at them," says Mr. MacWhirter. "They'd be dynamiting them and using snares. . . ."

Horse Burns to Death As Fire Razes Barn

WELLINGTON (Special) — Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the barn on the farm of Clarence Pearsall, one mile north of this village early today.

Contents of the barn were negligible, the only animal a horse was burned to death in its stall.

Flames shooting out of the blazing building around 12.30 this morning awakened neighbors.

The village fire department went to the scene but the frame structure was a mass of flames when they arrived. Two farmhouses nearby were scorched but undamaged.

Pat White, a member of the fire brigade, was injured when he slipped on ice near a pumper, falling into the machine and suffering severe facial hurts.

He was taken to hospital with a fractured nose and other head injuries.

Lone Customer Got the Pick Of Bargains

Did you ever wish you could be a first and only customer in a store full of Opening Day bargains?

That is exactly what happened to a Front St. employee, with so called "banker's hours" yesterday morning, who was so dazzled by all the bargain posters she failed to note the one advertising the opening time, and having a few minutes to spare dashed in to have a quick shopping spree.

A carpenter kindly held the door for her and in record time she gathered a basket full of choice specials. The lone shopper did notice she had the store to herself but was so engrossed with all the bargains she didn't see the envious crowd that was steadily increasing on the other side of the plate glass windows.

However, she was soon snapped out of the ecstacy, known only to lady bargain hunters, buy a cashier who informed the early bird that she could not be checked out, since the store was not yet open. The customer quickly apologized and asked the clerk to return the bargain bundles to the counters as she was due at work.

But before she could escape the manager diplomatically stepped forward; he not only welcomed the first customer, he personally checked her out and presented the lady, who jumped the gun, with the early shoppers' bonus.

Her embarrassment mounted even higher as she had to force her way out through the mob waiting at the starting gate, all of whom seemed to be muttering "Who is she anyhow?"

Admission Charges to Fairs Cause Lengthy Discussions, District Fair Dates Set

A suggestion that admission to fairs be raised from 50c to 75c, was made at the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Fairs Association, held at the Kiwanis Centre Thursday.

President of the Kingston Fair Board, Mr. Patterson, said they have already raised their price to 75c and so far have had some very good results.

Mr. Patterson said, last year they charged 50c for the first two days of the fair and 75c the last two days and more people attended when they had to pay 75c than when they had to pay only 50c.

He said they put on a special horse show and when they paid their 75c it entitled them to see the grandstand show free.

Mr. Patterson told the meeting that at the end of Kingston's fair last year, they had made $4,000 over prevoius years. He said he could not say whether it was the help on the gates or the 75c that did it.

William McCrea, president of the Tweed fair board, said small fairs, such as at Tweed, will have to start charging 75c admission if they want to stay in business.

Gordon McCubbin, president of the Fair Board Association, said "we don't take into consideration that these small Class C fairs usually have a very small grandstand. "I think in order to take the sting out of raising the admission price, if you charged 75c, you would have to give them the grandstand show free. Can we afford to charge 75c at the gate and a dollar for the grandstand show, when we have to rely on the same pepole coming back for three or four days?"

Another district fair board member said he felt that the complimentary tickets were hindering the small fairs a great deal.

GRANDSTAND SHOWS

He pointed out that a person could drive up to the gate and present one of these complimentary tickets, but in all probability, he has three or four other persons in the car with him who get in free.

Mr. Patterson from Kingston said it depended a great deal on the help who were attending the gate, and that on their tickets it states clearly they are good only for one admission.

The afternoon grandstand attraction was also discussed at great length. Most members present agreed that they got their biggest crowds on the grandstand at night, rather than the afternoon. They said it was very easy to get people on the grandstand at night but very hard in the afternoon.

The problems of admission, tickets and grandstand shows were discussed at great length, and a lot of new ideas were taken back to each individual fair board.

But still remained the admission problem, which was left up to each individual to discuss when they went back to their own fair board meeting, as to whether or not the admission price to a fair in 1962 would be 50c or 75c.

During the morning hours of the meeting, fair dates were set and an election of officers for 1962 was held.

The election of officers resulted as follows: ladies board of directors: retiring district director, Mrs. S. Fitzgerald, Shannonville; 1962 district director, Mrs. Wilksons of Denbigh; 1st vice-president, Mrs. C. S. Lockyer, Picton; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Percy Utman, Stirling and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Hume, Campbellford.

Men's board of directors: district director, Gordon McCubbin, Warkworth; associate director, C. Fitchett, Stirling; secretary-treasurer, W. C. Vacoe, Roseneath; auditors for 1962, Kenneth Vivian, Shannonville and Jesse Locke, Campbellford.

FAIR DATES SET

Fair dates for 1962 were set as follows: - Belleville - Aug. 13, 14, 15 and 16th; Kingston - Sept. 11th to 15th; Stirling - Sept. 14th and 15th; Tweed - Sept. 21st and 22nd; Picton - 20, 21, and 22nd; Napanee - Sept. 3rd, 4th and 5th; Marmora - Sept. 1 to 3rd; Madoc - Oct. 2nd and 3rd; Demorestville - Sept. 26th; Shannonville - Sept. 7th and 8th; Roseneath - Sept. 28th and 29th; Mohawk - Sept. 15th; Campbellford - Sept. 25th and 26th; Warkworth - Sept 13th and 14th; Norwood - Oct 6th to 8th; Denbigh Agriculture Society, Sept. 8th.

Man Arrested At Napanee For Abduction

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP)—A 41-year-old grandfather and a girl he is charged with abducting were found on board an eastbound train here Thursday.

Taken into custody was Raymond Hicks, 41, a part-time farmhand who worked on the farm of the girl's parents near Odessa in the Kingston district.

He is charged with the abduction of Lois Ackerman, 15, missing from her home since Nov. 2.

Police said the girl was returned to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ackerman. They said she told them she had been in Winnipeg. Hicks is to appear in court Tuesday.

Lois, a Grade 9 student at Ernestown Township High School, disappeared after attending morning classes. Police said she drove away with a man who visited her at school.

Her mother received a letter from her later that day telling her not to worry.

Hicks, an unemployed carpenter, is the father of three children and the grandfather of two.

history. He kept challenging Mr. Pearson to say what part of the government deficit, the Liberals would have eliminated.

ANSWERS CHARGE

Mr. Pearson said he recognizes the authority of the prime minister to "talk about hoaxes." The prime minister had again descended to the "low level of personalities — their (the Conservatives') stock in trade." That was done to avoid having to grapple with serious national problems.

The prime minister had a morbid, almost passionate preoccupation with the past represented by events of 1957 and 1958. He was defending himself with "phoney and incomplete" figures.

The Liberals would not have had to cut out anything from the huge deficit piled up by the government in four "wasted" years because under Liberal rule, the economy expanded at a rate able to digest such spending.

Now the rate of expansion annually was a third of the years between 1945 and 1957. He challenged Mr. Diefenbaker to give details of the proposed comprehensive retirement pension plan.

PRAISES OWN RECORD

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said his group has an unblemished, untarnished record on social security and he hoped this was the last piece - meal approach to the problem.

Grant Campbell (PC—Stormont) said the post-war boom was a gratuitous event for the Liberals, based on European recovery efforts, the Korean War and the release of huge wartime savings by veterans.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista - Twillingate) raised a storm of protest when he said that Mr. Diefenbaker has been absent from his office one day out of every two for the last three months.

Douglas Fisher (CCF — Port Arthur) described Mr. Diefenbaker as the "greatest inadvertent socialist we've ever had."

"The real joke to me is the joke on the members of the Conservative party who feel they are members of a free enterprise party," he said.

Youth Held In Custody On Fraud Count

A Bancroft youth was remanded in custody until Tuesday when he appeared before the Magistrate on a charge of fraud.

Meredith Kelusky pleaded guilty to a charge of altering a certified cheque from six dollars to sixty dollars.

Inspector McLauchlan said the accused opened an account at a local bank and deposited seven dollars. He then wrote out a cheque for six dollars and asked the bank to certify it, which they did.

The Inspector said Kelusky changed the cheque by adding 'ty' to six and placing a '0' behind the numeral 6. He then took the cheque to a nearby car lot and received cash for it.

Inspector McLauchlan said this all took place in the same day.

TWO YOUTHS FINED

Two Belleville youths were fined $50 and costs when they appeared on a charge of racing their cars on a city street.

Clarence Randall Wickett, 20, and David Harold Benn, 20, pleaded guilty to the charge and Benn's licence was suspended for six months.

Inspector C. Hayes of the city police department said that three constables were on cruiser patrol duty on February 5 on North Front Street. The officers were on the Vigor Oil service station lot near highway 401 when they heard a loud roar of motors, which seemed to be coming from the south.

The officers watched and observed two cars travelling north, side by side at approximately 60 or 65 miles per hour. They passed the two waiting cruisers and stopped on highway 14 overpass on highway 401.

Inspector Hayes said when the officers got out to check one of the cars, driven by Wickett; the other car, which was being driven by Benn, turned around and went around the south cloverleaf and parked underneath the bridge.

The Inspector indicated the two cars had travelled about 700 feet side by side.

The Magistrate warned Benn if he was caught driving before he got his licence back, and he appeared before him, he would go to jail.

Council Votes to Allow Tweed and Hungerford to Withdraw From School Area

Ending a lengthy controversy which had been before council on two previous occasions, Hastings County council Thursday afternoon voted agreement in principle to the withdrawal of Tweed village and Hungerford township from the Centre Hastings High School Area.

Yesterday council gave two readings to the by-law allowing withdrawal from the school area by the two municipalities. Third reading of the by-law will be given Friday (today) and with the approval of the Ontario Department of Education, the withdrawal from the area will become effective, January 1st, 1963.

County Warden Harold Varty told the few ratepayers from Tweed and Hungerford present at the meeting that the second reading of the by-law assured its passing with the third reading to be given on Friday merely being a formality.

The intention of Tweed and Hungerford now is to form their own high school district to be known as the Tweed and Hungerford High School District.

CONDITIONS SET OUT

A condition of the withdrawal of the two municipalities from the Centre Hastings High School Area is that Tweed and Hungerford guarantee the student attendance or financial support to the million - dollar technical school proposed to be built at Madoc. Capital cost of the school which would accommodate up to 370 students, would be borne by the two senior governments.

It was the proposed erection of the Madoc technical school which brought to a head the decision of Tweed and Hungerford to ask withdrawal from the area.

Ratepayers said they feared that erection of the school might mean the closing of the present high school at Tweed. Also they feared their tax rate would be considerably affected by operational costs of the proposed technical school.

The initial application by Tweed and Hungerford for the county council approval to withdraw from the area was before county fathers at their December session. The matter was deferred until the January session and in the meantime a referendum vote showed 90 percent of the ratepayers wanted to withdraw.

MATTER DEFERRED

The matter was deferred until the January session and in the meantime a referendum vote was taken which showed over 90 per cent of the Tweed and Hungerford ratepayers were in favor of withdrawing from the area.

At the January session council again laid the matter over to allow the parties concerned to arrive at some sort of a compromise.

Following meetings of board officials and municipality representatives with department of education officials, the compromise reached was the guaranteed support of the technical school by Tweed and Hungerford.

Monetary and other details of withdrawal will be worked out between the parties concerned and will be ratified by an arbitration board.

County council member on the board will be Ex-Warden Harleigh Hamilton.

Graham Mouck Named Reeve Of Stirling

Graham Mouck has been named the new reeve of Stirling village, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Carl E. Bateman, who has been named the new Hastings county clerk-treasurer.

Stirling village council met last night and again this morning to decide on the appointment of the new reeve and will meet again to appoint a councillor.

The appointment of a new councillor is necessary as with no election being held at Stirling last fall, there is no high man to step up and fill the vacancy. The new Stirling reeve is a member of the present village council.

Propane Bulk Plant Being Installed

FRANKFORD — "Afagas Ltd.," of Milliken, Ontario, is installing a propane bulk plant on the former Cranston property in Frankford. In addition, there will be a retail gas appliance outlet. The Frankford plant will be headquarters for Eastern Ontario, as far east as Napanee, west to Port Hope, and northern points. At present, the layout involves close to $150,000, with dealers throughout this area. Plans are to give a modern service to all domestic and commercial propane gas users.

The plant will open officially in March, and the manager and sales manager of the plant will be Mr. Ed Strome.

County Ex-Wardens Will Provide Memorial Plaque

Hastings county ex-wardens will provide a memorial plaque in honor of the late Erle S. Denyes who for 27 years acted as clerk - treasurer of the county.

The memorial plaque will be hung somewhere in the new county administration building as a lasting tribute to the man who prior to his sudden death early in January was known as "Mr. Hastings."

This morning's session of county council was a brief affair as councillors broke off early to make their annual visit to the Hastings County Home.

During the morning session they went into caucus to appoint a new finance committee chairman to replace Stirling Reeve Carl E. Bateman who yesterday was named the new county clerk-treasurer. Madoc village reeve Thomas Burnside received the finance committee chairmanship appointment while Herschel Reeve Frank Peever was named as the extra man on the committee

'Elder Statesman' of County Council, W. J. Davis, Wife Honored by Members

Hastings county council Thursday evening honored one of its members in recognition of 30 years continuous public service to his local municipality and to the county.

In a surprise dinner party held at the Tops Motor Hotel tribute was paid to Reeve William J. Davis of McClure, Wicklow and Bangor townships, and former warden of the county.

Attending the party were members of council, office staff from the clerk treasurer's department, heads of county administration departments, and members of Mr. Davis' immediate family. Ex-warden Harold Varty acted as master of ceremonies for the dinner program consisting of a round of speech making and presentations to Reeve Davis and Mrs. Davis.

Ex-Warden Harleigh Hamilton noted that Mr. Davis' 30 years of continuous service to the county fully entitled him to be referred to as the "elder statesman of county council".

ACCLAIMED 26 TIMES

Reading from council minutes of 30 years ago, Mr. Hamilton recalled the names of council members of that year and also of 1941 when Mr. Davis was warden of the county.

Evidence of Mr. Davis' popularity is the fact that during his 30 years' service, the northern reeve has had only five elections and received acclamation on 26 occasions.

Mr. Hamilton said this record was possibly not equalled anywhere in Ontario.

During his years at council Mr. Davis has served as chairman of practically all committees and has been a strong advocate for better and higher education in his own municipality. It was due in no small part to Mr. Davis that hydro is now enjoyed in many localities in North Hastings.

It was during Mr. Davis' term as warden that county council broke with tradition and invited the ladies to the annual warden's banquet and it was through his efforts that politics were ruled out in the annual choice of the county warden.

THE 'ELDER STATESMAN'

Through his demonstrated ability as a county councillor, his common sense approach, and wide experience, Mr. Hamilton said Reeve Davis had earned the unofficial title of "elder statesman" of county council.

Mrs. Davis was presented with a floral centre piece by acting county clerk treasurer Mrs. Ruth Quaife and received a lapel bouquet from Mrs. Frances Vanclief.

Four of Mr. and Mrs. Davis' children were guests at the dinner with their son Royden Davis expressing the appreciation of family members to county council.

C. Bateman, Stirling Reeve, Named Clerk-Treasurer of County Over 14 Applicants

Stirling Reeve Carl Bateman who yesterday was named clerk-treasurer of Hastings County.

Mr. Carl Bateman, 34-year-old reeve of Stirling village, was named clerk-treasurer for Hastings county as members of county council met in special session yesterday. The position had been left vacant by the sudden death early in January of Erle S. Denyes.

Reeve Bateman won the position, which carries an annual salary of $6,500 over 14 other applicants who sought the dual county post.

A native of Hungerford township, the new county clerk-treasurer has lived in Stirling for the past 14 years and has been a member of the village council for the past four years. He was elected reeve in 1961 and last December won a second term by acclamation.

At the January session of county council he was named chairman of the county council finance committee. He is married with three small children, two girls and a boy.

Well known throughout the southern part of the county, Mr. Bateman has been a technician with the Bay of Quinte District Cattle Breeders' Association for the past 14 years.

His appointment as county clerk means Stirling will have to name a new reeve and also appoint another member to its village council.

Mr. Bateman will assume his new duties as county clerk-treasurer on February 15th.

County Council to Discuss Path to Take in Providing Hospital Accommodation

Hastings county council is today scheduled to discuss the path which the county might take in assisting to provide badly-needed additional hospital accomodation for the Belleville and Hastings county district.

Just prior to the motion for adjournment at Thursday's special session of the county fathers, Warden Harold Varty said the time had come for the question of the county's responsibility to the Belleville General Hospital to be decided.

"One of the possibilities," he said, "was joint ownership with the city of Belleville, of a new 200-bed hospital on a new 50-acre site.."

And Reeve William Shannon of Marmora noted that it would be up to council to decide whether it would face up to its responsibilities in connection with the hospital, or just plain ignore the problem and hope that it would go away.

"But I am quite confident it won't," he said.

HAVE MET BOARD

A special committee from council, composed of Warden Varty, and Reeves Shannon, Jack N. Brown and Harleigh Hamilton, has already met on several occasions with the hospital board of governors with the hospital need being graphically presented.

And at the same time the board has told county representatives that they feel the county has a very definite responsibility in bearing the costs of new hospital accommodation.

County representatives have been told that aproximately 38 per cent of the patients in Belleville hospital in any given period are from Hastings county.

Reeve Brown noted the proposed new hospital would cost $4,000,000 of which the senior governments could be expected to pay about $1,000,000 leaving three million to be raised locally.

"The county sends 40 per cent of the patients to Belleville hospital and 40 per cent of three million is $1,200,000", stated Reeve Brown. If the county raised it all in one year it would mean 40 mills on the tax rate.

He noted that the northern municipalities in Hastings use Belleville hospital but very little and in consequence he was very concerned about any suggestion there should be a blanket levy in the county to raise money for the Belleville hospital.

He said the question as he saw it, boiled down to either the county continuing to make some financial contribution to the hospital and let the city pay the balance, or the county entering jointly with the city and come up with its fair share of the costs.

Reeve Earl Sager was admanent in declaring there could be no thought of a blanket levy on the county for 38 percent of the cost of any new hospital. He said the fact that the northern municipalities did not use the Belleville hospital precluded any thought of a blanket levy.

And he disagreed with the reported decision of the hospital board of governors not to have a canvass to help pay the cost.

NO LEGAL RESPONSIBILITY

He said the people who use the hospital should be the ones to pay the major share, and said capital costs should be borne more on a provincial or federal basis.

Reeve Shannon admitted the county had no legal responsibility to the Belleville hospital, but claimed it did have a moral responsibility.

He noted that his own Marmora area used the Belleville Hospital but little, with most patients going to Peterborough. However, that did not mean that Marmora area residents should not help in the capital cost of additional hospital accommodation.

"It is a question of whether we pay our fair share or jockey for position," he said.

Liberties Whittled Away

Alderman Robert Temple, in a recent address to the Kinsmen Club, said the individual rights and liberties of the Canadian citizen are slowly being whittled away by government boards. These boards are empowered to make final decisions to direct or limit the activities of a citizen and do not allow him the right to appeal. such decisions if he feels that he has been wronged.

This concept of law is in direct opposition to the basic belief that the individual has the right to have his actions judged by his peers in the courts of the land.

Mr. Temple also emphasized that whereas an official of the law must require a warrant to search premises or to make an arrest when a major crime is involved, there is no such provision to protect the individual's rights in some minor offences. The Ontario liquor laws were cited as an example where a police officer can enter private premises without a warrant purely on suspicion that the law has been, or is being, violated.

This concept of the law can conceivably lead to a loss of the rights of the individual if it is allowed to exist or to spread, Mr. Temple contends.

To this we must agree. The idea that a citizen cannot appeal the decision of some government board, consisting in a number of instances, of but one or two people, and have his case heard in public before the courts of the land, and subject to appeal if the individual feels he has been wronged, is both dangerous and negative.

If this concept is allowed to continue it could lead to the individual being controlled entirely by the state, a form of government which finds its ultimate achievement in the communist states of the world today.

The idea that the government must play a "Big Brother" role in governing and directing the actions of its citizens is most repugnant.

Our form of government was conceived by recognition of the strength and integrity of the individual citizen. Each persosn was to be accorded equal rights and, where his individual actions appeared to be in conflict with, or to limit, the rights of his fellow citizens, he was to be openly judged by his peers before the courts of the land.

This concept of liberty was a direct result of the unfortunate experiences of our forefathers under a capricious and dictatorial form of government epitomized by the Star Chamber rule of mediaeval England.

We agree with Mr. Temple that there are too many "Star Chambers" in our present government structure on both the federal and provincial level.

Some could be dispensed with entirely; in most cases the rulings of those which remain should be made subject to appeal to the courts of the land.

Betting 40 to 1 on Glenn

A policy for approximately $100,000 has been taken out on the life of Lt.-Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., who will be the first U.S. astronaut to orbit the earth—if all goes well.

This fact was revealed when Lloyds of London were asked to re-insure part of the risk. The original policy was issued by an American insurance company, which is said to have quoted a rate of 2½ per cent of the value of the policy. In other words, the insurance company says that the odds are forty to one that Glenn will return to earth safely.

In the light of the U.S. space record, which has achieved its numerous successes by virtue of the number, rather than the reliability, of its rockets, we can only interpret this display of confidence by the insurance company as a stirring tribute to its staunch spirit of patriotism.

Such Is Life

An article in he Peterborough Examiner gives an interesting account of the Fleming family, one of whose members, Donald, is currently a federal cabinet member.

It is rather interesting to note that all of the Flemings, with the exception of one "Wee Donald" and his mother, were "rabid" Liberals. The family skeleton was revealed by the Hon Donald Fleming's 92-year-old uncle during an interview. Little comment was passed by him upon this errant limb of the family tree, however.

This may be attributed to his advanced years and the realization that such is life that everyone can't be perfect.

Strictly Personal

U.S. Guilt Greater Than Costello's

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I don't feel a bit proud of the U.S. Government's move to deport Frank Costello, the New York underworld figure, for his conviction on income tax charges.

It seems to me somehow cheap and sleazy for a mighty nation such as ours to admit that we cannot cope with men like Costello in any other way. And why send him back to Italy —what has the country of his birth got to do with his reprehensible career?

Costello was brought here by his parents in 1895, at the age of three. Whatever course his life took was shaped by his American bringing-up, as well as by his own character.

In 1925, Costello was naturalized as an American citizen. He is our sole responsibility, a product of our big-city slum life, and a rebuke to our peculiar alliance of politics and gangsterism which permitted him to flourish here for so many years.

He should surely be punished for violating the laws — but deportation strikes me as a cowardly and evasive treatment of a man who lived here since the age of 3, and who found, in the corrupt public life of American cities, opportunities that would have been denied him in Italy.

The rise of the Costellos in American life is symptomatic of our widespread civic malaise. His power and influence would have been impossible without the connivance of politicians, judges, and police officials — in short, without the whole network of corruption that is a depressingly familiar story in almost every large American city.

We are known throughout the world as the land of opportunity —but the opportunity for crime as well as for legitimate ventures, the opportunity to engage in violence and fraud without so long as the right parties are interference by local officials, greased and the right connections maintained.

This is our shame, not the shame of Italy or any other foreign land. We have been dilatory and ineffective. We have half-closed our eyes and have preferred to ignore the uncomfortable fact that gambling and vice could not exist for 24 hours in a city without the active knowledge of the officials.

Deporting a man like Costello, who has lived among us for 67 years, ought to be beneath the dignity of a mighty nation. It is a shameful confession of our weakenss, and an abdication of our resoonsibility. If he could thrive for so long in America, our guilt is greater than his.

Resuscitates Pet Goose

South African Scope

In the world's first mouth-to-beak resuscitation, a Pretoria traffic policeman saved his pet goose from drowning. "Pietie", one of six geese owned by Officer R. G. Diedrichs was the near-victim of a severe rainstorm.

When his owner went to check the pen, he found Pietie 'limp and to all intents and purposes dead". Remembering his training in first-aid, Mr. Diedrichs cleared the mud and water out of Pietie's nostrils, put his beak into his own mouth and started breathing into his lungs.

"In a couple of minutes he gave a big sigh and came alive. I was very surprised and immediately took him indoors and kept him warm in a box". At first the fowl was a little weak, but he is getting along well now and Mr. Diedrichs is quite sure he is going to be fine.

But Britain Not So Timid

Windsor Star

The British aircraft industry has bumped into an issue similar to that encountered by the Canadian automotive industry a couple of years back. It involves deals with Communist China and whether subsidiaries of United States companies can have any part in such deals.

It will be recalled that Communist China had feelers out in Canada for the purchase of Canadian automobiles. The allegation then was that the Canadian companies, being subsidiaries of United States firms, were not permitted to sell automobiles to China. There is a United States law forbidding United States corporations doing business with China. The issue was whether they could prevent their Canadian subsidiaries from doing such business.

Britain has sold six turboprop transport planes to China and additional orders seem on the way. Some components for these planes are made by a subsidiary in Britain of a United States corporation. The parent firm evidently was advised not to provide such equipment even though made by its overseas subsidiary.

Britain is not likely to tolerate any of that nonsense. Firms operating there, even though subsidiaries of the United States companies, are supposed to operate under British law. The fat really would be in the fire if the long arm of United States corporations reached across the ocean to prevent Britain selling what she wants and where she wants.

Subsidiary firms, in Canada, Britain or elsewhere, should operate under the laws of the land they are in. They should not be allowed to thwart the trade policies of the governments of these countries on orders from their parent offices.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THEN AND NOW

Before me as I write is a picture of a beautiful country club in Western Pennsylvania, with a tempting golf course stretching out apparently for miles. Here about 165 years ago my great-great grandmother, a widow with several children, brought her family. She was a frontier figure who ought sometime to be put in a book. Her physical strength and prowness was the talk o fa countryside for a whole generation. As she and a younger brother drove her flocks before them, two disreputible characters, fugitives of the whiskey insurrection of 1793, tried to drive off some of the cattle. This stalwart middle-aged matron, carrying her youngest baby in her arms, flew at the assailants and gave them such a beating that they ran screaming into the woods.

Think today how quietly we all live. Yet many of us are the descendents of that kind of stock. How utterly beyond explanation was the face that the Creator left one of His largest continents practically unpopulated — save for a few hundred thousand natives we later called Indians — and into this continent poured the pathfinders and frontier men and women of the world. Are we getting a bit soft? Maybe so. But what our forbearers confronted in the eighteenth century is not to be compared with the dangers which threaten us now.

Shall we be equal to the situation? I think so, and I rather imagine you do also.

Letter To The Editor

Is Opposed to Bank In Hastings Dr. Area

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

This letter is with regard to Council's intention to re-zone lots 147 and 148 on Hastings Drive from class "A" to class "C", in order to make room for a bank.

This bank is to face Dundas Street, and have the residents on Hastings Drive with a first-class view of the rear of the building. As Dundas Street is part of Highway 2, it will be only natural that an overflow of cars parked at the bank will have to keep the highway clear, and it would seem that the next logical place to park would be Hastings Drive.

Hastings Drive at the present time is well-blessed with traffic, particularly in the morning and evening. Drivers who are employed in the north and south of Belleville who wish to escape heavier traffic on other streets use Hastings Drive as a throughway. This area has many small children, and the thought o fstill heavier traffic is not welcome.

Apparently City Council is not concerned with this, or with the fact that the area was to be a strictly residential area Nor do they seem concerned as to how they spend the taxpayers' money. I refer to the $6,000 paid to a firm to zone our city. In view of the fact that the tax-payers in the city have been called upon to pay by a special assessment, for a mistake of the Council, it would appear the the Council regards $6,000 as peanuts. Paying out good money for services rendered and then ignoring the results of such services, seems to be poor management.

I personally think that if this area is re-zoned that the whole area should be re-assessed, and that the rate of taxation should be lowered. If we are put in a class "C" zone, property value will drop.

All good things must come to an end, and it's about time that Council realized that the horn of plenty will only give up so much fruit.

K. Suggests Cows Vote

Milwaukee Journal

Premier Khrushchev is campaigning to convert Russian hay fields to sugar beets, peas, fodder beans and other high protein crops as cattle feed. He is meeting resistance. Speaking recently at a Byelorussian farm conference, Khrushchev proposed this:

"Let them (agricultural specialists) offer to a cow some corn silage, sugar beets, hay and straw and ask: 'Well, Brownie, which feed do you prefer?' I am convinced, comrades, that the cow will go at once to the sugar beets and finish them. If she is still hungry, she'll go next to the corn silage and eat that. If she is still not full, she'll go to the straw."

Whether the test has taken place or not hasn't been reported. But the proposal is interesting. Khrushchev was suggesting, in effect, that cows be allowed to vote on the matter.

Democracy for cows! That is a new concept for the Russians. It should make some of them wonder why, if cows should be given free choice, people shouldn't too.

Diverticulosis Can Become Diverticulitis, in Time

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between diverticulosis and diverticulitis? Can they be cured by medication or is surgery required? - Mrs. B/C. N."

This is very common. Reliable estimates indicate that at least a quarter of us have one or more such pouches.

But the majority of that 25 percent will never know they have diverticulosis, nor have any reason to care.

However, if one of these pouched areas becomes infected, the condition is called "diverticulitis." The "itis" ending indicates an inflammatory disease as "bronchitis" is inflammation of the bronchi, or, to take a clearer case, as "appendicitis" is an inflamed appendix.

If inflammation occurs, conservative treatment usually calms diverticulitis down - keeping bowel action regular, avoiding seedy or coarse foods.

Often there is only a single attack, although it is possible, of course, for the trouble to recur. The pouch is there; it may become irritated and inflamed again, but often it doesn't.

Complications can make surgery mandatory but this doesn't happen often. Generally very simple care is all that is required. Sometimes antibiotics are used to combat the acute inflammation.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I plan to marry a man with diabetes. Is there a possibility of my having children who are not normal or who are likely to have diabetes also? I've heard so many stories I don't know what is true. - Wondering."

As long as your own family is free of diabetes, the risk of defects in the children is small. The tendency towards diabetes is diluted when your family does not have it.

You might have a child who could be a "carrier" - that is, one who could pass the tendency for the disease on to a subsequent generation. Or you might have a child who, later in life, might develop the disease. This does NOT mean early in childhood.

In short, I see no reason for you to be concerned about marriage. Of course, if you had diabetes, or there was a strong family history of it on your side, then my answer would be entirely different. Having it (or a history of it) on BOTH sides is dangerous.

• • •

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a small opening in my neck which is hardly noticeable but a clear matter comes out of it. I've had this as long as I can remember and I'm 19 now. It doesn't bother me but it is a plain nuisance. I would like your opinion of having it taken care of. - A. F. G."

It sounds like what we call a "branchial fistula." It is a quirk of human development. A gill-like opening in the developing embryo didn't happen to close properly, leaving a passageway from the outside skin to the pharynx, or throat.

It's nice that this has caused no serious trouble in 19 years. It might, or might not, continue harmlessly for several or many more years.

But infection is always possible in such a condition. Removal and closure of this small fault can be done surgically. My vote is that you discuss such a procedure with your physician.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

As recently as when I was a boy, which is sixty years ago, all but one of the beauty parlors in town were for men. There were dozens of them. They were called barber shops of course, but bore little or no resemblance to the poor little one-horse, hair cutting barber shops of today.

They were busy from morning to night and I mean night, which was ten p.m., attending to the facial ornamentation and glamorization of men. Not some men, but nearly all men. It was the days of straight razors; and everybody from hod carriers up to bankers with a dime to spare went to the barber to be shaved, shampooed, massaged with magenta creams, a long, lovely leisurely progression of steaming towels, headducks in marble basins, dreamy wobbles of the scalp, fragrant manipulation of the facial muscles, tonicked, scented and finally powdered. With the tiers of shelves of gilt-inscribed mugs, the nickel plated massage machines, the mirrors, the male beauty salons of fifty years ago were much more spectacular than the female beauty parlors of today.

The single female beauty parlor of those days was patronized only by the thin top layer of the ultra-fashionable ladies. They were said to have their faces "enamelled," and were unable to smile. The generality of girls and women, in 1900, had to be beautiful naturally. No faking.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

STEPS OF PROGRESS

No individual, no organization, no noteworthy club, becomes learned or efficient all at once.

Every time the individual, the the organizer, investigator, scientist, or inventor fails he or she immediately takes a step ahead, convinced that he or she has not gone far enough.

Step by step we climb. Little by little the curtain of knowledge is drawn back and we see the world in which we live become vital, fascinating, and teeming with opportunities for growth and service. Steps of progress!

A business, or club that goes ahead is not the one that lags at the loss of an order or of club membership. The business or club that progresses sets out immediately to replace the lost orders with bigger ones, or with club members more constructively helpful!

The only kind of life that keeps people, or groups of people on their toes and expectant, is that one whereby the mind is kept constantly stimulated by new desires, new attempts, new interests and new creations.

There is nothing more interesting than the unfolding of a human being, or organization from day of birth to days of highest achievement. Steps of progress!

Education is of no value unless it teaches fundamentals as the basis for all superstructure. A tool at a time — a step at a time — mastery through use and study, as well as through experience.

To know, at close of each day, that we — as an individual or one of a group — have taken one, or a dozen steps ahead toward the ultimate goal. These are the steps of progress!

Kiwanians Hear Air Transport Command CO

TRENTON— The emergence of the Royal Canadian Air Force from a small group of well-trained flyers, flying fairly old aircraft on routine "domestic" missions after World War I, to its present role in the defence policy of the Canadian government, was sketched for members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club last night by Air Commodore R. J. Lane, Air Officer Commanding Air Transport Command. It was his first public speaking engagement in the Trenton area.

Air Commodore Lane said that the advance of the service could be explained by the RCAF motto, "Through Adversity to the Stars". He said that "the RCAF had had a long hard battle for recognition". The service came into its own during World War II, but fell in strength again until it became necessary for Canada to support the defence and war deterrent policies of NATO and NORAD, and to support the United Nations in its efforts to maintain peace throughout the world.

In reference to his own command, the Air Commodore said that defence policy dictated that the command be kept at a peace time strength which could be termed "a high state of readiness" for a swing into action should any major emergency demand this. To achieve this, the command personnel are given a full range of real tasks to perform.

"Air Transport Command has a proud record", said the air commodore, "We have not had a single passenger fatality since 1945, the end of the war. Our aircraft and crews are often the only representatives of Canada in other parts of the world. I hope that we are representing Canada well".

Air Commodore Lane was introduced to the club members by past-lieutenant governor Al Weaver nad h t akneybdalrC Weaver and thanked by Carl Weese.

Canada Has Class Curtain Says Speaker

TRENTON — Rev. Richard "Dick" Jones, executive director of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews was the guest speaker at last night's meeting of the Trenton Lions Club.

Mr. Jones urged his audience not to judge their fellow- citizens by their color, religion, race or the ethnic group to which they belonged.

"Russia has its Iron Curtain," said Mr. Jones, "but Canada has a glass curtain. This curtain stands between Indians and non-Indians; Christians and Jews; Catholics and Protestants. We are aware of each other, but we do very little to communicate with each other."

Mr. Jones stressed the importance of "communications."

He said that Harriet Beecher Stowe had communicated with the people through the pages of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and had been instrumental in the freeing of the slaves in America. The writers of the Bible; Hitler, through speeches and Mein Kampf; Karl Marx, through his "Manifesto" and Churchill, all wielded great influence through the spoken and written word.

"We're living in a 'fish-oowl' world," said the speaker, "communication at every level of government, national and international, is of the utmost importance. Here in the West, we stress Freedom, Justice and Equality, but some of the "have-not" nations know that our actions don't always measure up to our words."

Mr. Jones was introduced to the club by Ralph Weaver and thanked by Roly Whitley.

Members of the Globtrotters' hockey team were guests of the Lions at last night's meeting.

Girls Get Russian Stamps After Pleas to Khrushchev

TRENTON — In December, the members of the North Trenton (Girls) Small Fry Stamp Club all wrote letters to Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the USSR, asking that postage stamps from the Soviet Union be sent to the club.

"Dear Friend": (read the letter), "The Committe of Youth Organizations of the USSR has received your letter, addressed to the Chairman of the USSR Council of Ministers, N. S. Kruschchev.

In compliance with your request, we are sending to you a few Soviet postage stamps.

Yours sincerely,
A. Dzassokhov,
Executive secretary of the Committee."

President of the Trenton club is Della Van Essen. Club members are: Dawn Curtis, Linda Howard, Grace Curlette, secretary, Diane Pellerin, Lindy Copeland, Diana Schwager and Judy Hamilton.

The club meets at the home of Dawn Curtis every week, and the members carry out various projects, all to do with their favorite hobby, during the year.

Dawn Curtis, 10, who included a plea for peace in her letter to the Soviet premier, said last night that she thought the children of the two countries (Canada and the USSR) should be "friendly".

"Maybe there wouldn't be any war then," said Dawn.

Women's Quinte Rink Wins At RCAF Spiel

A rink from the women's section of the Quinte Curling Club which included Mrs. Ruth Murphy, Mrs. Flo Reston, Mrs. Mavis McLean with Mrs. Greta Peverley as skip, probably created a new record for the section when they came home from RCAF Station bonspiel with the main trophy and accompanying prizes This is probably the first trophy that has been won by a Belleville rink at an outside bonspiel and it will grace the trophy case for the next year.

There were rinks from Kingston, Cobourg, Trenton, Peterborough, Picton and Belleville entered in the spiel with the Quinte Club supplying three rinks, one skipped by Mrs. Ena Corke and the other by Mrs. Kae Pinder Each of these rinks won two games but not sufficient to win any of the awards. Mrs. Peverley and her rink, on their way to top honors in the spiel defeated Mrs. R. Clarke of Kingston in the first game, Mrs. M Brown of Cobourg in the second and Mrs. Ena Corke in the third game.

It was reported that the spiel was well managed, the draw kept on schedule and the hospitality all that could be desired. The ice was a little tricky but keen and this gave the women their chance to read 'hard" ice. It was a most successful spiel and the Quinte Club is to be congratulated on winning top honors.

S. Alec Gordon Will Mark His 25th Anniversary as Bridge St. Church Organist

In these days of unemployment there is at least one profession in which the expert can be assured of a position.

That is in the role as a church organist where the demand seems always to be greater than the supply.

This is by S. Alec Gordon, who Sunday will be observing his 25th anniversary as organist at Bridge Street United Church.

"It may be that the remuneration is not enough, but it seems there are just never enough good organists to fill the demand," Mr. Gordon stated.

From his earliest memory he has practically lived music and as a young lad sold newspapers to pay for his first music lessons. Among his teachers were Miss Bessie Handley, and Miss Laura Levoie, organist at Victoria Ave. Baptist Church, who instructed him in piano and pipe organ.

BORN IN ENGLAND

Born in London, England, he came to Belleville with his parents as a young boy and was educated in Belleville schools.

"I can't remember when I was not interested in organ music," Mr. Gordon noted. "As a boy I used to sit by the organist at Victoria Ave. Baptist Church and would dream of some day being a great organist."

"Finally I worked up enough courage to ask to play the big organ."

After completing high school at the old Belleville high school Mr. Gordon attended Normal School at Toronto where he was promptly drafted as school pianist and member of their Glee Club.

Still in his teens when he completed Normal School he went right to work as a teacher at the OSD and has remained there ever since.

As a teacher at the School for the Deaf, Mr. Gordon introduced the rhythm teaching of music, through which students learn music by sensing the different vibrations of high and low notes.

PLACE THEIR HANDS

Mr. Gordon starts his deaf pupils off by having them place their hands on the instrument as he plays the piano.

As their awareness increases the students stand farther and farther away from the piano until they are able to sense the music from some distance away.

"It comes rather difficult for some of the deaf students, but they can learn to 'hear' music in this way."

Mr. Gordon began his role as church organist in Belleville even before he completed high school.

At that time he occasionally played the organ at Victoria Ave. Baptist Church and also at Christ Church.

While attending normal he studied music under Paul Wells, outstanding Toronto music teacher and passed his ATCM examinations with honors. He later studied the organ at the Julliard School of Music in New York under Hugh Porter.

His first permanent position as church organist was at Holloway Street United, where he remained for seven years.

MUSIC BURNED

Then, when the late Leo Riggs asked to be relieved of his duties as organist of John Street United Church, Mr. Gordon took over as organist there, remaining for three years until the church burned.

"All of my music was burned in the fire," Mr. Gordon recalled.

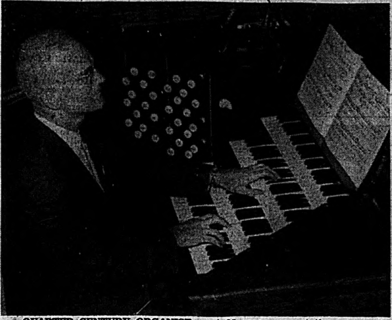
"I'd had my music insured just two weeks before the blaze," he said.



QUARTER CENTURY ORGANIST — Mr. S. Alec Gordon, organist at Bridge Street United Church for the past 25 years, seen at the console. He likes to practise about five hours each week.

Mr. Gordon took over as organist at Bridge Street in February, 1937, on the retirement of Prof. V. P. Hunt, and from 1951 until 1961 had the dual role as organist and choir director.

Rev. Harry M. Davis, minister of Bridge Street United Church, notes that there have been instances where people have spent more than 25 years as organist in one church.

INSTANCES RARE

"But the instances are rare, and rarer still are the instances where organists have been so devoted to their calling as has Mr. Gordon."

As a lover of music, Mr. Gordon notes that the electronic age has provided the opportunity for everyone to enjoy good music.

Today they can hear good music on the radio or can enjoy selected music on their own Hi-Fi sets at home.

Then again Belleville people through the Community Concert Association have the opportunity to hear and see many world known artists.

He thinks all this adds up to a greater interest in good music and despite the convenience of flicking the switch on the radio or Hi-Fi more and more people today are getting the "do it yourself" urge and start learning music on their favorite instruments.

School duties and that as church organist have almost forced Mr. Gordon out of the music teaching role, and now he has but one organ student.

"There aren't just enough hours in the day," he says.

MUSIC PLAYED

Like most other music lovers, Mr. Gordon has often tried his hand at composition but he has the added satisfaction of having his music played in public.

At the morning worship next Sunday three of Mr. Gordon's compositions will be used for the first time—two vocal and one instrumental. Mr. Davis will preach on the part that worship plays in life and the part that praise plays in the act of worship.

In the evening Mr. Gordon will present an organ recital assisted by the Bridge Street choir.

Mr. Gordon also makes use of his ability as a composer and arranger of music in his work as teacher at the OSD. Each Easter time, the school pupils stage a concert based on some fairy tale which has been arranged by Mr. Gordon for school presentation. This year the fairy tale theme is "Cinderella."

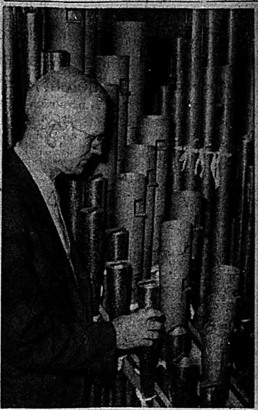
The organ which Mr. Gordon plays at Bridge Street is one of the best. It is a Casavant Freres, built at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, and including the pedal organ is actually five organs in one.

PURELY FOR LOOKS

The big console installed in 1956 has 53 speaking stops and 2995 pipes, while attached to it is a set of carillon bells, presented in the memory of F. S. Deacon, a set of German bells presented by Mr. Gordon, and the chimes.

The layman may not realize it, but the pipes seen at the front of most churches are there purely for looks.

The real pipes—all 3,000 of them in the case of Bridge St. Church—are in behind the scenes.



ORGAN PIPES — Mr. Gordon stands among just a few of the nearly 3,000 pipes of all sizes which make up the business end of the Bridge Street United Church Organ.

'British Guiana' Topic at St. Columba

After a period of quiet music, the February meeting of the Alpha Group of St. Columba Presbyterian Women opened with the singing of a hymn. Mrs. J. Burke, who was in charge of the devotional period read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer. Mrs. Burke also included a Valentine thought.

The church in British Guiana was discussed during the missionary program with the following women taking part: Mrs. K. D. Taylor, Mrs. A. Dunsmore, Mrs. B. Ashley, Mrs. W. Bowles and Mrs. Burke. They told of the work of the early churches which were successful in teaching slaves to read. In future years this early work helped to bring about the emancipation act of 1834.

The Moslem and Hindu East Indians in the colony were the one stumbling block in the march of Christianity. The Presbyterian church in Canada, in British Guiana, worked among the East Indians to evangelize them and to give these people an education by learning their tongue, then bringing them the gospel as well as primary and secondary education.

Progress was slow. In 1945 the Diamond Jubilee of the Canadian Mission in British Guiana was celebrated. At this time permission was given the Presbyterian Church in Canada to form a Presbytery there. This was the formation of the Canadian Presbyterian Church in British Guiana.

Mrs N. Hutchinson, the group chairman, presided over the business period. Following the secretary-treasurers report, plans were discussed for the V.O.N. dinner to which they were catering.

Any who had not purchased church calendars were asked to do so. A telephone project was also discussed and Mrs. W. Bowles was appointed convener if necessary.

Members were asked to continue saving designated labels, and special products box tops.

Nine visits were reported by the Welfare and Welcome Committee.

Following the business period, Mrs. W. Partridge gave a presentation of beauty products, which was enjoyed by everyone, with Mrs. L. Gara acting as a model. Mrs. W. Bowles thanked Mrs. Partridge for an informative talk.

A social half-hour was enjoyed with Mrs. R. Ashley as hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. Dunsmore.

Member Advisory Council Thinks Canadians Largely Indifferent to Fitness

By DAVE PIKE

HALIFAX (CP)—"I hate to admit it, but I think Canadians are largely indifferent to fitness," says one of the two women who will help advise the federal government how to spend $5,000,000 annually improving the physical condition of Canadians.

Dorothy G. Walker, supervisor of elementary and secondary physical education in the Nova Scotia education department, and Margaret Lord of Hamilton are on the 30-member National Advisory Council on Physical Fitness.

"We're outnumbered by the male members so we intend to make an extra effort to look out for the needs of girls and women," Miss Walker says.

The 41-year-old native of Port Williams, N.S., whose active interest in outdoors sports has kept her in top physical condition, feels not enough has been done with physical education in schools.

START AT TOP

"As far as schools are concerned, the only way I can see the council helping is in bursaries and fellowships in training physical education teachers. The only other main way—not direct financial help—is to promote fitness and amateur sport generally.

"We must produce the leaders first and in order to do that we must do something to make the potential ones better."

Short courses, perhaps employing experts in various sports on a rotation basis, might be the answer. Whatever the approach, the council should make a strong play for a more "virile" program, especially in the schools.

Miss Walker said the council shouldn't over - emphasize the top athletes—"the naturals."

"We should help them financially, of course, but the ordinary person should attract the most attention from the council."

There just wasn't enough money to help every individual. Nevertheless, $5,000,000 "is a heck of a lot better than nothing—an adequate amount to make a start with."

ENGLISH MORE FIT

Miss Walker, who attended high school in England and took a post-graduate course in Liverpool in 1958-59 after completing her physical education training in Toronto and teaching there five years, says the English are far more fit than Canadians.

This wasn't necessarily because of their physical education methods but because of their attitude toward fitness.

Canadian programs were more often based on specific exercises. In the last 10 to 15 years in England the emphasis had been on a basic pattern from which individuals could develop their own exercises, making physical education "more exciting for both the student and teacher."

She says that if Canadians are mainly indifferent to physical fitness, the council's advice on how to pep them up might be difficult to translate into action. "Publicity is an aspect we'll have to explore."

"But it's laying the foundation in the 10-, 11- and 12-year-olds through the teachers that is our real concern. The rest should follow in the long run."

TO ADVISE ON FITNESS

Dorothy G. Walker, supervisor of elementary and secondary physical education in the Nova Scotia education department, is one of two women on the 30-member national advisory council on physical fitness. Max Walker, 41, a native of Port Williams, N.S., believes the council should develop fitness in schools by providing bursaries and fellowships to train physical education teachers. (CP Photo).

Nurses Given Refresher Course by Mail

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian nurses in remote hospitals or nurses just too busy to go to university for refresher courses are being given an opportunity to keep up with developments in their field by mail.

The executive of the Canadian Nurses' Association Thursday heard a report on nursing's first refresher courses by mail.

The program, supported by a $140,000 grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich., began this year with 326 nurses enrolled in the first course.

It will run five years with each course taking one year. The nurses each pay $100, but one official said this "doesn't come near to paying the cost."

It is sponsored by the Canadian Hospital Association and the Canadian Nurses' Association.

An official of the nurses association said the program is aimed at nurses in supervisory jobs, such as head nurses, in smaller hospitals remote from universities or nurses just too busy to take time out for university refresher courses.

An executive meeting of the nurses' association began here Thursday and will run until Saturday.

U.C.W. Meetings

CENTRE STREET U.C.W.

The U.C.W. of Centre Street Church held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the church auditorium with a fair attendance.

Mrs. Longhurst called the meeting to order in the usual manner. Mrs. Wood read the Scripture, Isaiah 6: 1-8, and Mrs. Hawley, the topic based on "If someone who had never heard of God asked you to define Him, how would you begin?" A question like this would confound you. You would realize that it is far beyond mere human powers to "define" God, but you might say "He is holy." "Yes, that is His chief characteristic. We know Him to be the Creator of the universe. Through Jesus we have come to know Him as our loving Heavenly Father. But that which sets God apart as God is His Holiness, and sets Him apart from us. This is what we mean first of all by 'Holy'—that which is set apart as sacred, not to be irreverently or heedlessly approached or touched. This was the first idea of the 'Holy' the ancient Israelites held. This is indeed the 'fear of the Lord' which is 'the beginning of wisdom' but only the beginning. The young Isaiah was launched into his work as a prophet by his vision of God in the temple.

"Others saw outward symbols, outward rituals, but Isaiah was suddenly made sensitive to the reality at the heart of the symbolism. How aware are we? Are we so on the 'qui vive' for God that He can reveal Himself to us within the worship services of our church? Yes, and in the 'burning bush' of everyday occurrences? Such a vision of God's majesty induces in us a sense of our own unworthiness. 'Woe is me,' cried Isaiah, 'for I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips!' This same thought was in Peter, when he blurted out to Jesus, 'Depart from me, for I am a sinful man!' And yet, what does God say? 'I am the Lord your God; ye shall therefore sanctify yourselves, and ye shall be holy: for I am Holy.' And Paul in his letters reminds us that we are all 'called to be saints.' How can we be holy, for we are not such stuff as saints are made of. But this is precisely where that righteous love, inherent in God's holiness comes in. For in His goodness and mercy, He stoops from His greatness and enters our poor lives. The live coal of His Grace, from the very altar of His holiness, touches our hearts, sets us ablaze with His love.

"This is the work of His—yes, His Holy Spirit. This is the gift promised by Jesus Christ, to all who commit their lives to Him, and He is faithful, Who promised."

Mrs. Wood gave the financial report and Mrs. Hudgins had some Bible riddles.

Mrs. Vessey closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Hawley had a contest. The winner was Mrs. Longhurst.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Hawley and Mrs. Schamerhorn. An enjoyable half hour was had over a cup of tea.

TABERNACLE U.C.W.

Tabernacle United Church Women held their first meeting Tuesday evening in the church parlor with a good number of members attending despite the biting chill of zero weather—this was good evidence of the enthusiasm and expectation with which the women are launching into the new organization.

The president, Mrs. Lewis Andrews, opened the meeting with prayer for guidance and blessing.

Mrs. John Babiak, program convener, conducted the worship service on "Co-operation" using 1st Corinthians 12, to illustrate how the members of the body, mind and heart cooperate and work together for good. If the units of UCW work together it can be a strong, co-operative organization for the good of the church and the community.

The secretary, Mrs. Ted Fennell, called the roll by units—each unit having a good attendance. She also reviewed the minutes of the inaugural meeting. Treasurer, Mrs. Frank Davidson, was not present but her report was read by Mrs. Garnet May, 1st vice-president.

CHURCH COMMITTEES

Suggested nominations to various committees of the church were made and arrangements for flowers in the church sanctuary, visiting and other business was handled in a brief period. Mrs. Roy Brickman, supply and social assistance secretary, read appreciation of the Presbyterial secretary for work done in the past and presented the requirement for this year.

Miss Ann MacDonald, a student at Albert College, stirred hearts with her testimony of being called into full time service for the church and has decided to become a Deaconess. She worked on a caravan team last summer teaching little children Bible stories and instilling in their minds that God loves them like all other children. While the children were learning their mothers were also attending a Bible study group.

The deep desire and sincerity of this lovely young woman was an inspiration and challenge. She shall be encouraged and upheld by the prayers and good will of all who heard her.

Later in the evening the assembly was divided into three groups for an "Information Please" and were given opportunity to ask questions and discuss five departments of the organization under the leadership of Mrs. John Babiak, program; Mrs. B. D. Salisbury, finance; Mrs. George Stanton, stewardship and recruiting; Miss Myrtle Johns, literature and communications; Mrs. Roy Brickman, supply and social assistance.

Unit 2 (Comrade Club) served the refreshing cup of tea and cookies.

Seasonally Jobless Workers Should Pay More to Fund Says Brief by Federation

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs said Thursday night that Canada's seasonally unemployed workers should pay more towards unemployment insurance when they are working.

The women's federation in a brief to the committee looking into the operations of the fund said one of the reasons for its depletion was the payment of benefits to seasonal workers.

In urging these pay higher premiums the brief stated:

"One of the cardinal points of insurance coverage is that premiums vary according to the risks involved and we see no reason why the whole of the Canadian work force should be penalized and the fund depleted for these payments."

The federal inquiry committee, under the chairmanship of Toronto insurance executive Ernest C. Gill, concluded public hearings late last year. The women's federation brief was presented earlier this week without public hearing and made public Thursday night.

The brief pointed out that the monthly average of claimants for fund payments has climbed from 10,000 in 1944 to 518,000 in 1960 and claimed that "a large part" of the increase could be blamed on seasonal workers.

The brief also urged that the employment service be divorced from the Unemployment Insurance Fund and placed under the labor department as a separate unit.

It said that the public image of the employment service has been "greatly distorted" due to its function of paying out unemployment insurance.

The brief urged that unemployment figures be made more readily available to the public, charging members were denied information at a "large number" of National Employment Service offices last winter.

Women's Activities

ST. MARGARET'S E.G.

The first regular meeting of St. Margaret's Evening Guild was held on February 5th, in the church hall, and was well attended.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. Bruce Bishop, in the chair.

After reports from the secretary and the treasurer, the meeting was opened to discussion on various work projects, and programing for future meetings. A short work meeting followed.

It was decided to have a group Communion on Ash Wednesday, March 7.

After the meeting closed, refreshments were served by Mrs. June Gillespie and her group.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Corinne H. — We're in business for money, not relatives.

Mrs. T. H. — Our family pays. We don't ask charity.

• • •

Corinne H. — After years of skimping, my husband managed to open up his own electrical appliance shop three months ago. He's been busy, yes — but mostly with relatives and friends of relatives who expect to get things "at cost". Well, where's the percentage for us?

At first we tried to be good Joes — rock-bottom prices plus easy payments. But the payments don't come in, although the complaints do! One cousin even asked for his money back after using a sun-lamp all this time.

I can handle my side of the family. I've told them they'll get the same fair, honest treatment as any other customers, with perhaps an occasional minor concession. Tom, however, felt embarrassed about talking turkey to his folks. So I told his mother how we feel and asked her to tell the rest. To my surprise, she took it personally and won't even talk to me any more.

• • •

Mrs. T. H. —I was certainly shocked to learn that Corinne begrudges me my color-TV and dishwasher from Tom's store. He didn't lose anything. I'm paying whatever it cost, except for the remote-control attachment. Tom wanted that to be a present.

This "lecture" to our family sounds like Corinne's idea, not Tom's. He knows that relatives are supposed to "do" for each other. It was bad enough for her to read the riot act to me, but to expect me to talk that way to the rest of the family is unbelieveable.

My husband was a tailor and and he serviced the family. It was taken for granted, no questions asked. After all, what's a family for if not to help each other? We're not asking Tom to lose money on us, just to treat us special. The trouble is, Corinne's money - mad!

The Council: Everyone works for love or money. So naturally, it behooves those who love Tom to see that he gets some money, too! Corinne believes in spelling out the facts of business life in black and white (and red!) to all kinsmen. Her mother-in-law is shocked, first at being included in the blanket shut out, then at the shut out itself and finally at being asked to do the thankless job of telling the others off.

Contrary to what Mrs. H. says, we believe Corinne speaks for her husband. She's not money - mad, just businesslike and commonsensical. Her misfortune is that Tom chooses to duck behind her and let her be the bad one in announcing his new get-tough policy to both sides of the family. So, even if he can't make himself explain matters directly to his mother, he should stand next to Corinne, physically and emotionally, when she next attempts to address Mrs. H. and to reopen the topic.

Certainly no one can define the delicate line between a business dea alnd a friendly favor. Kingdoms, governments, politicians and officials have toppled in the effort to drew (or stretch) that boundary.

But, we'd remind Corinne, there is a value to giving family members the V.I.P. treatment, within the limits which still allow a fair profit. They become tireless cheerleaders, sending full payment, cash customers your way. Also, they understand and accept the reciprocity of the transactions. You, too, may dip into their assets — be it for a coat "wholesale", some professional advice or a case of canned goods.

In this short period Tom's business seems to be overloaded with family trade as against off - the - street patronage. But over a full year the top-heavy aspect will vanish. And after warning the clan against being too grasping, Tom and Corinne may enjoy the chance to treat them "special". Above all, Mrs. H. must not pounce on Corinne's reasonable position as fuel for a fued. It's her son's position, too, and once he admits it, Mrs. H. has to pass it along — hot potatoes and all!

Readers' Friday Column

by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Would you please tell me how to make a good cup of coffee — no matter how hard I try my coffee just isn't good. I use a stainless steel perc and good brand coffee. I use hot water and never perc more than 10 minutes. I would appreciate your telling me what I do wrong. I have a new automatic which I used for about 6 months and it seemingly got to the place where it would only color the water and not take the good out of the coffee, so I put it to one side. I measure my coffee with one of the plastic measuring spoons you get attached to a pound of coffee — E. V. V.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Salmon Loaf with Mushroom Sauce; Baked Potato Slices; Green Peas; Tomato and Lettuce Salad; Chocolate Pudding (from Homemade Pudding Mix — see Tuesday and Wednesday) with Whipped Topping and Chopped Nuts; Coffee.

ANSWER:

I will tell you how I make coffee. I use an aluminum drip coffee pot, it cost about $1.50 about 15 years ago. I buy coffee that is ground for me twice: once "medium grind," and once "extra fine grind". For a 4-measuring cup pot I measure 6 tablespoons extra-fine grind coffee. I put this in the centre compartment, put on top section and fill it with boiling water, and let it drip through. The coffee is now ready and perfect. Of course it is improved by using cream with it but I use homogenized milk for low-caloric's sake. I will now go one step further: my sisters have an electric coffee grinder and grind the coffee extra fine every morning for breakfast. Made same as above, it is unexcelled.

QUESTION:

Over the years I have enjoyed many delightful recipes from your column. My recipe drawer is overflowing with clippings However, there is one that I have misplaced and haven't been able to replace. I have tried it from memory but haven't been able to make it as perfect. It was for brownies or squares, with a brownie base and had a mixture of cocoanut, etc. which was spread and baked on top, then usually iced. I am sure it may be as long ago as ten years that it appeared in your column — N. R.

ANSWER:

If it is ten years ago the following comes close to your description and was given here December 20/52. I had forgotten it, but it is a beauty.

HONEYMOON BARS (2 variations :

Into measuring cup put brown sugar to ½ cup mark then fill cup with white sugar; put in bowl with 1 cup soft shortening, 2 teaspoons vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 egg. Beat hard for 1 minute. Add 1 cup sifted flour and 1 cup coarse rolled oats. Mix into first mixture and spread in buttered pan 11 x 7 x 1½". Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 45 to 55 minutes. (For very thin cookies spread this batter in 2 pans and bake a shorter time.) Melt ½ lb. semi-sweet chocolate in bowl over hot water (do not let water boil). When melted spread this over baked layer, spreading evenly. Now chop 1-3 cup walnuts or Brazils or almonds Cover half of cookies with wax paper and sprinkle uncovered half with the chopped nuts. Remove paper and sprinkle other half with shredded cocoanut. Thus you have varieties. Cool until chocolate is set. Cut with sharp knife into 24 bars. Extremely popular, and good-looking.

MAIL CALL

Question: Talk about guests who don't know when to go home! What about the host and hostess who refuse to go to bed? Last weekend my husband and I were house guests of friends who kept us up to past three, just chatting. I didn't mind too much, but my husband kept nodding in his chair. In a case like this, would it be rude to excuse yourself and retire? — Mrs. R.F., Newark, N.J.

Answer: No. If a house guest just can't keep his eyes open any longer, then he may excuse himself and go to his room.

Question: I would like to know if a girl has to return a boy's high school ring and other gifts after she has stopped dating him for good. I think she should return the ring, since it does belong to him. — Westwood, N.J.

Answer: The ring should be returned, and so should any class or fraternity pins or any athletic trophies the young man might have entrusted to her keeping when they were going steady.

Any trinkets he may have given her for her birthday, or as Christmas presents, need not be returned. If the gifts were anything more than small, inexpensive items, he shouldn't have given them to her in the first place. Let this be a lesson!

Urges Wives to Make Up

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—Two letters in your column saddened me. One was from the wife of an alcoholic and the other from the wife of a philanderer. I was the wife of a man who was both and I don't think there is much hope for either.

The alcoholic is a sick man, physically, and he will not change unless he has treatment. The other man is sick spiritually. Extra-marital sex is a habit and he will never change. He yearns for variety and finds it with young girls of low morals.

These wives seem to be doing their best. One works outside the home to help support their two children. The other has a scrimp at the table and her children do not have proper clothes.

The reason: Hubbies are spending the money on themselves and other women. Wake up sisters!—ONE WHO KNOWS.

DEAR ONE:—Your sympathy we appreciate. Your conclusions we question.

People do change, physically and spiritually. Else what are doctors for? And ministers? And social workers?

Don't talk me into deserting my profession. Your sisters did wake up or their wouldn't have written. Now let's see what action can do.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—I'm a newcomer to the city. Outside of knowing my neighbors and a few at church I have no social life.

Baby sitters are expensive and as I have two young sons, I cannot leave them alone. Besides, where would I go and what would I do? I know I am in a rut—TV and reading fill my evenings.—WIDOW.

DEAR WIDOW—You can't wait till the boys grow up or you'll have lost the power of speech—so to speak.

Humans are sociable. A woman of forty needs friends and things to do. TV and reading are both like looking at life through a mirror. All right in their place, but deadly dull taken full time.

One resourceful widow exchanged Help with Homework for three hours of babysitting from a Grade 11 student. How is your English or geometry?

Another took in a neighbor's small baby, some evenings. Then the neighbor returned the favor and came over after the boys were in bed, while Mama was out.

You could start a bridge foursome which always met at your house. You could have friends in for dinner.

Could you be free in the afternoons? Many churches and YWCA's have afternoon groups for the ladies in just your situation.

• • •

(Have you asked Doris about your dilemma? Perhaps she can suggest a Canadian resource which can help).

Point Anne

POINT ANNE — Mr. and Mrs. William Juby are spending a couple of days with their granddaughter and family, Mrs. Robert Wallbridge, at Belleville. Mr. Wallbridge is in Cornwall on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Akey, Cannifton spent Saturday tea hour and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Akey and grandchildren. Mrs. Amab Akey of Cannifton spent Saturday tea hour and evening with her daughter, Mrs. Reggie Cox.

Mrs. William Guay and Mrs. Ted Stewart attended the "Ice Follies" held in Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Spencer of Belleville were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bradshaw. Master Steven Bradshaw of the O.S.D. is spending the weekend at his home.

The weekly euchre club was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Whalen. Winners were: Mrs. Emma Sero, Mrs. Peter Green Sr.; low, Mrs. Pearl Genereaux. After euchre a social evening was spent and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Tiros Launched To Photograph Earth's Clouds

The 285-pound camera-carrying satellite rose in the nose of a 90-foot Thor-Delta rocket which blasted off at 7:44 a.m. EST.

All three stages of the booster fired on schedule and nearly two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the package was in orbit about 400 miles above the earth.

The Wallops Island, Va., tracking station picked up signals from Tiros IV as it zipped overhead at the end of one orbit at 9:16 a.m. EST.

Two TV cameras carried in the satellite were to begin transmitting pictures once orbit was achieved.

Sport Slices . . .

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Napanee Comets, one of the better intermediate clubs in the province and a credit to its community and the sport, silently folded its tent the other day—and called it a season.

Ultra-loyal Napanee fans, and this was voiced in the town press, gave the reason as "partly to lack of fan support, and partly the OHA for permitting ineligible players to remain with the Belleville team—and refusal to permit a new goalie."

The fact of the matter is Napanee, like the greater majority of hockey communities of the province, and that includes most of the pros, suffered from atrophy of the box-office.

It is unfortunate that the proud team that took home the banner of provincial intermediate championships on more than one occasion, was forced to hang up its gear. It had a good league record of even wins and losses and it was the first club of the circuit to hang a defeat on the league-leading Belleville Pepsi's.

A Napanee columnist comments: "The decision was reached . . . following the announcement by the OHA executive which cleared all cards of the Belleville Pepsi's and at the same time refused the request of the Comets to sign a replacement goalkeeper when Napanee's Bob Senior pulled out."

"Last week," the columnist writes, "we commented on what the OHA's reaction would be to the players' list of the Pepsi's . . . and we were wrong. Instead of weeding out those whom we thought ineligible, they gave a clean bill of health to the whole kit and caboodle . . . even to a couple who live outside the city limits. The OHA makes the rules, and they can break them if they want to."

If the Napanee columnist will look up Page 53 of the CAHA's 1962 constitution and by-laws he will see under "residential qualification, Rule 16 (a):. 'A player must compete with the team nearest his place of residence which is entered in a division for which he is qualified to play . . . the distance to be computed by mileage over a well-established highway and not as the crow flies."

The Comets used two players who reside in Point Anne. However, earlier in the season, playing coach Lamirande of the Pepsi's said he would waive all rights to the pair.

And to straighten another matter that was erroneously reported, to wit, "The Belleville Pepsi's and the Toronto Macedonians' applications to enter Allen Cup play were turned down at the meeting."

At the beginning of the season when Coach Lamerande had assessed his potential strength he applied for and received, pending ratification, permission to enter the Allan Cup playdowns.

Three weeks ago when the box office failed to show anticipated results, the prospects were not bright for betterment, Lamirande withdrew his application for the national playdowns.

At that, had Lamirande decided to go ahead with permission of course, with Eastern Ontario representation in Allan Cup high jinks he just might have made some Western Ontario eyebrows do the twist.

The only clash that we know of, between eastern and western Ontario clubs occurred here a short time ago when the Pepsi's handed the Waterloo Tigers a 10-5 shellacking with not too much trouble, an item that was not broadcast from Western Ontario housetops Are you listenin', yuh Stratford greybeard?

In fact the Tigers showed more life chasing the "bucks' 'than the pucks. They hadn't seen so much money since the local bank was robbed. Neither had the Pepsi's, as far as that goes.

Back to Napanee, it is regrettable that circumstances forced the withdrawal of its fine hockey club. Ernie Gibbard's town was and is one of the best sports communities in this part of Ontario. I know that from the good old baseball days when Walt Gerow, Sr., Lefty Pointer, Hughie Brennan, George Blazetich, Chuck Kearns and the rest of that grand old gang gave us "Spaniards" from Picton the battles of our lives.

UELSES AILING

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Uelses, the U.S. marine corporal who set an unofficial world record in the pole vault with a leap of 16 feet, ¾ inch last Saturday, is in bed with the flu and won't compete in the Philadelphia Inquirer track meet tonight. A spokesman said an officer from the Quantico, Va., marine base where Uelses is stationed said Thursday the 24-year-old vaulter also will have to pass up the Los Angeles meet Saturday.

Hull And Hawks Keep Rolling Along

Hits Twice In 6-2 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A workout with the statistics shows it might not be far-fetched to consider Chicago's strapping Bobby Hull as 50-goal material this year.

The kid with the lumberjack's build and Grecian features has settled snugly into position for an assault on hockey's magic mark.

He needs 18 goals in as many games, a demanding prospect.

But that's exactly the clip at which he's been travelling since New Year's Day, a goal-a-game average over an 18 - game span.

In National Hockey League play Thursday night, the 23-year - old left winger clicked for goals No. 31 and 32 and helped power his Black Hawks to a 6-2 win over the Bruins in Boston, the schedule's only action.

It was the sixth win in a line for the Black Hawks and gave the club a tab of 10 wins, a tie and a pair of setbacks in 13 games going back to Jan. 11.

STILL IN THIRD

Despite the surge, however, the Hawks are still in third spot in the league standings with 57 points, seven shy of Toronto's runner-up Maple Leafs.

Before a disappointing crowd of 7,841, the last - place Bruins posted a 32-23 edge in shots on goal. But Chicago turned a superior power - play into the difference.

The Hawks had a man advantage four times and scored on three of them. Boston meanwhile was unable to exploit a manpower edge for a single goal, muffing five chances.

SCORES TWICE

Hay scored twice and added a pair of assists while Hall made two exceptional stands in Chicago nets when his club was short - handed and the Bruins put on heavy pressure in the opening and closing periods.

Bronco Horvath, a former Bruin, and Ron Murphy were the other goal-getters for the Hawks while Murray Oliver and Andre Pronovost scored for Boston.

The weekend schedule throws all six clubs into action twice.

Saturday afternoon, the New York Rangers play host to the Hawks while Detroit Red Wings are at Boston. In night play the league - leading Montreal Canadiens tackle the Leafs in Toronto.

Etcheverry Speaks in Montreal

Sam Says Our Football In Jam

MONTREAL (CP)—Sam Etcheverry, visiting here for the first time since he left Montreal Alouettes last year, says Canadian football is in a jam and must get out of it.

The St. Louis Cardinals quarterback, who starred nine seasons with the Alouettes, told the Montreal Ladies' Quarterback Club Wednesday night that Canadian football clubs seem to have forgotten their fans want to see spectacular—as well as winning—football.

He said football attendance dropped because of the "dull" football played by Ottawa Rough Riders, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Edmonton Eskimos and his old team Alouettes.

However, Etcheverry said the dullness could be taken out of the game with a few minor changes, but the Canadian brand of football should not be changed too much. He did not say what he meant by minor changes.

He said it must keep its identity and avert any changes that would copy the American game.

Beaten Fighter Wins Title

Referee Averts Riot!

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Half - conscious, Christian Christensen of Denmark was crowned European middleweight champion Thursday night when defender John McCormack of Scotland was disqualified in the fourth round for hitting the Dane when he was down.

The quick action of German referee Rudolf Drust in disqualifying the Scotsman prevented a riot by the 5,000 fans.

McCormack, 27, floored the 35 - year - old Dane with a right to the jaw in the fourth round. The referee said he raised his left hand to keep the champion from Glasgow back but that McCormack brushed past him to get at Christensen, whose gloves still were touching the ring floor.

The Scotsman battered his stricken rival with both hands, finally sending him through the ropes. Christensen, unconscious, hung on the apron with only one foot inside the ring.

In the few minutes that went by before the disqualification was announced, the spectators rose from their seats, shouting and booing. One man grabbed the bell from a ringside table and hurled it towards McCormack. It landed at his feet.

Other enraged fans started running toward the ring.

Referee Drust later said he had McCormack ahead slightly on points for the first three rounds.

Macs Meet The Pepsi's Tonight!

Belleville's two major hockey attractions, the Junior Macs and the Intermediate Pepsi's, will clash head-on in an exhibition game at nine o'clock here

While there will be no points at stake in this one, there will be a matter of pride, and boths clubs have plenty of that, due to their own league seasonal records.

The Pepsi's have won 19 of 21 in the Lakeshore Loop while the Macs have copped 15 of 20 in the Eastern Junior grouping. Neither club will want to give an inch and it should prove an interesting battle for all concerned.

The teams met once before this year, with the Pepsi's taking the decision that time. However, that game was prior to league play and Gordie Bell's juniors have sworn that it will be a different story tonight.

Meanwhile, Jean-Paul Lamirande's Pepsi crew will be going all out to show their "young brothers" how it should be done.

Special admission prices have been arranged for this affair. Adults will get in for half a dollar and children for half of that.

Both teams are preparing for playoffs and will be giving their best to draw the fans back for the later games.

Faceoff time is nine o'clock.

Tough Competition

Top Curlers Challenged

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian champion Hec Gervais of Edmonton is on sticky ice in his bid to win Canada's top curling prize this year. He has lost one game in play to decide the northern zone representative in the Alberta and another defeat will eliminate him from the running.

Meanwhile, a few other 1961 provincial winners still are in the running for a berth in the Canadian championships to be held at Kitchener March 5-9.

In British Columbia, the provincial best-of-three final opens at North Vancouver Tuesday. Glen Harper, last year's representative in the Canadian championship, failed to make the playoffs but still in the running is Reg Stone of Trail, five-time B.C. champ who has never won a Canadian title.

RICHARDSON ADVANCES

Ernie Richardson of Regina, Canadian and world champion in the 1959 and 1960, advanced into the Saskatchewan final by winning the province's southern title Thursday. Merv Mann of Saskatoon is the southern champ. The provincial final will be played at Saskatoon starting Friday.

In Manitoba, John - David Lyon, last year's provincial winner, is in contention. Terry Braunstein, who represented Manitoba in 1958 and caused some controversy because he skipped a high school rink, was undefeated in the Manitoba Curling Association playdowns.

Jim Florian of Dartmouth, 1961 Nova Scotia champion, is a stronger contender again. John MacDonald of Campbellton, New Brunswick's 1961 champion, is entered in the provincial championships scheduled for Feb. 12-17. Doug Cameron's defending provincial champions from Charlottetown have reached the Prince Edward Island final to be played this weekend.

In Quebec Tommy Walsh's Hudson rink is not defending its 1961 title in the provincial championship bonspiel now under way in Quebec City.

Fight or Else!

This Is It, Archie!

NEW YORK (AP)—Time runs out on ancient Archie Moore today.

Unless the 45-year-old boxer shows proof he has signed for a title defence against either National Boxing Association champion Harold Johnson or Doug Jones, the New York State Athletic Commission is expected to chop off another of Moore's light-heavyweight crown.

The commission said Thursday it would meet today.

Last Friday Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the commission, gave Moore one week to sign for fights with either Johnson or Jones, who had posted challenges and $2,500 forfeit cheques with the commission.

Moore is recognized as king of the 175-pound class by New York, Massachusetts and Europe. The NBA, after repeated warnings to Moore to defend, finally took away recognition. It named Johnson, of Philadelphia, as its champion after he knocked out Jesse Bowdry at Miami Beach a year ago.

Jones of New York, is the No. 2 contender. He is undefeated in his class and his only defeat was to Eddie Machen, the second - ranking heavyweight contender.

If New York dethrones Moore, Massachusetts and the British and European boxing bodies undoubtedly will follow.

Archie's last defence was in New York June 10 when he outpointed Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Old Rangers Honor Frank Boucher

By CARMAN CUMMING

NEW YORK (CP)—The hard core of the first New York Rangers hockey team regrouped here Thursday to see their star centre, Frank Boucher, receive the annual award of the Sportsmanship Brotherhood.

Among some 400 guests at a brotherhood luncheon were Bill and Fred (Bun) Cook, the Kingston brothers who combined with Boucher to form one of the greatest forward lines in National Hockey League history.

Their battle-scarred defenceman, Ivan (Ching) Johnson and Clarence (Taffy) Abel, also were present along with Paul Bourgault of Quebec City and Murray Murdoch, now coach of the Yale University hockey team.

Boucher, a native of Ottawa, now lives in Saskatoon and is commissioner of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League. Johnson makes his home in Takoma, Md. Abel came from Phoenix, Ariz., for the event.

Of the original Rangers just two are no longer living—coach Lester Patrick, who took over from Conn Smythe before the first season began, and goalie Lorne Chabot, from Port Arthur.

LAUDED BY SPEAKER

Harry A. Scott, Canada's consul-general in New York, recalled that Boucher won the Lady Bing Trophy for sportsmanship seven times and called him "one of the truly greats of American-Canadian hockey."

Boucher, 60, is a member of Hockey's Hall of Fame along with Bill Cook—who scored 228 goals in his NHL career—and Johnson.

New York lawyer Myles Lane, who played with Boucher on later Rangers teams, said that as a skater, shooter and team man "I don't think the National Hockey League has ever seen his equal."

"I think this was the greatest line that ever played hockey—the Cook brothers and Boucher," he said.

Boucher, although never the league's top scorer, was among the top 10 in seven seasons. Bill Cook also made the top 10 seven times and Bun, at left wing, made it three seasons.

The veteran pros, presented with engraved watches at a Rangers game Wednesday night, gathered after the luncheon to swap tales of the NHL's early days.

Boucher, who won the Lady Byng Trophy so often it eventually was retired to him, recalled in an interview that he "did get into a pretty good fight once" during the 1926-27 season.

"Bill Phillips of the old Montreal Maroons and I started to mix it up. He hit me over the head with his stick and that about ended the fight. I was a little groggy."

Johnson recalled the time Boucher scored an overtime tie-breaker in the key game of the 1928 Stanley Cup series against Montreal Maroons—with coach Les Patrick working in the nets after Chabot had been injured by a flying puck.

In that series Boucher scored four goals, three of them game-winners.

Also honored at Thursday's luncheon was Robert J. H. Kiphuth, the veteran Yale swimming coach, who received the John Perry Bowditch Award.

Palmer Leads At Phoenix

Vancouver's Stan Leonard was in a 14-player cluster at 73. His rounds were 36 and 37.

The Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks has launched a bid to overhaul the leaders in the National Hockey League scoring race. He scored twice and added an assist Thursday night to run his season's production to 56 points as the Hawks defeated Boston Bruins 6-2.

That left him 8 points shy of the pace-setting total of New York's Andy Bathgate and four behind runner-up Gordie Howe of Detroit.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
Bathgate, New York	20	44	64
Howe, Detroit	25	35	60
Hull, Chicago	32	24	56
Mikita, Chicago	17	37	54
Mahovlich, Toronto	27	35	52
Provost, Montreal	29	22	51
Ullman, Detroit	20	29	49

Stilt Pots 59 Points

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain went on another scoring binge Thursday night, potting 59 points in leading Philadelphia Warriors to a 136-120 victory over New York Knickerbockers in their National Basketball Association game here.

The performance — the 40th time this season Chamberlain surpassed 50 points in a game —shattered the NBA's season scoring record Wilt set last year.

The seven-foot-one ace has produced 3,039 points, six more than his old mark. He still has 19 games to go this season. Chamberlain scored on 23 of 27 shots from the field Thursday night.

REACH QUARTER-FINALS

NEW YORK (AP)—Six Americans, led by top-ranked Whitney Reed, swept into the quarter-finals of the U.S. national indoor tennis championships Thursday night along with Australian Davis Cupper Rod Laver. Reed, of Alameda, Calif., outbattled Crawford Henry of Atlanta 6-4, 10-8. Laver, the Wimbledon champion, disposed of Bill Scarlett of Verona, N.J., 6-3, 6-4.

Will Quit if Beaten

Ingemar 4-1 Favorite

Johansson, a 4-to-1 favorite who had shot up to about 215 pounds during a long layoff following his knockout loss to Floyd Patterson last March, has slimmed down to 198 pounds.

Many had said he would never get back into fighting trim again.

"But I've taken it off," said Ingo. "And I've taken it off by a combination of hard training and scientific eating."

Johansson said Thursday he probably will give up fighting if he loses today.

"If I do well against Bygraves I will keep pushing towards winning back the crown," he said.

Bygraves, 30, also is making a comeback. The former British Empire heavyweight champion, suffered a broken right leg in August, 1960, and was out of action for over a year.

Flyers Crush Petes

Hablets Whip Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Clubs around the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series facing Montreal Canadiens might give a thought to what's long been said of their National League namesakes:

Gime 'em too many chances to uncork the power play and you're dead.

Hamilton Red Wings absorbed five minor penalties in the first period Thursday night and the Habs bombed in three goals. They got another in the second while the Wings were suffering a manpower deficit and ended up with a 5-1 victory.

The win, before a sellout Hamilton crowd of 3,830, brought the Canadiens to within two points of the league-leading Red Wings — and the Montrealers have played two fewer games.

Niagara Falls Flyers crushed the hapless Petes 9-1 at Peterborough in the night's other game and now are only one point shy of fourth-place Guelph Royals.

FIRES THREE GOALS

Centre Bill Inglis paced Montreal with three goals. Rejean Richer and Germain Gagnon scored the others while Andre Boudrias got two assists to move ahead of Hamilton's Pit Martin in the scoring race, 77 points to 76.

Centre Jim Peters savd the Wings from a shutout with only seven minutes left in the game. The winners outshot Hamilton 32-29 and both goalies, George Holmes of Montreal and Buddy Blom of the Wings, were sensational at times.

The Flyers turned it into a romp before 937 Peterborough fans after taking a 4-0 lead in the first period and being held scoreless in the second.

Gary Dornhoefer and Terry Crisp each scored twice. Bill Glashan, Don Awrey, Billy Knibbs, Wayne Maxner and Ron Hergott collected singles and Jim Paterson counted the only Peterborough goal.

Trappers Bow to Frontenacs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs turned up with only 10 men in North Bay Thursday night but scored two quick goals on a manpower advantage in the third period to dump hard-luck Trappers 4-2.

The Frontenacs maintained their five-point Eastern Professional Hockey League lead over Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers, who dealt Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds another injury along with a 3-1 defeat.

Playing coach Orval Tessier and goalie Ed Chadwick were the big factors in Kingston's win.

Tessier fired his 40th and 41st goals of the season and set up defenceman Harry Sinden on his tie - breaking tally at 14:10 of the third period. Tom McCarthy, with his 45th, was the other marksman.

Joe Szura and Norm Waslowski scored for the slumping Trappers, who have won only one game since the new year and are three points back of the Thunderbirds in the league basement.

Lady Bowler Sets Record

Mrs. Evelyn Campbell racked up a score of 391 in loop competition.

Mrs. Campbell started with 15 in the first frame, then rolled nine consecutive strikes. On the last two balls she picked a 3-pin and the 5-3-2.

Television Always Problem To Cornelia Otis Skinner

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Cornelia Otis Skinner is a woman of many talents. She is a writer of very funny books and short articles, probably the best known female monologist in the country and a Broadway star. But television has been a problem.

"When television people want me, they usually want me to do one of my monologues," she said. "And, unfortunately, my longer monologues don't break down to the required four, five or six minutes that are given to me. So, in the appearances I've made on shows like Ed Sullivan's, it hasn't been very satisfactory."

However, the picture may be changing. A few years back, Miss Skinner had an important role in NBC's adaptation of The Farmer's Daughter, which brought her a lot of critical bouquets.

Tonight Miss Skinner will be the on-camera narrator of NBC's amusing Debutante '62 and proved a particularly happy choice to explain this interesting matrimonial institution.

After these two exposures, more TV doors should be opening for her. With one-man shows a TV specialty — Victor Borge, Danny Thomas and others—why doesn't somebody set up a one-woman show for Miss Skinner?

NBC, in a major coup has signed an exclusive contract with Robert Horton. That not only means that Wagon Train, TV's top-rated show, will lose its top star, Horton, when it moves next season to ABC, but that NBC can use Horton as guest star in any show—probably The Virginian — which will compete for Wednesday night audiences with Wagon Train.

Recommended viewing:

Tonight—Debutante, '62, NBC 9:30-10:30 EST—documentary of the society launching.

Sunday — The Broadway of Lerner and Loewe, NBC, 7:30-8:30 p.m. — Positively do not miss this special built around the musical hits of this composing team, with Maurice Chevalier, Julie Andrews, Stanley Holloway, Robert Goulet, Richard Burton;

Spellbound NBC, 10-11—Hugh O'Brian and Maureen O'Hara in a live TV adaptation of the hit movie.

Too Many Canadians For Hahvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) Harvard University lashed out at recruiting of Canadians and the "commercialism" among western colleges today. It notified the National Collegiate Athletic Association hockey tournament selection committee it does not wish to be considered for participation in the 1962 tournament.

With a 13-4 record, Harvard is ranked among the East's best hockey teams.

The 10-man faculty committee on athletic sports, in a letter to the undergraduate athletic council which had recommended NCAA participation, indicated opposition to the NCAA tournament on two grounds: The length of the season and the nature of the post-season event.

In the latter, the faculty committee characterized the seven-member western league from which the two western representatives to the NCAA tournament are selected as a group dedicated to "heavy recruiting of Canadian players, use of athletic scholarships and what appears to be an intensive effort to develop a big time, commercially successful sport."

The Harvard group called the western college hockey squad members "heavily-subsidized specialists."

Best-Selling Novel Film Will Star Gregory Peck

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Miss Harper Lee of Monroeville, Ala., was in town this week, acting very much unlike a best-selling author.

Miss Lee was invited to Hollywood to look at preparations to film her Pulitzer Prize novel, To Kill a Mockingbird, which will star Gregory Peck.

"I know that authors are supposed to knock Hollywood and complain about how their works are treated here," she said, "but I just can't manage it.

"Everybody has been so darned nice to me and everything is being done with such care that I can't find anything to complain about."

She likes the movie script, and the set of the southern home she wrote about "looked so real that I wanted to sit down in a rocking chair and fan myself."

Miss Lee also gave her approval to the outdoor set of a small southern town in the 1930s. It was built on the Universal lot out of derlicts removed from the path of Los Angeles freeways.

Said Miss Lee:

"The town is so good that I'm afraid people will think it was filmed on location."

That's exactly what the studio hopes.

You may have gathered that Harper Lee is not the usual kind of author. She isn't. Homespun without being hokey, she is amazed by her success, though not ovrwhelmed.

IT'S UNUSUAL

Nor is Mockingbird the usual novel. For 79 weeks it has perched on the best-seller list.

Her explanation of its staying power?

"I've learned a lot about the book business in the last two years," she said. "I realized that no amount of advertising can sustain a best seller. Nor do the book clubs help sales appreciably. (Hers was selected by four.)

"For a book to really last, it has to be liked by enough people who will recommend it to their friends. Word-of-mouth is the best advertising for a book."

Enough people have liked To Kill a Mockingbird to send it through 22 printings in the United States and 11 in foreign countries. It has a universal theme: The efforts of a father to stop the traits of hatred in the minds of his two young children.

Will Protest Sale of Bowie Track

BALTIMORE (AP) — A spokesman for a minority group of stockholders said Thursday he will protest the sale of Bowie Race Track.

The track was sold to Patino Mines and Enterprises Consolidated, Incorporated, of Canada by the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association for $5,000,000. E. R. E. Carter of Toronto is president of the Patino company.

Samuel R. Zetzer of Baltimore said, "firmly convinced that $5,000,000 is not a fair price for the Bowie track and believing that $9.96 a share is not a fair payment for our stock, we plan to protest through Maryland laws protecting minor stockholders in such corporations."

When transfer of ownership was announced Tuesday, the vote of stockholders was announced as 479,000 to 5,906 shares in favor.

Zetzer said he represented four stockholders of less than 3,000 shares.

In Toronto, Carter said he had no comment.

Thirty-one-year-old bandleader, Ron Metcalfe of St. Catharines, Ontario, figures the twist can lead Canadian teen-agers back to the big band era.

Teen-Age Canada

Twist Back to Big Bands

By JACK HUTTON

A 31-year-old bandleader from St. Catharines, Ont., with a missionary gleam in his eye, is the latest fellow to climb onto the twist bandwagon.

But Ron Metcalfe, a youthful-looking fellow with a dark brushcut, has a sneaky purpose in mind: "This is the way back to big bands," he says.

Ron, who has been "knocking on the door" for several years with his hometown dance band, has just had several things happen to him at once.

1—He will accompany Chubby Checker, the world's twist king, at a special Toronto production next week, hoping as many people as possible will notice his 17-piece band.

2—The St. Catharines musician has just heard that his first single record—the Woodchoppers' Ball Twist—is selling well in the U.S. and is climbing up on Canadian hit parades.

3—His band recorded Canada's first dance record in stereophonic sound 10 days ago, switching a number of old standard tunes into a twist rhythm. How it will go is anyone's guess.

I talked to Ron immediately after his recording session while his enthusiasm was still at a high peak. Do teen-agers, I wanted to know, really like the twist? Are their tastes changing?

"We wondered about this new dance," Ron admitted. "But overnight we changed our minds. Why, the twist is the best thing to happen to the big band business in a long time. The kids are dancing."

"While I was down in New York talking about our new record, I met Woody Herman who wrote the original Woodchoppers' Ball," Ron added.

"He told me he thought the twist was very reminiscent of the Charleston era. And, as you know, that ushered in the era of big bands. People wanted to dance and we had Benny Goodman and all the others.

THE REVIVAL

"Woody and a lot of others agree that our big bands haven't had a certain sense of excitement for at least 10 years. That's what we hope the twist is going to bring back."

The bandleader sounded a cautious note for young Canadian musicians who may dream of someday cutting a hit record. "It's a tough business," he said with feeling.

Our recording session last Sunday tied up 17 musicians, not to mention the technicians and others, for two three-hour sessions between noon and 8 p.m. Just one day, but it cost $4,000 for arrangements and everything."

"How will the record do? Well, they tell me that selling 20,000 records in Canada is equivalent to selling one million in the U.S.A. Our idea of a big seller is a lot different from theirs and not as profitable.

"I wouldn't advise anyone to tackle this business unless he had a solid grounding and was prepared for a lot of work. But we're going to keep on selling the idea of big bands—and let's hope the twist helps."

NUMBER PUZZLE

Well, well, let's get back to that puzzle we suggested last week: arrange the numbers between one and 9 in some way so that they add up to 100, not using any number twice.

The classic answer is 98 and 27 over 54 plus one and three over six. All the numbers are used and none are used twice.

Several of you wrote in with that answer—but what interested me most were letters which suggested alternate solutions. Gad, what brains!

Pete VanDine, a Leaside high school student, used 10 minutes waiting for supper to come up with this answer. Add 9 plus 8 plus 6 plus 4 plus 3 to get 30.

Then multiply 5 by 7 by two by 1 to get 70. Add them and you get 100. Or, said Pete, combine seven and one to get 71. Add nine plus eight plus six plus five to get 28.

This gives you 99. But by placing four plus one over three plus two you can get five over five. This gives you the one needed to bring the total to 100.

It may make you all feel better to hear that the original question came from 17-year-old Barbara Grossman who is studying senior high school mathematics this year and hopes to go to university next year.

Our thanks to Barbara—and we'd like to hear from anyone who has a similar problem you think will stump us.

Sunday School Lesson

Christian Family Living

By Roy L. Smith

In one of His most solemn moments Jesus said to his disciples, "Upon this rock I will build my Church." There is an aged dispute between Catholics and Protestants as to precisely what the Master may have meant, but upon another proposition there can be no dispute.

Upon the preservation of the American family the future of America depends.

The family, alongside the state and the schools, is one of the basic social institutions. And it has been the history of democracy that it has endeavored at every turn of time to protect the family.

It is inside the family that the child gets his first training, his first introduction to education, religion, government, and citizenship. If the atmosphere of the family circle is polluted, the civic health of the nation is contaminated. If the family is destroyed, the foundations of a democratic society are destroyed. There can be no future for any moral society, if the family as an institution is undermined.

COMMUNISM AND FAMILY

It is a part of the indictment of communism that sooner or later, in every land upon which it fastens its foul grip, the communists begin war on the family.

As early as 1923, following the "October Revolution" in Russia, the Soviet government began a program designed to destroy the family circle. Divorce was made easy, children were separated from their parents and put into government schools as early as their third year, and women were assigned to work outside their homes.

Within the space of five years following the take-over of Red China by the communists in 1949, an edict went out which was designed to break up the families. Husbands were separated from their wives, workers were required to live in communes, children were shipped off to government schools and hostels to be educated as new citizens.

One of the first objects of attack in Tibet, following the communist invasion, was the Tibetan family which has had a long and honorable history. A somewhat similar, but less publicized effort has been going on in North Viet Nam and in North Korea.

Let it be said without any glossing over, that in the event the western nations fall to the communists, the first line of attack will be the institution of the Christian family.

SINISTER SIGN ON HORIZON

The most sinister sign on the horizon of American life is the decay of American family life. The evidence is not to be found in the divorce courts alone, but is reflected in the records of the juvenile courts into which youngsters are haled for infractions of the law.

Let it be said to the credit of the public school auhorities that they are voicing the warning in no uncertain terms. "The boy who comes home and finds no mother there, is apt to set off in the direction of the juvenile court, after having visited with 'the gang.'"

Juvenile authorities from one end of the nation to the other are expressing their alarm over the growth of crime among teenagers. Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, than whom there is no better friend of law and order makes his appeal to American parents with almost monotonous regularity.

Mothers who leave their homes to augment the family income, so as to make possible more gadgets in the house are assuming a terrible responsibility.

We condemn the materialism of Marxism unsparingly, and then indulge in the materialism of Madison Avenue. But materialism always works the same way, under any political system. It does not dull the edge of materialism, to call it the democratic free enterprise system.

RUSSIA FREES U-2 PILOT IN SPY SWAP

Viscount Makes Safe Emergency Dorval Landing

44 Passengers Aboard Calm and Collected

MONTREAL (CP) — A TCA Viscount carrying 49 people made a safe emergency landing at Montreal International Airport Friday night with only its right landing gear and nose wheel extended.

The plane was brought down by 39-year - old TCA captain Charles Kenworthy of Montreal, who has been flying since he was 17 and has more than 14,000 hours of flight time.

It touched the runway smoothly. The left wing dipped and scraped along the asphalt, finally veering the four-engined turbine-propeller craft off the runway and into the snow-covered field.

The 44 passengers, who kept a dead silence all the way down the glide, burst into cheers when the plane stopped.

For Kenworthy and his 29-year-old co-pilot Don Stanger, also a Montrealer, it was the first emergency landing of their careers.

The plane was on a regular Toronto - Ottawa - Montreal flight. Trouble was first noticed when the plane approached Ottawa before its attempt to make its stop there. There were indications that the left gear was not working properly and Kenworthy circled the field seeking information from the ground. He was told the left gear did not appear to be down at all.

Kenworthy then decided to take the Viscount to Montreal, rather than making an emergency landing immediately, because he felt there were more emergency facilities here and because TCA's main base is here.

He informed the passengers, who took the situation calmly.

Nearly 60 ambulances and a number of fire trucks were deployed about the runway when Kenworthy arrived. They weren't needed.

DIDN'T KNOW

"I decided that under the circumstances it was best to go in with what wheels we had," Kenworthy said. "I did not know whether the left gear was even partly down.

"Just after we touched I knew it wasn't holding and the wing went down."

Stewardesses Cynthia Davis, 24, of suburban Beaconsfield and Beverly Bostock, 22, of Scarborough, Ont., were highly praised by the passengers for their cool handling of the situation. They, in turn, praised the passengers.

Miss Bostock said the pilot informed everyone at Ottawa that the flight was being diverted.

"They were all calm," she said. "So I just went on serving supper. We had steak or salmon and salads, and ice cream and coffee. It was good ice cream."

Between Ottawa and Montreal, Miss Bostock cracked: "Maybe we should organize a Veterans Minister Churchill announced that civilian war pensions, paid to those who did hazardous service, will be extended to additional groups.

PARIS (CP-Reuters) — Parisians breathed a little easier today, expecting a weekend lull in the Algeria - linked violence that brought death, injury, strikes and violence to Paris Thursday and Friday.

And there were reports from Tunisia that a crucial stage was approaching in negotiations between French officials and Algerian nationalist rebels seeking some way to end the seven-year-old Algerian war.

But in Algeria, where 13 persons died in European extremist and Moslem insurgent attacks Friday, doctors, dentists and druggists prepared to strike for 24 hours.

In another development, 19-year-old Marc Andre Schwartz, a second cousin of Premier Michel Debre, turned up safe and sound today and said he had been kidnapped by two Secret Army Organization men Thursday. He said they kidnapped him at gunpoint and held him until Friday night in a forest area about 30 miles from Paris.

He said they were alarmed by some lights and fled. He walked into a village and telephoned his parents.

While Paris hoped for a quiet weekend, Monday promised to be troublesome. Socialist and Roman Catholic unions stood by their call for a half-hour general strike Monday morning and teachers prepared for a one-hour work stoppage that day.

The strikers will be commemorating the funerals of the eight persons who died Thursday night in this capital's bloody demonstrations protesting the widespread terrorist activities of the outlawed secret army, which is pledged to keep Algeria French and bitterly opposes President de Gaulle's self-determination plans for the North African territory.

Paris was paralyzed Friday afternoon by a one-hour strike protesting Thursday night's alleged police violence and the eight deaths.

WOMEN PASS FORGED CHEQUES IN DAY BLITZ

Two Arrested Face 73 Counts

TORONTO (CP) — A blitz of 300 forged travellers' cheques rained down on banks in Toronto, Montreal and Quebec Thursday, passed by squads of women. Police expected more to turn up.

Banks in Toronto reported $21,300 swindled from them as more than 200 well - done forgeries of Bank of Montreal cheques were cashed in less than five hours. Two women have been arrested and charged.

At least $15,000 worth of the bogus cheques have turned up in Montreal and Quebec and police predicted more will be discovered in what they described as a "near - perfect" operation.

RCMP have been called in by Montreal police following reports pointing to that city as the centre of the ring. Two waitresses arrested in a Toronto bank were both from Montreal and carried identification cards of the Montreal department of welfare.

Louise Tremblay, 27, and Fernande Francoise Parent, alias Lisa Cote, 27, have been charged with 73 counts of uttering. No arrests have been made in Montreal or Quebec City.

ALMOST PERFECT COPIES

A Montreal spokesman for the bank described the cheques as almost perfect copies. They were lithographed on paper so similar to that used by the bank that only an expert could spot them easily, he said.

About 40 bank branches in Toronto and others in Montreal and Quebec reported the cheques were offered by with a photograph of the bearer were presented in Toronto.

Police in Toronto seized $12,000 in counterfeit cheques at the time of the arrests but a third woman and a male accomplice sped away in a car.

The ring was exposed Thursday at 2:45 p.m. when an official of a downtown Toronto bank suspected irregularities. Nevertheless, at least 148 cheques were cashed in 295 minutes.

Bank managers reported the swindlers cashed from two to 10 cheques at once, each valued at $100. Cheques passed in Toronto were drawn on Montreal's St. Clement and St. Catherine branch and those in Montreal on Toronto's Bloor and St. George branch.

LEAVES NO WILL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Edie Adams, widow of comedian Ernie Kovacs, will receive $2,500 montly support for herself and their three children pending an audit of his estimated $2,100,000 estate. Kovacs was killed Jan. 13 when his station wagon smashed a telephone pole. A Superior Court judge also approved Miss Adams' petition to take charge of Kovacs' affairs because he left no will.

Premier Lesage Makes Overt Pitch For U.S. Capital to Develop Que.

NEW YORK (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage said Friday Quebec is presenting a "much more attractive" new face that should entice development money.

Addressing the Canadian Society of New York, Lesage made a straight pitch for United States capital and declared his province is coming through an historic reawakening.

"Conventional ultra-conservatism has been replaced by the vitality of a young nation—full of enthusiasm and confidence in the future," said the Liberal premier who made no direct reference to the Union Nationale government that he replaced.

Lesage said in an interview later his speech made clear Quebec's desire to be "reintegrated into Canada" and this was his answer to the separatist movement in that province.

Donald Richardson, Canadian Society president, said the 430 guests hearing Lesage formed the biggest gathering in the organization's history.

"It is not often that a prime minister of the province of Quebec is given an opportunity such as this to meet with some of the leading members of New York's financial community," Lesage declared.

"As a matter of fact, I am told that this is the first time that this has ever happened."

In his interview, Lesage replied to a question about whether he was seeking only American development money by remarking "why do you think I went to Europe last October?"

Enumerating the resources of Quebec, Lesage said it is planned to create a "general financing corporation" through which private and government funds could develop the province.

The Quebec government "wants to provide the guarantee of a stable financial policy which its participation in a general financing corporation calls for, even if this participation—we are no socalists—is only a minority one."

Govt. Forced to Sell Reserve Of U.S. Dollars to Even Rate

OTTAWA (CP)—The government sold $133,900,000 of its reserves of United States dollars during January in the face of increasing discount pressures on the Canadian dollar.

The decline in the government's exchange holdings, to $1,921,900,000 on Jan. 31 from $2,055,800,000 a month earlier was reported Friday in the official Canada Gazette.

It was the third month in a row that the exchange holdings of U.S. dollars and gold had declined following the heavy purchases during October of $186-300,000 in U.S. dollars.

The October purchases by the exchange fund were made to offset heavy pressures which tended then to increase the Canadian dollar's exchange value

The fund's sales of U.S. dollars since then have had the effect of moderating a decline in the Canadian dollar's exchange value. The January decline in the fund brought the fund below its level at the first of October.

During January the discount on the Canadian dollar increased by more than one-third of a cent to 4½ cents on Jan. 31. Since then the discount has increased further and Friday the Canadian dollar was quoted in New York at 95 21-64 cents in U.S. funds.

In his budget last June 20, Finance Minister Fleming announced the government was prepared to use the exchange fund to buy U.S. dollars in order to move the Canadian dollar to a discount and ensure that the exchange rate "is kept within a range appropriate to Canada's changing economic situation."

The Canadian dollar's exchange value, then at par with the U.S. dollar, dropped immediately to a three-per-cent discount where it remained until November when the discount began to widen.

In the Commons Friday, in reply to an opposition question, Mr. Fleming said that it was "Not fair to call the Canadian rate a manipulated rate."

"While there have been periods, such as in October and January, when our exchange fund has operated extensively, it has not operated in an aggressive manner; that is to say, it has not driven the rate in one direction or another.

"On the contrary, it has at all times responded to and moderated market pressures."

Mr. Fleming made his comment after John R. Matheson (L—Leeds) asked him to comment on a statement by U.S.

Rabbi Tells Inquiry Police Reminded Him of Gestapo

TORONTO (CP) — A visiting rabbi told a judicial inquiry Friday Metropolitan Toronto police used obscenities in speaking to him, called him a dirty Jew, manhandled him, struck him twice and threw him 15 feet across a room following his arrest Jan. 26.

The incident occurred during the dark hours of Jan. 26-27 (Friday and Saturday), the Jewish sabbath.

Previous testimony indicated police were checking the north-end neighborhood after reports that women had been molested there.

Rabbi Leiner originally was charged with assaulting a police officer and obstructing, but the charges were withdrawn pending the hearing.

He told Mr. Justice Wells that during the incident "I associated the actions of the police with the Gestapo."

The hearing has been adjourned for two weeks. No police witnesses have yet been called.

Rabbi Leiner told the court that on Jan. 26, while he was walking back to his new apartment, he was stopped by a motorcycle policeman who asked his name.

Rabbi Leiner asked why the policeman wanted to know.

He quoted the officer as saying: "I'm asking the questions around here, wise guy, let's see your identification."

The rabbi said he told the officer he carried none because of the Jewish sabbath. Another officer was summoned from a nearby cruiser and the rabbi was searched.

He gave his name, but asked what difference his age made when police questioned him on that point.

He quoted an officer as calling him a "bastard" and telling him: "You're going to tell us your age right now." Rabbi Leiner did.

He was told he was being taken to police headquarters but refused to enter the police car and said his orthodox faith prohibited him from riding in a car on the sabbath.

"We are the law and the law is superior over religion. When there is conflict, you must break your religion," Rabbi Leiner quoted an officer as saying."

He said he accepted the arrest but wanted to walk to the

Probe Into Missing Credit Card Leaves Two Men Dead

VANCOUVER (CP) — An investigation into a missing airline credit card led to a wild shooting in a swank Vancouver hotel Friday that left two men dead, one wounded and a fourth charged with murder.

Charged with two counts of capital murder is a man who gave the name Eric Lifton and described himself as a visitor from New Hampshire.

Lifton, about 23, told police he came here from the Lake Monomonack district of New Hampshire and was a native of Vermont.

He was charged with the deaths of Larry Short, a 42-year-old police detective, and Larry Kingston, 34, assistant manager of Vancouver's west-side Bayshore Inn, scene of the melee.

The charges were read to Lifton at Vancouver General Hospital, where he is under treatment for a stomach injury.

The two men died shortly after they went to a fifth-floor bedroom in the big convention hotel to interview a man about a Pan American Airlines credit card, reported to have been stolen in New York.

Egley said he went to the hotel on receiving a report that a man there had presented a Pan American credit card when booking a flight through a travel agency. He said the detective and Mr. Kingston entered the room first and he followed a minute later.

Egley said he was forced by a gunman to lie on the floor with the two other men when he entered the room.

The shooting started soon afterwards, apparently when the detective reached for his gun. Egley said eight shots were fired before the gunman fled the room.

"It all happened so fast," he said. "The detective and the hotel man were hit and I was hit but I don't know where the bullets came from. Bullets were flying everywhere and the television set was smashed."

When the gunman ran out of the room Egley seized the phone and told the front office to stop him.

Constable Leonard Galbraith, detective Short's "cover man" was waiting outside. Hotel manager Joe Mogush rushed out and told the constable to stop a man who had just stepped into a cab.

Constable Galbraith said he was forced into the cab at gunpoint by the man, who told cabbie Sam Chessa to drive off. He already had told Chessa to head for the airport.

"I jammed on the emergency broke and jumped out," said Chessa. "The policeman asked me to help him get the handcuffs on but I don't think I was much help."

COMMONS DEALS BRISKLY WITH PENSION HIKES

Three Removed From Gallery

OTTAWA (CP)—Unruffled by an abortive student demonstration, the Commons moved briskly back to business Friday with disposal of two pensions measures and virtual completion of a third.

In contrast to the political rampage of Thursday, members stuck closely to the subject at hand in approving increases for old age assistance and the blind.

Debate was droning on when two University of Montreal male students heaved bilingual leaflets down into the chamber from a gallery and then joined a co-ed in a short-lived attempt to sing O Canada.

They were speedily hustled out by Commons attendants who had been forewarned of the demonstration, aimed at promoting adoption of a distinctive Canadian flag.

The last such incident was the expulsion of a woman spectator two years ago for loudly uttering some unkind comments about Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

PENSIONS TAKE UP TIME

Pensions took up most of the day as the government's legislative package of higher assistance neared completion.

Already approved is the increase to $65 monthly from $55—to be effective last Feb. 1—in old age pension payments to all persons 70 or over.

Also sent to the Senate were bills providing equivalent increases for the needy blind and for those aged 65 to 69 who are judged to need assistance, both paid on a cost - sharing basis with the provinces.

Ready for third and final reading Monday is a bill extending the same increase to persons recognized as disabled.

Veterans Minister Churchill introduced a resolution preceding a bill to pay more than $667,000 a year in pensions to First and Second World War seamen, Second World War civilian firefighters serving in Britain and other persons qualifying as non-veterans who held hazardous wartime posts.

SENATOR RESIGNS

In other matters, the resignation was announced of Manitoba Senator John T. Haig, 84, for health reasons. Retirement of the Progressive Conservative raised the number of vacancies in the 102-seat Senate to eight.

He said MPs are requested to bring pressure to bear where they can to obtain pensions for needy persons. The assistance should be taken out of politics and a medical board, for example, be asked to establish payments within the limits of aid offered jointly by the federal and provincial governments.

Residents, Visitors Kick Off Golden Jubilee at Timmins

TIMMINS (CP) — This gold-mining town turned in its buses for horse-drawn sleighs Friday night as it kicked off three days of golden jubilee celebrations.

The downtown area was blocked off to motor traffic with the temperature forecast to hit 30 below, residents and visitors climbed aboard the sleighs for a tour of the business district.

There were hundreds of visitors in town for the celebrations including several reeves and mayors and representatives from the federal and provincial governments and mining departments.

Among the attractions were girls in gold sweaters and girls with their hair sprayed gold.

The Last Chance Saloon was scheduled to open at 8 p.m. but began pouring about noon. There was more figure skating later at night and two dances followed by the crowning of a jubilee outdoors queen.

An ice carnival on Gillies lake is vlanned for the children today. Main downtown streets will be blocked off and flooded for a moccasin dance and more sleigh rides.

Sunday is the big day, with broomball championships winding up and an ice - fishing derby.

There will be a junior invitation ski meet on Mount Jamieson, eight miles from here, and go-kart, motor toboggan, dog and snowshoe racing.

A log-sawing contest is on tap and there'll be prizes for the man who can drill fastest through the ice of Kenogamissi Lake with auger and ice pick.

Francis Powers Exchanged For Rudolph Abel

U.S. Pilot Now On Way to United States

WASHINGTON (AP)—U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers returned to freedom today from the Soviet Union in a dramatic swap for Russian spy Rudolph Abel. The prisoners were exchanged early this morning in a middle of a bridge linking East Germany and West Berlin.

A U.S. spokesman in Berlin said Powers was put aboard a plane for Washington immediately following the swap and was en route to the United States.

Just before Powers was released to U.S. officials and Abel was turned over to East German authorities, a third figure in the trade was freed by the East German Communists.

This third principal was Frederic Leroy Pryor, a 28-year-old student from Michigan who was picked up in East Berlin last August 25 and held since then without formal charges.

CALL PRESIDENT

President Kennedy was waiting in the White House for word that Powers had been released. The White House was advised and an aide promptly called the president who was still awake at 2:52 a.m.

Powers had been in prison since high high-altitude reconnaissance plane crashed on Soviet soil in May, 1960.

The U-2 pilot pleaded guilty to espionage charges and after a trial in Moscow was sentenced to 10 years — three in prison and seven in a prison colony.

The U-2 incident broke just prior to a Big Four summit meeting in Paris in May, 1960. Soviet Premier Khrushchev, ranting at what he called an audacious act, used the episode to short-circuit the conference.

The White House said efforts to obtain Power's freedom "have been under way for some time."

Abel was sent to federal prison after his conviction of espionage in 1957.

IS SECOND RELEASE

At his first presidential press conference in January, 1961 Kennedy announced the Soviet release of two imprisoned RB-47 crew members, Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan., and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead, of Elmira, N.Y.

They had been held captive by the Russians for almost seven months after their reconnaissance plane was shot down over arctic waters July 1, 1960.

Asked what effect the release of Powers and Pryor in exchange for Abel might have on U.S.-Soviet relations, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said he was "not prepared to comment on that."

Former Police Officer Given Three Years

MEDICINE HAT (CP) — Bill Plotsky, 26, a former Medicine Hat police constable, was sentenced Friday to three years at hard labor in penitentiary for theft in connection with the disappearance of a box containing $44,000 in cash and cheques from the city police station.

James Gehring, 28, another former constable, last week received a one-year sentence on the same charge.

Both were members of the police force when the cash box disappeared last Oct. 31. The box had been placed in the police station for weekend safekeeping by a store manager

Gehring's confession broke the case.

Plotsky, a member of the police force for 3½ years, pleaded not guilty. Gehring, a member of the force for almost nine years, pleaded guilty.

Evidence at the trial was that Plotsky told Police Chief A. R. Bull he had been attacked in the police station by two masked men, one carrying a revolver.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Contented 78-Year-Old Tells What Retirement's Really Like

By THOMAS COLLINS

You have reached the age to start thinking of retirement — 55 or so. You wonder how the money will be after you get your pension. This is always foremost. But you wonder about other things: what it's like to be without a job; how you feel as you grow old; where the satisfaction in it is.

This week a 78-year-old man came up with some answers, and since he is alert and content after 13 years of retirement his views carry authority. He doesn't want his name in the paper, which you'll understand after reading his views.

"There are a lot of crackpot theories", he says, "about what a man goes through after he retires. College professors and writers like you are mostly responsible for them . . .

"It just doesn't hurt as much as people think. For four months, or maybe six, there's readjusting to do. And there are bad moments in it. But the normal man is recovered and content after six months. There are men who aren't normal, of course. They suffer. And they give retirement a bad name . . ."

CONDITIONED BY NATURE

According to the 78-year-old seer, man is conditioned by nature for every age of his life: flirtation, child-bearing, parenthood, the tedious debt-paying years of maturity. "But man doesn't give nature credit for conditioning him also for retirement. She will. She always does . . ."

Here, says the seer, is a capsule version of what he has discovered in his 13 retirement years:

That a man's job, no matter how much it consumed his life, becomes a last year's sweetheart a few months after retirement. He doesn't yearn for it, and he doesn't hate it. He just loses interest.

That the man who retires with nothing specific to do (which was his case) finds all sorts of little chores to fill his day if he owns his house and lot. The man who retires in a city apartment doesn't. And he, too, gives retirement a bad name.

That the man who retires with enough money to satisfy his needs doesn't really want the bother of another job. "This is the average man, you understand. Not the odd ball or the fellow with too much adrenalin in his system . . ."

That children of retired people are not so bad as they are sometimes painted. If the retired parents are self-sufficient, financially and emotionally, children are O.K. and a pleasure. "My wife and I have been self-sufficient. If we needed help I think our children would rally around. But I have no way to be sure".

NEVER FEELS OLD

That a man never feels he is growing old. "At least not till age 78". The legs don't want to walk so far as time goes on. This is intelligence, not aging. The hair whitens and the physical efforts decline. Still a man does not think or sense that he grows old.

That friends and neighbors don't abandon the retired man: He abandons them. The dinner parties, the cocktail hours, the back yard barbecues will continue to put the retired man on the invitation list. But as time goes on he questions whether they are worth the effort.

That loneliness for the retired man isn't, not after a while. He grows more introverted. He reflects. He thinks that social contacts are mostly a void, that maybe only 10 per cent of all contracts have anything to contribute in information or pleasure. So why bother.

That youth — while not very — is more interested in you, than you are in youth.

That TV and radio are magnificent assets for the years after retirement — better than people.

That there are no home runs, promotions, pay raises, sex adventures, or other excitements after retirement. That there should be, since all other ages of life have their excitements, from the clean diaper and talcum powder bit all the way through the first child and the first job with a title. "But there are no excitements in retirement. I don't know why nature neglected this. I don't suffer because she did. But I wonder why . . ."

East Central TB Body to Buy Mobile Unit

The annual meeting and dinner of the East Central Counties Tuberculosis Association, operating Ongwanada Sanatorium in Kingston was held on Thursday. Those attending from Belleville were Ald. Ben Corke, Mr. George Whitman, Mrs. Effie McCabe, Mr. Harry Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. Murray D. Atkinson and Mr. and Mrs. A. Neal Hallam. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mr. Arthur L. Davies, editor and publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, and the guest speaker for the evening was Mr. James A. Corry, Principal of Queen's University. Mr. Davies was returned to his office as president by the nominating committee.

At the business meeting held prior to the dinner meeting, it was decided by the board of directors that a mobile X-Ray bus unit would be purchased, which would cover the five counties now being served by Ongwanda Sanatorium. On behalf of the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association, Mr. Atkinson, the president, presented a cheque for $1,000 to Dr. Bruce Hopkins, Medical Director of Ongwanada Sanatorium, to be used in the purchasing of equipment necessary for the operating of this mobile unit.

When this mobile unit gets under way on a proper operating schedule, it is the hope of the directors to maintain a continuous survey cycle working in the five counties, or it can be directed in an area where it is most needed in any one of these counties. Hastings County is scheduled for a county-wide mass survey to begin in August, 1962, but this survey will be conducted as usual by the Department of Health in Toronto in co-operation with the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association.

Milltown Road To Be Closed By Department

The Ontario Department of Highways will close the Milltown road at its present intersection with Highway 401.

Residents of the area have already received letters from the Highways Department, advising of the intention to close the Milltown road and this week county council received a similar notification.

Tyendinaga Reeve Charles Long said residents of his area were not objecting to the closing of the road across the four-lane highway, to which one of the council members replied that if the local residents were not objecting there was no point in the county doing so.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSON. — In loving memory of our dear brother, Jack Johnson, who passed away February 10th, 1961.

We little knew when we woke that morn,
The sorrow the day would bring;
The call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be;
In His wisdom God has planned,
Beyond our power to see.

—Sadly missed by Margaret and Mary Johnson.

SMITH. — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Lottie Smith, who passed away February 10th, 1961.

Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we will never part;
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our hearts.

—Sadly missed by husband Ambrose, daughters Meribeth and Harley and their families.

WRIGHT. — In loving memory of Wilbur Wellesley Wright, devoted husband and father who departed this life two years ago today, February 10th.

He "walked with God!" Could grander words be written?
Not much of what he thought or said is told:
Not where or what he wrought is even mentioned;
He "walked with God" — brief words of fadeless gold!
How many souls were succoured on his journey —
Helped by his words, or prayers, we may not know;
Still, this we read — words of excelling grandeur —
He "walked with God," whilst yet he walked below.
And, after years, short years, of such blest walking,
One day he walked, then was not, God said "Come!
Come from the scene of weary sin-stained sadness!
Come to the fuller fellowship of Home!"
Such be the tribute of thy pilgrim journey
When life's last mile thy feet have bravely trod —
When thou hast gone to all that there awaits thee,
This simple epitaph — "He walked with God!"

—Lovingly remembered by wife Freda and daughter Lois.

County Council Members Defer Action on Providing Hospital Expansion Funds

Hastings county council will defer until its April session its decision on what financial contribution the county might make toward the provision of badly-needed additional hospital accommodation at Belleville.

Yesterday as the special February session of council ended, members voted to lay over further discussion on hospital financing until further investigation could be made to determine whether there was some other means than by taxation to pay costs for hospital construction.

Specifically council had in mind investigation of the means by which Peterborough Civic Hospital has been able to erect new hospital accommodation and carry its own debentures out of the differential charged for private rooms.

Council authorized its special hospital committee of Warden Harold Varty, finance committee chairman Reeve Thomas Burnside, and Reeves Harleigh Hamilton, Jack N. Brown and William A. Shannon, to make further investigation into the matter.

ENDS FULL DEBATE

The decision to lay the matter over to the April session ended what was to be a full dress debate on the hospital problem.

The Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors has in mind the construction of a 200-bed hospital at a possible cost of up to $4,000,000, of which only $1,000,000 could be expected in grants from the senior governments

Reve Jack Brown of Bancroft referred to the course adopted by the Peterborough hospital in charging an extra differential for private rooms, part of which was earmarked for the payment of capital costs.

Reeve William Shannon said the Peterborough solution was a perfectly legitimate one and appeared very simple, but suggested more time was required to fully investigate the matter.

URGENT MATTER

As the county representative on the Belleville Hospital Board, Reeve Shannon said the matter of additional hospital accommodation was an urgent one, but he felt the Peterborough program was worthy of full investigation.

He quoted Werner Daechsel, local hospital administrator, as saying, however, that too much faith should not be placed in Belleville's chances of successfully following Peterborough's program.

At Belleville, part of this differential had been used to purchase property adjoining the hospital grounds and also for the purchase of hospital equipment on which there was no subsidy.

He said that conditions at Belleville and Peterborough hospitals differed greatly in that Peterborough was able to convert a percentage of its hospital accommodation to single rooms.

Reeve Earl Sager was critical of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission in its feeling that it should not be responsible for hospital capital costs.

NEAR SATURATION POINT

Taxation of property had reached the saturation point and he claimed it was grossly unfair that real estate should be expected to pay for the construction of hospitals.

"There is nothing in the act which says that the county or the city is required to levy for hospital costs, yet we are told that is the duty of the local municipalities to provide hospital facilities", he said.

Reeve Shannon noted that the county authorization for its special hospital committee to more fully investigate the Peterborough situation was indication of the county's interest in local hospital matters.

He went on to say that the Ontario Hospital Services Commission hospital insurance scheme was a good thing.

At the same time, however, he said the program encouraging the use of hospital facilities simply aggravated the need for more hospital accommodation.

He said the program had put municipalities into the position that additional grants were required to provide the necessary hospital facilities.

NOT THE ANSWER

Reeve Verse McMurray of Tudor, asked whether the local hospital board had given consideration to the erection of a convalescent hospital which he felt could be erected much cheaper than a general hospital.

Reeve Shannon replied this had been considered, but in the opinion of the hospital board this was not the long term answer.

Parkdale Residents Pleased With Bus Service in Area

By J. F. MORNAN

More than 50 Parkdale residents attended the Ratepayers monthly meeting held in the Community Centre on Wednesday evening.

The president, Mr. Harold Leech, opened the meeting with the introduction of previous minutes. These were approved as read.

Mr. Leech then advised the meeting that a delegation of members had presented a brief to the City Transit Commission on the subject of bus service to Parkdale. As a result, an improved bus service is now in effect.

The members of the delegation expressed their appreciation for the pleasant and considerate manner in which they were received by the Transit Commission. The president read a letter on this subject which had arrived from the Commission, stating that although the service had been extended to 6.20 p.m., it is not yet possible to provide service during the later evening.

GENERAL DISCUSSION

A general discussion concerning the Association's sponsorship of youth groups followed. It was generally agreed that the Association should aid these groups as much as possible; however it was concluded that the leaders of the groups should provide some written notice of their needs.

Mr. Charlie Keeble advised the meeting that a letter from a VLA group in Quebec had been received, requesting advice on how they might organize an Association. Apparently the original Parkdale Association was unique in Canada.

"I realize", said Mr. Keeble, "that the present Association has far outstripped the original concept and will no doubt continue to broaden". "But", he continued, "I think that our organization should be proud of its development, and that all Parkdale area residents should continue to support it".

A discussion on membership for the period April 1962 — March 1963, followed Mr. Keeble's address. The members approved formation of a Membership Committee and a formal drive was planned. It was felt that the many new homes in the area are not adequately represented.

TO DISCUSS SEWER

Mr. Leech spoke briefly concerning the trunk sewer which will soon be built into the area. He asked that all members consider this matter and come to the next meeting, on March 7th, prepared to discuss it. All area residents will be welcome to attend.

"I believe," stated Mr. Leech "that all residents of this area should give serious thought to the possibility of sewer construction in Parkdale."

The meeting closed with the entertainment chairman's request that as many members as possible attend the Valentine dance scheduled for February 17th. He urged members to advertise the fact all residents of the area are most welcome.

police station, whereupon his arms were twisted behind him and he was thrown into the car.

At the police station, he said, he was accused of being a sex pervert and of breaking into homes and molesting women.

Rabbi Leiner said he was struck during the questioning. During further questioning he told police he was a rabbi. At this point the sergeant questioning him turned pale, he said, and bail was set at $100.

He explained he did not have his wallet with him, suggested the police go to his apartment where his wife would show the wallet, and asked for a doctor.

He was not able to get a doctor but a policeman gave him two tablets for pain, he said.

He was taken to a cell and refused a blanket when he asked for one.

Bail was finally located but he refused to sign the bond, advising police he would return after sundown to do so. He was released without signing the bond.

bridge trade and the background that led up to it.

Powers and Abel were escorted simultaneously onto Glienicker Bridge, connecting Potsdam with Wannsee in the U.S. sector of Berlin.

There was no word on just how Powers had been transported from Russia or when he arrived in East Germany.

Abel had been taken by plane from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta to New York early Wednesday. He was held overnight at federal detention headquarters.

About noon Thursday the Soviet spy was taken to McGuire Air Force Base at Fort Dix, N.J. He took off from there and after a stop in Wiesbaden, Abel and his escort landed at Templehof Airdrome in Berlin Friday.

He was placed in a cell in West Berlin and evidently confined there until the time for his release.

Powers' parents were asleep in Norton, Va., when they were notified that their son had obtained his freedom from the Soviet prison. They were overjoyed. They were called about five minutes before the exchange was announced.

Powers' wife, Barbara, also was notified but there was no immediate word as to where she was. Her home is in Milledgeville, Ga.

The elder Powers and Barbara witnessed the pilot's trial in Moscow. Since then, they had tried to persuade authorities to do all they could to bring him back.

Police Chief At Tweed Resigns Post

Head of the Tweed village police department since 1955, Chief Walter Higgins has resigned to accept a position with a private investigating firm in Toronto.

Mr. Higgins will be located at the company's Oshawa branch where part of his duties will be the formation of a security division for the company.

Tweed council has decided to contact the provincial police for assistance in policing the village until such time as a new appointment is made.

Quinte Driving, Riding Club Had Good Season in 1961

The annual meeting of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club was held Thursday, Feb. 8 in the Moira St. Firehall in Belleville. Approximately 30 members were present. President Cameron Bunnett thanked everyone who had assisted the operation of the club's race meets and shows for the excellent job done.

The treasurer, Lillian Sprackett read the financial statement which showed a total income of $6085.01 and expenditures of $6134.53 showing deficit of $49.52. It is interesting to note that at the end of the fine scheduled meets last summer the club showed a fair profit but the special meet during the Plowing Match hit bad weather and caused the above loss.

Don Dafoe made the report for the publicity and advertising committee stating a total income from all sources, such as advertising in the programs and program sales, of $1109.75 and expenditures on advertising and hiring of the starting gate for five meets came to $1195.93 showing a loss of $83.98. Again the major portion of this loss occured on the Plowing Match meet.

Phil Stewart presented a draft constitution for the members approval which after a lengthy discussion and several changes was adopted on Mr. Stewart's motion with Jerry Mahoney seconding.

The election of officers and directors was than held under provisions of the new constitution. It was impossible to elect a president at this time but 9 directors were elected as follows: Cameron Bunnett, Gerald Vance, Phil Stewart, Jack Weeks, Harry Burkitt, Fred Hasking, Dave MacDonald, Art Corfield, Al Revill. Fire Chief Gerald Vance volunteered to chair the board of directors until such time as a president can be appointed. Mrs. G. Zebedee and Lillian Sprackett agreed to temporarily remain in office as secretary and treasurer, until the new Board of Directors can get organized.

One interesting sidelight of last years season showed a total paid admissions for the season of 2873 for an average of 479 compared with a previous years average of around 300. Also of interest was the statement by J. M. Jeffery on the operation of the betting stand which showed a maximum handle of around $1300 dollars with better than 7570 having returned to the bettors.

The general feeling was that Belleville's acceptance of night harness racing was almost as good as expected and bigger plans can be made by the Directors for this season.

'The next general meeting will be held in May just prior to our first race meet.

Judy LaMarsh Will Address Liberals Here

Miss Judy LaMarsh, Liberal M.P. for Niagara Falls, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting and election of officers of the South Hastings Liberal Association to be held Tuesday evening at the Queen Alexandra school in Belleville.

A native of Niagara Falls, Miss LaMarsh is a graduate of Osgoode Hall and was called to the Bar in 1950 and commenced law practice with her father in the law firm of LaMarsh and LaMarsh. A lifelong Liberal she was elected to the House of Commons in 1960 by election.

Miss LaMarsh attended Osgoode Hall with Robert Temple Liberal candidate for the riding of South Hastings and both were admitted to the Bar in the same year.

George Romney Wants Michigan Nomination

DETROIT (AP)—Industrialist George Romney announced today he will seek the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan.

But he said he will not become an active candidate until "completion of my responsibilities as a constitutional convention delegate."

Romney is a delegate to a Michigan constitutional convention that is expected to complete a redraft of the state's 1908 basic law by the end of March.

Civil Servants' Group Meets

The regular meeting of the Civil Service Association of Ontario, Belleville Branch, No. 48, was held in the Junior Building auditorium, O.S.D., on Wednesday evening. Mr. Elgin Vader, president, was in charge.

A donation of $25 to a member who had suffered a serious loss by fire was approved. Plans were discussed for the annual dinner to be held at Club Canara on March 30th. Mr. Vader gave a report on the district meeting which was held in Cobourg. Miss Florence Fitzgerald was elected membership chairman of the Belleville branch. The nominating committee for next year's executive is Harold Vaughan, Mr. Post, Department of Highways, and Mrs. Dorothy Ellis.

There was a good attendance at this meeting. A special guest at the meeting was Mr. Ken Garbig, District Director for No. 8 District, and probation officer for Lindsay.

Mr. J. Demeza, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf, was guest speaker. Mr. Demeza showed colored slides of the school buildings and school activities. Mr. Demeza, with his lecture and slides, explained the various phases of training.

The speaker was thanked by Miss Fitzgerald.

"They were real professionals," said Major Canfield, who has experienced a few emergency landings himself in his 22-year air force career.

"You couldn't say enough about how well they acted. The pilot brought her in perfectly and the stewardesses were relaxed and efficient."

The passengers were treated to free drinks and those bound for Ottawa were put aboard a later TCA flight.

The minister said that since the June 20 budget, the Canadian dollar's exchange value has moved within a narrow range "and the operations of our exchange fund on each side of the market have approximately balanced out."

Mr. Fleming noted that the Jan. 31 exchange fund holdings of $1,921,900,000 compare with $1,949,000,000 on May 31 last.

He did not refer to the current pressures tending to increase the discount on the Canadian dollar.

However, it is believed that much of the pressures result from the recent strong inflow of imports, with Canadian importers purchasing U.S. funds to pay for imports. There have also been reports that Canadian exporters, holding U.S. dollars, have delayed exchanging them for Canadian funds in expectations of a further widening of the discount.

Three Municipal Members Join Association

Three new municipal members were welcomed by the Board of Directors of the Lake Ontario Development Association at a meeting held in Peterborough on Wednesday evening. They were the Village of Bath and the Townships of Douro and Harvey. Also approved by the Board was a list of six new Business Associate members who have recently joined the Association. They are:-Foster's Restaurant Ltd., Bowes and Cocks Limited, Keith Brown, M.P.P., Canadian General Electric Co. Limited, and Westclox Canada Limited, all of Peterborough, and Haynes Printing Company of Cobourg.

Requests have been made to L.O.D.A. for industrial studies similar to that done for the City of Belleville last year, from the municipalities of Napanee, Port Hope and Cobourg. These industrial studies are done free of charge and in the order received from the municipal councils concerned.

Further discussion centred around the Sportsmen's Shows to be attended by L.O.D.A. for tourist promotional purposes. The Association this year is attending Sports Shows in Buffalo, New York, from February 17th to February 25th; Cincinnati, Ohio, from March 3rd to March 11th; and in Cleveland from March 23rd to April 1st. The Association's delegates for the Buffalo Show were confirmed at Wednesday night's Board of Directors' Meeting as being G. Coling of Brighton, J. R. Jones of Hastings, and Reeve E. J. Leeson of Havelock. Those attending the Cincinnati Sports Show will be LODA Manager, D. W. Kingdon, Assistant Manager, John Lawson, and E. R. Haynes of Cobourg. Delegates appointed to act at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show are S. L. Shippam, Secretary-Manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and J. P. Williams, Secretary-Manager of the Cobourg Chamber of Commerce. Over 50,000 tourist folders will be distributed free of charge in the United States. This promotional literature is supplied by the member communities in the Lake Ontario Region.

Seven Board Committees Reduced to 4

TRENTON — Thursday night the Trenton Board of Education met, first as a management committee, to consider the recommendations contained in a report of a recent school administration survey conducted by a firm of management consultants.

All board members were agreed that the first part of the report be accepted in principle.

In view of the complete agreement, the board then went into formal session and approved the recommendation that the seven board committees be reduced to four, for greater efficiency of operation.

George Greer will continue to head the finance committee and the management committee will remain under the chairmanship of Ronald Reid. Mrs. Gabrielle Griffiths will head up the newly-established education committee and Stanley Ketcheson will add the responsibilities of administration over buildings and grounds to the duties as planning chairman. The other members of the board, E. D. Topping, Louis Knack, Gerald Farrar and Dr. T. A. McNally will sit on one or more of the four committees. Chairman of the board is L. G. Phinney.

ATTENDANCE HIGH

In January, 2,077 students attended classes in Trenton's six public schools. Attendance was 95.26 per cent for the month.

College Street School, with a registration of 653, was the school with the largest population by far, the average registration in the other schools being around the 300 mark, with the exception of North Trenton, with a registration of 184.

Trenton's public school teachers number 59.

Three Face Ten Charges

TRENTON—Thursday night in Trenton, Constable Lorne Stinson of the Brighton provincial police detachment arrested 21-year old Daniel Crosby 89 Shuter St. Trenton, John Cannon, 18 and Herbert Smith, 17, both of RR 1, Hilton. The men were found to be in possession of a quantity of stolen goods, which, police say, had been taken from Norwood school. The three were later charged with 10 offences of breaking, entry and theft in connection with a number of recent occurrences in the Trenton-Brighton-Wooler area. They have been lodged in county jail at Cobourg.

Staff Officer Takes Over Station Duties

TRENTON—Squadron Leader Leonard V. Johnson of Prince Albert, Sask., has taken over duties as the new Staff Officer Transport Operations at Air Transport Command Headquarters, Trenton.

Promoted to squadron leader recently, S/L Johnson joined the RCAF in 1950, after serving as a pilot on forestry patrol with the Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources.

In November, 1953, he was transferred to Trenton and served as an instructor pilot with 4 (Transport) Operational Training Unit until July, 1957, when he was transferred to 412 "Falcon" Squadron at Uplands, near Ottawa, until assuming his present position here this month.

Fence-Sitting

Paul Martin, a member of the Liberals' high command in the House of Commons, has gone on record as urging that Canada tighten up its list of strategic goods whose export to Cuba is banned.

There is nothing illogical about such a request, providing it is proposed to follow this policy to its only reasonable conclusion, which would be co-operation with the U.S. and with its supporters in the Organization of American States which desire to isolate Castro and place him under the maximum possible economic pressure.

Mr. Martin, though, gave no indication that it is his own personal conviction, let alone the official policy of the Liberal party, that such a course should be followed.

The list of strategic goods has been in existence for many months. It would seem to be a strange coincidence if the Liberals have just now discovered loopholes in it. If they discovered them before, why did they remain silent until now?

It is not difficult to discover a reason for the Liberals' attitude. An election is in the offing and they wish to lay down a barrage on all fronts. But they are not sure just how the bulk of Canadians will feel on the issue of trade with Cuba. They would like to get the greatest possible mileage out of both the opposition of Canadians to communism and the widely existing spirit of nationalism which might construe abandoning trade with Cuba as bending the knee before Uncle Sam.

If the Conservatives should refrain from criticizing the Liberals for these fence-straddling antics, it may well be because they themselves have a leg on both sides of the top rail, besides having their breeches caught in the barbed-wire dilemma of whether to accept nuclear weapons and make a meaningful contribution to continental defence forces or whether to refuse to become an atomic power, at the expense of leaving army, navy and air force equipped with obsolete weapons.

If the New Democratic Party does not display the same tendency to fence-sitting, it is because the looser discipline of that party sometimes results in spokesmen taking firm stands on opposite sides of the fence. It was only the intervention of Tommy Douglas that rescued the founding convention from a deep cleavage on the issue of nuclear weapons and NATO membership. He was able to jump up on the fence in time to avert serious damage on that occasion, but has since been too busy nibbling at the grass roots to pay overmuch attention to the boundary lines of policy.

What is troubling the three parties is the same thing—a common desire to travel the middle of the road with a trustworthy companion at a time when the only possible companion appears to be going in the wrong direction.

If only the hot-heads in the U.S. would keep quiet, Canadians would almost certainly be prepared to accept a role as full partners in the nuclear defence of the continent. If only there were not so many eminently reasonable men in the U.S. government, willing to give every consideration to Canada's economic needs, Canadians would be prepared to tell Uncle Sam to go to the devil and that they would run their own economic show as best they could. The three political parties are sitting on the fence for the very good reason that the majority of Canadians are sitting on the fence. This, of course, is not what rival political parties are supposed to do. In theory they should select the policy which they think right, advocate it and let the voters judge between them. But in many cases the policy a political party thinks is right is the policy which it believes the majority of voters favor. And just what policy that is is not yet plain.

Strange Fact

"Mail," says Patricia Lewis, The Ontario Intelligencer's expert on manners, "is always fun to receive, but for some reason or other, hard to answer."

Most of us will agree. It is difficult to say why this should be so.

When we like to receive letters, but dislike writing them, we are showing an interest in what another person does, or thinks, but are declining to tell them about our own doings or thoughts.

This reticence is not carried over into our conversations. Most of us are willing to talk endlessly, voicing our own opinions and outlining our own plans, but we are poor listeners.

It cannot be that our character is altered by a letter. What, then, is the reason so many of us shun the opportunity to wield a pen and seize the floor?

Ottawa Offbeat

Beery Ballad Stings Grits

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Out of what to the Liberals was an unhappy—but to everybody else an hilarious—incident, has come sure proof of a change in heart and mind of Opposition Leader Lester B. "Mike" Pearson.

And that change — the most important to come to the Liberals in the five years since they were driven, dismayed and disorganized, from power— is the firm conviction that they are far enough on the road back to arrive this next election.

The important thing is that suddenly he has been able to communicate this to the party brass and rank-and-file alike.

He could say it before, and while many of them nodded politely, few actually believed it.

Now, it's different.

He and they think together they can win.

Whether they can is doubtful — that's what elections are for, to find out — but thinking they can swing it will make them fight harder, and so vastly increase whatever their chances are.

BOO BOO OF A BA BA

This sure feeling of "communication" between Mike and his men, came out in an oddball way the other night at the big banquet rally closing the National Liberal Council powwow.

Mike Pearson saw it, tried to save the situation, made a good fist of an embarrassing few moments and used it to fire up some fighting spirit.

The rank and file, seeing the new aggressive we-can-win Pearson, gave him a roaring cheer that he hadn't heard since the day he took over as leader.

It was a subtle piece of leadership "communication," and significantly telling in its political psychology.

Better still, even from the embarrassed Liberal point of view, it was funny.

. . . to relax his crowd of 1,000 party brass and rank-and-filers, and induce a mellow mood for his political pitch, Pearson had arranged for a sing-song over the coffee cups.

To get the show off the ground the Liberals had brought in Toronto television tenor George Murray and backed him up with handsome Ontario Liberal Federation president, and TV panelist Royce Frith.

BEERY BALLAD

Their call to the crowd — to Pearson's unconcealed consternation — was for the Whiffenpoof Song.

Now this is a wonderfully singable, tear-soaked ballad for a bunch of beery college undergrads — but scarcely a battle hymn for politicians rallying for a do-or-die in the vote war.

And so it was hardly surprising that the collective jaw of the Liberal High Command at the head table should drop — none lower than Mike Pearson's either — when the party faithfully mournfully gave out with the dirge:

We are poor little lambs
Who have lost our way,
Ba Ba Ba;
We are little black sheep
Who have gone astray,
Ba Ba Ba;
Gentleman scholars out on a spree
Doomed from here to Eternity.
Lord have mercy on such as we.
Ba Ba Ba.

A man of Mike Pearson's sensitivity would get the sorry implication at once . . . and he did . . . you could see it written all over his face.

But Mr. Frith and Mr. Murray, being showmen first and politicians second, didn't see this. They were too carried away with the singing . . . the Whiffenpoof Song makes marvellous harmonizing . . . and so they insisted on three (count 'em) encores.

NO, NO, THEY SHOUTED

Melodious or not, many of the more discerning Liberals didn't like it.

There were shouts of "No! No!," and That's enough!" from some of the more astute among them, who, with Mike Pearson, instinctively knew that the sorry "little lost sheep" theme was hardly a call to political arms, and might even give aid and comfort to the enemy if the Conservatives and the New Democrats heard about it.

Which, of course, they did.

Pearson did his best to take the sting out of the political kidding he knew he later must face by suggesting that it was "just a shade unchivalrous" to sing about the Conservatives as little black sheep going astray.

And he added, with a grin, turning on all the well-known charm in a not entirely successful, if still heroic effort to cover up the anger he felt: "But I guess maybe there is something to be said for this thesis."

But he didn't kid the troops.

They saw he was stung, and they loved the way he got mad, for their was some hair-tearing, after, in private.

The Liberals, he let them know, no longer were political sheep gone astray; they were election campaigners who thought they knew where they were going, and were fighting to get there, on top of the heap again.

Of course, the Conservatives got a laugh out of it, and will hum a bar or so of Whiffenpoof at the drop of a Liberal glance these days, but the Liberals, too, got something out of it, a new, firmer, fighting conviction that Mike Pearson is their man, a man who this time has a chance, if only a fighting chance.

British Rail Service Cut

Financial Post

Canada's railway problem, which arises from the fact that rail lines and services came into being when they had no competition, is far from being unique or even unusual.

British railways, a state monopoly run at a loss of about $190,000,000 a year, have closed 700 stations and 265 branch lines since 1950. This year 40 more stations and 37 more lines are to be shut down. Each service cut requires the decision of an official board that public hardship will not result. Approval is almost never refused.

Even though the great "railway age" may be over, freight and passenger trains still have an essential job. But the railways should be relieved of many of their uneconomic tasks and set free to battle for the business they can handle competitively.

This is the gist of part of the MacPherson report on the Canadian situation. The experience of other countries confirms the soundness of the proposition.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HANDLE WITH CARE

Are you prejudiced?

Don't deny it. Of course you are. So am I. So is everybody else. Among good friends we can come right out, spread our prejudices on the table and talk about them frankly. Some of them we ought to be thoroughly ashamed of—although most of us are not. But there are some prejudices we cherish which came into our minds as the result of disillusionment and perhaps tragic experience. Don't go damning everybody or everything in the world. But by the same token, don't try to put wings on all human beings or to roll your eyes piously and declare that God's in His Heaven, all's well with the world.

That is true, God is in His heaven and the world and the universe are in His hands. Ultimately everything will be all right. But between now and ultimately is a good long stretch and what may happen in the meantime may indeed be plenty.

The Bible is very clear on the matter of prejudice. Jesus told his followers to be wise as serpents and harmless as doves, (Matt. 10:16). He told us never to judge anyone because judging is the prerogative of God alone. But we are to judge things and situations. In fact, we are foolish beyond description if we do not. And in that judging of things and situations we shall be sure to pick up a few prejudices.

An Amercan eagle having a spread of seven feet from tip to tip was brought to the city today by Jacob Hill, an Indian who lives on the Tyendinaga Reserve, where he shot the bird yesterday. According to Hill the eagle alighted in the chicken run and after securing a fowl, flew to the barn roof to devour it. Hill quickly got his gun and shot the eagle.

Kingston curlers defeated the Belleville curlers here yesterday by five shots. The following composed the Belleville rinks: Rink 1—C. Cameron, J. Imlah, W. E. Elliott, W. Harden, skip; Rink 2 — F. E. O'Flynn, J. Borbridge, H. Bryant, Dr. Kinnear, skip; Rink 3 —H. F Corbett, J. Imlah, O. R. Laidley, Oscar McCurdy, skip. The total score was Belleville 41 and Kingston 46.

Automation Dooms Man

New York Times

A gloomy report of an automated world, in which people will be consigned to the junk heap, has just been published by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, a branch of the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Republic. The report holds out meager hope that our society will prove adequate to cope with the revolutionary changes it expects technology to bring in the next twenty years. The result: a war to make the world safe for human beings by destroying most of the machines that threaten to make man obsolete.

This forecast of a technological Armageddon stems from an accumulation of the most pessimistic factual material and assumptions the author could rake together. That does not necessarily make it preposterous. The dreary fact is that we know so little about what computers and other applications of industrial technology can do to people and for people that any estimate of how beneficial or destructive they will eventually prove can be defended without conclusive challenge.

The industry, union and public members of President Kennedy's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy agreed unanimously a few days ago that maximum technological progress was essential to the general welfare. They also agreed that it should be made "without the sacrifice of human values." Many of the answers the committee gave to how this might be done are brought into question by the new report. It indicates that our greatest immediate need is for relaible data on the dimensions of the human problems automation will create. Only then can we decide what needs doing to guarantee that it will be a blessing, not a bane.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In our preoccupation with juvenile delinquency, we appear to overlook the fact that adult delinquency is on the increase in certain directions that suggest juvenile delinquency is being carried into mature years. In no area is this more evident than in the sporting field devoted to hunting. Put a gun in the hands of a juvenile delinquent who has reached the age of twenty-five or thirty, and see what happens.

In the Chapleau area of Northern Ontario, during the past hunting season, four lumber companies report damage by vandalism amounting to $8,860. This is itemized as follows: $1,250 in theft of gasoline and equipment from locked camps, and wanton destruction of gasoline drums by rifle bullets; $2,910 in damage to camps in the theft of plywood, windows, doors and other moveable parts; $200 in sheer destruction of tree plantations, and $3,500 damage to roads not used in the wet season, barred and plainly marked as closed to vehicles.

At a rate the genuine sportsmen's organizations do not realize, the hooligan element let loose with weapons is swiftly putting the lid on the sport of hunting.

To Your Good Health

"Dear Dr. Molner: Perhaps you will be able to give me some medical reason for the way teenagers act. As a mother of five children, I find that with our oldest (a boy 18) we are buried in problems.

"On all sides parents are told we must let children think for themselves, make their own decisions. When they sulk and go into a shell you must leave them alone. If not you may destroy something within them that could ruin them for their whole lives. — Mrs. O.L.G."

By the time they're 18, you may be able to guide them and help them; you've finished the task of "bringing them up."

As to letting them think for themselves, make their own decisions, this is a sort of half-truth.

Of course children should learn to think for themselves. But letting them make their own decisions is not quite the same thing.

Children should make their own decisions — as long as they don't go haywire. I'm speaking, now, of the earlier years, of course We all learn by experience. How else can we learn?

The small child must be encouraged to make small decisions for himself. The somewhat older child can be urged to think about somewhat larger decisions — will he spend his allowance now, for ice cream or some toy or will he save it to buy something more important next week? That sort of thing.

But a child is also entitled to the protection which he expects: To be protected from making a decision which will be harmful to him, in a serious sense. A child learns by making mistakes in handling his allowance. He spends foolishly—and learns to think twice, next time.

A child must not be allowed to think that he can do as he jolly well pleases about everything. He has to conduct himself so as to avoid making life miserable for others in the family. Better that he learn this by discipline in childhood than by finding himself friendless when he is grown.

A teenager cannot be allowed to decide whether to go to school or quit, at times. He must be told in no uncertain terms that he will finish his schooling, or else. He may at the time be angry about it; later on he'll see why.

At 18 it's pretty late in the game for parents to do much about things.

It may be that a son or daughter at that age may have to be allowed to think things out; thinking is fine. But if it's just a matter of sulking, that's something else again.

I guess the best rule is to give any child, of any age, all the freedom he shows he can handle sensibly. Beyond that point, he (or she) may have to be told that this or that action is dangerous, harmful, unwise.

The goal of child-rearing is to show a youngster how to be a good adult. Telling him "no" when necessary isn't going to hurt him. It's a part of teaching him. Because, in his future, he will find that if he is wrong, the world will say "no." And say it more bluntly.

• • •

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it harmful to use digitalis for a long period? I have been taking it since 1954. — N.E.K."

No. In fact, for certain heart conditions, it usually has to be continued indefinitely. Or in any event for a long time.

• • •

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true if you stand up for 24 hours you can lose about half an inch of height? If so, will it affect my health?—P.T."

No. Standing up that long will, of course, be exhausting. You'll droop and feel tired, but you won't grow any shorter.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun - Times Syndicate, P.O. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE EYES AND MOUTH

To me the most fascinating features of any face are its eyes and mouth. One the silent the seeing, the soulful — the other the wistful, the changing, the masterful.

You can talk to an understanding person by looking into his or her eyes and watching the expression that floats in almost invisible waves about the mouth.

In Rembrandt's portraits, these are the features that he paints from his heart. You first admire, then feel, then own that which this master has painted so truly out of his very life.

In the best portraits of Lincoln you note first the eyes and mouth. You could write a volume about either. Each is the picture of the man.

What we are most, and truest, is what we are in our eyes and mouth. The emotions are shown quickest and surest here. Love shows first in the eyes — and smiles start from the mouth.

I can still feel the warmth of my mother's last kiss and the softness of her eyes comes again and again to me like a loyal messenger.

I once studied the death mask of Napoleon. The eyes and mouth were the most striking. I was amazed at the story each told. Those were eyes that were searching, cold and dominant. And the mouth was full of disappointment and bathed in cruelty. Though it was a mouth that was eloquent and full of force. You see no such characterization in the eyes and mouth of Emerson. Everything is kindly and courageous there.

The beauty doctor can add little to naturally beautiful eyes and mouth by using eyebrow pencils, eyelid tint, artificial eye lashes and lipstick. The eyes always stand as they are. Women should understand this.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

TYRIAN PURPLE

By WINIFRED WILSON

Taken as a whole, members of the finch or sparrow clan are hardy, able to withstand old and live on a variety of foods. A great many of our most familiar birds are included in this large group which, besides those with the words "finch" or "sparrow" in their names, takes in buntings, grosbeaks, and crossbills. They are seed eaters, furnished with the proper tools for cracking open seeds. We think of sparrows as having rather ordinary sized bills and grosbeaks unusually big bills. Our purple finch has been given a bill that is between these two in size — noticeably larger than what we are accustomed to see.

LIKE ALL SEEDS

Fond of all sorts of seeds and quite able to tackle all but those found in cones, the purple finch stays in the settled parts of Canada until very late in the autumn or remains throughout the winter if conditions allow. It likes our feeding stations if we put out sunflower seeds. Indeed, this little bird, smaller than the familiar English sparrow, seems to take to man's ways, breeding in our residential areas and parks if evergreens have been planted there.

In spring and summer the male is simply gorgeous, especially wonderful looking when the sun shines on him. The name "purple" is rather confusing for the novice birdwatchen. Our modern idea of purple has more blue in it. The ancient Tyrian purple, what we would now call deep crimson, is more like it. Our great grandmothers would have called it "magenta", the color of the velvet hangings used in their parlors. His rump is nearer scarlet. His head is almost crested. At this date the head is not quite as brilliant as it will be in a few months, dull feather edges somewhat reducing the intensity of the color of all his plumage. But he is still beautiful.

STAGES OF CHANGE

His wife, in her soft browns, might be taken for some sort of sparrow were it not for her larger bill. The little girls are like her; the little boys go through stages of change from resembling their mother until, in two or three years, they finally reach the adult male plumage time.

Y's Men's Club 'Ladies' Night' Great Success

The Y's Men were hosts to their wives at the last meeting on the occasion of their annual "Ladies' Night."

Ron Moorman acted as chairman, substituting for president John Hayman, who was ill. Doug Trumble was finesmaster for the evening and during the course of the excellent meal provided, he was kept constantly on his feet levying fines and attempting to maintain a sense of tranquility. He was assisted in this by George Segouras and Colin Wilcox.

ENTERTAINMENT

After dinner, entertainment was provided by Ron Hornsby, better known as the "Great Renaldo," from Amherst, N.S., now in Cobourg with the Army RCOC. The attention of the audience towards his seemingly impossible magic displays brought him back for an encore. He is also known for his hypnotism but unfortunately his subjects, Doug Trumble and Bert Hiles, didn't have weak enough minds to be put under the spell.

After the entertainment, the floor was cleared for square dancing with Carmon Sine as caller. His instructions to the inexperienced provided periods of fun and merriment for all.

THANKS TENDERED

Thanks go to the social committee which worked so hard to make the evening a success.

Next week's meeting will be held in conjunction with Y.M.C.A.'s annual meeting, at which time guest speaker will be Dr. Edbrooke Wybourn, Secretary for Program Services for the Metropolitan Toronto Y.M.C.A.'s.

Canadian Jewish Women Meet in Israel

The organization's convention is being held outside Canada for the first time to strengthen relations between Canada and Israel.

Mrs. Cohen told a press conference here that Canadian Hadassah-Wizo, with a membership of 15,000 in 70 Canadian cities and towns, hopes to raise $25,000,000 for various educational and social enterprises in Israel.

One hundred and forty of the delegates' husbands preceded them to Israel by plane from Italy.

Rigorous Training Involved To Become Nurse Shocking

By JANET KASK

MONTREAL (CP)—A sociologist has stripped nursing of its glamor and told bluntly what girls can expect to encounter should they decide to become nurses.

Dr. Aileen Ross of McGill University, in her book Becoming a Nurse, writes that a nursing career today offers opportunities undreamed of 50 years ago. But the rigorous training involved came as a shock to most entering the profession.

The book, published by Macmillan of Canada, is the result of a 10-year study by Dr. Ross, now serving in India for a year.

Based largely on term papers of 259 graduate nurses from 1948 to 1956, it gives an eye-opening account of the modern hospital and follows the nurse's career from her student days as a "cog" in the hospital wheel until, if she survives, she perhaps becomes the "hub" or head nurse.

RIGID DISCIPLINE

The first few weeks of training were the toughest. Witnessing the dramas of birth and death and "seeing how the other half lives" for the first time would either shock or inspire the young probationer.

Discipline was rigid. Hospital schools might dictate a girl's dress and behavior on and off duty and even screen her boy friends, all in the interests of maintaining the profession's high standards.

In one hospital near a naval base nurses were encouraged to date officers but forbidden to go out with seamen.

The hospital grapevine could make or break the nurse's career and she had to learn the difficult art of "walking on an ethical tightrope."

Somewhere in this three-year process, says Dr. Ross, a girl "becomes a nurse" and from then on automatically acts the part, in and out of hospital.

SOME GAVE UP

Some buckled under the system but, in the words of one nurse, "nurses have been placed on such a pedestal that not many girls are willing to be pushed off." Those who complete their training had a well-deserved feeling of elation and accomplishment on graduation day.

Why is nursing such a popular profession? First, "it has held one of the highest positions of prestige as far as women's careers are concerned." The reason given by many students for entering the profession was that "nurses make good wives." Most of those involved in the study hoped to be married a year or so after graduation.

Travel was high on the list of attractions. A nurse today could find work almost anywhere in the world. Relatively few in the survey, however, intended to make a lifetime career of nursing.

The "high pedestal" posed problems for the career-minded nurse. Hospitals today were complex, multi-professional bureaucracies. Besides doctors and nurses, social workers, dietitians, psychologists, pharmacists and other groups worked with and against one another.

PAY IS LOW

The nurse might be well-educated and hold an important administrative post but few could afford to live alone on earnings and most had to share apartments and living expenses.

Asking for an increase in pay was often considered "unfitting to her position" in the eyes of hospital authorities. Nurses who had gone on strike to improve conditions had faced severe public criticism.

The formation of several nurses' associations in the last few years indicated a "new look" for the profession and the future appeared brighter. Nurses "seem to be on the march to even higher goals of responsibility, remuneration and prestige."

Chi Rho Auditions Coming Play

The Wednesday meeting of Chi Rho got off to a good start with a regular recreation period, which included games of target baseball, crokinole and checkers. Every member took part, playing in competition with someone on a different group then their own. The games were not only enjoyed but a challenge with the knowledge to win meant points for their group.

BUSINESS

Following recreation, the business meeting fell into order on good time, which is the main goal this year. Members were given a thorough report of the recent Church Warden's meeting by Ted Warwick.

President Allan Gardiner brought to the attention of the members, his desire for one or two volunteers to take on the job of amending and completing the Chi Rho Fellowship Constitution in the near future. He also made note to members that next meeting would be held a week early as many desired a Valentine party. With members keeping in mind the time, discussions made brief, and to the point, the new system to save time proved itself worthwhile.

AUDITIONING FOR PLAY

The Reverend Michael Caswell briefed members on the play which is to be coming up in the near future. Mr. Caswell informed that Gordon Leggat was going to assist him in the directing of the play.

Members were called upon to audition for a part they would like to take. Many were surprised and rather nervous when they found it was to be taped and replayed. All in all, it proved interesting along with much fun and laughter. Mr. Caswell expressed the importance for hard work and assistance on the part of members to make the play a success.

Refreshments were served while the re-play of auditions was heard.

Mr. Caswell closed with a prayer.

Giant Fashion Show Given By Unions

MONTREAL (CP) — A giant fashion show featuring samples from 32 manufacturing houses in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver was staged Friday by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The show was designed to promote Canadian-made fashions bearing the union label.

A "trial run," held last fall and featuring mainly coats and suits, proved so successful the union has decided to hold The National Collection on a twice-a-year basis.

Among the Vancouver highlights was a mother-and-daughter version of the Hawaiian mau-mau—a sort of "brunch" coat—in slate green and white.

One of the most striking features of the sportswear collection was from Edmonton and consisted of a hooded dinghy jacket in red and white sailcloth with a striped jersey and blue pedal-pushers.

Toronto had a raw silk and wool, semi-belted travel coat of beige and white with large pockets, a notched collar and a flared back. Montreal showed an evening gown in orange with a full silk chiffon skirt and a hand-beaded, low-waisted bodice.

"STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART"

"When I was young, the Spanish painter, Ignacio Zuloaga said to me, 'Here lies the heart. Always remember to think with it, to feel with it, and above all to judge with it'."—Mercedes De Acosta.

"Well today, I received what one might term a letter-valentine from my college-going granddaughter", a youthful grandmother told us gayly. "Granddaughters these days are surely stimulating. Listen to what she has to say, in part:

"Have love stories changed much, since your day, Grandmother? In English class, we were discussing this. Gian Carlo Menotti, the librettist of some modern operas, such as Maria Golovina, was quoted as saying "in our century love has been so thoroughly dissected that it no longer bears its former physiognomy". He declares love as expressed by classic writers in the old days are just not tolerated by us moderns, though curiously enough, we "are moved by them".

He feels that Plato is right who says that 'only the idea of love is real — our dissected love being but a dead image'. Love, he says, is born of faith, lives on hope and dies of charity, but thinks that love's best definition was given by Proust—'Love is space and time measured by the heart.'

"You remember our last chat, Grandma, about the way to learn to lead a less undistinguished life is to acquire a kind of independent judgment in fine and applied arts, such as art, music, literature and so on? How you felt the best way was to adopt an extensive rather than an intensive system of cultivation; that is, to explore a relatively large number of examples, since variety of experiences allows ones taste and culture to evolve? Since I have not as yet formed my own definition about love, I have dug up other's aphorisms on the weighty subject such as:

"Love rarely overtakes, it mostly comes to meet us". — Dr. Wilhelm Stekel.

"The emotion, the ecstasy of love, we all want, but God spare us the responsibility". — Jessamyn West.

"When love dies of starvation it is usually the man's fault; when it dies of suffocation, it is always the woman's. — Helen Rowland.

"It is a painful thing to love a man or woman to excess, and yet it satisfies, it is great". — Walt Whitman.

"A woman unsatisfied must have luxuries. But a woman who loves a man would sleep on a board." - D. H. Lawrence.

"I learned over and over again that there is scarcely anything more difficult than to love one another. That it is work, day labor . . God knows there is no other word for it." - Rainer Maria Rilke.

"One makes mistakes: that is life. But it is never quite a mistake to have loved." - Romain Rolland.

"Such is the stuff of valentines, dear Grandmother, so I'm taking the liberty of packing them all into a mighty large red one for you - from me. How about adding aphorism of your own? Any conclusions - as a grandmother?"

Her grandmother put down the letter with a smile as she reflected: "Didn't I tell you she was a stimulating grand-daughter? Come to think of it, I think I have a contribution to add to this impressive list; being a grandmoher. As you are aware, her grandfather, goodness knows, is home seldom enough, with his work at the University which takes him all over the country.

So when he came home last Fall to announce he was giving lecturers for an evening course as well - I told him he could just consider me one of his pupils, if he didn't mind; that I thought it might be fun to know something about Maths and Physics and Electricity. (He was delighted!) Yes, I went, sat through all the lectures, and took the examination along with all the rest of the sudents."

She paused, an impish gleam in her eye. "Needless to say, I failed it miserably." Then she added: "But, nevertheless, my offering to this valentine list is: 'If you can't fight 'em join 'em! For I've never been happier."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. G. V. — She's only 12. What's the big rush?

• • •

Madeline V. — The calendar says I'm only 12, but I look like 15. I read a lot and fit in among kids much older. One of my girl friends has a 15-year old brother and I'm wild about him. I go to her house almost every day after school, mostly to be around Kip. Now he has invited me to a party his club is giving. And my parents say no. It's on a school night. That's their excuse.

The real reason, though, is they don't want me to date yet. They're so old-fashioned. They think girls should wait till they're 17 to date. But Kip is a quiet, refined boy and they shouldn't object. If they don't let me go with him, I may try meeting him behind their backs.

Mrs. G. V. — We're trying to make Madeline see that 12 is a wonderful age and there's no reason to throw it overboard and make believe she's 15. Of course Kip and his sister are nice friends. I've urged her to have them come to the house, to have parties at home, to invite other friends, too. But she thinks there's nothing like a boy-girl all-alone date and she succeeded in wangling that kind of an invitation from Kip.

At this point there's no crying need for her to go to a party on a Tuesday night, four towns down the line on the bus, alone with Kip. If it were a group of boys and girls, and on a weekend, maybe yes. As for going behind our backs, she'd be sorry.

• • •

The Council: Most of our discussion is addressed to Madeline who, imitating her neglected peers, is ready to plough under and bury a block of wonderful years — childhood and adolescence — i na bolt to young adulthood at the age of 12!

To her mother, all we will say for now is that she's better off than King Canute, who also tried to stop something overwhelming, in that her cause is wholesome and that there are hordes (often, alas, invisible and too silent) on her side. The greatest aid for parents is a community "Code" — written or unwritten — on what 'all the other kids" are doing. Mrs. V. might round up like-minded mothers, plus some representative kids, to work out a few "fair" practices. A useful guide would be the ten cent leaflet available from the Parents League of N.Y., 22 E. 60 St., N. Y. 22, N.Y.

As for Madeline, first some rhetorical questions. (Those are ones which needn't be answered!) If 12 is okay for dating, why not 10? Where should we draw the line? Do you realize that some parents today are actually (shame on them!) pushing children into early marriage through emphasis, starting even at the age of 8, upon social dancing, boy-girl manoeuvres, etc. Haven't you heard that early marriages result in a startling proportion of divorces, separations and stunned lives? Can't you see that your parents are helping you hold fast to your birthright — a girlhood of natural fun and wide experiences?

And one more question: If Kip is a boy of good character, what would he think of your character, proposing to sneak out with him?

Don't cut corners on your life. Travel down every lovely road you're entitled to. Those boy-girl dates are (for you) like unripe apples high up on a tree. Only time will drop them into your arms. Grabbing them ahead of time is bad for the tree, bad for the apples and bad for you.

Go ahead and like Kip, and others, and sunsets and songs. As to dates, wait — and bless your wise parents.

Flying Officer and Mrs. Stanley A. Werner are shown signing the register following their marriage in Holloway Street United Church, Belleville. WERNER — MCELRATH

Baskets of yellow and white and bronze 'mums adorned the chancel rail in Holloway Street United Church, on Saturday, January 27th, at 2.00 p.m. for a lovely wedding when Barbara Jane McElrath, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McElrath, became the bride of Flying Officer Stanley A. Werner, of Edmonton, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Werner. The Reverend C. W. Coleman, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Clifford Templer, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. C. Reid, in two selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of luxurious white velvet, fashioned with fitted bodice having a scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves. The graceful skirt cascaded into a chapel train. Clusters of seed pearls accented the scallops at the neckline and four clusters on the sleeve wrists. A tiara of various-sized seed pearls in scallop design with drop pearls held her elbow-length veil fashioned in circular style, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses tied with white satin bow.

She was attended by Mrs. Shirley Fitchett, of Belleville, as matron of honor, and by Miss Esther Fanjoy, of Chatham New Brunswick, and Miss Glenna Vaughan, of Trenton, Ontario as bridesmaids. All were attired in gowns of turquoise velvet in floor-length with matching pillbox hat, turquoise shoes, and white, wrist-length gloves accented the three-quarter length sleeves. The molded bodices featured "V" necklines. Tiny single pearl earrings, and bouquets of deep yellow carnations completed their ensembles.

The bridegroom was attended by Flight-Lieutenant John W. Walmsley, of RCAF St. Hubert, Quebec, while Flight Lieutenant Thomas Covey of R.C.A.F. St. Hubert, Quebec, and Mr. Stuart McElrath, of Niagara Falls, Ontario, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at Club Canara, Belleville, in the banquet room, where the bridal table was daintily appointed with white damask, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by two white doves holding two wedding rings, beneath an arch of white bells, and clouded about the base with pink tulle. Tall white candles and initialled serviettes and matches completed the setting.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a pastel green sheath gown having a circular neckline; beige accessories, pearl necklace with matching earrings and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in navy silk suit with white and navy accessories and corsage of white carnations mingled with pink Sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip to Emerald Beach, Nassau, and Edmonton, Alberta, the bride chose a gold-toned wool dress in straight-cut design, with Persian lamb jacket and matching pillbox hat, black shoes and purse. A drop pearl necklace with matching earrings completed her costume.

Guests were present from Belleville, Trenton, Montreal, New Brunswick, Ottawa, Parry Sound, Niagara Falls, Alberta, Peterborough and Quebec.

A combined shower was held at the home of Mrs. O. Burns, Harris Crescent with Mrs. Shirley Fitchett as co-hostess sponsored by classmates in the graduating class of '59 of Belleville General Hospital. The bride and her attendants are all registered nurses of the class of '59.

Flying Officer and Mrs. Werner are residing at 243 Roy Street, Apt. 4, Roywood Gardens, Ville Le Moyne, Montreal, Quebec.

A Colorful Airline Reflects Modern-Day Spirit of Israel

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

TEL AVIV, Israel—On the eve of our departure from here, a howling deluge of Biblical proportions invaded the earth.

In the afternoon we had taken lunch in the cozy but deserted confines of an Egyptian cafe on the waterfront of the adjoining prehistoric city of Jaffa, whence Jonah had sailed. Flat Oriental rolls toasted on the Kerosene heater, the fisherman who had just caught the loup de mer we ate warmed his boots next to them, and an electric Menorah (candelabra) with glass fish for lights relieved the gloom of the empty restaurant. The torrent leaked copiously through the roof, and outside the Mediterranean beat itself into frustration on the sea wall.

That night 60-mile-an-hour gusts rattled the shutters on our hotel room window and Wagnerian thunderbolts seemed to vent the Almighty's rage on this feckless race of men. We timidly telephoned El Al Israel Airlines to see if, by any chance, the jet that was to take us hence on the morrow had not managed to arrive.

The agent's reply was outraged and incredulous: "So why shouldn't it arrive?" he answered our question with a question.

So why not, indeed? In those words lay the spirit of this country sprung from seeds 3,500 years old, where the impossible was done yesterday and the phenomenal takes a little longer.

STORIES ENTWINED

Inextricably entwined with the story of modern Israel is the story of the above-mentioned El Al, our candidate for the world's most colorful airline.

We sat in the crew lounge of one of their 707 jets after taking off in a return engagement of the previous day's tempest (in these two days Israel had a year's average rainfall). Off duty for a few hours on the long haul to New York was Capt. Danny Rosin, who had been with El Al since its start - hours after the 1948 proclamation of the state, when bookmakers were quoting Israel the shortest life expectancy of any nation since 1776.

You'd think they'd have other things on their minds than starting an international airline. As a matter of fact, it was one of the most important things Israel had to think about. The country's greatest challenge at the time was to "gather the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth" (Isaiah, xi.12).

But in a land where all citizens are considered members of a long lost family, the most proprietary attitudes developed.

"Sometimes," Captain Rosin told us, "we have to send back word for passengers to stop parading around the cabin because they're upsetting the trim. You think they pay any attention? They tell the stewardess this is their airline, and if they feel like walking around they will."

We totted up a total of languages spoken by the cre on this flight, ranging fro Arabic to Zulu. Captain Ros himself, who learned his flyin with the Royal South Africa Air Force in World War I commands Afrikaans, Dutc Flemish, Swahili, and a fe others we failed to note, in a dition to his own impeccab Oxford English. Others spe Hindi, Pakistani, Russian, Portuguese, Iraqui and the usu run of European tongues.

On El Al you will see bearded scholars in the cabin facin the east and applying phylac eries by the dawn's early ligh according to Biblical formul (there is nothing in the body o the law applicable to praying i airplanes, though there are instructions about horseback And you may dine on matz ball soup, gefulite fish, potat pancakes, and strudel.

GREAT FAMILY PEOPLE

Jews being the great famil people they are, the departur of an El Al flight from Idlewild has become a minor sightseeing attraction. Mobs of well-wishers, many times the size o the plane's capacity, show up for bon voyage parties. If you're lucky, you may see one in which traditionally costumed hassidim, the world's gayest holy men, kick up a lively dance in honor of the plane's departure for the Holy Land.

As a result, El Al has about the largest waiting room of any of the smaller foreign airlines operating into New York (there are only one inbound and one outbound flight daily), and even that is being expanded.

We landed five minutes ahead of schedule, in rain and fog that had diverted most flights to other airports.

So why shouldn't El Al arrive? The Israelites wandered in the desert for 40 years and over the rest of the world for 1,900. Rain and fog were no more than minor annoyances to such experienced travellers.

Congregational Meetings

TABERNACLE UNITED

Tabernacle United Church congregational annual meeting was held Wednesday evening, following a potluck supper. The well-laden tables of many varieties of delicious food tempted the most delicate appetite and appeased the greatest hunger of the many families present.

Members of the Hi-C group took charge of the two nursery rooms where infants and older children were well cared for.

The Rev. Morgan G. McFarlane opened the annual meeting with reading from the 1st Epistle of John and offered prayer. A note of sadness was cast in the passing of Mr. Robert Johnston an hour before this gathering. Mr. Johnston had served on the Committee of Stewards some years; he was chairman for two years and property chairman another two years. Upon his retirement from his position with the Canadian National Railways he took over the Sexton's work of Tabernacle United Church for five years where he was held in high esteem.

TRIBUTES PAID

A silent tribute was paid to all other deceased members during the past year. Sympathy was expressed for all families who have suffered bereavement and prayer made "that God may give comfort, strength and the joy of the hope that is ours as Christians—'whosoever liveth and believeth in me (Jesus Christ) shall never die'."

Addressing the congregation, Mr. McFarlane expressed his sincere pleasure and that of his wife and family, for the privilege of serving the congregation of Tabernacle United Church. He commended the many leaders and workers in the church who have given devoted, faithful and loving service in the various organizations, midweek groups, Christian education department and the Official Board. He mention the particular pleasure it has been to combine the women's groups of the church in one great organization — The United Church Women, giving the president, Mrs. Lewis Andrews, their full support.

MEN'S CLUBS JOIN

Another interesting event of the year has been the joining of the Men's Club to an AOTS Club of Canada. The youth groups are growing statistically and spiritually. Many of the young people are thinking of full-time Christian service in some field or other.

Mr. McFarlane expressed his gratitude to the congregation for the many kind gestures and considerations given him and his family since they came to Belleville. He paid tribute to the late Mr. Arthur Nayler who was chairman of the manse committee. He was alert to the needs of the minister's family's comfort. He was also concerned about the financial needs of his church and remembered his church leaving a bequest of $1000 "to be used to reduce the church's debt incurred for church property improvement and renovation."

FINANCIAL INCREASE

There has been a financial increase all through the work of the church. The 1961 budget has been surpassed and the Missionary allocation met with an increase.

There has been an increase in membership and the vitality of the church membership is an inspiration to all. "As we enter 1962," stated Mr. McFarlane, "my prayer is that we may be an earnest, consecrated missionary people seeking to strengthen and enlarge the fellowship with all for whom Christ died."

ELDERS ELECTED

Six new elders were elected to the Session: Messrs. Frank Douglas and David Duthie for a one-year term; Mr. Roy Pearson for two years; Messrs. Harold Howting, Wellman Hutchison and William Adams for a three-year term.

Messrs. Evan Barlow, Richard Carmichael, Gardiner Duff, John Kingston, Ronald Manley, Ralph Nelson, Gordon Priest, Ray Rouse, Wilbert Salisbury and William Slavin were re-elected for a three-year term. Rev. Neil Patterson, D.D., and Mr. H. J. Poste were elected honerary elders.

Seven were elected to the Committee of Stewards, namely Mr. Lorne Poste, one year; Mrs. B. D. Salisbury, nominated by the United Church Women for one year; Raymond Schwindt for two years; Thomas Orr, Harry Jeffs, Edwin Lott, Weldon Prindle for three years; Grant Ashley, Bert Robinson, Ernest Tayler, Arthur Firth, Percy Osland, James McAllister and Lionel Bovay were re-elected for three years.

GUEST SPEAKER

The Congregation was greatly honored to have as guest speaker the Rev. Robert Cuthbert from Jamaica. Mr. Cecil Dawson, minister of the Cannifton pastoral charge, who is attending Queen's Theological College, with Mr. Cuthbert, was also a guest and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Cuthbert comes from a Moravian ministerial family, his father and his grandfather being ministers of the Moravian Church in Jamaica. He attended Union Theological Seminar in Kingston, Jamaica, where he was ordained as a Moravian minister. His strong personality and kindly manner are evidences of his remarkable Christian witness.

Jamaica is the largest British island in the West Indies, lying south of Cuba, its towering peaks can be seen far out at sea. Kingston was devastated in January 1907 by earthquake.

WONDERFUL COLORING

Much of the beauty of Jamaica lies in its wonderful colors flowering shrubs of brilliant scarlet, yellow and white and masses of rich green trees add to the beauty of the landscape.

Waterfalls are numerous and the lovely Blue Mountains rise to a h ie htgfo,0700yAese O.B to a height of 7,000 feet. When the Rio Cobre is in flood, it the Rio Cobre is in flood, its, waters gleam like bright new copper, hence its name — the Copper River. For the grandeur of its scenery, Jamaica is well called the Queen of the Caribbean.

Jamaican families do not have a traditional heritage, the whole country is made up of mixed races who have intermarried through the years; it is not uncommon for members of one family to have no resemblance but it is mostly classed as Negro.

Jamaica has staple industries —sugar cane and bananas are grown with rotation of crops. Bauxite is one of the important minerals used in aluminum ware. There are many poor people as well as rich. Tourists have not always been well behaved and have often taken advantage of beautiful Jamaica. The low moral standard and false economy of the tourist trade is not the true Jamaica.

The church in Jamaica is about the same as in Canada. There are many sects — Baptists, Anglican, Methodist, Moravian, Presbyterian, Congregationalists and Roman Catholic. Jamaica has been British controlled 300 years and Protestantism has been 400 years in the majority. Mr. Cuthbert commented that few churches in Jamaica could present as fine an annual report as the one in his hand. He has been trained by missionary personnel supported by the United Church of Canada Missionary and Maintenance contributions.

Many people think the church is far behind the progress of the island. Mr. Cuthbert is giving himself to the church to help bring the Christian standard up to the level of the economy of the island. The church there has few resources and he was able to come to Canada for further study — he will return to his native island and give himself to be used wherever he is most needed even if it be in poorer rural sections.

He asked, "Why did I choose Canada?" Canada is recognized for its high academic standing in its universities and colleges and it also offers opportunity for students to help themselves pay their way through college.

Mr. Cuthbert summarized his talk about his native island by three words: 'poverty' which is evident in the rural section; 'progress' — he compared the plush airport of Kingston, Jamaica, to people walking the streets and cleaning the airport without shoes; 'potential'. There is potential in Jamaica, 1,300 people coming from the little island to Canada, many more going to England and America, for advanced education. These three words are adequate to describe Jamaica. He said that the church in Jamaica, in facing its task, could have it summed up using three words which are on the cover of the annual report, 'Faith, Prayer and Sacrifice.' It would require all three if the church is to do its job successfully.

APRECIATION VOICED

Mr. McFarlane voiced appreciation to the Rev. Robert Cuthbert for his informative address also the pleasure of having him and Mr. Cecil Dawson attend the annual meeting.

Mr. John Pitts voiced appreciation of those present to the women who arranged and prepared the sumptuous meal. Mr. W. J. Slavin expressed thanks and deep appreciation to all the leaders of youth groups, all executive members of the various organizations of the church for their very high calibre of Christian education and leadership, to all members of the Official Board for their devotion and loyalty, to the choirs for their faithful leadership in the service of praise on Sunday, to Mr. E. R. Taylor, the sexton, who performs his many duties in a most congenial and amiable manner. To Miss Ethel Horton, the church secretary, for able leadership given by her in the church office and to the Rev. Morgan G. McFarlane and his wife for their outstanding ministerial leadership in the congregation and community. "We are challenged to meet another year in even greater Christian endeavor and zeal."

Do Snowballs Express Hate?

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—We girls have problems. Most of us aged from 10 to 13 have certain boys that throw snowballs at us, tell us why they hate us and call us names.

All our parents tell us that these boys don't hate us but we can't believe it. Do they or don't they like use?—WONDERING.

DEAR WONDERING: — They're pelting you with love, dearie. Small boys have queer ways of showing affection.

The're far too boyish to admit interest; but the snowballs are a way of attracting your attention. Some day they'll grow up and replace pellets with posies.

How Electric Heating Works

Flameless electric heating is so completely different from conventional fuel-fired heating systems that many people are not quite sure how it works.

There are no pipes, ducts, furnaces, registers, or radiators needed to carry heat through the home.

In their place are electric wires and a heating unit —baseboard heaters, wall panels, heating cables in the ceiling or floor, or portable heaters.

Electricity is carried through wires to the heating units just as it is to your light bulbs and household electrical appliances. For complete home heating, units are wired-in permanently. For supplementary heating, the units may be wired-in or plugged into an ordinary wall outlet. Portable units are available in the same capacity as built-in heaters.

Most electric heating units work on the same principle as an electric blanket. Electricity passes through the resistance wire or element. The resistance makes the wire warm and that's your heat.

Baseboard convection units are metal baseboards, housing electric heating elements, which replace wooden trim around your room. The electric elements replace the hot water pipes in a conventional fuel-fired baseboard heating unit. Air drawn in through the bottom of the unit passes the heating element and is discharged into the room by natural convection.

Radiant ceiling cable consists of a number of small resistance heating wires stapled to ceiling board then concealed with plaster or plasterboard. Warmth radiates evenly downward as it does from the sun. Floor cable provides even, draft-free heat and is best suited for tile or bare floors.

Radiant wall units may be mounted in or on the walls where ceiling and baseboard space is limited, such as in bathrooms.

Until the development of electric heating, we could keep our houses warm only by some form of fire contained in a stove or furnace. Electric heating is completely modern and in keeping with this miracle age in which we live.

W. Hastings WI Hears Talk On New H.S. Curriculum

STIRLING — On February 5th, West Hastings District Women's Institute sponsored an educational program in the River Valley School with 36 adults and two children in attendance. Seven were members of River Valley W.I.

All across Canada the National Farm Forum presented a special broadcast for Women's Institutes on that particular evening.

Guests were in attendance from the newest Institute in the district, Sidney South, and also Pinegrove, Uniondale, Chatterton, Wallbridge and River Valley.

The receptionists at the door were Mrs. Roy Bush, a past president, Mrs. George Heasman, district director, and Mrs. Kenneth Myers, president of River Valley branch.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, president of the district, was chairman and the pianist was Mrs. Philip Conley. The chairman welcomed everyone and also said that in 1961 Mrs. L. G. Lymburner, FWIO president, attended a special meeting in Banff, Alberta. Here CBC officials and the national Farm Forum executive convened and studied the recent TV and radio surveys. The group was concerned about educational facilities for farm people, thus it was decided to have a special broadcast in February. On November 15, 1961, at the Trent Valley area convention, Mrs. Lymburner held a conference with all the federation representatives and it was decided to hold one meeting for West Hastings district.

RADIO BROADCAST

Mrs. Everett Phillips, immediate past president and federation representative to the Trent Valley area, gave a synopsis of what had been planned for the broadcast. Mr. John Kane provided the radios and took full responsibility for the set-up. The half hour broadcast was heard by the audience based on the theme "Are we adequately training farm people today, to ensure employment for them tomorrow."

Years ago Canada did not need technical education but today she has gained the second highest standard of living in the world. Education may not be the sole answer but it is a useful step in combatting the unemployment situation. Today Canada has more unemployment than the western European countries.

INTRODUCES SPEAKER

Following the broadcast Mrs. Phillips introduced the guest speaker Mr. W. J. Musgrove B.A. principal of Moira Secondary School, Belleville. He gave a most interesting account of the four and five year programs which have been announced for grade 8 students. These studies are in three groups, Arts and Science, Business and Commerce and Engineering, Technology and Trades.

Mr. Musgrove stressed the importance of parents being interested in the studies of their child. He also put great emphasis on teaching a child to read early in life and to help the child remember what it has read. The speaker closed on the theme "Horticulture" and outlined what various new Canadians have developed along this line.

A discussion followed on the forum questions and the two groups spent sometime in talking over the main points of both broadcast and address. The district secretary will forward these answers to headquarters.

Mrs. Gerald Harrington first vice-president of the district voiced appreciative thanks to the speaker for his informative message.

Mrs. Harry Coulter and Mrs. Phillips gathered the offering which amounted to $11. There was a small expense account and the balance will be placed in the "Pennies for Friendship" fund of the district and will be remitted to Toronto in June and thence to the tenth triennial convention at Melbourne Australia, where it will be used to provide education in some needy area for women and children.

VOICES APPRECIATION

Mrs. MacMullen voiced thanks to everyone for their co-operation and to the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture for the serviettes. She was particularly grateful to her own branch for all their assistance.

Mrs. Jack Bush and Mrs. John Kane convened the kitchen and arranged the food which the ladies had provided.

Messrs. George Heasman, Percy MacMullen, Jack Sager and Roy Bush assisted with coffee and arranging the chairs

The lucky door prize was awarded to Mrs. Gerald Irvine Chatterton W.I. member and Jane Bush had the honor of choosing the number.

MOUNTAIN VIEW W.I.

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Mrs. Frank Roblin opened her home on Wednesday evening for the February meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute. There were 20 members and one visitor present.

The president, Mrs. W. Barber, presided. It was decided to send a donation for the Northwest Territories fund for starting Institute work in that region. Plans were also made for an evening to be spent at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, on March 19.

The topic for this meeting was "Public Relations" and was under the convenership of Mrs. F. Roblin who introduced Mrs. D. Joss of Belleville, who showed slides of countries behind the Iron Curtain where she and her husband had visited during the past summer. These were most interesting and instructive. Mrs. Joss also commented as the pictures were being shown.

At the conclusion she was thanked by Mrs. Clifford Barber and Mrs. Roblin presented her with a gift as a token of appreciation.

The motto for the month was "If you plant a seed of character in the home it will bloom in the community."

Mrs. Reg Barber gave an inspiring message on this motto.

Mrs. Ben Anderson thanked the hostess for her hospitality. The hostess, assisted by the lunch committee, consisting of the co-hostesses Mrs. Peter Koekman Mrs. S. Hamilton and Mrs. C. Barber, served refreshments and everyone enjoyed a social half hour.

Missionary Tells of Rescue At Sea

A harrowing adventure at sea was described in a letter received by Mrs. Mitchell, missionary convener of the Parkdale Baptist Ladies' Missionary Fellowship group, from Miss Audrey Hullbert, a missionary in Nigeria.

She told of an exciting rescue of a plane's crew while enroute to Africa. They were about a day and a half out of New York when the captain of the ship received a message regarding the crash of a navy plane about 150 miles distant. Being the nearest ship they were sent to rescue the crew.

Two men were rescued while the passengers were still asleep but the third was still in the water. He had managed to get to the side of the boat when the line broke Owing to the tremendously high waves, it was an hour and a half before a lifeboat could be lowered and a rescue effected. The man's clothing and flesh were torn and it was learned later that he had been bitten by sharks.

In conversation with one of the crew members later, it was learned that they were 30 feet under water when they escaped from the plane

Miss Hullbert was on her second trip to Nigeria where she is at present teaching the blind in the Sudan Interior Missions School. She was born in Oshawa, Ontario and attended Calvary Baptist Church there and graduated from the Prairie Bible Institute, Freehill, Alberta, in 1955.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

An engagement is always a happy event and, luckily, the formalities are few. Do you know the protocol involved. See how many questions you can answer correctly?

1. When a couple decides to get married, should the bride's parents call on the parents of their prospective son-in-law.
2. Suppose the families live in different cities. What arrangements should be made for the parents to meet?
3. Should the parents of the bride send out an engraved announcement of the engagement?
4. What is the correct form for announcing an engagement?
5. When should an engagement party be held?
6. May the parents of the bridegroom ever give the engagement party?
7. When does the groom give his bride-to-be her engagement ring?
8. When does the bride-to-be first wear her ring?
9. Is a formal announcement of the engagement made at the engagement party?
10. How soon in advance of the wedding is an engagement usually announced?

ANSWERS

1. Correctly, the groom's parents call on the parents of the bride. If a personal visit can't be immediately arranged, the groom's mother at least should call the bride and her mother and make plans to entertain the immediate family soon.
2. The groom's mother should write to her future daughter-in-law welcoming her into the family, then write the bride's mother inviting her and her husband to visit, if possible, before the wedding.
3. An engraved announcement is never sent out for an engagement.
4. It may be announced on the society pages of the newspapers. Members of each family and close friends, however, should be notified in advance by note or over the phone. An engagement may be announced at a party, as well.
5. When an engagement party is given, it usually is scheduled for the same day the announcement appears in the paper.
6. No. It's given by the bride's parents, or by another member of her family if they're deceased.
7. The bride receives her ring in private before the party. It's never presented as a public spectacular.
8. The ring is worn on the day the engagement is announced.
9. Not necessarily. The bride does so by showing off her ring to guests. At a dinner party, her father may offer a toast as a way of marking the occasion
10. Usually three to six months in advance.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"Mister," said the spokesman of the little group, "we see by the paper that Rocket Richard is coming to town. We would like to know . . ."

He hesitated, "Gwan, tell him, Bill," urged a companion. "Gwan, ask him if it's O.K."

The spokesman stretched himself to his full height of four feet, six inches. His oversize sweater bore the famous insignia of the Montreal Canadien hockey club. His three buddies twisted caps in their hands. They shifted their weight nervously from foot to foot.

I showed them a picture of the Canadiens' star, now travelling across the country as a goodwill ambassador for the Canadiens, refereeing minor hockey games, speaking to service clubs, addressing sports groups and delighting thousands of moppets wherever he goes.

"You're so right," I told the freckle-faced leader of the delegation, "the Rocket will be here on March 6th. He will referee the annual hockey game between the police and fire department teams."

"Gee," the small platoon of "Squirts" chorused, "dya suppose we could get one of those pictures? We'll trade with yuh, mister. We got some of other players we'll givya for one of the Rocket."

The leader hadn't got over his nervousness. He had something on his mind. He had to get rid of it. He did.

"What we'd like to know, Mr. Carver, is, couldya, wouldya-er-well, we'd sorta like to meet the Rocket and get his autograph. Dya suppose you could fix it up?"

A tousle-headed member of the clan, a battle-scarred veteran of two seasons in the Squirt wars, will probably grow up to be a diplomat.

There was a hopeful gleam in his eyes. "We got tickets for the game, cos we're going to help those crippled kids if we can—and seeing as how the Rocket will be there, well, we thought . . ."

I looked at the two remaining members of the delegation. There was a sort of a pleading look in their eyes. It seemed their whole future depended on what my answer would be.

Well, to make the story shorter, I know four youngsters who are going to meet the Rocket personally on Tuesday, March 6th. When I told them I thought it could be arranged, they went Western on me and charged out of the newsroom like Custer's first line of shock troops at the Little Big Horn.

And in case this might start a general movement in this direction of a mass menage of moppets, it will be announced later that the Rocket will be available to the youngsters—and oldsters too—for autographs. A time will be designated, so look for it.

Meanwhile plans are getting under way for what is expected will be the best clash, puck-wise, the boys in blue have iced since the inception of the annual interdepartmental "Blues on the Rocks."

This will be no mere exhibition. Both "Untouchables" and "Smokies" are deadly serious. An athletic championship is at stake since "Warpy" O'Briens Fire-Eaters whipped Clare Hayes' "Belleville's finest" at the annual clambake, with the decision being reversed at the yearly pinochle party.

The Rocket, too, will be serious. He speaks both English and French and will carry an interpreter in case some objector talks back to him in Mohawk. Besides his thumbs are in good condition and he won't hesitate to use them.

Shrine president Jack Allin, Noble "Boiler" Lloyd, his Crippled Children's Committee chairman, have the game machinery in motion. The tickets are ready—and there is no increase in price. The tab is twenty-five cents and your ticket gets you any seat in the house, except in Smitty's boiler-room boudoir.

So if a man in blue says he has a ticket for you, don't worry. Just reach for a 25-cent piece—or buy the whole book—and send him away smiling.

And just to show your heart's in the right place as far as the crippled kiddies are concerned, buy the pasteboard, even if you have other social or business commitments that night. You will be thanked in the prayers of a crippled child.

You can get tickets in Front Street centres or from any police officer or fireman. I have a block of 25—so if you are really stuck.

Palmer Has 5 Stroke Lead

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Defending champion Arnold Palmer have reached the halfway point of the $35,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament with a five-stroke lead.

Palmer shot a three-under-par 68 Friday to go with his brilliant 64 of Thursday for a 36-hole total of 132, 10 under par.

He gained two strokes on second-running Art Wall Jr., who scrambled for a 70 after a first-round 67.

Palmer's performance was highlighted by an eagle three on the 549-yard seventh hole. He got away a tremendous drive and an unbelievable No. 1 iron shot left him with only a three-foot putt.

Apart from Leonard, the only Canadian to survive the 149 cutoff was Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg with 75-72—147. The casualties were Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, 74-79—153; Al Johnston of Montreal, 78-78—156, and Norm Hunt, Toronto, 76-84—160.

Habs Can Almost Clinch Loop Title

If They Beat Leafs, Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The size of the lead Montreal Canadiens will hold at the top of the National Hockey League standings after this weekend could well depend on the size of Jacques Plante's ankle.

The five-time Vezina Trophy winner as the NHL's least-scored-against goalkeeper has reported, twice in 10 days, a swollen ankle — swollen enough to prevent him from walking.

However, there was good news in the Canadiens camp as the masked marvel reported his ankle in good shape for what could be crucial weekend games in Toronto against the Maple Leafs Saturday night and in Chicago against the Black Hawks Sunday.

Now five points ahead of the second-place Maple Leafs, double weekend victories for the Habitants coupled with Toronto losses could put the league-leaders out of reach for their fifth straight NHL championship.

But Canadiens coach Toe Blake figures Leafs will be strong tonight after being held to a tie by Boston at Toronto Wednesday night. "They'll just be waiting for us," he said.

MAIN PROBLEM

"I don't have to be told about Chicago," Toe added. "I can read the standings. Besides, Toronto is our main problem at the moment. I don't think the Hawks will catch the Leafs but the Leafs might catch us if we can't beat them tonight."

The Habs have a game in hand over Toronto and two with the Black Hawks. With 69 points they are five ahead of the Leafs and 12 ahead of Chicago.

While Plante didn't practice with the team Friday, he made the trip to Toronto. As a precaution, Claude Pronovost, the team's spare netminder, also went along — probably just for the ride.

The Maple Leafs move into Detroit Sunday night while the Rangers play in Boston against the Bruins.

Indians Scalp Tigers 14-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stratford Indians went on the warpath Friday night, whipping Waterloo Tigers 14-3 and bolstering their slim hopes of a playoff berth in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series.

The game at Stratford saw the Indians jump into a four-goal lead in the first period increase it to 11-1 in the second and outscore the Tigers 3-2 in the final.

In other games, Woodstock Athletics ran rampant over the lowly Sarnia Rams, the 11-3 victory assuring them of at least a third-place finish, and Chatham Maroons downed Strathroy Rockets 5-2 in Chatham.

Back In Top-Slot Tie

Baby Habs Whip Royals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens moved back into a first-place tie with Hamilton Red Wings Friday night in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series.

The Canadiens blasted four goals in less than as many minutes of the third period to whip Guelph Royals 6-2. The Habs have played 40 games, one fewer than the Wings.

It was tied 2-2 at Guelph halfway through the third period until the Canadiens fired two double-barrelled shots past Joe Bamford. The first pair were eight seconds apart, the others within 39 seconds.

Teddy Houston scored twice while Rejean Richer, Jacques Laperriere, Johnny Taylor and Germain Gagnon got singles. Bob Brown and Billy Taylor tallied for Guelph.

Dave McComb of the Royals and Montreal's Doug Carpenter got into a scrap near the end of the game that brought players from both teams pouring onto the ice. It was broken up before a brawl could develop and both offenders were given major penalties. Montreal got three minors, Guelph two.

The hot Flyers, unbeaten at home in their last 10 games, handed the Petes their second shellacking in as many nights. Flyers goalie Wayne Rutledge needed three superb saves in the third period to collect his second shutout, both over the Petes.

Will Sue Commission

Moore Loses NBA Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State athletic commission stripped ancient Archie Moore of his tattered light heavyweight crown Friday and directed Harold Johnson, the National Boxing Association's champion, and Doug Jones, the No. 2 contender, to sign for a title fight.

Johnson, 33, and Jones, 26, probably will meet in the Philadelphia arena in May, it was learned.

When informed of the expected decision by the three-man commission, the 45-year-old Moore in San Diego, Calif., threatened to sue the commission.

The New York commission followed the example of the NBA which withdrew its recognition from Moore about a year ago for failure to defend his title within a reasonable period. Both the NBA and the New York group require light-heavyweight champions to defend every six months.

Johnson, who was knocked out by Moore in a title fight in 1954, won the NBA crown by stopping Jesse Bowdry in Miami a year ago. In two defences he knocked out Von Clay and outpointed Eddie Cotton.

Moore, still recognized as champion in Massachusetts, California and Europe, last defended the 175-pound title in New York June 10 and outpointed Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

In London, J. Onslow Fane, president of the British Boxing Board of Control, said his organization also probably would dethrone Moore.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hugh Currie can thank his predecessor, Phil Maloney, for a winning start as playing coach of the Western Hockey League's Vancouver Canucks.

Maloney hustled the Canucks to their first win in 10 games, a 4-1 victory over Los Angeles Blades Friday night.

The veteran centre, fired as coach earlier this week, scored what proved to be the winning goal and set up another for the Canucks, in last place in the Northern Division.

At Edmonton, Ed Joyal led the Flyers with three goals. Don Poile and Forbes Kennedy scored the other two. Len Haley scored for the Seals. Bill MacFarland scored the Seattle goal.

Ingy Brushes Aside Mr. Bygraves

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, has won his first comeback fight and figures he will win "a lot in my bid to get back to the top."

Johansson toyed with Joe Bygraves of Jamaica, former British Empire heavyweight king, before a sellout crowd of 6,200 at Maesshallen Stadium scheduled 10-rounder at 2:08 of the seventh round.

At that point Bygraves, who had taken a four count in the second round from a short right from Johansson, was almost out on his feet. His left eyebrow gushed blood from a barrage of punches taken in the sixth round. Johansson weighed 200 pounds to Bygraves' 209.

It was Johansson's first fight since last March, when he lost on a six-round knockout to place in world rankings.

Ingo's victory was somewhat soured by news from across the Atlantic. In Miami, a United States federal judge threw out a motion for a new trial to amend a court judgment supporting the government's claim against him for back income tax. His purse for the last Patterson fight is tied up by the government pending settlement of the claim.

Plans Record-Breaking Campaigns

N.Z. Coach Track Wizard

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—The world capital of distance running today is a modest house in a quiet suburban street here.

This is the home of coach Arthur L. Lydiard, whose charges now hold the world record for the one-half, one, two and three miles and 800 metres. A team of four which he coached holds the world record for the four-mile relay. It is confidently expected still more world records will fall to his athletes.

Lydiard, who was awarded the OBE in the Queen's New Year honors list, is 42. Middle-aged businessmen who visit him come away planning to buy a pair of shorts and running shoes.

Said one athlete: "You come away wanting to rush to a track. It's like a mental massage."

TELLS OF SNELL

In this headquarters where world record and Olympic gold medal attempts are planned, Lydiard sketched for me the campaign which culminated in Peter Snell breaking the world one-mile record at the end of January.

His time of 3:54.4 broke by 1-10th of a second the record set four years ago by the great Australian Herb Elliott. But Snell's time was made on a sharply-curved grass track—far slower than cinders.

A week later, Snell went on to run the fastest half-mile in history — 1:45.1 — and at the same time to better the world 800-metre record with a time of 1:44.3.

Snell was a fine all-round athlete as a boy at the Mount Albert grammar school in Auckland. He was in the football team, the cricket team, the tennis team and the track team.

He first met Lydiard when he was only third-string distance man for the school. When he left school he began winning tennis championships and he consulted Lydiard on whether he should concentrate on tennis or take up running seriously.

"I can see the potential in an athlete," Lydiard said. "I knew that Snell had the essential basic speed to rise to any height. I told him if he was prepared to take the long view and work he would get results."

PAINFUL AT START

That was five years ago. Lydiard went out on the track, on the road and on the beach with Snell, correcting faults, building up confidence. His big calf muscles had to be loosened up. At first he was in great pain toward the end of the distance runs of 20 to 30 miles which Lydiard imposes on his charges.

Speed was sacrificed while stamina was built up. The schedule involved 100 miles of running a week, including runs of up to 30 miles. Then followed speed training on the track. Even during competition periods, one long run a week was an essential part of the training.

Lydiard saw that Snell had more basic speed than any other athlete he had trained. He predicted that he would break world records.

While still almost unknown, Snell captured the 800-metres gold medal at the Rome Olympics and lowered the Olympic record.

RESTED LAST YEAR

He withdrew from competition for much of last season with an injured leg. But he is stronger than ever this year.

Shortly before his record-breaking mile Lydiard told him: "This will be a 3:55 mile." He ran it in 3:54.4.

"But that's only a start," Lydiard says. "Peter ran that mile with consummate ease. He can lower the time whenever conditions are right. It may not be this season, but he'll get down below 3:50 — possibly 3:48."

Snell is by no means Lydiard's only hope for more world records. M. G. Halberg, Olympic gold medallist for the 5,000 metres, already holds the world record for two and three miles. He is again in magnificent shape this season and would like to attack the 5,000-metre record.

Another in Lydiard's "stable" is A. B. Magee, Olympic bronze medallist in the marathon, who ran the world's fastest 10,000 metres in 1961. He is capable of making a serious attack on the world six-mile and 10,000-metre marks given the right conditions.

And there are other younger athletes coming along. Lydiard tries to give them all a fair share of his attention. But he is strictly an amateur coach—he works for a tobacco company—and fame is making it increasingly difficult for him to give time to the many calls made on him.

Blues Trim McGill 6-0

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto Blues virtually wrapped up the Eastern Division title Friday night by blanking McGill Redmen 6-0 in an intercollegiate hockey game.

Varsity's shutout, the first of the intercollegiate season, coupled with Laval's 5-3 victory over University of Montreal Carabins at Montreal, left the Blues six points ahead of McGill and Laval with Montreal a further four points back. Toronto, McGill and Montreal have four games left and Laval only two.

Jesse Weller, Dan Cherepacha, Sonny Osborne, Steve Monteith, Bill Kennedy and Jim Murchie scored for the Blues, who led 2-0 and 5-0 respectively after the first two periods. Any hope of a McGill rally was squelched when the Redmen received a game misconduct, a bench penalty for talking and another sentence for having too many men on the ice.

TAKES N.S. TITLE

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP) — Jim Floriar and his Dartmouth, N.S., rink won a berth in the Canadian curling championships in Kitchener next month by defeating a Kentville rink in two straight matches Friday. It was Florian's second straight Nova Scotia men's curling championship.

Beavers Close in On Fronts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers, who set the pace most of the way through the first half of the Eastern Professional Hockey League season, aren't ready to throw in the towel just because Kingston Frontenacs have stuck their noses in front.

The Beavers got full value from a two-game northern swing Friday night when they thumped Sudbury Wolves 6-3 on top of a 3-1 victory over Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds 24 hours earlier. The double victory left them three points behind the Frontenacs and five ahead of the third-place Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

The Beavers entertain the last-place North Bay Trappers tonight while Sudbury visits Kingston. On Sunday the Frontenacs tackle the Canadiens at Hull and Sudbury moves to North Bay.

The Beavers looked sharp all the way at Sudbury and the Wolves, after holding them on even terms for half the game, gradually fell behind.

Neil Forth and Cummy Burton scored 14 seconds apart early in the second period to put the Wolves in front after a scoreless opening frame. But Bryan Hextall and Rod Gilbert evened the count and the first of Len Ronson's two goals put the Beavers in front before the period ended.

Ronson's second goal made it 4-2 early in the third period. Gerry Foley narrowed the gap but Leon Rochefort and Mel Pearson added to the Kitchener margin in the later stages.

Only two penalties were called, one to each side.

U.S. Athletes Get Seven

Reds Set 9 World Track Records

LONDON (CP) — The Russians set nine of 33 track and field world records approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation Friday.

U.S. athletes set seven of the records established between Feb. 1 and Dec. 31 last year.

Sprinter Frank Budd, discus-thrower Jay Silvester and two teammates from Tennessee State, Wilma Rudolph and Ralph Boston, shared American listings.

Bud was credited with the world mark for the 100 - yard dash with a 9.2 second clocking set in New York July 25. Previously the distance had been run in 9.3 by Dennis Johnson of the West Indies and Harry Jerome of Vancouver.

Budd also shared in the 400-metre relay record of 39.1 seconds, set in the U.S. - Russian track meet at Moscow July 15, with Hayes Jones, Charles Frazier and Paul Drayton.

WILMA SETS TWO

The fabulous Miss Rudolph was credited with the best time in the women's 100-metre run—11.2 seconds, set at Stuttgart, West Germany, July 19, and anchored the team which set the mark of 44.3 in the 400-metre relay at Moscow July 15.

Boston went into the record books with the longest broad jump — 27 feet, 1¾ inches at Moscow last July 16.

Silvester was credited with the longest discus throw — 199 feet, 2½ inches, at Brussels Aug. 20.

The Russian assault was led by Valery Brumel, the great high jumper, who soared to seven feet, four inches, and the Press sisters—Irina and Tamara, who shared three marks. Irina set a record in the women's 80-metre hurdles with 10.6 seconds and produced high of 5,137 points in the pentathlon. Tamara had a record discus toss of 193 feet, 6 inches.

Peter Snell's recent 3:54.4 mile and his world - bettering marks in the half-mile and 800 metres came too late to go into the listings. But Snell had a share of one official mark, as a member of the New Zealand team in the four-mile relay.

Canadian Universities

No Feed-Boxes For Pros

MONTREAL (CP) — Barry Griffiths thinks there will have to be changes made before Canadian universities start producing talent for the National Hockey League.

The athletics director of McGill University said in an interview that it's a matter of schedules.

"Our intercollegiate league does not provide enough games for such professional prospects. "Canadian boys playing for top United States college teams manage schedules of 30 to 40 games. This simply couldn't be done here. Too much.

"There's no way to equate the situation as I see it—not and maintain our academic standards."

Griffiths said McGill has an 18 - game hockey schedule and "we feel this is the limit." Other Canadian universities had a similar number.

Meanwhile the NHL teams found it better to send top-line prospects who want a university education to universities in the U.S.

MICHIGAN STAR

Griffiths cited the case of Gordon (Red) Berenson, a Regina product who stars for the University of Michigan's hockey team. Montreal Canadiens hold rights to him.

"Berenson was ready to enrol at McGill a year ago. But he's over the junior age limit, I believe. Otherwise he might have been one of our students and played for Montreal Canadiens' junior farm club.

"Naturally we would have preferred to have him play for McGill. But I presume the Canadiens felt they would rather have him stay at Michigan where he could engage in a much longer schedule."

Goalie Jack Gelinas, the NHL's rookie of the year in 1949 - 50 while with Boston Bruins, was the last Canadian university product to make the big league.

A former star with McGill, he played his last full NHL season in 1950-51.

Bill (Red) Hay, the brilliant stick - handling centre with Chicago Black Hawks, is a U.S. university graduate. He came from the University of Colorado. Hay's hometown is Saskatoon.

COACH REHIRED

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Football coach Murray Warmath was given a new four-year contract Friday by the University of Minnesota board of regents, extending through Feb. 1, 1966, at a salary of $21,000 a year. The contract carries an annual increase of $500 over Warmath's old agreement, which carried through the 1962 football season.

Pepsi's Shade Macs 11-8

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Writer

Scoring five unanswered goals in the first period, the Pepsi's went on from there to down the Macs 11-8 in an all-Belleville exhibition game at Memorial Arena last night.

For the Intermediate "A" Pepsi's, it was their fourth victory of the week, and it wasn't an easy one at that after the first period. The Junior Macs cut the lead to 5-2 early in the second heat but the Pepsi's were in front 8-3 at the end of the period. The Macs followed the same pattern in the third, scoring two early ones for an 8-5 score and later outscoring the Pepsi's 3-1 in the game's final four minutes to make it fairly close.

The clubs switched a few players around for this one. Eddie Marineau and Floyd Crawford, of the "old boys" played defence for the Juniors, while Ted Rowland switched to a Pepsi uniform. For the third period, the Hull boys, Ron of the Pepsi's and Garry of the Macs, changed sweaters and both came up with a point.

Don "Turk" Barclay started in the Pepsi's net and held a 6-2 lead when he gave way to Bill Moxoe halfway through the second period. Gordie Parker played the route for the Macs and had a rough time against the Pepsi sharpshooters.

Coaches Gordie Bell and Jean-Paul Lamirande turned referees for the night and dished out five minor penalties, all to the Pepsi's in a clean game.

Dave Jones and Gary Goyer were the winners' top point men, each with a pair of goals and three assists. "Shaker" Baker had two and two, Keith MacDonald two and one and Tom O'Meara one and two. Lionel Botly picked up a goal and assist with Bob Taylor adding the other goal. Ron Hull helped on three goals, Fiori Goegan on two and Gary Hull on one.

Moe Hunter, Dave Smith and Pug Kellar each had a goal and two assists for the Macs while Larry Mavety got one of each. Eddie Marineau, Billy McGuire, Paul Zakoc and Ron Hull also scored. Crawford, Gary Duvall, Bradley Lee and Bob Boyle drew assists while Bucky Ethier earned two with his persistent digging.

The Macs were minus Graydon Scott, who has joined the RCAF, Pete Weston playing basketball, and Gary Reid out with an injury. "Wiener" Brown was absent for the Pepsi's.

While the Juniors gave their all and came close on the scoreboard a couple of times, the Pepsi's appeared able to poke in a couple more goals on each of these occasions to maintain a comfortable lead.

Golfers Need Help!

Fort Knox Is Next!

TORONTO (CP)—The Royal Canadian Golf Association has asked for financial assistance from the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sports, the annual meeting was told Friday.

The meeting decided the 1962 Canadian Open will be played at Laval-sur-le-Lac near Montreal July 26-29. The Willingdon Cup Aug. 11 and the Canadian Amateur Aug. 13-18 will be at the Sunningdale Golf Club, London, Ont., and the junior interprovincial team matches and Canadian junior championships will be held at Moncton Aug. 28-31.

The meeting granted full reinstatement of amateur status to Robert Dewar of Toronto and Peter Hutchinson of Hamilton. Formal approval for reinstatement was recommended to the next meeting of the board of governors for 11 others including Joseph S. Barr of Ottawa and Robert J. Milliken of Sarnia.

Terrier Fund Over Top

GALT (CP) — Galt Terriers' campaign to raise funds to send the team to the world amateur hockey championships next month in Colorado has gone over the top, it was announced Friday.

The fund has rocketed to $19,800, a little more than $2,300 over the $17,750 goal. A $1,000 donation from the Galt Terrier Booster Club put the fund past its objective this week.

The Terriers were refused part of a government subsidy on the ground that they already had enough money. Galt chairman Syl Asadoorian, who applied to the government for help many months ago, commented: "I wonder if, in the translation, that means if any organization wants help all they have to do is sit on their hands and wait."

BCI's Senior Collegians suffered their first set-back of the current campaign at the hands of their arch rivals, the Saints from Quinte Secondary School last night.

Quinte took the game, a real bruiser, by a 63-49 score, and as a result moved into a first-place tie with the Collegians.

The little Saints were edged 46-43 in the junior set-to, while the bantam Collegians pulled off a 41-37 upset.

SENIOR GAME

This contest was of a rough and tumble nature with no less than four players being ejected at various stages of the game.

Quinte's ability at the free throw line sealed BCI's doom as the Saints hit for 21 points on twenty-one occasions.

The first quarter was very fast as both teams pressed hard on defence. The losers got a big break with Jim Fair being epected from the game in its early moments. BCI led 14-13 at quarter-time.

Quinte moved away in a rough second quarter. They controlled both backboadrs, moved the ball well and hit those free throws with uncanny accuracy. They took the half-time break with a 36-22 lead.

The Collegians picked up a new lease on life in the dying minutes of the third stanza and were only seven points in arrears going into the last quarter. Both teams traded baskets regularly in the first five minutes but the Collegians began throwing the ball away and missing close-in shots.

Quinte could do no wrong, however, as their rebounding and driving salted away the victory

Wayne Gilroy led the Saints with two field goals and ten free throws. Mike Chatland and Les Hall each hit for 13 while Dave Fisher had 12.

Larry Campbell was high scorer for BCI, garnering 12 points. McCabe and Regensburg scored 11 and 10 respectively.

Lineups:

Quinte: Chatland 13, Fair 2, Latchford 6, Gilroy 14, Burley 3, Hatch. Fisher 12, Marriott, Hall 13, Thomson.

BCIVS: Campbell 12, McCabe 11, Burr 4, Regensburg 10, Weston 4, McKibbon 2, Roberts 6, Williams, Soule, Muir.

The Tracks

ARCADIA, Calif. (CP)—Continued rain and the certainty of a muddy track dampened hopes of backers of the previously favored Canadian - owned Four-and - Twenty in the $50,000 added San Antonio Handicap at Santa Anita Park today.

Four-and - Twenty, wearing the Alberta Ranches silks of Calgarians Max Bell and Frank McMahon, must be regarded with a little less enthusiasm in view of the running conditions. The four-year-old has won on strips labeled "good" and "sloppy," but he has never raced on a truly muddy track.

His chief rivals appear to be Preston Madden's T. V. Lark, 127, who might not like the gooey going, and Rex C. Ellsworth's Prove It, 125. The latter goes as an entry with Olden Times, 113.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bills of the American Football League said Friday defensive tackle Roger Kramer has a valid contract with Montreal Alouettes and the Bills intend to get their money back from Grand Rapids of the United Football League from whom they purchased him last fall. The Als said they signed Kramer to a try - out contract two months ago.

Sports Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Thirty years ago the "Kid Line" was a family phrase. People were saying that in the years ahead, long after their brilliant careers with Toronto Maple Leafs had ended, Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher and Busher Jackson would still be "the kids," just like Chester Gump, the Katzenjammers and Buttercup.

This was brought into sharp focus the other night at Maple Leaf Gardens when the Busher, a 51 - year - old who has fallen on sad days, walked into the press room between periods of the game — as he's been doing for years — and within seconds was writhing on the floor. He had suffered an epileptic seizure.

Press room occupants, most of whom were kids themselves when Conn Smythe put the 22-year-old Primeau between the 18-year-old Jackson and 19-year-old Conacher in the 1929-30 National Hockey League season, turned their thoughts to the "Kid Line." Only a few had seen them in action; others had read about them.

Smythe had put them together at a time when the NHL was loaded with powerhouse lines, individual greats and "the kids" became a sensation. Conacher and Primeau were juniors. The slender, polished Primeau had two years of pro experience in the minor Canadian Professional League.

GORMAN'S CHOICE

They hit the big time when Howie Morenz was the most spectacular figure in an era of spectacular and colorful players; when Eddie Shore was put on a pedestal along with the Stratford Streak, and when Nels (Old Poison) Stewart, a slow-moving, lazy - looking winger with Montreal Maroons was the scourge of goalkeepers.

In 1935, when "the kids" were flying, Tommy Gorman was asked by a newspaper man to name the greatest line he had ever seen. The former Ottawa sports writer, who a year earlier had coached Chicago Black Hawks to the Stanley Cup and had seen them all, didn't hesitate.

"The present Toronto line of Primeau, Jackson and Conacher is the finest I have ever seen," he said.

That was high tribute because "the kids" were in big company and some people would give Gorman an argument.

Some could question how he could overlook Bill and Bun Cook and Frank Boucher of New York Rangers. And how about Morenz, Aurel Joliat and Johnny (Black Cat) Gagnon, the fleeting Montreal Canadiens? Then there was the rugged threesome of Stewart, Babe Siebert and Hooley Smith—the Big S line of the Montreal Maroons.

BUSHER BROKE

Boston Bruins' "Dynamite Line" of Cooney Weiland, Dit Clapper and Dutch Gainor were by no means slouches.

"The kids" had caught the imagination of the public. In their first five seasons they scored more goals than any single line in the league except the Cooks and Boucher. Jackson had made the NHL all-star team three times — 1932, 1934 and 1935 — and Conacher was chosen in 1934 and 1935. Conacher made it again in 1936 and Jackson in 1937.

The line was broken up after the 1936 season when Primeau retired. Conacher went to Detroit Red Wings in 1937 and finished out his active career in 1941 with the old New York Americans and Jackson in 1944 with the Bruins.

Conacher and Primeau now are wealthy men. The Busher, in ill health for many years, has practically nothing — except memories of the days when Smythe said $100,000 wouldn't buy his nifty left - winger. He's broke, and has been for years.

Henry is pleased to announce that starting next week, he will award a best-selling book to the writer of the most interesting letters he receives each week. The books are especially chosen from new releases by Prentice-Hall, Inc., as suitable for children. To be eligible for a book, send your letter to Henry, c/o this newspaper, including your name and address.

Dear Henry:—We have a son who is 9 years old. Lately he has had a loose tooth and is making a mountain of a mole hill. I think he is making this fuss just to attract attention. What do you think.—ANGRY.

Dear Angry:—He probbaly is trying to get attention. But the point is that he is trying to get this attention because he isn't getting enough now. So from now on I think you should show a lot of interest in him and his loose tooth.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—I'm a girl of 14. I have a little brother who is 4. When he does something wrong I try to correct him, but my father gets on to me. Should I try to correct him?—W.F.S.

Dear W.F.S.:—Who do you want to correct: your father or your brother? First continue in correcting brother, then correct father. Tell him that a child learns most from his elder sister or brother. For instance, I am teaching my brother all the kindergarten stuff in advance and he is getting more stars than the other kids in his class.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—I'm a girl of 13 and have a big problem. I have secretly been going out with a boy who is 16. We are thinking we might elope next June so I can be a June bride. Do you think I am too young for this sort of thing?—UNDECIDED.

Dear Undecided:—There were once two little bears, Jack and Jill. They liked each other very much but were too young to get married. So they quit school and ran away. Jack hadn't finished school so he couldn't get a good job and they had no friends and were very sad. Soon they regretted leaving but didnt' dare go home. The maw and paw bears grew worried and paw got ulcers. Then they called the police. Jack and Jill were brought home in disgrace and their families were very much ashamed.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I am a 13-year-old girl in grade 8. My dad is the grade 8 teacher and believes in discipline. He still spanks me like a little kid for such things as going out when Mom and Dad says no, or for swearing. I know it is wrong but is it necessary to be spanked?—JUST WONDERING.

Dear Wondering:—Older kids shouldn't be spanked unless absolutely necessary. In your case you know perfectly well that you have done wrong and you keep doing it. So in your case I would say spanking is absolutely necessary. —HENRY.

Dear Henry—On which subject do you thing my son should concentrate most at school? On the one he likes best or the one he hates most?—A FATHER.

Dear Father:

If you concentrate on the worst,
You can only get better—
And if you concentrate on the best,
You can only get better.
But why not just suppose
You concentrate on both?

'The Hathaways' Complete Disaster Says Cast Member

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is no report on how the chimps feel about it, but to Jack Weston the end of The Hathaways came as a reprieve.

Weston is—or was—co-star of the series, along with Peggy Cass and the Marquis family. The past tense is used advisedly, since the series is all but cancelled. Only the formalities remain, Weston reported.

"I never thought I would be happy to see a TV series I was in fold," said the roly - poly comic. "But The Hathaways is it. As far as I was concerned, it was a complete disaster."

CRITICS AGREE

The critics thought so, too. Many objected to the premise of the series, which had a suburban couple raising three chimpanzees like children.

"That was what I objected to from the start," said Weston. "There was something peculiar about Peggy and me referring to the chimps as our 'children.'

"I pleaded to have us a show business couple with a monkey act—then our adventures with the chimps would be valid. But no. I was a real estate salesman and Peggy was a housewife and the chimps were our 'kids.'

"After we got slugged by the critics, the production minds decided maybe Peggy could be involved in doing shows with the chimps. But I was still stuck in the real estate business. And by that time it was too late to save the show."

"I don't know," he added, "maybe we needed monkey writers."

FAMED CRIME FILM TO SCREEN LOCALLY

Devottees of rich, historical screen entertainment will enjoy "Mania", a new thriller adapted from a true story of grave robbers and murderers, opening Monday at the Park Theatre.

Based on actual fact, more hair-raising than the most gruesome tales of Edgar Allan Poe, "Mania" tells the story of Dr. Robert Knox, a dedicated Edinburgh medical professor in the 1820's, who encouraged the activities of ghouls for the sake of medical research. Because the legal supply of bodies for that purpose was limited to those hanged on the gallows, a pair of infamous body snatchers - William Burke and William Hare - turned from robbing newly filled graves to murder for profit.

The homicidal method of the notorious duo has left its mark on the English language to this day. In the Merriam-Webster dictionary, Burke is defined as a verb meaning, "To murder by suffocation, or with few marks of violence, in order to obtain a body to be sold for dissection."

Their scale of wholesale killing rivaled that of the later-day Murder, Inc., though they used no weapons. They would get their victims drunk, then suffocate them.

Burke was actually executed after his partner in crime turned King's evidence against him. The pioneering Scottish medic, though given a clean bill of health by the Medical Council, was shunned at first but students later flocked to his lectures as his fame spread.

The new chiller stars Peter Cushing as the doctor, Donald Pleasence and George Rose as the notorious Burke and Hare, with June Laverick portraying the doctor's niece.

Supporting them is a large cast of more than 50 players.

Filmed by the makers of "Jack the Ripper," "Mania" is the dramatic result of extensive research by producers Robert S. Baker and Monty Berman together with writer-director John Gilling. The trio of film-makers delved deeply into the homicidal labyrinth left by Burke and Hare and came up with a spine-tingler designed to chill the most avid fan.

The producers say, however, that horror was not their major goal in "Mania". Horror was merely part of the subject they chose. Although gruesome enough to satisfy the most fantastic followers of crime fiction, the picture presents the facts as they happened with some embellishment, according to the producers. There are no monsters, though, they point out, because they believe the public is tired of them.

Authentic sets of Edinburgh nearly a century and a half ago were carefully reconstructed. A complete market square was built, flanked by houses, two taverns, a church and a view of the city's famed castle in the distance. All this was done to re-create the background for the blood-curdling murders that actually happened.

Terror stalked the streets of the Scottish capital, and the producers claim they have presented the strange truth of the world's most macabre mass murders. The truth will out, they note, and so will murder.

On the same program, "Sin and Desire," stars Francoise Arnoul. Complete shows - 7.00 and 8.50 p.m.

Astrological Forecast

Sunday, February 11

By SYDNE YOMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)— Avoid frenetic activity. Very good for quiet day. Excellent for attending to spiritual matters . . . for resting, reviewing plans and the budget. Quiet visiting at home.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Much in your favor, but there is tendency for others to be resentful, perhaps jealous. In performing church or community activity, try to be diplomatic . . . share the spotlight. Thus set example.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Something you might believe to be far away, turns out to be closer than you dared hope. Wonderful for seeking spiritual guidance . . . for opening mind and heart. Aim for truth . . . seek justice.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) —Tendency for surprises, as far as the requests of friends are concerned Try to be diplomatic. You can say 'No' without making an enemy. Remember to explain your side of story.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Not good for trying to force your views on others. Take a temporary back step. You may not enjoy role of wallflower . . . but today it is advisable. Otherwise, others get their backs up. Seek harmony.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Moon is favorable aspect to your sign indicates much could be gained from spiritual advice. Time to take long, hard look at true values . . . and let fleeting temptations go their way. Be true to yourself.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — All that glitters today is not gold. Try to perceive situation as it exists . . . instead of the way you wish it could be. Being truthful, frank could gain you much. Be wary.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) —If you complain about how others respond to favors . . you may be overlooking your own behavior. Best to hold criticism to minimum. Day could be used to gain self-understanding. Try to relax.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — No one has right to try to dictate to anyone else. Thus, no need for you to feel guilty if you follow your own conscience. Be true to yourself . . . and to loved ones. Situation will improve.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Your attitude more important than you think. If you lack enthusiasm, others detect that fact. Try to face situation and go through with duty. But do so with humor . . . and common sense.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Yes, a lot of people are depending upon you. But, in long run, you are the one who gains. Knowing this, put your back to job. Today, rest . . . gain from spiritual advice. You will win.

Pisces (Feb 20 to Mar 20)— You may feel that you are rather dull early in day. But enthusiasm gains momentum. Try to get letters written, calls made. See to it that loved ones know you really care. Retire early.

If Today is your birthday . . . your intuitive intellect is highly developed. This means you can trust hunches once you learn to distinguish between truth and mere wishful thinking. March and December could be outstanding months this year.

General Tendencies: This is day when facts speak louder than all the highly publicized claims. No time to bluff. State your position honestly. Scorpio urged to go slow. Cycle remains up for Taurus. Honesty today really proves to be best policy.

Monday, February 12

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — On this, the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, all could well look to his life as example. For you, much to be gained by self-expression. Be honest with associates. Speak mind . . . proudly!

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) —Much of what you want may appear unattainable today. Instead of brooding, set your sights on more practical goals . . . there could be much of value which is attainable. Why not look again? Good!

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Cycle up. Time for you to put best foot forward. There may appear to be opposition from higher-ups . . but, in long run, all turns out in your favor. However, you must show courage, initiative.

DESERONTO

Only Routine Matters Before Council Meeting

DESERONTO — All council members were present on Monday night for the regular council meeting and acting Mayor Gerald Lott occupied the chair.

The minutes of the special meeting held on January 24th with the Public Utilities Commission were read and approved. The meeting concerned the hiring of a Hydro line superintendent and street superintendent. The Hydro advised the town that they were not in favor of combining the two positions but would not oppose the decision of the town if each group paid the proper portion of wages.

Council granted the Salvation Army the usual ten dollars. The letter from the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves was filed as was the notice from the Department of Labor concerning the meeting of trench and excavation inspectors to be held in Trenton on February 16th.

A letter from W. M. Smith complaining of the hazardous condition of the sidewalks in the west end of Main St. was referred to the streets committee.

The property committee reported that the janitor had requested an increase in wages and was advised to bring in a recommendation at the next meeting.

The welfare committee reported a total of 26 dependents on relief and advised that two families were being assisted by other municipalities.

INCREASE RECOMMENDED

The streets committee recommended an increase in wages for one of the street employees and his wages were increased to fifty dollars for a forty-four hour week.

A motion was introduced to present a referendum to the people on the question of cocktail lounges but after discussion of the costs of the vote the motion was withdrawn to be presented at the next meeting.

The zoning by-law was given third reading and the by-law governing billiard parlors was passed.

The question of supplying water to the west Dundas St. section of the town was fully discussed again and council decided to ask the Public Utilities for an new estimate of the project and if the cost is not prohibitive the work may be included in this year's projects.

The assessor was granted an increase in wages of $400 bringing his yearly wage to $1,000. The garbage collector was also given an increase of $300 per year.

Diesel Engine Catches Fire Near Lonsdale

DESERONTO — On Sunday evening the fire department was called shortly before nine o'clock to the Lonsdale station where a diesel engine had taken fire. The firemen made a fast run back Drummey's sideroad and when they arrived the flames were shooting several feet high from the roof of the engine. It was the front engine on a two-engine freight and the crew had uncoupled it and set it near the station where it could easily be reached by the firemen.

Using small fog lines the firemen succeeded in bringing the fire under control before any damage was done to the motors. The Belleville Fire Department was also called and arrived shortly after the Deseronto department. One line was also run from its truck as the heat was quite intense and it was necessary to cool the engine down sufficiently to move it from the main line. The main damage was to the electrical panel just behind the engineer's seat where the fire was confined.

After moving the engine the train crew spotted some of the cars on the Lonsdale siding in order to clear the track for the following trains, one of which was being held at Roblindale.

SUFFERS HEART ATTACK

Stricken by a heart attack just after he opened the door of the local L.C.B.O. store on Monday morning, Omer E. Lyman, assistant vendor, was found dead just inside the door. Mr. Lyman was fifty-two years of age and had been a life-long resident of the town. While he had recently had a check-up his condition was not considered to be serious and his doctor had advised him to take things a little easy. The funeral was held on Wednesday.

Marmora Loses Close One By 4-3 Score

MARMORA — Frankford-Batawa took an early 3-0 lead here against the Marmora-Havelock Combines last night and hung on for a 4-3 victory in OHA Northumberland-Hastings Intermediate "C" competition.

The visitors went in front 3-0 in the first period. The teams fought a scoreless middle beat when Marmora-Havelock came to life in the third. They cut the winners' margin to 4-3 but fell short of tying the game.

It was a rough and tumble affair with the losers picking up 11 penalties and the winners five.

Keliar paced the Frankford-Batawa crew with a pair of goals. Single markers were scored by Simmonds and Hill.

Steel Works To Build New Warehouse

TWEED — M. C. C. Atton, general manager of Tweed Steel Works Ltd., states that structural steel is arriving to start construction of a new warehouse on site of original plant. This will add 7,000 square feet of floor space to the firm's operations. The announcement came as good news, further enhancing the economy of the village, as the building can be easily converted to innumerable uses in the future.

Constructed of structural steel and cement blocks, it will extend 105 feet to the part of the offices, which was the nucleus of the original Steel Trough and Machine company building.

This office space has survived two disastrous fires in its lifetime. When the warehouse structure is completed, the latter portion of the building measuring about 60 feet will then be rebuilt.

It took a short time to clean up the site of the fire after Mr. Atton made his additional construction plans. The new building housing plant operations, south of the old site, was started immediately following the fire and is now completed.

The electric wiring is at present being installed for the equipment. The welding equipment had to be shipped to Toronto for repairs.

Mr. Atton states that production was started in the new plant as early as November 29th, just 11 days after the fire on a small scale and has been gradually expanding.

He hopes that in another few weeks machinery will be operating at 100 per cent capaciy. The offices will remain at their original site at the north end of the new warehouse building and could be moved to new quarters if Mr. Atton's vision of expansion ultimately matures.

POURS INVISIBLE TALC — Mining promoter R. P. Mills, whose colorful career has taken him from the ice mines of Mexico to the copper pockets of Ungava in Labrador, pours some almost-invisible talc on a piece of paper. Mr. Mills, 62, is a director of 19 companies and president of 14, one of them Baker Talc Ltd. of Highwater, Quebec, which refines talc to the point where it hardly reflects light.

World's First Commercial Field for Dry Ice Found By Accident in Rio Grande

By GERRY McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — R. P. Mills, promoter of a good many memorable mining enterprises, recalls that the Mexican ice mine was quite a find in the hot Rio Grande Valley.

Fruit and vegetable growers abounded in the valley but ice was as scarce as orange groves in Alaska.

The Mexican Penuco Oil Company wasn't looking for ice when it sank its first well in the oil-rich Tampico field in 1922.

Therefore, its roughnecks were taken aback—some ran—when snow and ice suddenly sprayed from the well into the 100-degree air.

Caramba! Had the gringo engineers drilled through to Siberia?

"They'd actually drilled into a pocket of carbon dioxide," explained Mr. Mills, who was there. "It turned to ice when it hit the air. There was a mountain of dry ice in no time."

SAID ICE

The developers coolly assessed the worth of their product to Rio Grande growers, found a way to remove the gas odor, and soon were selling ice from the world's first commercial field.

Randy Mills's Canadian experiences have been less unusual but more thrilling since he came here in 1934.

He and Addison McKay, colorful mining figure who died in 1949, were attracted from New York by the promising wilds of northern Quebec and Labrador.

They were among the first to promote and develop the rich Chibougamau copper and Ungava iron ore finds.

The Newfoundland government granted them the first Labrador mining concession in 1935. Newfoundland, then a British colony, had to get the king's signature on it.

"It was probably one of the few documents Edward VIII signed," notes Mr. Mills. The king later abdicated after a short reign.

STUCK PIN IN MAP

Mr. Mills tried to get the British government to develop the concession in 1939. It would have cost $60,000,000 then to build a railway and shipping facilities, he said.

Britain didn't invest though and the Labrador concession was later sold. Iron Ore Company of Canada Limited has since spent $250,000,000 to develop it.

Mr. Mills and Mr. McKay stumbled on to Chibougamau in 1932. Looking for fresh fields to conquer, they stuck a pin in a map of northern Quebec and sent an engineer there to do some prospecting.

"Every week he'd send back a bag of rocks and a request for more money," says Mr. Mills. "Finally, McKay went up to find him in a Val d'Or bar, paying prospectors to dig up rocks for some millionaires in New York."

The engineer was fired but the venture wasn't a total loss. A local prospector, N. O. Carpenter, told Mr. McKay about promising finds near Amos, 320 miles northwest of Montreal.

300 CLAIMS

He was hired and soon staked 300 claims in remote but copper-rich country. A railway was built there in 1956 and several companies now are mining copper, gold and silver in the Chibougamau field.

The Virginia-born Mills, a youthful 62, is a director of 19 companies and president of 14. They keep him dabbling in everything from gold to natural gas, from Cape Breton to the Arctic.

He is president of Baker Talc Limited, which sells soapstone from its Highwater, Que., mine to the Eskimos to be used in their popular primitive carvings. Arctic soapstone has too many impurities.

The same mine produces talc that is being refined to the point of invisibility.

CAN'T SEE IT

"The fineness is measured in microns," explains Mr. Mills. "One micron equals the wave length of light. When you get beyond that, you can't see it. It doesn't reflect light. We've refined ours to five microns."

Mr. Mills is also a director of Laduboro Oil Limited, currently developing a promising gas field in the St. Lawrence River Valley 80 miles northeast of Montreal, and an executive of several companies exploring a copper find deep in Quebec's north.

"This stuff is sticking right out of the ground," the promoter said, holding a rich-looking sample. "The boys don't even have to prospect for it. The Northwest Territories and northern Quebec are about the only places left where you can do that.

"And it's 95 miles north of the railway at Schefferville, not as inaccessible as Chibougamau was 30 years ago . . ."

Public Mischief Charge Upheld In Kitchener

KITCHENER (CP) — Ernest Zeinert, unsuccessful aldermanic candidate in the municipal elections last December, Thursday was fined $100 on a charge of public mischief for jamming a hospital elevator installed by a business competitor.

Magistrate James Kirkpatrick, who offered Zeinert the alternative of 30 days in jail, was told that Zeinert had made an unsuccessful bid for a contract to install elevators at St. Mary's Hospital here.

Martin Gurney, representative of the company that installed the elevator, testified that he had seen Zeinert in a penthouse machine room at the hospital where he had no right to be.

Mr. Gurney told the court he later saw Zeinert stoop down in the area of a photomagnetic cell which was later found to have been pulled, causing the elevator to jam.

Crown Attorney Harold Daufman said whoever had sabotaged the elevator would have had to know what he was doing.

NDP Seeking To Raise Million For Election

OTTAWA (CP) — The New Democratic Party Thursday issued an appeal to its supporters for $1,000,000 to fight the next federal general election.

Party Treasurer Eamon Park said the "New Democratic victory fund" must reach its target before June. He said the election likely will be called by then.

Mr. Park said in a statement that the Liberal and Conservative parties spent a total of about $12,000,000 in the 1958 election campaign.

"Although our over-all objective is less than a tenth of that amount, we are confident that with the volunteer workers at our disposal the New Democratic campaign will make a real impression on the Canadian voter," he said.

The fund drive was opened last week in Toronto at a dinner attended by 300 canvassers. Ontario is to raise just under one-third of the national fund.

Many Officials Convinced Secret Army Organization Preparing for Long War

ALGIERS (Reuters) — The discovery of an armed band of European guerrillas operating in the Algerian mountains has convinced many officials here that the Secret Army Organization is preparing for a long war of attrition similar to that waged up to now by the Moslem insurgents.

The band, 40 strong, captured this week by French troops near Philippeville in the east.

The Secret Army Organization, led by former General Raoul Salan in hiding somewhere in Algeria, usually has confined its activities mainly to towns. But in recent weeks it announced that commandos were being organized in the Algerian countryside — and that thousands of men in Algeria had received secret "mobilization orders."

In the cities the right-wing extremist group has attempted to establish its own law with a non-stop series of executions and propaganda coups.

PRINT OAS 'SPECIAL'

Last Saturdtay armed and masked secret army men forced the printers of an Oran daily newspaper to print an "OAS special edition" containing a big photograph of Salan and the text of a private broadcast by his aide, former General Edmond Jouhaud.

Near Algiers members of the secret army kidnapped a French woman lawyer from an airport bus. She escaped with the complicity of one of her guards. On Thursday another squad stopped a workers' bus and told one of them a Moslem — to get off. His body was found later, riddled with 20 bullets from a firing squad.

Spectacular secret army attacks have blown up two villas occupied by special police anti-secret army squads, killing more than 30 men.

In Oran, agents exploded two plastic bombs on the 13th floor of the prefecture, which must be one of the most heavily-guarded buildings in the world. It is surrounded by armored cars.

Salan, 62, one of France's most decorated generals, was stripped of his rank and sentenced to death in his absence for his part in the generals' putsch last April.

WAS UNPOPULAR

Salan was commander-in-chief in the disastrous Indochina War and was military commander in Algeria at the time of the 1958 European uprising that overthrew the fourth republic.

Salan was distinctly unpopular with the Algiers public when he was a military commander here.

One attempt was made by Europeans to assassinate him with a bazooka. His present status as supreme leader of the European extremists remains one of the contradictions of the Algerian war.

The nucleus of the secret army's killer commandos is formed by some 300 men of many nationalities who deserted from the First Foreign Legion Paratroop Regiment when it was disbanded after the collapse of the generals' Putsch last April. Many of these men have criminal records and dare not return to their home countries.

Police say many of them, with their bank raids and other robberies, are acting as much in their own interest as in support of any political cause.

MET LOCAL LEADER

In Rab El Oued, a European working-class suburb of Algiers where huge secret army signs are never touched by police some foreign correspondents have met the local commander of the organization by inquiring for him at cafes.

He claims to have a band of 50 men who are ready for anything. Police sources say this band is involved in prostitution, deals with stolen property and takes part in other criminal acts.

In the last week there were 13 cases of armed Europeans holding up banks or messengers carrying money, providing a total haul of 1,160,000 new francs ($232,000). Police believe that several of the raids were carried out by secret army fund collectors — but for their own profit.

The main strength of the group is the complicity of the European population, who fear that when Algeria becomes independent their jobs, homes and lives will be in danger.

The vast majority of Europeans here have little confidence in future co-operation between the Moslem and European communities. Some hope for an unexpected turn of events which will keep Algeria under European control. Others are planning to leave.

He had been deported to his native Italy 16 years ago after serving 10 years in prison on prostitution racket charges.

Shopping Mall Again Proposed For Ottawa

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's capital will offer another shopping mall this summer — in the hope that a permanent traffic-free paradise for pedestrians can be opened by 1964.

Bolstered by success from two previous summer-long malls, the Sparks Street Development Association decided Thursday to invest another $20,000 in putting a new face on the old street from June to October.

The association of some 75 Sparks Street merchants also approved a plan to seek city council approval for a year-round mall, just a block from Parliament Hill.

The mall idea, imported from Europe, first was tried out two years ago. Traffic was banned for three blocks along Sparks Streets and the roadway was decked out in potted plants, benches, a fish pond, playground and sidewalk cafes.

Russell Boyce, head of a big department store on Sparks Street and president of the development association, told reporters that an engineering study was made into the technical aspects of a permanent mall.

The engineering report concluded that "a permanent Sparks Street mall is not only feasible but necessary."

Mr. Boyce contends that a mall will help beautify and revitalize downtown Ottawa

Merchants on nearby Rideau Street have proposed a $1,000,000 futuristic shopping way for a four-block section, with wider, canopy-covered sidewalks, new light standards and underground heating to keep sidewalks clear of snow.

National School Milk Plan Would Benefit Health But No Solution of Surplus

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — A national school milk program would benefit health but is no solution to the Canadian dairy surplus, says a federal survey.

"The increase probably would be considerably less than four per cent of total consumption," says the study prepared by the economics section of the agriculture department.

Per capita consumption of fluid milk in 1961 is calculated at 300 pints, or a decrease from 1960 of 1.2 per cent—aside from use of dried milk in fluid equivalent.

A national school milk program has been advocated consistently by farm groups and it was part of the solution to the dairy surplus proposed Wednesday to the cabinet by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The federal agriculture department for more than a year has been pondering a welfare package system which would attempt to raise the nutritional level of diets for segments of the population legitimately in need.

A school milk program would be part of the package, plus distribution of other foods required for a basically-balanced diet. Distribution is the stumbling block—how to get food to persons who have a valid claim to assistance without the stigma of a means test.

The milk study wes prepared by L. E. Drayton, S. E. Kidd and D. W. Oke who examined existing school-milk plans operating at Windsor, Ont., Edmonton, Ottawa and Montreal.

Some of their findings:

Milk consumed at school by Canadian pupils — aside from milk carried in lunches — is probably less than one per cent of total consumption, compared with four per cent in the United States.

Ontario since 1952 has offered to pay half the cost of any milk supplied free during school hours but by 1959 only on[illegible] cent of elementary schools [illegible]plied milk under the plan.

DRINK LESS MILK

Research indicates that a "substantial proportion of Canadian school children drink less milk than is generally recommended."

"However, a school milk program to be effective in improving the diets of such children has to be designed to reach them. Sale of milk in schools at or near market prices probably is not very effective in inducing the child who drinks insufficient milk at home to drink it at school."

Key factors to keep in mind in any program, says the survey, include support for and direction of the program—which can aid dairies in encouraging a taste for milk in later y[illegible].

Seize 200,000 Bogus $10 Bills

NEW YORK (AP) — Secret service agents and city detectives have seized $2,000,000 in counterfeit $10 bills in the basement of a Brooklyn apartment house.

But they haven't got their hands on the plates used to print bogus bills—the big prize in any counterfeit raid.

Five different plates apparently were used, because five different federal reserve district markings were on the bills.

Police Officer Killed Checking Old Panel Truck

Wounded Man Charged With Capital Murder

TORONTO (CP)—Police have charged a wounded man with capital murder in connection with the fatal shooting of a policeman early today. A second man is being sought.

The charge was laid against Ronald Turpin, 28, of Toronto, who underwent an emergency operation after being shot in the elbow and neck.

The dead policeman is Const. Fred Nash, 34, shot at close range as he was making a routine check of a driver's licence in Toronto's east end.

He was shot twice more as he lay wounded on the ground.

However, he managed to fire three times at the gunman.

CHECKS TRUCK

The shooting occurred as Const. Nash was checking an old panel truck at Danforth Ave. and Dawes Rd. A second man in the truck escaped and police believe he may also have fired at the constable.

Const. Nash, father of four, was the first Toronto policeman killed since 1952 when Sergeant of Detectives Edmund Tong was shot.

Steve Suchan and Lennie Jackson, members of a gang led by Edwin Alonzo Boyd, were hanged for Tong's murder.

Tong was wounded when he and his partner, Det. Sgt. Roy Perry stopped a car for investigation. While Tong fought for his life, an all-out search ended in the capture in Montreal of Suchan who was wounded by three shots from Montreal police.

Five days after Tong died, Jackson also was shot three times by Montreal police.

WANTED BY POLICE

Police said Turpin was wanted for questioning in connection with the shooting of waitress Della Burns, 33, in her apartment about six weeks ago.

Jack Wrycraft, 58, a streetcar operator, said:

"I saw a police officer in uniform. He was lying on the road and trying to get up. He tried twice, but he couldn't make it.

"I got out of the (street) car to help him. Then I saw this man with a gun.

"He pointed it at me and said: 'Get back in the streetcar or I'll kill you too.'"

Wrycraft got back into his car. By this time another police cruiser arrived.

Wrycraft said:

"The gunman was in the wounded officer's car trying to make it go."

Const. John McDonnell, who arrived in the second cruiser, drew his gun and arrested the gunman.

Police later found a jammed

Five Persons Burn to Death Near Noranda

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—Five persons died Sunday when fire destroyed an isolated two-storey farm house in nearby Cloutier, 250 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Seven others were taken to hospital suffering from burns.

Dead are Mrs. Maria Charbonneau, 39, three of her children, Michel, 10, Rachel, 6, Angele, 5, and a six-month - old grandson, Yves Diamond.

Mrs. Charbonneau's husband, Raphael, 45, was taken to hospital in Noranda with six of his children, Lucille, 20, Andre, 13, Marcel, 12, Marie-Claire, 1½, Raphael Jr., five months and Mrs. Clermont Diamond, 18, mother of Yves. All were in satisfactory condition.

Several other persons escaped injury.

It is believed Mrs. Charbonneau entered the blazing house three times to rescue the children. She was overcome on the third attempt.

The fire started about 4:30 a.m., apparently in an overheated home-made furnace, and spread rapidly through the wooden building. The temperature was 30 below at the time

The house, valued at about $12,000, had been destroyed when help arrived. The nearest fire station is at Noranda, about 20 miles south of Cloutier.

An appeal has been launched by clergymen in Cloutier and nearby Beaudry for clothing and accommodation to help the stricken family.

Mr. Chabonneau works at a uranium mine in Elliot Lake, but was home on sick leave.

Try Wednesday To Put Glenn Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—After several frustrating delays, the United States plans to try again Wednesday to send John H. Glenn Jr. whirling into round-the-world orbit.

If everything goes on schedule, an Atlas missile will blast off at 7:30 a.m. EST to boost the 40-year-old Glenn toward his long-awaited flight into space.

A perfect flight would take him three times around the world in four hours, fifty minutes, at a speed of 17,500 miles an hour. Near the end of the third orbit, braking rockets would slow his "friendship" spacecraft and bring it down for a parachute landing in the Atlantic 800 miles southeast of here.

Gales Spread Trail of Wreckage Across Britain Leaving 4 Dead

LONDON (AP) — Roaring gales battered northwest Europe today and spread a trail of wreckage across Britain with at least four dead.

Falling trees and overturned trucks blocked scores of British roads. In Yorkshire, police counted 18 heavy trucks overturned on a 30-mile stretch of the main London-Scotland highway.

The meteorological office said a gust of 123 miles an hour recorded at Lowther Hill, 2,377 feet above sea level at Lanarkshire in Scotland, probably was the biggest ever recorded in Britain.

Landslides hit roads and rail services. Chimneys, radio and television masts and trees came toppling down.

Huge waves swept the North Sea and the Baltic. But no ships were reported in major trouble.

In England, a 27-year-old motorcyclist was blown into the path of a truck and killed. A woman was found dead in the yard of her home amid the debris of a fallen chimney. A 70-year-old man was killed and his daughter injured when the roof of their Gateshead home blew off. At Hull, a nightwatchman was killed by a falling chimney.

Planes to the Isle of Man were unable to land because of cross winds and continued across the Irish Channel to Belfast. Planes operating out of London Airport were warned of 50-mile-an-hour gales on the runway.

A Pan American jet boosted by winds flew into London from Los Angeles one hour and 26 minutes ahead of schedule. The airline said its time of nine hours, one minute was 19 minutes less than the line's previous best.

Southwesterly gales with gusts up to hurricane strength battered Germany's North Sea and Baltic Sea coasts, whipping up waves 10 feet high in some ports. Virtually all German shipping was at a standstill.

Fire brigades in north German cities were called out to handle uprooted trees, collapsed telegraph poles and ripped roofs.

MAY DISSOLVE HOUSE BEFORE END OF WEEK

Speculation Apr. 16 Is Election Date

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament steps gingerly today into another week of what Opposition Leader Pearson has aptly described as the "electoral war of nerves."

All eyes focus on Prime Minister Diefenbaker amid undiminished speculation of an early federal general election and challenges being tossed about like rice at a wedding. The decision on the date is the prime minister's alone.

By the time the week is out, Mr. Diefenbaker probably will be in as good a position as any time to call an election—that is, as far as getting priority, vote-attracting business through Parliament is concerned.

Current speculation is that the Parliament elected March 31, 1958, will be dissolved towards the end of the week for an election Monday, April 16. Dissolution, say, on Saturday would leave 57 days before the actual polling day — the bare minimum requirtd for the election processes.

MAY BE IN FALL

However, there also is an informed body of opinion leaning towards a later election date, in June or the fall. Because Easter intervenes, the first two Mondays of June are generally considered the next most likely election dates after April 16.

The last week saw the government get most of its major welfare legislation through the Commons — increases from $55 to $65 a month in old age pensions, old age assistance and blind persons allowances. A similar increase in disabled persons allowances needs only final reading, scheduled for today when the Commons opens its sitting at 2:30 p.m. EST.

An unusual feature of this week—and another spur to the galloping election speculation — is that the Senate is starting its work week tonight instead of Tuesday, as is customary early in a session.

DEVELOPMENT NEXT

After the formality of third reading of the disabled allowances bill today, the order of Commons business set out by the government concerns three national development projects — the core of the Conservative platform in 1958 — and the remainder of the welfare legislation.

The development projects are proposed railway extensions in northern Alberta, northern Manitoba and the Gaspe region of Quebec. The welfare measures are amendments to the Civilian War Pensions and Allowances Act, the Children of War Dead (Education Assistance) Act, the War Service Grants Act and the Veterans Insurance Act.

Beyond that, in the estimation of some veteran observers, there is little on the Commons order paper or in the throne speech which cannot wait until after an election as far as voter appeal is concerned.

IN EXCHANGE — Francis Gary Powers (left), the American U-2 pilot, and Frederic L. Pryor, an American who vanished on a trip to East Berlin last August, were exchanged Saturday for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel (centre). Powers, held by the Russians since his reconnaissance plane crashed in Soviet territory two years ago, was exchanged for Abel, sentenced by the U.S. to 30 years in 1957, in a hush-hush operation on a Berlin bridge. U-2 Pilot Faces Grilling By U.S. Intelligence Agents

WASHINGTON (AP)—American U-2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers faces detailed grilling from U.S. intelligence agents when he completes a secret rendezvous with his wife.

Among questions awaiting the flyer, free after 21 months in a Russian prison, is: What really happened the morning of May 1, 1960, when he was downed deep inside the Soviet Union? And how much did he tell the Russians about his mission?

Presumably, preliminary questioning began shortly after the 32-year-old pilot crossed a Berlin bridge into U.S. hands Saturday in a two-for-one trade for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

Official sources did not say Powers is in military or government custody. But ever since he crossed a white line where Communist East Germany ends and West Berlin begins, contrived secrecy has cloaked his movements.

All the White House would say in a brief announcement Sunday was that Powers was home again and that he had been reunited with members of his family.

In a far-flung game of hide-and-seek Sunday, reporters tried to find out where Powers and his wife, Barbara, were holding their reunion. But the exact meeting place could not be pinned down.

Powers presumably met also with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers, of Norton, Va.

The Central Intelligence Agency was believed to be setting up a board of inquiry to look into the Powers case. CIA Director John McCone will determine the board's composition.

Another figure in the unprecedented exchange arrived home Sunday. He was James Britt Donovan, the New York lawyer who defended Abel in his 1957 espionage trial and then negotiated his deportation to Russia in a trade for Powers and Frederic Pryor, a graduate student

Tax Incentives and No New Social Welfare Proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — Tax incentives to promote economic growth—but no new social welfare programs—were advocated today by the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In its annual pre-budget brief to Finance Minister Fleming and Revenue Minister Nowlan, the council also gave its approval to another, though smaller, government cash deficit in the coming year and indicated it doesn't expect any appreciable easing of the tax burden.

The council said it "deplores the possible introduction of any additional measures of social security, such as a contributory system of old age pensions announced in the speech from the throne, or any other new measure such as state medicine."

". . . New measures should await until the nation can afford them. Government deficits must not be accepted as a permanent way of life."

The brief made no direct mention of the government's legislation to boost old age pensions to $65 monthly from $55, now nearing final adoption in Parliament.

Among incentive measures, the brief called for a tax bonus to stimulate research expenditures by industry, increased tax - free depreciation allowances and study of a possible

PRINCE IS FINE AFTER REMOVAL OF APPENDIX

Suddenly Stricken While at School

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Charles was reported in "satisfactory" condition today as he awaited a visit from his mother after undergoing surgery for acute appendicitis.

A medical bulletin issued from his hospital here said the 13-year-old heir to the British throne spent a comfortable night.

Charles was operated on at 2 a.m. after a 58-mile dash to London from his school at Cheam in Buckinghamshire.

He spent the night in a private ward of London's Hospital for Sick Children, attended by two nurses, after his appendix was removed by Dr. David Waterson.

The Queen authorized the operation by telephone from Windsor Castle where she was spending the weekend before returning to London today.

NOTIFY PHILIP

The prince's father, the Duke of Edinburgh, was notified by cable at Caracas, Venezuela, and was expected to continue his current South American tour.

Charles complained of feeling ill Sunday morning after chapel at Cheam, the preparatory school where he is spending his last term before starting his secondary education in May at Gordonstoun, his father's old school.

The Cheam school physician, Dr. Basil Phillips, diagnosed appendicitis and the Queen was notified while she was attending a garden party at Windsor.

The Queen's pediatrician, Sir Wilfred Sheldon, 60, rushed to the school from his home in adjoining Surrey County and a surgeon at Newbury District Hospital near the school, Dr. John Joyce, was called in.

ACCOMPANY PRINCE

The three doctors accompanied the prince as he was rushed to London by ambulance with a police escort, arriving at the hospital shortly after midnight.

Dr. Waterson, who performed the operation, made British medical history five years ago when he performed Britain's first successful hole-in-the-heart operation on a nine-month-old baby girl. He has four children of his own.

The anaesthetist was Dr. Margaret Hawksley, 55, who also administered the anaesthetic when the [illegible]nce had his tonsils removed in 1957.

'Do Not Make Cheap Propaganda Of Case', Says Man Freed by Reds

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "There is an opportunity to make a lot of cheap propaganda slamming East Germany—don't do it in my case," a 28-year-old Michigan man said after his release from a Soviet prison.

"After tomorrow, forget me," Frederic Pryor added.

His mother beamed. "This is what I have been waiting for." She had been waiting 5½ months.

The scene was Willow Run airport Sunday. A New York-Detroit airliner a backdrop. The principals were Pryor and his mother, Mrs. Millard H. Pryor.

Less than 48 hours earlier Frederic was released by East Germans who picked him up as an espionage suspect in AST Berlin last Aug. 25 and held him until Saturday.

His mother and father, who learned of his detention three weeks afterward, had spent most of their time in Berlin since.

Frederic said he assumed he was "just a bonus in the deal" in which American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was swapped for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

Frederic told reporters he was "happy, grateful to be home" but that he had not been physically mistreated by the Communists

Powers and Abel, both serving sentences for spying, were traded by their respective governments on a bridge outside West Berlin when he was detained. He went into East Berlin, he said, to listen to a speech by Communist leader Walter Ulbricht.

Pryor had taken with him a copy of a thesis he was writing on East European Communist trade. It contained facts and figures gathered from many sources but Pryor insisted none of them were of a military nature.

Pryor described the unofficial charge against him as "economic espionage." He said he never was shown any official warrant or indictment.

While he was not physically mistreated and had "eaten worse" fare in college dormitories, Pryor said he was questioned daily by the Communists, sometimes for 10 hours or more.

Asks 18-Nation Arms Talks Open At Summit Level

See March 15 Too Soon For Meet, May Be Later

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev has proposed an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament to meet in Geneva in little more than a month. The West seemed certain to turn down the proposal, though a later summit session seems a definite possibility.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced Khrushchev's plan today. The proposal was contained in a letter to President Kennedy delivered at the state department Sunday morning.

In the letter Khrushchev proposed that the 18-nation disarmament conference—scheduled to begin March 15 in Geneva—start work at the summit level.

It was understood that the session would be confined to the single subject of disarmament, based on a set of principles agreed to by the United States and Russia at the United Nations last September.

What stand the United States and its allies, and perhaps a number of non - aligned countries, would take in response to the Khrushchev proposal will be determined in urgent consultations expected to begin immediately.

The White House and state department declined any immediate comment as word of the reported new Khrushchev manoeuvre circulated through Washington.

There appeared to be no likelihood that Kennedy would agree to a meeting with Khrushchev and other government chiefs at the outset of the March 14 talks.

MUST PREPARE

The president has said often that there must be adequate advance preparations for a summit conference, with indications the meeting could be successful. He said at a recent press conference he did not think a meeting with Khrushchev would be advisable under present conditions.

However, if the Geneva disarmament group can make progress toward translating general principles of disarmament into concrete programs, there is reason to believe Kennedy might be willing to go to a summit meeting at a late stage of the negotiations. The Geneva group is to report to the UN June 1.

Reports said the new Soviet proposition was delivered when

Hard Work and Persistence Take Murray Melvin to Top

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—Picked in a nation-wide poll as the strongest possibility for stardom among featured film actors in Britain is a little-known young man, Murray Melvin.

He has tousled dark hair, an extraordinarily expressive face and looks skinnier than Frank Sinatra ever did.

Melvin began working in a London shipping office as a clerk but became so bored with it that he joined the army. During his service he read plays in every spare moment.

When he returned to civilian life he made a career of trying for interviews at the Theatre Workshop, organized by Joan Littlewood, noted experimental director - producer. Finally she left orders with the doorman to make sure Melvin was never admitted.

But Melvin was hard to convince. He entered the lists for a London county scholarship which carried with it the guarantee of an audition by any workshop of the winner's choice. Melvin won — and chose the theatre workshop for his audition.

When Melvin turned up with the victorious parchment and asked for another chance, Miss Littlewood good - naturedly admitted she may have acted a little hastily.

During the next year Melvin showed so much talent that when Miss Littlewood came to cast the west end stage production of A Taste of Honey, Melvin won the young male lead role hands-down.

Critics gave him top notices and he won another plum the next season—the role of the captured young Englishman in Brendan Behan's play The Hostage.

Melvin later played in the stage productions of William Saroyan's Sam, the Highest Jumper of Them All, and Sparrows Can't Sing.

Then, again to the raves of the critics, he recreated his stage role for the movie version of A Taste of Honey, playing opposite another new star, Rita Tushingham. Three more movie offers arrived almost simultaneously.

Fire Destroys Back Kitchen On Station St.

The Belleville fire department was called out to 443 Station Street early this morning when fire destroyed a back kitchen on a house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. D. Keller and their daughter.

Two railroad men working nearby noticed the fire and while one went to phone the fire department the other went to the house to get the occupants out.

The old shed was destroyed when the department arrived, but they managed to keep the fire from expanding.

There was a small amount of smoke and water damage to the house. The door leading into the back kitchen was burned and part of the back wall was badly charred.

The cause of the fire was not known and there was no estimate of the damage.

The house is owned by R. E. Gilbert.

Focus on Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics this week: A baby's life, human birth and a study of blood.

IT'S A BABY, AGAIN

For the anxious, prospective mother and father, the birth of a first child probably is the most important, exciting milestone in life. They might calm themselves with this:

"Until recently, at least a half of all babies born died before reaching maturity," says the Population Reference Bureau.

Now, the bureau points out, 95 of every 100 babies born in Western industrial society live to become adults.

TOO SOON?

For some scientists, the idea that the gestation period for man is 267 days is only half the story.

Dr. Ashley Montagu, Princeton University anthropologist, says the human baby is ushered into the world before he is really ready for it. In fact, birth may be the half-way point.

While it takes the infant 267 days to develop in the womb, it's about 267 days after birth before the child learns to crawl.

Montague feels that the human infant has to be born when he is, or he would not be able to be born at all. The infant's brain needs only to increase slightly to make passage through the birth canal impossible.

In fact the baby's growth rate is such that it just can't continue inside the womb. It must continue outside.

SECRETS IN BLOOD

Are there secret viruses in an expectant mother's blood that cause mental retardation or some other brain or nerve disorder in her unborn child?

To find the answer, scientists at the U.S. National Institute of Health have begun a study to sample the blood of more than 75,000 expectant mothers. The study will last 10 years.

SEE IT NOW

For at least three famous painters of the Renaissance, bad eyesight may be the reason they had such distinctive art styles.

Dr. William G. Ridgeway of Durham, N.C., cites a study which indicates painters Hans Holbein, Lucas Cranach and El Greco may have owed their styel and peculiarly distorted images to uncorrected vision.

El Greco's figures seem to be in a restless angle of posture, leaning or gliding to the right. Possible cause: Unequel refractive power.

Cranach seemed to paint figures much more slender than they really were, indicating that was the way he saw them. Holbein saw his subjects as broad, robust, great of breadth, except for horizontal subjects which he saw as being long and slender.

All-Purpose Car Era May Be Nearly Over

DETROIT (AP) — For the United States automobile industry the first half of 1962 - model production has been marked by profusion, confusion and illusion.

The 1962 models started rolling last August and more than 3,000,000 have been built so far, the fastest pace in three years.

Profusion has been the key word in model selection. At last count a buyer had his choice of 300 separate models with 57 different engines and an almost limitless number of other options.

Confusion continues in the market place, brought on not only by the profusion of models but the increasing variety of sizes and special types. The era of the all - purpose car may not be over, but indications are that it is drawing to a close.

SALES UNEVEN

The illusion surrounding the year so far concerns sales. Records were set regularly from October. But it is an illusion to think all manufacturers are sharing equally in the boom.

General Motors has been grabbing well over 50 per cent of the business instead of its normal 47-48 per cent. Ford has been holding its own at about 30 per cent, leaving less than 20 per cent for the other three makers conbined.

Chrysler, which alone used to take more than 20 per cent, has fallen to a bare 10 per cent, its lowest since the early days of the company. American Motors hasn't been able to improve on its six per cent and Studebaker-Packard, up a fraction earlier, now is apparently suffering from a prolonged strike which began Jan. 1.

U-2 PILOT

Donovan brought word that he thought still another American imprisoned in Russia would win his freedom. He is Marvin Makinen, 22 - year - old student from Ashburnham, Mass., serving an eight-year sentence in Kiev on espionage charges.

Said Donovan: "I have what I believe to be assurance that if the better relations contemplated by this exchange should develop, the Soviet Union would contemplate extending clemency to Makinen."

TALKS FREELY

The secrecy that shrouded Powers' return was in sharp contrast to the homecoming of Pryor, the third principal in the trade. The 28-year-old graduate student arrived in Detroit Sunday on his way home to Ann Arbor, Mich., and talked freely with reporters.

The United States has said Powers was a Lockheed test pilot working under a National Aeronautics and Space Administration contract when he was downed in a high altitude photographic mission 1,240 miles inside Russia. It is generally assumed that the CIA directed the operation.

There still is much mystery surrounding Powers' flight. Military, diplomatic and intelligence officials are expected to join in the questioning. Only when this is completed, it is believed, will Powers be able to pick up the threads of his private life.

Govt. to Make More Crown Land Available

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec Outfitters Association was told Sunday the government plans to make more crown land available to the public for hunting, fishing and recreation.

Game and Fisheries Minister Gerard Levesque said any leased land that is not being put to full use will be made public. Private hunting and fishing clubs with small memberships and large lease holdings probably would lose much of their land.

"People who pay licence fees to hunt and fish want more room," he said.

A provincial park in the St. Maurice Valley north of Trois-Rivieres would soon become a reality, he indicated. The Valley is heavily leased by private clubs.

ASK WOLF BOUNTY

They requested the government to:

1. Put a $30 bounty on wolves, take the bounty off bear and recognize the bear as a game animal;

2. Increase fish and game licence fees for residents and non-residents to provide more revenue for game wardens and conservation purposes;

3. Make a limited inventory of moose and deer;

4. Provide wild rice to be sown in marshes as an attraction to ducks and geese.

The delegates praised a government increase in the rates for tourists staying at provincial parks. The fee was doubled to $2 a car daily, plus $1 daily for each person in it.

Varied Program Given by Drama Club of College

The newly-formed Drama Club of Nicholson Catholic College went into action last week in St. Michael's Academy auditorium when a two-hour program consisting of comedies, musical skits, vocal, instrumental and dance numbers delighted the large audience and spoke well for the talent displayed by the young amateurs.

Following the opening selections by the College Glee Club, a one-act comedy which centred around the antics of a young brother who almost ruined his sister's party was superbly acted by Jo Ann Griffiths, Brian Colligan, Carol Cameron, David Cox, Marvin McCrae, Denis Mercier, Maureen Murphy, Gene Campbell, Doug St. Laurent, Brett Mann, Sandra Keitch and Roberta Braidner.

Two scenes from the play "Macbeth" were presented — Peter Cliffe-Phillips impersonated the Scottish general in the "dagger scene"; in the "sleep-walking scene," Diane Howe portrayed Lady Macbeth, while Anne Boulianne and James McNamee played the roles of nurse and doctor. Accordion selections by Leslie Fraser; two Scottish songs by Ken Campbell and a comedy skit by Roberta Braidner and Ken Campbell were highlights of the evening's program.

Two talented young dancers, Jaclyn Keegan and Diane McCallum, executed with grace and finesse ballet and tap numbers. The second comedy presented recounted the strange happenings besetting the Morrow family as the schemes of an unrequited lover led to a complicated series of hilarious incidents. This hit featured Brenda Begley, Terry McNamara, Janice Day, Cheryl Power, Valerie Smith, Brian McDonnell, Denis McCauley and Maureen Brownrigg.

The Drama Club members have reason to be proud of this initial effort to present a well-planned program and the enthusiastic applause of the appreciative audience was their reward for hours of patient practice. The Drama Club is under the direction of Sister Mary Fleurette Dan Keeley, president of the Students' Council, acted as chairman and assisting the Drama Club were Dave Hardy, Doug Duminie, Don Holoway, Leo Enright, John Lupinette, Peter Cleary, Robertson Collins and Bob Gardiner.

Former Chief Will Reside In Tweed

TWEED — Constable Walter Higgins submitted his resignation to Tweed Council last Monday night after formally informing them by letter on February 3rd.

The Tweed constable has accepted a position with a Toronto private investigation firm, and will be located at its Oshawa branch. Part of his new duties will be the formation of a security division for the company. His resignation actually becomes effective the end of next week, as he will be taking the last two weeks of February as his holidays. Council decided to contact the Provincial Police office in Belleville for assistance in policing the village until such a time as a new appointment is made.

Mr. Higgins came to Tweed in 1955 after serving as constable for the township of Pickering, and later as head of the Oshawa city traffic squad. He succeeded the late Don Matheson in Tweed, who went to Pickering and had retired from police duties just prior to his sudden death two years ago. In December Mr. Higgins was appointed member of Tweed Consolidated School Board and, as he still plans to maintain his home in Tweed, he will, no doubt, continue in this capacity. He is also a member of the A.F. and A.M. and has taken a keen interest in Scouting activities, serving on the executive for several years.

Cloudbursts Hit Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California's sixth day of saturation started spectacularly today as cloudbursts opened up on parts of the Los Angeles area, creating lakes up to seven feet deep.

At the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and Pacific Coast highway the water was seven feet deep. It covered the rooftops of automobiles at some other points.

Russians Got Best of Deal In Spy Swap

MAPLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — The man who prosecuted Russian master spy Col. Rudolf Abel said Saturday night the Russians got the best of the deal in its swap for U.S. Pilot Francis Powers.

"It's like trading Mickey Mantle for an average ballplayer," said William Tompkins, former U.S. assistant attorney - general. "We gave them an extremely valuable man and got back an airplane driver."

Tompkins described Abel as "the best spy we ever saw."

Foster Mother Given 6 Years For Slaying

SUDBURY (CP) — Mrs. Roland Goulet today was sentenced to six years in prison for the shotgun slaying of her 17-month - old adopted daughter, Jean.

The 24-year-old woman from Estaire, 20 miles south of here, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter Thursday. She was originally charged with capital murder.

"My client expresses regret for what she did," Defence Counsel Elmer Sopha said. "She feels she deserves to be punished and wants to be punished."

After Mrs. Goulet was allowed to plead guilty on the reduced charge Thursday, the jury was ordered by Mr. Justice W. D. Parker to retire and "consider whether manslaughter is the proper verdict."

The jury accepted the plea and recommended mercy.

Before imposing the prison sentence Mr. Justice Parker said the recommendation was proper.

Mr. Sopha, Liberal MPP for Sudbury, said that during the trial no witnesses had a bad word for his client.

"She desired the love and affection of her husband" he said. "When denied this she was left to this course of action. Such an act cannot be condoned. She is fully aware of that. She is willing to pay the debt she owes to society."

The defence lawyer said he met with "considerable hostility" on the part of Mrs. Goulet's husband.

"He was bent on putting obstacles in our way and it was useless to look to him for help in our defence."

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Atlantic provinces braced for another onslaught of crippling weather today in the wake of a weekend storm which paralyzed Cape Breton Island in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

Humans May Go the Way Of Dinosaur

- - Chisholm

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director - general of the World Health Organization, said Saturday man must develop a social responsibility of an individual level if he is to avoid going the way of the dinosaur.

Dr. Chisholm, of Victoria, B.C., told the annual convention of the Ontario Association of Architects social responsibility, defined as the development of civilization by man, had its birth ancestral family groups.

With the development of weapons, agriculture and greater mobility the group became bigger until man's loyalty was to the national group into which he was born.

Fifteen years ago, he said, man reached the point of "overhill." The old system no longer worked because man now had the ability to kill everybody, including himself, several times over.

"For thousands of years, we have depended on our ability to kill other people for our security. When threatened or frightened, the right and proper thing to do was to increase our ability to kill. . . .

"Any war we have ever been involved in was a righteous war from our point of view. God was always on our side — no matter which side we were on."

Dr. Chisholm said one of the greatest problems of the world is that of feeding the population, yet it is still getting little attention.

The attitude of the starving, he said, is that their children are suffering while other, prosperous people in the world don't care.

"For the first time in history," he said, "this has become a dangerous situation."

Justice Wilson Named Head Of Cyprus Court

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice John Leonard Wilson, 62, a member of the Supreme Court of Ontario since 1945, has been appointed president of the High Court of Cyprus.

He will leave, with his wife, to take up his post March 5. The appointment is for six years. Mr. Justice Wilson has been granted a leave of absence from the Ontario court.

Born in Schomberg, Ont., he attended public and high school in British Columbia and graduated from University College, Toronto, in 1923. He graduated from Osgoode Hall in 1926 and was called to the bar the same year.

He is known as an outspoken man. Last November he was reprimanded by the Law Society of Upper Canada for criticizing the way Queen's Proctor Elliot Pepper handled a divorce hearing.

In 1950 Mr. Justice Wilson refused to hear the case of a lawyer who appeared before him wearing a light - colored summer suit beneath his robes, saying "there is a recognized and a proper dress."

Less than a year after his appointment to the bench Mr. Justice Wilson ordered a man freed who had been placed in jail for contempt of court after refusing to make interim alimony payments the court had ordered.

"The day has long gone by when men are left to rot in jails for non - payment and I shall not countenance it," he said.

Under the constitution of Cyprus, which became an independent republic in 1960 after 82 years of British rule, the High Court president must come from a neutral country and not from Cyprus, Greece, Turkey or Britain.

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank Hall, 68-year-old veteran chief negotiator for Canada's 110,000 non-operating railway employees, has entered a hospital in Galveston, Tex., for what was described as a checkup, it was reported today.

He is expected to remain in hospital for about two weeks.

Mr. Hall had been expected in Montreal today to take part in a meeting of the negotiating committee of the 15 CLC-affiliated non-ops unions, now engaged in talks for a new contract with Canada's railways.

The meeting of the committee today is to consider a series of company offers in the contract dispute.

A meeting between the unions and the railways is scheduled for Wednesday.

Flying Frogmen Offer Training In Diving

TRENTON — "When a potential member first comes to one of our training sessions, we give him a briefing and let him try out the gear in the swimming pool—of course our instructors stay right with him during the few minutes he is underwater," stated Bill Tulloch, secretary of the Flying Frogmen SCUBA Club at the RCAF Station Trenton.

"This brief experience familiarizes the new man with some of the pleasures of the sport, and our club usually ends up with a new member," Bill concluded.

Following a two-week familiarization period with the club the beginner pays $7.50 which covers his membership in the Ontario Underwater Council and the price of air consumed during his 2½-month training period.

Chief Instructor Al Penchuk who trained with the National Association of Underwater Instructors in Toronto recently, bring the beginner along slowly and methodically, first correcting basic swimming faults, later instructing in skin diving and SCUBA (self-contained underwater breathing apparatus.)

The beginners' course usually involves about 35 hours of instruction, broken down into two hour periods in the indoor swimming pool at RCAF Station Trenton.

Usually the evening's instruction is given by the more qualified members of the Flying Frogmen—President Al Gates, vice-president George Heacock or instructors Spin Renaud and Al Penchuk, and George Bilyk.

At present the club boasts 16 beginners with ten trained members. Following graduation from the beginners' course enthusiasts can go on to more advanced courses.

The club is open to all members of the Armed Forces in the Trenton area and their dependents. Numbered among the present class are five girls.

"Surprisingly enough, we find that the girls are among our best students," observed instructor Al Penchuk, "they really pay attention, are exceptionally keen, and not likely to experiment by themselves with the apparatus before they completely understand it."

Cpl. Penchuk and his assistant instructors will have their hands full during the last week in February when they launch their final beginners course before the summer. At present they are in the process of rounding up as many interested Armed Force members and their dependents as they can.

Sine the club was first formed under the presidency of Larry Howland in December 1959, it has operated in close cooperation with interested SCUBA divers in the area.

POLICE OFFICER

automatic pistol on the front seat of Nash's cruiser.

Nash was alone in the police cruiser when he flagged the truck down.

While he was looking at the drivers' licence, police said, Turpin got out of the truck. The pair scuffled and the officer was shot.

The Star says:

"The fact Const. Nash was alone in the cruiser was cited . . . by constables as dangerous and a system they opposed when the one-man cruiser system began a year ago because of staff shortages."

Chief Mackey said he had no comment on the one-man cruise system.

The policeman was shot with a small Luger automatic. Spent shells from the Luger, Nash's gun and a third weapon were found at the scene, leading police to believe Turpin's companion also fired at the policeman.

Police found $800 in bills and silver in the truck, but no break-ins had been reported.

Nash's brother, Harold, is on the force's criminal identification Bureau. Nash had been on the force nine years.

Inspection Chief Obstacle

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and President John Kennedy of the U.S. have sent personal letters to Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia urging that foreign ministers of the three nations confer in an effort to achieve an agreement banning nuclear tests.

They are to be commended for their initiative, for the banning of tests, while perhaps not an essential prelude to any agreement on control of nuclear arms, might well provide a useful lesson on feasible methods of reaching the latter vastly more important accord.

Unfortunately, there was scant reason to hope that the foreign ministers, at a brief conference, could be expected to achieve success where highly skilled diplomatists have failed so dismally after many weary months of negotiating.

Any hope there may have been appears to have been dissipated at the same time the appeal was made, by the announcement that President Kennedy proposed to press for inspection and control aimed at preventing secret preparations for new tests, as well as preventing tests themselves being made in secrecy.

The Russians have displayed a reluctance to permit inspection which amounts almost to a phobia. They regard it as a camouflage for spying.

This may be unreasonable, but we should not forget that one of the advantages which the Russians enjoy in the cold war is that it is much more simple for them to shroud certain activities in secrecy than it is for any nation practising freedom of speech and of movement.

In the present international atmosphere, it is too much to expect any nation to forego any advantage it may enjoy, no matter how unimportant it may appear. The most that can reasonably be expected is for the rival powers to agree to mutually refrain from certain activities from which neither side derives any advantage over its rivals. Nuclear testing is itself such an activity. An agreement to stop such testing might be possible if it could be divorced from inspection of a type which could be utilized for espionage. Scientific advances have brought detection of nuclear tests without close on-the-scene inspection close to the realm of the possible. Obviously, though, it would be absurd to dream of detecting mere preparations for such tests without having inspection teams free to roam at will throughout the territories of the signatory powers. The Russians will never agree to this while tensions remain as high as they are today.

President Kennedy's concern about the Russian success in keeping preparations for their new tests secret is understandable. As he says, the U.S. cannot permit Russia to continue tests, which may yield vital new discoveries, without itself following a similar policy of experimentation and development.

There is, though, an alternative course to that suggested by President Kennedy. Instead of seeking inspection to prevent the preparation of new tests, it would be possible to ignore the question of such preparations in any treaty banning tests. This would leave the Russians free to prepare for a new series—but the U.S. could make similar preparations. With both sides ready to test, but knowing that provision had been made for detection methods which would reveal any actual tests, the side which first broke the pact would have an advantage so brief as to be of no consequence, since discoveries made in any series of tests cannot be translated into an advantage in operational weapons without lengthy periods of further development and production.

Poor Choice for a Name

Fire at Port Arthur ripped through a $2,500,000 high school which was under construction. Perhaps, before the school is completed finally there will be one slight change in the plans. The school was to have been named the Dag Hammarskjold High School.

There is nothing wrong with naming schools after famous people, but one rule ought to be observed. The people so honored ought not to be contemporaries, for judgments concerning their records may change. Hammarksjold is a famous name today—and rightly so. Are we so sure it will still be famous half a century from now? In his day Aristide Briand was held in as high esteem by those who dreamed of a world at peace. How many high school students today could identify him? In fact we must leave the reader for a moment while we check the encyclopedia to make sure we have the first name right. Yes, it is correct—but then we remember when.

Strictly Personal

Politics Outstripped By Science

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My recent piece on the tragic division in modern society between those who have the knowledge and those who have the power was underscored by a dispatch from Stockholm in the January newsletter of the Society for Social Responsibility in Science.

Addressing the Nobel prize winners in science and literature, Prof. Arne Tiselius, head of the Swedish Nobel Institute, warned that "science may lose all control over its development."

Prof. Tiselius called for "an international moral code covering the use of scientific results." This must be done soon, he said, "if life is to be still worth living, or if we are to survive at all."

Pointing to the ideological struggle in the world, he deplored "those who exploit important scientific and technical advances to serve their ideologies, ignoring scientists and investors..."

Still worse, he added, "some of the most important discoveries in the past decades were used for making weapons of mass destruction on a scale never imagined, and some people believe these weapons can settle the conflicts we are facing."

What I found most alarming in his talk was his acknowledgement that while mankind will benefit from new medical discoveries, we must be wary of "tampering with processes of life; creating new diseases, controlling minds and influencing heredity — for this can result in more refined and more dangerous results than instruments of mass destruction."

Dr. Tiselius concluded sadly that "statesmen who guide the destiny of the world do not seem to realize what is happening."

This is precisely what I referred to as the "tragic division" between knowledge and power, which has never been so great in human history as it is today.

We would think it absurd if our world statesmen met at UN headquarters in powdered wigs, silk stockings and knee breeches, signed their papers with quill pens, and dispatched them by stagecoach.

Yet, in the intellectual realm, this is precisely the anachronism we face. Diplomacy is several hundred years behind the realities of modern life; we are still involved with pacts, balances of power, national boundaries and all the paraphernalia that has been made obsolete by our revolutionary scientific and technical advances.

The men who understand the implications of this revolution are working for, and taking orders from, their antiquated governments; but their voices are not heard and the powdered wigs make the decisions.

Polish Girls Dress Well

Brockville Recorder and Times

As Western travellers have noted, the women of Poland are among the most fashion-conscious —within their limited means — in the Communist world. And, Poland itself, as we noted recently, still enjoys friendly relations with the West..

Yet some of the drabness that characterizes life in the Soviet world and which is reflected in the way people dress (among other things) has rubbed off in Poland too.

It is good to know that in the Communist world there is a country like Poland, which still remembers its great heritage, its interest in the beauty of this world and its love of color and laughter, and gives due regard to the desire of their womenfolk to look their best.

Residents on Sidney Street registered a complaint to city police today regarding the destruction of private property by goats owned in the community. According to the objections raised, goats are being permitted to wander at large and are destroying shrubs and small trees belonging to residents.

With rubber tires at a premium, some person is better off by a tire, tube and wheel today, that is unless the party who found the articles on Highway No. 2 yesterday return them to the owner. Police were informed today that a tire and tube, mounted on a wheel, had fallen off a local garage truck some where between here and Trenton.

Farming activities in Hastings County were on the air Friday evening when during the Farm Forum broadcast over CBL, a Hastings boy, Ralph Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell of Foxboro, was called upon to say a few words. Ralph recently enlisted with the R.C.A.F. and at present at Manning Pool in Toronto, attended the Farm Forum discussion and was prevailed upon to say something about his native county.

With consistent winter weather having thickened ice in the Bay of Quinte to a depth of 18 inches, the annual ice harvest of local ice supply firms is in full stride this week. Dealers supplying ice to the domestic trade have barely started their harvest, but Black's Fish Company have nearly completed the storage of ice.

At a meeting of the city council the recommendation was passed that the Central Relief Committee be allowed to draw on the Bank of Montreal for sums to exceed $6,000 until the returns from the government are received. This will allow the city to carry on the waiting for the returns of aid from the Government.

The tender of Mr. Charles Walters to supply nineteen suits for the firemen at a cost of $26.50 each and one suit for the fire chief at a cost of $29.50, has been accepted by the city council.

No ice has yet been cut and stored for next summer's use. As a result of the mild winter the ice in the bay is only about nine inches in thickness. The ice dealers are undecided whether to take the ice as it is or to wait and see if the latter part of this month and the early part of March will bring colder weather. The city requires about 10,000 tons of ice for summer use. One dealer says that in the 34 years in the ice business he never encountered conditions as they now exist.

The larger one weighs one pound eight and one-half ounces and is fourteen inches about the middle and fifteen and one-half inches lengthwise about the core. The plant on which the lemons grew bloomed in September last and is about eight years old. Mr. Hick is much interested in the cultivation of flowers and is the proud possessor of an Egyptian black calla lily which is now in full bloom.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WATCH AT THE GATES

How often great causes have been destroyed by the perfidy of single individuals. If Benedict Arnold had been successful in handing over West Point to the enemy in 1780 it is doubtful if the Revolutionary War would have come out as it did.

Today tourists in Greece are shown the place where a traitor opened the gates of a certain city to a cruel enemy and put the nation under centuries of foreign domination. The one mean, unprincipled traitor can sometimes bring regiments and divisions to destruction. The one mean, treasonable streak in our moral natures can bring destruction to our moral life. One of the most amazing things, and the most disquieting, about moral tragedies is that they happen so precipitantly. They appear to come all of a sudden. One little act — that mean, unprincipled traitor who opened the gates — causes the whole structure to fall to the enemy.

It has been said that genius is the matter of taking pains in little things. Our Lord's word to his disciples was "Watch." They were to be on their guard all the time. Peter's denial after his great boasting was an example of how quickly even the saints can fall.

Life is made up of little things — little decisions, little projects, momentary impulses which flit through our minds. Watch out for the little things. Especially keep an eye on that traitorous impulse which can open the doors of our hearts to the assault of the enemy.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The bigger the city, the less do people meet one another's eyes. In villages, of course, everybody looks everyone else in the eye. In towns, it is the normal thing to do. In small cities, you begin to notice a tendency in people to ignore one another on the street, in buses, in shops. But they are not fearful of one another as they are in the larger cities. They are not afraid to glance at one another, pleasantly, or even with interest, in passing.

But when you get into a really big city, you can walk the main streets for miles and never meet another person's eyes. After a little while, you find yourself being careful not to be caught looking.

It is in buses, trams and subways in the big cities that the things becomes both tragic and comic. There you sit, face to face with the passengers across from you. And every eye stares vacantly in any and every direction for fear it might inadvertently catch yours. If by accident your eyes do encounter, and look, for a horrorstruck instant, with those of somebody else, you have the feeling of shame you experience in that dream in which you find yourself walking in the crowded street in nothing but your undershirt.

It may be this: that the more we are herded together, the more we try to pretend we are alone.

Letters To The Editor

Protests Council's Decision to Re-zone

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

I read with amazement in the Feb. 6th issue of The Ontario Intelligencer that city council had voted to re-zone lots 147 and 148 on Hastings Drive.

The undersigned built, in 1950, the first residence on Hastings Drive. About three years later the residents of this area expressed their wishes to city council in no uncertain terms to prevent the construction of a motel facing on Dundas St. and backing on Hastings Drive. At that time, the wishes of the people were honored and the Ontario Municipal Board zoned the area for residential purposes. Since that time, the residents have had to re-affirm their demands that the area remain residential to prevent the encroachment of commercial interests. Must the citizens of Belleville be continually on the alert to prevent fast-talking commercial interests invading their privacy?

The writer has never been asked about his views regarding re-zoning of the lots in question, even though his home is within sight of said lots. He was not aware that the matter was before council "several weeks ago". The writer has been unable to find anyone in the area in favor of the re-zoning. Who are the residents whose objections have disappeared?

If the supposedly astute alderman who claimed that the area in question might be classed either as residential or general business, would take the trouble to drive around Hastings Drive and view lots 147 and 148, he would see that said lots lie between two homes, each of which is in the $18,000 to $20,000 class. Can this, by any stretch of the imagination, be considered other than residential?

City council are the elected representatives of the people and as such they have a duty to respect the wishes of the people. Must a vigilante committee be set up by the residents of Belleville to ensure that the status of the area in which they reside is not changed without them being consulted?

G. E. Maybee,
157 Hastings Drive.

Dislikes Radio Ads and Jokes

Editor
Ontario Intelligencer

Radio communication is a useful and a good thing to have around a home but I sincerely believe that at times there is room for improvement concerning certain programs. For instance after the news is announced and the public is patiently and eagerly waiting for it, why have it interrupted with an advertisement, especially with those annoying singing kind of advertisements? Now Mr. Editor we all like something cheerful and a worthwhile humor too on our radios but what about the kind of "joke" like the one given us on early Thursday morning about the minister who invited his congregation to pray for his racing horse? Let us hope that those who are responsible for selecting programs will do their best to please their air audience.

There isn't a household in Canada that does not throw out items that would be a godsend to people in some lands. The fancy packaging by stores of goods alone, not to speak of the vast extravagance in wrapping paper, reflects the high wide and hnadsome view taken by society in general in practically all its dealings.

Few if any people practice economy in little things in North American society, and turnover is the magic word which keeps the economic machine going.

To Your Good Health

Antabuse Makes a Person Sick If He Drinks

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is a heavy drinker. For three months he has been out of work and is drinking heavier. I've asked him to go to Alcoholics Anonymous but he refuses. Now I've asked him if I get some medicine will he take it, and he says yes. Would you spell the neame of some pills I can get from a doctor or drug store? — E.T."

There is no medicine that will cure alcoholism. The closest anyone has come is a drug called antabuse, which has the curious faculty of making a person sick as a dog if he drinks.

It's a powerful drug and has to be used carefully; hence the law permits you to get it only on prescription and under a doctor's care.

Many cities have alcohol clinics, which can give you further advice.

You probably know very well by now that a chronic drinker can be very cagey about concealing the amount he drinks, or hiding a bottle somewhere, or getting hold of some money for drinks when the money should go for something else.

Well, experience teaches us that alcoholics may agree to take antabuse. However they become quite adroit at pretending to take it, but not really doing so. Or they find excuses for not taking it.

It's true that a great many alcoholics need help from someone else (doctor, friend, wife, AA, pastor, or whoever) to lick the habit.

But one thing they must do for themselves is to have a genuine desire to quit drinking. They simply cannot expect any other person, or any pill, or any treatment, to do it all. They must want to succeed.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A question has arisen between my neighbor and myself: Why do some women's skin show stretch marks and others don't? She just had her third baby and showed me her stretch marks on her stomach and breast. Also she told me she had only four stitches with this one.

"I have five children, aged from 1 to 7, and have never had any stretch marks or stitches. Our physical differences are these — I am an even 5 feet and weigh 98 pounds; she is 5-3, and weighs 110. During pregnancy we each gained only 16 pounds. Also I do not do specific exercises and she does. Please explain if you can. — Mrs. M.S."

I can't. All I know is that some skins stretch better than others. Gaining too much weight in pregnancy certainly increases the intensity of stretch marks, but 16 pounds isn't excessive. I doubt whether exercise has much if anything to do with stretch marks. In short, all I can say is that some skins do and some don't.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor prescribed phenobarbital because I was very nervious, but then I was told that the pills make you mean, etc. so I haven't taken any for six or eight weeks. I am very nervous and feel crabby. Should I take them again? — M.C."

Phenobarbital should be taken in suitably small doses, but it doesn't make you mean." After your recent experience, don't you think your doctor knew what he was doing better than whoever it was who gave you that misinformation?

Note to A.E.: There are surgeons doing heart operations in every big medical centre, and in some smaller cities — but myocardial infarction is not one of the things for which surgery is commonly done. Therefore don't go racing off to a medical centre. Find out from your own doctor first whether your case is one that might be helped by surgery.

Extinguisher May Be Lethal

Financial Post

Those who have a fall-out shelter and who are stocking it with care would be well advised to hear this warning.

Make sure the fire extinguisher doesn't contain carbon tetrachloride — that's the foamy-type extinguisher in a fall-out shelter illustrated in FP, tell us that toxic vapors discharged from such an appliance in a confined area could be fatal. It would certainly force the occupants out of the shelter in a big hurry.

Ottawa HQ of the Emergency Measures Organization agree. EMO says there are other extinguishers on the market such as carbon dioxide and pressurized water types, which can be used safely.

If Second World War experience is any guide in this nuclear age, a few buckets of sand might do.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE SENTIMENT OF IT

If a man comes along and tells you he doesn't believe in sentiment, I would leave him alone if I were you.

The only men worth trusting and tying to are those who are able to feel.

To be sentimental is to live in the world of feeling. All great men are steeped in sentiment.

Lincoln couldn't allow young boys to be shot because they got tired on duty and fell asleep. The great Webster went to bed and wept when his father told him he had put another mortgage on the farm so that he might go to college.

Mothers are mostly all sentiment because they are mostly all heart.

When you expose your heart to a man in a business deal he is going to trust and stick to you.

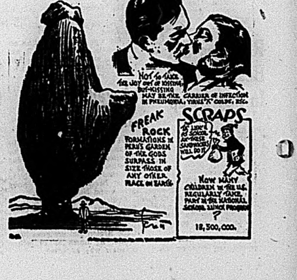
I saw a traffic cop stop a long line of cars in New York City recently while he personally led an elderly lady — probably the mother of a fine grown family — safely across the street. I could see the picture of that traffic cop's own mother in my mind's gallery as he did that gentle and thoughtful considerate act.

Don't hide your sentiment. Be glad and proud of it.

Your own town or village is spotted with lovely parks and beautiful roads. In summer flowers bloom and trees give shade. Pictures hang in your home, and you say kind things and defend the weak — all for the sentiment of it. And God bless you for it!

Water your sentimental feelings. Keep them green. Never mind the criticism of those who pretend they do not believe in sentiment. Those who do not believe, and nurture, sentiment in their hearts are dried up folks.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. SCOTT



No Evidence Anyone Planning To Build Doomsday Machine

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — As if super H-bombs, and possible death rays, are not fearful enough, there's now talk of doomsday machines.

It's entirely hypothetical talk. And there's no evidence anyone is planning to build one.

But the ideas are spine-chilling, for the horrendous has mergd more and more with reality in recent years and who can tell what's ahead?

There are several formulas for building doomsday machines. One involves meddling with the cosmos so that an asteroid, a little planet, would be pushed out of its orbit and sent into the earth with continent-busting force.

This concept was recently discussed by Dandridge Cole of General Electric's missile and space vehicle department in a report to the American Astronautical Society.

Essential would be a really big rocket, of the kind expected to be ready after 1970. With the aid of this rocket, a number of hydrogen bombs would be exploded behind an asteroid orbiting between the earth and Mars.

The asteroid—so the theory goes—would be propelled out of its orbit and hit the earth with the force of several millions of big H-bombs.

CONFUSE VICTIM

The victim country, Cole thinks, might believe it was a natural catastrophe, and wouldn't know where to pin the blame or where to strike back with its retaliatory force—if it had any left.

Take a sort of hydrogen bomb, containing 1,000 tons of heavy water. Wrap around it a blanket of sodium, the common, cheap element that is in your table salt.

Place the bomb on a submersible barge, hitch a submarine to the barge and tow it underwater to a well-populated coast.

Back your submarine off and detonate the barge by remote control. The neutrons from the blast make the sodium radioactive. It becomes Sodium-24 and rains down on the populace.

KILL ALL LIFE

If theoretical assumptions holds, over an area of 200,000 square miles all life would die, including people in average basement shelters, and all vegetation.

These possibilities are sketched by W. H. Clark, physicist and explosives expert who works for the Utah Research and Development Company. He outlined them in the bulletin of the atomic scientists. He noted that the phrase "doomsday machines" is used by Herman Kahn in his book On Nuclear War, published by the Princeton University Press.

The Pentagon and U.S. Atomic Energy Commission say nothing on the record about such things. But one highly-placed general told an Associated Press reporter:

"Existing weapons are pretty horrible and hypothetical potentials are really horrendous. Public discussions on the subject are all to the good; maybe people around the world will get to take disarmament seriously.

Press Blamed For Differences In Countries

By JOE DUPUIS

PLAINFIELD, Vt. (CP)—A high - ranking Canadian Embassy official in Washington said here Sunday night that after spending seven years in the United States capital he had discovered that the sharpest Canadian criticism of Americans comes from "the area around Toronto and Vancouver."

Robert A. Farquharson, Toronto - born minister - counsellor with the embassy, blamed a failure of communications, particularly the press, for the differences between the two countries.

His speech opened the two-week Canadian-American seminar for management at Goddard College, 10 miles from Montpellier, the Vermont state capital.

Mr. Farquharson said the two countries don't understand each other despite the fact that information pours across the border. For example, he said, while there have been causes for complaint the United States has been blamed a good many times when it has not been guilty.

MIGHT SOFTEN CRITICS

He suggested more information about Canadian problems in the United States and a sounder understanding of the mass of information about Americans read in Canada could "soften, if not entirely wipe out, the shrill anti-American cries. . . ."

He said that despite everything anti-Americanism in Canada "does not exist to anything like the extent it has been advertised."

He referred to recent U.S.-Canada trade talks in Ottawa which news columns in the U.S gave no indication were regarded "as unusual, important or even interesting."

"I mention the reporting of this conference as a sad example of the coverage of Canadian political and economic events in the U.S. press. The great Associated Press, which I regard as the world's outstanding news service, does not have a single staff correspondent in Ottawa, though Tass does.

DEPENDS ON CP

"The AP depends for its coverage of everything that happens in Canada on the solid Canadian Press. But CP stories are written by Canadians, for Canadian readers, and few Americans have enough background political knowledge of Canada to understand reporting in this form.

"The main CP trunk wire which goes to the largest Canadian papers pours thousands of words into the AP office in New York every day. But it is by-product material and I am not surprised that so little gets published in the press of the U.S

"The longer I watch this situation, the more certain I am that the capital of Canada will remain undiscovered by the public of the U.S. until American reporters are sent there to write for Americans in language Americans will understand."

ST. JOHNS, Que (CP) — Maurice Lamontagne, economic adviser to Liberal Opposition Leader Lester Pearson, said Sunday night Canada suffers from "an anemic economy, a profound uneasiness about national unity and new manifestations of social insecurity." The brief also urged that a full review be made of taxes levied by all levels of government to determine their economic effects and to find inequities that should be removed.

On trade policy, it said Britain's desire to enter the European Common Market "bodes well for a strengthened Europe."

". . . Canada would be doing itself and others a service in recognizing these developments and in facilitating as easy and rapid an adjustment as possible."

It made no reference to the government's attempts to retain Commonwealth tariff preferences if Britain joins the Common Market.

Hydro Workers Meet to Decide Strike Action

OTTAWA (CP)—A meeting in Toronto today is to decide whether strike action will be taken by 8,500 weekly and hourly rate employees of Toronto Hydro, it was reported here Sunday night.

The executive of the Ontario Hydro Employees' Union was to meet in Toronto to decide whether to accept Hydro's final offer in wage negotiations.

The offer was reported to have been made after study of an arbitration board report.

A majority report signed by Judge R. W. Reville of Brantford and company nominee J. C. Adams recommended a two - year contract with a two-per - cent wage increase retroactive to April 1, 1960 and a further two - per - cent increase dating back to Jan. 1 of this year.

The report rejected a Hydro proposal to cut wages of operators by 7.8 per cent and construction tradesmen by four per cent.

A minority report signed by union nominee Harry Walsglass of the United Steelworkers, recommended a general four-per-cent increase in each of the two years of the contract.

Young Woman Roaming World on Horseback Will Visit Canada Soon

By HAROLD TILLEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

MELBOURNE (CP) — Canada is to have a visit from a young woman who is roaming the world on horseback with changes of blue jeans and sports blouses in a couple of small saddlebags.

Just when she will hit Canada will depend on how much time she spends in Australia.

At the moment, from a saddle on a horse named Radish, she is bridging the 2,500 miles that separate cairns in Queensland and Melbourne in Victoria.

This follows a 3,000 - mile ramble on horseback in New Zealand, noted more for the magnificence and variety of its scenery than for the number of miles in its two small islands.

The young woman on horseback is Hazel Astbury. She is slim and when she takes off her soft washable cotton hat with a brim that shelters her blue eyes but not her sun-tanned complexion, she discloses a mop of blonde hair. She is 30.

Hazel is a native of Cheshire, England, but has spent most of her adult years in Jersey, one of the Channel Islands off the northwest coast of France where the official language is French but where English is the daily spoken language. There, she was employed as a dental nurse until she yielded to the urge for wider horizons.

Apart from budget considerations, Hazel chose the horseback ride because it gave independence of transport time-tables that could not cater to individual wishes, the more satisfying appreciation it afforded of scenic beauties and the unequalled opportunity it provided to meet people in their own environment.

It is her experience that you can spend a lot of time and money in big cities without really gttting to know a country or its people.

WORKS AS SHE GOES

Most of her nights are spent in country homes along her route. The brief stays come about by invitation or arrangement — sometimes as a mere guest and at other times as a paying guest. She pays her way by working in many capacities in the home, on the farm or in gardens. The only work in which she does not engage is dental nursing because she does not stay long enough in any one centre.

She says her travel rate on Radish is about 25 miles a day and, with the co-operation of hospitable folk on the way, the out - of - pocket expenses run around $5 a week.

Hazel arranges to be back in Jersey at least once every five years so she can maintain her citizenship. At the back of this is the fact that Jersey Island dwellers are not called on to pay taxes.

She says that while she is seeing Australia she will be conjuring mental pictures from what she has been told and has read of Canada—a country she is longing to see.

ASKS 18-NATION

Mikhail Smirnovsky, ranking official at the Soviet embassy, met Sunday morning with State Secretary Dean Rusk at the state department. Smirnovsky was said to have given Rusk a seven-page letter from Khrushchev to Kennedy.

Rusk got in touch with the president and is understood to have given him a full account of the Khrushchev message. Late in the afternoon Rusk called in the ambassadors of Canada, Britain, France and Italy—NATO allies who will participate in the scheduled disarmament talks at Geneva—and is said to have given them a full account.

The Khrushchev letter is said to have been sent in reply to a proposal which Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan made last Thursday. It called for the Geneva meeting to be opened by foreign ministers with a brief preceding round of talks at Geneva among the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and Russia.

RAISES BID

Khrushchev raised the bid by suggesting that the 18 - nation session be opened not by foreign ministers but by heads of government.

The Soviet leader is reported to have told Kennedy that the issues involved in disarmament are too serious to be left to "bureaucrats" — by which he made clear he meant the foreign ministers.

The set of disarmament principles on which the United States and Russia agreed last fall calls for various stages of supervised disarmament aimed at the eventual goal of dismantling military forces and arsenals.

The United States at the time pointed up at the UN the failure to agree on the important requirements of an international inspections system. The inspection problem, in the Western view, poses the major obstacle in the way of the forthcoming Geneva negotiations.

Khrushchev's letter made no direct reference to nuclear test ban negotiations, it was reported.

CRITICIZES HANDLING

NEW YORK (AP) — Governor Nelson Rockefeller Sunday criticized the Kennedy administration's handling of the abortive Cuban invasion but made it was "the failure, not the policy" he opposed. The governor, interviewed on television, thus joined former vice - president Richard Nixon in attacking the president's handling of the Cuban attempt.

British, U.S. and Red Planes Fly in Berlin Air Corridors

BERLIN (Reuters) — Britis and U.S. planes flew in the a corridors to West Berlin toda as Russia warned they wer making the flights at their ow risk.

But a Soviet embassy spokesman in East Berlin denied Western statements that Russi wanted exclusive use of the corridors at certain times and altitudes.

He said the Russians merel "informed" the Western allie that Soviet military plane would fly at indicated height and times.

"If the allies want to sen their own planes to the altitude at these times, there is nothin to stop them. They will, however, be warned and will tak the full responsibility in case o accidents."

He added that Western pres reports "distorted and dramatized' the situation.

He said "the Soviet Union controls the air corridors between West Berlin and West Germany and has a right to use them whenever it likes."

Four British transports flew in two of the corridors in defiance of the Soviet claim, an RAF spokesman said.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said American military aircraf were "just flying routinely" in the corridors. Four U.S. Air Force planes landed at Tempelhof airport.

Civil aircraft which carry traffic to West Berlin reported that business was being conducted "as usual."

Farm Forum Program Held At School

WELLINGTON—There were quite a few in attendance at the Farm Forum, held in the Wellington School on February 5th, in spite of the cold weather, and other activities in the village.

Everyone listened to the radio program from 8.30 - 9.00 p.m. of a panel discussion by professors and doctors on "Technical and Vocational Training."

Following this discussion, Mr. M. L. Snider, the principal of Wellington school, showed two films on the same topic. Three groups were formed and answered questions sent in by the Radio Farm Forum. These answers will be sent to Toronto. A "Talk Back" will be heard February 26th at the same time, to answer some of these questions sent in by the forum.

Coffee and donuts were served by members of the Wellington W.I., sponsors of the event.

Changing School Systems Topic at Pr. Wales H-S Assoc.

The regular monthly Home and School meeting of Prince of Wales School was held in the school auditorium where the walls were decorated with samples of the children's art work and writing.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Moyer, the first vice-president opened the meeting.

Mrs. Vessey reading the Scripture, John 1, 1-18 and the Lord's Prayer.

The room count was taken with the banners remaining with Mrs. Armstrong's grade 6 and Mrs. Slack's kindergarten.

Notice was given of the "Fun Fair" which will take place in March. All were advised to have handicrafts ready for that date.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Wanda Sine, the guest speaker, was introduced by Miss Orser, who outlined Mrs. Sine's career. She came from a family of teachers, and was a niece of Mr. Miller Mott, who was a principal in Belleville in the days when children passing their entrance at eleven years of age could try for the Governor General's Gold Medal, which quite a few will remember. It was Mr. Mott who encouraged Mrs. Sine to become a teacher and since then she has with her many qualifications, become a leader in primary work.

Mrs. Sine reminded that 25 years ago there was no 'grades' nomenclature in schools but primer, first book, second book, 3rd book and 4th book. Sometimes pupils of 16 years of age were in the second book due to failing and having to repeat so often. Pupils might take five years to pass their entrance or any number up to ten years.

In 1940 the system was changed and a course of studies was used where the readers all had names such as Mary, John, and Peter Primer. There were eight grades and the pupils had to take eight years to complete them. Capable pupils were kept back and slow learners went through more rapidly and failed and then the following September had to start all over again and sometimes these slow learners did even worse in their second year in the same grade.

SOCIAL PROMOTIONS

Research was going on, and, out of it came what was called a "social promotion" whether the pupil was ready or not he would still stay with his physical age group, but this only led to more frustration on the part of pupils and teachers and to more research.

Several studies were carried on on selected groups and it was found that children of normal capabilities gained more from promotion than from repeating a grade and children of less than normal capabilities gained slightly. Repeaters are not likely to do better the second year in the same grade unless the cause of the failure is discovered and remedy applied.

Acceleration became popular where a pupil skipped a grade or even two. Sometimes two grades were combined, usually grade 3 and 4. There was a gap in this system and the children certainly lost something when accelerated.

FLEXIBLE ORGANIZATION

The need was for a flexible school organization to take into account the varying capabilities of pupils. Some system where the pupil could avoid frustration and boredom and where he could achieve success at each level and, what is very important, could establish good work habits.

A plan was needed to eliminate failure; to get closer to the individual by placing him with several others in the same "boat"; to afford a pupil of superior ability to get a richer and more challenging program; to provide better and more frequent appraisals (there are three a year now) of the pupils; to permit each pupil to advance at his own speed and avoid frustration; to make for a continuous chain of progress.

To satisfy these needs, the non-graded system came into being. It is an administrative system of units to classify pupils for instructional purposes. It is widely used in Ontario, across Canada and in the United States. Hamilton was the first city in Ontario to work out the unit system six years ago, and Belleville was among the first six centres to adopt it.

One of the most important parts of the plan is pupil selection. The exceptional pupil would probably go through five units in his second year; but these people comprise less than 2 per cent of the population. About 70 per cent, who form the main group of the population, go through three units each year. The slower learners go through one or two units and possibly a third unit.

There is more work to the administration of this system than the former systems.

This was followed by a question and answer period.

Mrs. Roulet thanked the speaker, Mrs. Sine.

After the meeting was closed, a social time was enjoyed with refreshments.

Women Stump Former Players With Questions

MONTREAL (CP) — Teaching fundamental football to women can be revealing even to such veterans as John (Red) O'Quinn and Herb Trawick, former stars with Montreal Alouettes.

"Sometimes they stump me with their questions," says Trawick. He and O'Quinn began a series of lectures this winter to acquaint women with the game. The series is sponsored by the Alouette Ladies Quarterback Club.

Red Storey, former football player and National Hockey League referee, will preside at an April 4 session of football rules.

O'Quinn says every woman should learn a few fundamentals before setting out to her first football game.

"It's like everything else. If you know nothing about it, it's not particularly interesting."

Both he and Trawick agree that a woman can learn the intricacies of football from various sources such as television, booklets, from football players—"if they happen to know any"—and sometimes even husbands. But husbands might be reluctant to divulge their knowledge, Trawick says.

"The football game is an escape for a lot of men and they'd just as soon not have their wives along."

S. Alec Gordon Presents 25th Anniversary Recital

By EUGENE LANG

For the many people in attendance at Bridge Street United Church last evening a rewarding musical experience was obtained as Mr. S. Alec Gordon, organist of the church, played his Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Recital. Mr. Gordon, who is well known in the musical life of this city, is also just as familiarly recognized as one of the finest organists in the country.

Although native of London, England, Mr. Gordon has been a Bellevillian since 1912. He has been on the teaching staff of the Ontario School for the Deaf since 1925. He is known all over this continent for his introduction of the rhythm work method with deaf children. He was organist of Holloway Street United Church for seven years and for about three years was organist at John St. United Church until that church was destroyed by fire in 1936.

Twenty-five years ago this month Mr. Gordon came to Bridge Street United Church as assistant organist to Professore V. P. Hunt. That same spring Professor Hunt retired and Mr. Gordon was officially appointed choir director, a position which he held until last March, being succeeded at that time by Mr. Robert Reid as choir director; Mr. Gordon remaining on as organist.

The program chosen by Mr. Gordon was one of varied interest, containing music from the seventeenth century to the present and featuring works by German, French, English and American composers. Regardless of what piece was being played, Mr. Gordon showed complete command of his instrument at all times and elicited from the four manual Casavant a kaleidoscope of tonal colors and blends. In the Bach Partita on "O Gott du Frommer Gott" many of the various choirs of the instrument were skilfully intermixed, thus showing the clearness of the contropuntal skein. Dupre's "Variations on a Noel" and Vierne's "Carillon de Westmeinster" were two fine examples of the modern French school of organ composition and in each of these taxing works Mr. Gordon excelled with brilliance and forcefulness of projection. In the shorter and lighter numbers Mr. Gordon demonstrated to all that by his technique, his knowledge, and his years of experience he is indeed a formidable organist and one of which Belleville should be justly proud.

The senior choir of Bridge Street United Church, under the direction of Mr. Robert Reid, added to the enjoyment of the evening by its rendition of four selections interspersed throughout the recital. Rev. Harry M. Davis, minister of Bridge Street United Church, acted as commentator for the recital, prefacing each work played with a few salient remarks. The entire recital was broadcast over CJBQ.

We are fortunate in having Mr. Gordon in our midst and wish him every success in the future. It is to be hoped that he will favor many more times with recitals as pleasing as the one he gave last evening. Happy Twenty-Fifth Mr. Gordon.

Women's Activities

BAYSIDE L. A.

The local Association for Guides and Brownies held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Palmer with nine members present.

Mrs. Caves opened the meeting. The treasurer and secretary gave their reports, different items of business were discussed also some coming activities.

Games were played and prizes awarded the winners.

The hostess served lunch and a social half hour was spent.

Training Day Held by UCW Executive

Belleville Presbyterial United Church Women met in Tabernacle Church on February 5th to hold an executive meeting and training day for all presidents throughout the area. Mrs. R. H. Smithrim of Trenton, president, welcomed the large number of ladies and said, "We must be concerned with the work of the church, which includes not only Sunday activities but the work which is done outside the church building, in welfare, schools and civic projects. Is our 'witness' showing when we appear elsewhere?"

Mrs. Gerald Vincent of Picton, the program convener, led the worship service, using as her theme, Scripture Psalm 90, "The Etercal God Man's Refuge in All Ages," which all repeated in unison.

Mrs. T. W. Spear of Trenton took charge of the Bible study. She defined Bible study as an application of the mind for purpose of learning, to examine it closely. She gave a little of the historical background of the book of St. John.

The ladies were divided into groups and discussed the thought contained in the words from John, "This is My commandment that ye love one another, even as I have loved you." Can one love God and yet not love his neighbor? Can one love his fellowman and yet not love God?"

During the first business period the minutes of the inaugural and previous meeting were read by Mrs. A. Benvie, of Picton, the secretary. Mrs. C. W. Smith of Belleville gave the treasurer's report. The various regional vice-presidents were asked to stand along with the visitors from their regions, which showed a complete attendance of executive and a large representation from all parts of the Presbyterial.

Mrs. George Greer of Trenton, audio-visual aid counsellor for the Bay of Quinte Conference, showed the film on "Business Procedure" at meetings, followed by a talk on the following points: Why do we have rules? How to make a motion; What is an amendment? Why rise to a point of order? chairman's duties.

As Mrs. Ralph Hill, program convener of the Bay of Quinte Conference U.C.W., was unable to be present, Mrs. Greer gave a fine illustrated talk on program planning in the general meetings and in the unit meetings. There are fine films available and helpful material for building worship services. She suggested that the groups ask someone to speak to the group, who is working with people who are sometimes neglected, the Children's Aid, Cancer research, police and A.A.

NEW CURRICULUM

The Rev. Duncan White, field secretary for Christian education, Bay of Quinte Conference, gave a most informative address on the New Curriculum to be used throughout the United Church of Canada in educating their children and adults. He gave the definition of Christian education as 'every person in each stage of his or her life getting to know God as He is revealed in Jesus Christ', which is proclaiming the faith. Then, serving Him in love through the worship and work, fellowship and witness of the church, which is putting the faith into action. Why? - Jesus commanded, 'Go ye therefore and teach all nations.' The church is a teaching fellowship. How can you teach a faith you don't have? How can you live a faith you don't know? How? - a plan - the new curriculum. This is a plan for the whole church, young and old, whereby the purpose of Christian education may be achieved. Every level will be studying the same themes, which are, "God and His Purpose; Jesus Christ and the Christian Life; The Church and the World."

NEW TEXT BOOKS

He told of the new text books being written, new magazines and Sunday School papers now coming off the press. He said, "There is no reason why the church school should be outdated. We are teaching 20th century people. The plan will adapt itself to changes throughout the coming years. The local C. E. Committee works under the session. He urged that the women, though they have relinquished their formal interest in the girls' work, that they still show their interest in the children's work through their own local C. E. committee to see that it functions and to serve where necessary.

OFFICERS LISTS

Mrs. Smithrim asked that all local presidents of United Church Women send their complete lists of newly elected officers to the corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. G. Smith, Box 1420, Napanee, so that any information coming forth can be sent to the proper officers. Mr. White closed the meeting with the benediction.

CANADIANS IN SARAWAK—Canadians Clendon and Helen Wooldridge, married last year after Clendon graduated from the University of Toronto, are teaching natives in Sarawak, a British colony on the island of Borneo. Members of the Canadian Overseas Volunteers, the Wooldridges stick to the native diet for economy and because it brings them closer to the local population when shopping for native foods. — (CP Photo).

Young Canadian Couple Enjoy Work in Sarawak

By RUSSELL ELMAN

OTTAWA (CP) — At eight o'clock each morning from Monday to Saturday Helen Wooldridge enters her classroom at Tanjong Lobang secondary school in Miri, Sarawak, to the booming greeting of 34 beaming boys in blue shorts.

"Good morning, Mrs. Wootridge," they chorus. That's about as close as they can come to pronouncing her name.

This daily ritual is one of the many small rewards enjoyed by Helen and husband Clendon, two young Canadians spending a working honeymoon to help overcome a serious teacher shortage in the British colony of Sarawak.

Their road to their Southeast Asian assingment, and to marriage, was paved by the Canadian Overseas Volunteers, a Toronto-based organization which sends young Canadians abroad to assist underdeveloped countries.

The couple met when both became interested in the Volunteers. Clendon, 24, of Toronto, graduated from the University of Toronto last year as a mechanical engineer. His wife, the former Helen Zukowski, 22, whose parents live in Abbotsford, B.C., was an advertising copywriter with the Wool Bureau of Canada.

Helen had been assigned first to a post in Ceylon but when romance intervened, officials sent her along with her husband to Sarawak on the island of Borneo.

Some months ago the Wooldridges arrived to start teaching natives, who in mushrooming numbers are leaving the jungle to enter the Tanjong Lobang government boarding school. They are taught everything from how to fashion a dove-tail joint to Shakespeare's use of dramatic irony in Henry V.

In a letter home, distributed by the COV, the couple describe how they are making out in jobs whose requirements extend beyond the classroom to supervising student work parties and dormitories, giving first aid and planning school menus.

LITTLE ON CANADA

"The school's equipment and curriculum are closely patterned after the latest models in modern education and would stand against any school in Canada," writes Helen.

"My little charges hang pictures of Elvis Presley on their walls. They track down answers to binomial theorems. They probe microscopic slides for glimpses of an elusive amoeba."

Helen, who conducts three English and three history courses, also reorganized the school library, which she found well-stocked with books on New Zealand but without a single volume on Canada.

"The only information available on our thriving nation is 1½ pages in a set of encyclopaedias of dubious worth. Would there be any kind agency that would donate a few books on Canada . . . history books, geography, maps, anything?"

The Wooldridges say they are determined to stick to the native diet as closely as possible not only for economy but also to increase their contacts with the local population by shopping in the market.

A typical meal at the Canadians' home might consist of young cocoanut milk, curried chicken and rice, sauteed bean curd or bean sprouts in peanut oil and soya bean sauce. For dessert, bananas, pineapple, papaya, rambutan, mandarin oranges and other fruits.

MUST CONCENTRATE

LONDON (CP)—Author Pamela Hansford Johnson, in a luncheon address on the problems of writers, said she hates being interrupted. A "perfect" last paragraph to one of her novels vanished from her mind, she said, when her mother distracted her attention by placing a jug on the unfinished manuscript.

Argyll Chapter Plans District Dinner

On February 7th, the regular monthly meeting of the Argyll Chapter was presided over by the vice-regent, Mrs. H. Campbell of Trenton, Ontario.

During the regular meeting, reports were given and plans were made for the activities for 1962.

It was brought to the attention of the members that the annual district dinner will be held in Belleville during the month of October and next meeting will be in the form of a pot-luck supper to be held at the Officers' Mess, Belleville Armories at 7 o'clock.

The regent, Mrs Alex Cunningham, presided over the annual meeting and installed the officers for 1962.

Reports were read by the secretary, Mrs. L. Digby and treasurer, Mrs. H. Birkenshaw. Reports were also received from the various special committees. Mrs. E. Smith, educational secretary; Mrs. P. McConnel, "Echoes" secretary; Mrs. F. Burtt, convener of services at home and abroad; Mrs. D. Riordan, public relations; Mrs. K. Cousins, on citizenship and immigration work; Mrs. A. Duffy on hospitality; Mrs. E. Loucks, on world affairs; Mrs. K. Willcocks on cancer clinic, and films, and Mrs. A. Elliott on civil defence.

A social hour followed with Mrs. Sprague, Mrs. Shiels and Mrs. Davenport acting as hostesses for the evening.

Albert College WG Plans Coming Events

The February meeting of the Albert College Guild was held in the manor when the president, Mrs. F. Wilson, in her opening remarks welcomed new members.

The passing of a member, Mrs. F. Adsett, was marked by a moment of silence and the playing, by the pianist, Mrs. Bird, of one of Mrs. Adsett's favorite hymns, "How Great Thou Art"

In the business session, the spring "dessert-bridge" and the convocation reception were briefly discussed. The conveners for the former are Mrs. E. Hickey, Mrs. F. Davidson and Mrs. J. Williamson, to be held in April. The conveners for the Convocation reception are Mrs. E. Fleming and Mrs. W. Dallas.

In the hope of adding to the Guild membership, representatives have been appointed in the different churches to contact prospective members.

"Love" was the keynote for the program, arranged by Mrs. F. Davidson, who quoted Henry Drummond: "You will find as you look back upon your life that the moments that stand out above all else are moments when you have done things in a spirit of love." In harmony with this theme was Mrs. J. G. Demeza's solo, "God and God Alone Is Love."

HOME CARE

Mrs. Lorne Johnston, chairman of home care for retarded children, told of the work being carried on for mentally retarded children who suffer from an arrested development of mind, for which there is no cure. They may be born into any home.

Since there are wide variations in their condition there is need for special schools with well-qualified teachers. The Belleville branch of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children was formed in 1958. A school was opened in temporary quarters. There are now three teachers, assisted by volunteers. Through the co-operation of the Lions Club, the school now has permanent quarters.

SHELTERED WORKSHOPS

One of the aims of the Belleville branch is sheltered workshops so that the adult retarded may become more self-supporting. Another aim is the further development of home-care and counselling service for families of pre-school retarded.

The social committee presented a Valentine in the beautifully decorated tea table.

Hearty-Party

by Mary Moore

A letter from a reader who is having a Valentine party for 16 adults in a Bible class, requests suggestions for a menu, decorations and games.

Our ideas apply to both sexes young and old.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Grilled Minced Beef Cakes; Sliced Tomato Garnish; O'Brien Potatoes; French Style Green Beans; Leaf Lettuce with Roquefort Dressing; Pear Gingerbread Upsidedown Cake; Lemon Sauce; Coffee.

GAMES:

One idea which went over well at a small party was parodies, written on nursery rhymes that apply to some one at the party, but his name is left blank and the content of the parody poem has clues to his identity. For instance, to the meter of

"Mary had a little lamb"
" . . . had a tiny car
Its paint was red and rusty
But everywhere that . . . went
The car was full and trusty"

Or play charades: Use and act out words such as ingratiate (in - gray - she - ate) or metamorphosis (or-met-amor (love)-foe-sis).

Or act out couples from the Bible: David and Goliath; Samson and Delilah; Lot and his Wife; Prodigal son and his father.

MENU:

Pink-bread heart-shaped ham sandwiches. "Be-My-Valentine" Cake (see below). Pink Hot Punch.

BE-MY-VALENTINE CAKE:

Cut 1-inch layer from inverted 10" angel cake. In cake, cut trough 1½" deep, leaving ½" walls. Dissolve 1 package cherry jelly powder in ¾ cup boiling water; cool until it begins to thicken, but not set. Meantime, pour 1⅔ cups of evaporated milk into a refrigerator freezer tray and freeze until crystals line sides to ¼" depth. Then turn into a chilled bowl and beat until stiff. Beat in 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind and ¼ cup lemon juice. Gradually beat in 1 cup fine granulated sugar, then the partially thickened jelly. Continue to beat until mixture forms soft peaks. Chill, folding occasionally, until mixture holds its shape. Spoon into trough in cake. Replace top layer. Frost cake completely with remaining mixture. Chill until firm. Decorate with red glace cherries and blanched almonds.

DECORATIONS:

Use red-paper-heart-shaped place mats and red tulips or carnations for table centre, with tiny paper hearts impaled on ends of pipe cleaners throughout banquet.

Just for Love Of You

There all all kinds of days, but Saint Valentine's is the one day of the year when we can wear our heart on our sleeves and entertain "just for the love of you".

This Valentine's menu idea from the Consumer Section in Ottawa could easily be adapted for a tete a tete dinner by candlelight, a special family meal or a party buffet. Whatever the occasion you will be loved for serving such a delicious main dish as Baked Ham and Chicken Rolls.

SAINT VALENTINE's MENU

Apple and Raspberry Cocktail
Baked Ham and Chicken Rolls
Stuffed Potatoes Paprika
Broccoli served with Lemon Butter Sauce
Relishes Rolls
Valentine Cake

APPLE RASPBERRY COCKTAIL

Thaw and drain one 15-ounce package of frozen raspberries. (Reserve berries in refrigerator for use in Valentine Cake). Mix syrup with 20-ounce can of apple juice. Chill before serving. Makes about 3 cups.

BAKED HAM AND CHICKEN ROLLS

4½ lbs. chicken (breasts and legs), 12 thin slices, uncooked ham, whole cloves, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons water.

Remove bones from chicken and cut in pieces for serving, about 3 inches long. Wrap each of 12 portions in a thin slice of uncooked ham. Tie well or fasten with toothpicks or skewers, and stick 3 or 4 cloves in each roll. Place rolls in a greased baking dish and brush with a paste made from flour, brown sugar and water. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. for 1 hour, basting frequently during the last 40 minutes. Serves 6.

STUFFED POTATOES PAPRIKA

Use 6 medium baked potatoes. Cut a slice from top of each baked potato and scoop out centers leaving shell intact. Mash and combine well with ½ cup hot milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Fill shells and sprinkle with paprika. Reheat for about 15 minutes in hot oven (400 deg. F.)

VALENTINE CAKE

Bake a plain white layer cake in a heart shaped pan. (If you don't have one, the cake may be cut in the shape of a heart after baking). Spread thawed, drained raspberries between the layers. Frost cake with a pink tinted seven minute icing.

Capt. Johnson To Give Marine Travelogue

Sailors Ahoy! "The Yankee Sails Across Europe," will be a thrilling experience for adventure lovers of sea and land next Thursday evening at the Collegiate Institute when Captain Irving Johnson of the U.S.N.R. will, in person, present the intriguing film tale of cruising in his new ketch "Yankee" through the inland waters of Europe.

Here, new impressions of Holland Belgium, France, Switzerland, Italy and the Greek Islands are had by cruising through the shallow water around many islands and near to the shores.

The ketch "Yankee" is a cross between a modern yacht, with motor, and an ancient seagoing galleon with sails; runs up on the beaches, folds her sails to pass under bridges, and performs other wonders; skims past windmills, castles, medieval towers and gates; cruises on the Belgian Meuse; through dark mountain tunnels in France; visits lemon groves in Italy, and in the "dreamy" Greeks Isles, dolphins play around the Yankee. All these unusual sights will be relived again by narrative and picture, given by the most famous man-and-wife team of mariners in

COOKING TIP

Blanching means putting food into boiling water for a few minutes and then into cold water, for easier removal of peels and skins.

Bay of Quinte WI Holds Special Meet

2ND OF SIDNEY — There was a good attendance at the special vocational training meeting of the Bay of Quinte Women's Institute held recently at Harder's School with Mrs. Alva Dunn, chairwomen and Mrs. Harold Dickens acting as secretary.

Mr. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School, was unable to be present as scheduled, due to illness, but Mr. Dunsmore, the inspector for this section took his place and explained the new curriculum to be used in the high schools. There will be three different programs, one for five years, one for four years, and a two-year course.

Institute was asked to send in the results of this meeting to the Farm Forum at Toronto so that they would have some idea of what members would like their children to take. Some of those present thought that the broadcast from Toronto did not cover everything that should be known.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mr. H.L. — I'm just as alone as before my remarriage.

Mrs. H.L. — I can't make him my steady and exclusive diet!

• • •

Mr. H.L. — After five years of being lonely and at loose ends as a widower, I got married again about a year ago. My bride was a warm, peppy widow I met at the Golden Age Club I belonged to. From the moment we met, she clung to me as the companion she'd been waiting for, someone to go everywhere, do everything with.

Now, alas, I'm the one she goes everywhere without. One word from her daughter, and she's off to Albany for three days or so! When I leave the house in the morning on a business errand, it's a rare thing for me to find her home in the evening. She's off to a movie or out gabbing.

How come she was so lonesome before and now her life is so full, even though we're rarely together? What sort of bluff did she pull on me?

• • •

Mrs. H.L. — Naturally when you meet an elderly man at a club, you assume he likes to go out, mix with people and enjoy life to the full. Henry attracted me. He had signed up for a nature study class, and he was also on the birthday party committee. Since I enjoy group activities, I felt we had much in common.

Once we set up our home, however, he had no desire to budge from it. He'd welcome our friends over, but he'd refuse to accompany me to their homes when they sought to reciprocate.

As for my daughter, she has four children and it's harder for her to come to see me than for me to visit her. Henry never had any children and he can't understand a mother's longing to keep in close touch. Yes, I wanted a companion, but that doesn't mean Henry every minute seven days a week!

• • •

The Council: Here in their twilight years are two hopefuls who don't seem to know much more about marriage than dizzy, eloping teenagers. He thinks it's an arrangement whereby you acquire a full-time captive, a sort of push-button puppet. She thinks it's a handy contract to fall back on — but who's falling back? For Mrs. L., it's full speed ahead — to other matters!

Whoa up, say we, to both of you. If you married to live happily ever after, how much are you ready to give happily ever after? Or perhaps, give up? You, Mrs. L. have promised to cherish a mate. That precludes running off, at the drop of a hat or the whimper of a daughter, without a backward glance at your husband's well-being. And you, the aggrieved husband, home-loving as you are, might summon up some of that old get-up-and-go which got you to the club and just tag along with your new wife — to the movies, to the Albany branch or to a friend's house.

Certainly this couple isn't so starry-eyed as to expect a successful marriage without working at it. As a start we suggest that Mr. L. pin his wife down to a few outings on which he insists upon accompanying her, such as a trip to the club, a walk or a visit. She, in turn, deferring to his predilection for the home-fires, may insist upon keeping him company at home a few evenings each week. This alone would vastly increase their time together, which is the boon Mr. L. seeks.

For the rest, we leave to Mrs. L. the assignment of proving her loneliness was no "bluff," of making Mr. L. feel included in her new serenity. We gather that his possessiveness and his demand for her one hundred per cent attendance frightened her into slipping off on solo excursions to retain some feeling of freedom and individuality. If he can, to use a Pennsylvania-Dutch expression, "dance her loose," that is, relax his hold, she should be in a better position to fill his life, as well as her own, with brightness.

This was her promise. He must make it easier for her to keep.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

EYES ARE IMPORTANT TO COURTESY

A person who is basically polite sees only what he should and ignores everything else. In effect, he maintains a private eye.

Staring is always rude, even though it's often a thoughtless reflex and you really don't want to make anyone feel uncomfortable. But the person on the receiving end of an unblinking gaze can't help but feel a little uneasy, and while you may just be trying to place the face, he may think there's something drastically wrong with it.

Staring is particularly unnerving when the victim finds he's just made a faux pas. A person who has just spilled coffee on his hostess feels foolish enough without having everyone stare at him. And pity the poor blighter who drops his roll in his soup and has to fish it out while everyone looks on in amusement.

When someone gets into a social pickle, it's always kinder to look the other way. A really considerate person, who is eyewitness to a blunder, not only figurtively puts on blinders, but also has the presence to divert the attention of others.

While staring often is done in appreciation, still it does give a critical impression. For instance, you may eye someone's gown because it's particularly decorative, but the wearer may feel that a seam's giving away. Or you may ogle the books in a friend's home and be impressed with the titles, but he may think you're checking to see if he's literate.

If a woman wears a striking piece of jewelry, and it holds your eye, she may size up the look as larcenous or as evidence that you think it's paste. Then you might make the mistake of peering too closely at a man's crowning glory, and though you're only wondering the name of his barber, he may worry that you've discovered it's really a toupee.

Sometimes you stare without even knowing it, but even this can have some element of danger. You may simply stare at the top of a desk and see nothing at all. But the proprietor may think you're scanning his papers with a photographic eye. The first thing you know, he has you down as a snoop.

Staring may be unintentional, thoughtless or simply the result of an acute case of astigmatism, but whatever the reason, it can give your reputation for good manners a bit of a black eye.

Question: When one stays overnight at the home of friends is it proper to do a few pieces of hand laundry in the bathroom before going to bed? — Miss V.C., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: It's alwaye better form to bring along extra stockings and undies when you go visiting so there's no need to do any laundry. Of course, if the guest room has its own bath, you can wash to your heart's content. However, it's not polite to string up washables on the shower rack in the family bathroom.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

There's quite a piece in the current issue of Esquire on one of trackdom's most controversial figures. He is 5-2, 102-pound Willie Hardtack, who has a disposition like a dope-happy rattler, yet is rated one of the best jockeys ever to boot a bangtail home.

Hardtack's open opposition to conformity, says the writer, has earned him the hostility of owners, trainers, track officials, fellow riders and most newspapers. He has blasphemed stewards, had fisticuffs with other riders and even feuded with Eddie Arcaro, the "elder statesman of the tack room."

The director of publicity at Pimlico track, Charles Johnson, in a memo to his staff, said: "I cannot instruct you to make any effort in connection with photos, interviews from W. Hartack inasmuch as his frequently ungentlemanly conduct makes such effort to be rewarded with improved insult and abuse. There is no reason for professional persons to be degraded by an impudent youth capable only of sitting on a horse. His rancid deportment is a diabolically calculated manoeuvre to gain notoriety he needs to feed a childlike personality."

Winning, the writer says, is everything to Hartack. Wine, women, song, security, comfort are his in plenty. In his best years he will earn $250,000—yet money is the least consequential to him.

He has dated several of America's leading beauties, but he seems to ignore them even while with them. Acquaintances play it his way or not at all. Once he invited a dozen people to a party in his $120,000 home. He left them in the middle of the festivities.

Ten years from now, the story says, when he'll be 39, Hartack will still be the enfant terrible of thoroughbred racing for he has a manner guaranteed to bring him bitterness. Nor does he care.

In his nine-year working time, Hartack has won more than 2,700 races, worth more than $13,000,000 to owners and nearly $1,500,000 to himself.

As a rider, one expert says, Hartack has neither the grace of a Shoemaker, the recklessness of a Ycaza, or the pro-attitude of an Arcaro. "The only thing he does right is win."

Hartack bullies and beats his mounts unmercifully, but he has won the Kentucky Derby twice in four tries, and four national championships based on number of winners ridden. One of his severest critics says he is not only the best rider around—but the best ever.

One time when seconds from the starting gate, Hartack declared his horse, "Greek Circle," unfit and refused to ride him. Over $136,000 had been bet on the horse. There was no time for a substitute rider and track officials were forced to refund the full wagers sum at a cost to them of $9,526.23.

"You were right, Bill," a friend said later. "I guess you didn't think it was fair to the public for a sore horse like that to run." Hartack flared, "To hell with the public," he shouted.

The few public compliments directed his way are produced by one of his few friend, never by himself.

Hartack, says the author, seems to delight in burying his benevolences in silence and openly flaunting his malevolences. He maintains his father on a lavish 175-acre farm in West Virginia, has sent a sister through the University of Miami and contributed thousands of dollars to a youth program.

Hartack's winning percentage for nine years is around 25 per cent, including a blockbusting 28 per cent in 1957. He has developed into a disciplined rider, and is seldom disqualified for careless driving.

Hartack openly enjoys his power which is not surprising in view of his childhood poverty. His father was a coal miner, his mother died while he was in grade school and little Bill did the housework, or got a whacking.

Today he lives in a sprawling home in Miami, a life befitting a quarter-million-dollar-a-year bachelor. Unlike other celebrities he openly lists his phone number but inspects all visitors through a tiny peephole, and a large, belligerent dog screens all comers.

Canadian Football League

Recommends 2 Changes

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Football League rules committee came up with two rule changes Saturday for recommendation to the league annual meeting in Vancouver Feb. 16-17, following a one-day closed meeting.

Committee chairman A. H. (Bert) Warwick of Edmonton said the first and most revolutionary change would allow a defending player in his own end zone to intercept a forward pass and run the ball out, picking up blockers on the way.

The second, intended to stop interior linemen from intentionally drawing opposing players offside, will freeze the linemen in their positions once they are taken.

The rule would further restrict their head and arm movements up to the time the ball is snapped, providing penalties where these movements are intended to influence the actions of opposition linemen.

Western Conference Commissioner G. Sidney Halter of Winnipeg said the meeting rejected proposed changes reducing the number of players allowed on the field at one time to 11 men a side and reduction of the dimensions of the field of play

YACHT'S RADIO FAILS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. The handicap leader was the 50-foot sloop Kialoa. The Vancouver sloop Spirit, racing seventh, had lost use of its radio.

Canadiens Zoom Into 9-Point Lead

Hawks, Leafs Beaten Twice

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens are threatening to run away with their fifth consecutive National Hockey League title.

They zoomed into an imposing nine - point lead atop the standings during the weekend by stifling their nearest rivals —Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks.

The Habitants whipped the runner-up Maple Leafs 4-2 at Toronto Saturday night, then followed up with a comeback 4-3 win at Chicago Sunday night that dropped the third - place Hawks 16 points out of the lead

Then Detroit Red Wings gave an assist by blanking Toronto 5-0 Sunday night.

New York Rangers stayed two points ahead of the Wings by posting a couple of weekend triumphs — 2-1 over Chicago Saturday afternoon and 5-3 at Boston Sunday night.

Detroit and Boston tied 2-2 in another Saturday matinee outing.

WIN EVERYWHERE

In beating the Leafs at Toronto for the first time this season, the Habs became the first team to triumph at least once in each NHL city in 1961-62.

Young Bobby Rousseau was the Canadiens' big gun at Toronto.

He scored what turned out to be the winning goal in the second period, then set up Ralph Backstrom for the clincher in the third.

Don Marshall and Jean - Guy Talbot were the other Montreal scorers while Red Kelly and Allan Stanley counted for the Leafs.

At Chicago, the Canadiens were never in the lead until Marshall rapped home his 15th goal of the season at 14:27 of the third period.

Jean Beliveau had tied the score 3-3 about two minutes earlier with his second goal of the night. The other tally went to Henri Richard.

For the Hawks, the marksmen were Bobby Hull, with his league - leading 33rd goal, Murray Balfour and Stan Mikita.

PLANTE SMOTHERS SHOT

Plante again was a key figure in the win. With just three seconds to go, he dived to his left to smother a loose puck an instant before Chicago's Ron Murphy could get his stick on it and nudge it in the open net for the tying goal.

The Red Wings built up an early lead against the Leafs, then protected goalie Hank Bassen's second shutout in four games.

Bassen, filling in for veteran Terry Sawchuk, stopped 31 Toronto shots.

Norm Ullman, Alex Delvecchio and Parker MacDonald counted for the Wings in the first period while Larry Jeffrey and Gordie Howe got the second period counters.

Earl Ingarfield's 20th goal of the season in the third period brought the Rangers their win over Chicago Saturday. It was the Hawks first loss in seven games. Johnny Wilson got New York's other goal while Eric Nesterenko scored for the Black Hawks.

At Boston, the Rangers were led by Andy Bathgate, the league's leading point - getter, and Dean Prentice.

BATHGATE LEADS

Player - coach Doug Harvey and Andy Hebenton also scored for the Blueshirts while Johnny Bucyk, Don McKenney and defenceman Ted Green tallied for the Bruins.

Defenceman Warren Godfrey's goal at 9:29 of the final period enabled the Red Wings to tie the Bruins Saturday. Alex Delvecchio scored Detroit's other goal while Boston marksmen were rookies Wayne Connelly and Tom Williams.

Score Was 11-2

Macs Clobber Trenton

The Belleville McFarlands moved back into a tie for first place in the OHA Eastern Junior hockey league yesterday afternoon when they whipped Trenton 11-2 in Trenton.

The Macs and Kingston share the loop's top spot with 32 points apiece and each has one league game remaining. Kingson plays host to Peterborough tonight while the Macs go to Peterborough tomorrow night. A round robin playoff series is expected to get under way among these three clubs the end of this week.

Belleville fired 72 shots at Trenton goalie Derrill Johnstone yesterday and made four of them count in each of the first and third periods, as well as three in the middle heat. Both Trenton goals came in the second period. Trenton had only 15 shots on Mac goalie Gord Parker.

"Pug" Kellar paced the Bellleville scorers with a three-goal "hat trick" and one assist while Pete Weston topped the point getters with two goals and three helpers. Dave Smith and Billy McGuire each triggered a pair of goals. Moe Hunter had one goal and three assists, Bobby Boyle a goal and two assists. Bucky Ethier drew three assists with two each for Larry Mavety and Teddy Rowland.

Tom Bailey and Ken Stevens scored the Trenton goals. Barry Thompson and Doug McRorie each had one assist.

The game was a fairly clean one, Belleville drawing seven penalties and Trenton four. Smith of the winners and Ron Hess of Trenton drew majors for fighting at 5.06 of the third period. Mavety also picked up a misconduct for the Macs back in the second period.

Mavety will likely miss Tuesday night's game in Peterborough due to a badly cut right eye. He was hit accidently by a Trenton player's stick in the third period and had 14 stitches above and below the eye.

Smith, Boyle, Kellar and Weston scored for Belleville in that order in the first period to open up a 4-0 lead. Bailey got Trenton's first early in the second but Smith replied quickly for the Macs. Stevens cut the lead to 5-2 at 14.56 but Kellar got two before the period ended in less than a minute.

Weston, McGuire, Hunter and McGuire again completed the scoring in the final twenty minutes.

BELLEVILLE: Parker, Mavety, Rowland, Weston, Smith, Hunter, Zakos, Reid, Ethier, McGuire, Hull, Kellar, Boyle, Duvall.

Belts Banks, Cleroux Backs Out

Lean, Hungry Cassius 'Is Human'

NEW YORK (AP) — Brash Cassius Clay must be developing an inferiority complex. He admits he's human.

The undefeated, 20-year - old Louisville heavyweight boxer, unbeaten since winning the 1960 Olympic light - heavyweight crown, has been hollering for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, top contender Sonny Liston, Ingemar Johansson, and any other top-ranking fighters.

Cassius suffered the embarrassment of being dropped on his pants Saturday night by little-known Sonny Banks of Detroit before he stopped Banks in 26 seconds of the fourth round of their scheduled 10-rounder. A left hook did the damage in the first round.

"He caught me good with that left hook," said Cassius. It was the first time he had been floored in 11 professional fights.

"Maybe I needed that," said Cassius. "Won my 10 other fights easy. No trouble at all, Now I guess I'm human. Every now and then I gotta get hit in the head to realize I'm like other people."

This new attitude lasted about 10 seconds.

"Bring on that Patterson now," Clay shouted. "I told you that Banks would fall in four. Cleroux will fall, too."

CLEROUX REJECTS BID

Manager Bill Faversham had just accepted an offer from Madison Square Garden for Clay to meet Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux of Montreal March 31. But 24 hours later Cleroux's camp announced it had rejected the bid.

In Montreal, Al Bachman, a co-manager of Cleroux, said:

"We're interested in bettering ourselves and fighting Clay, who is lower-ranked than Bob, would give us nothing to gain."

Cleroux is rated fifth by Ring magazine and seventh by the National Boxing Association. Clay is ranked ninth by Ring but is not among the NBA's top 10.

Toronto Pair Wins Car Rally

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto driver and navigator teamed up for an almost faultless trip during the weekend and brought their little British - built Anglia 105E home to first place in the 1,200 - mile Canadian Winter Rally.

Ken MacLennan and Art Dempsey used tungsten-studded tires to advantage on the twisting, icy and snow-covered back roads of rural Ontario that took a heavy tool of machinery. The winning car was entered by the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

Only about 100 of the 176 cars leaving here Friday night got back to the finish line Sunday.

MacLennan, driving in his first winter rally, and his experienced navigator finished with only four penalty points awarded on the basis of one for each minute early or late arriving at the many check points along the eastern and northern Ontario route.

Behind MacLennan and Dempsey came Fred Hayes and Don Hambly of Toronto in a Corvair Monza with 11 points.

It was the 10th running of the rally, sponsored by the British Empire Motor Club of Toronto. Five of the first six finishers were factory-entered cars.

The rally is a test of driving skill, endurance, navigation and mechanical fitness rather than a race. Cars must follow a prescribed route under rigid average speeds.

FAVORITE BEATEN

BUFFALO (CP - AP)—Two Philadelphians, second - seeded Ben Heckscher and unseeded Sam Howe, battled their way to the finals of the U.S. singles squash racquets championships Sunday. Howe knocked off top-seeded Charlie Ufford of New York City in an upset, 15-11, 11-15, 15-8, 15-6.

Hull-Ottawa Beaten by Kingston

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs strengthened their hold on first place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Sunday and shattered a two-year home winning streak for Hull-Ottawa Canadiens while they were at it.

The Frontenacs trimmed the Habs 4-2 to hand them their first defeat on home ice in 17 games over two years and save face after a Saturday defeat at the hands of Sudbury Wolves.

Kingston finished the weekend a scant three points ahead of the runner-up Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers with 65 points. Hull-Ottawa is third with 55, followed by Sudbury with 43, Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds with 36 and North Bay Trappers, 35.

North Bay trimmed Sudbury 3-1 on home ice in the other Sunday game and on Saturday the Wolves shaded the Frontenacs 3-2 at Kingston and the Beavers downed the Trappers 5-1 at Kitchener.

SECORD WINS HANDILY

TORONTO (CP) — Bayne Secord of Toronto won the Ontario Major Curling League championship Sunday with a 13-4 victory over Paul Kozlik of St. Catharines in the final. Kozlik called it quits after eight ends of the 12-end match.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arnold Palmer will play only one golf tournament in the next five weeks, much to the pleasure of his fellow professionals.

Palmer won his second straight Phoenix Open title Sunday with a 72-hole total of 269, one stroke off the course record. His nearest competitors were 12 strokes off the pace. The margin was the largest ever for an event sponsored by the United States Professional Golfers Association.

"My driving was by far the greatest reason for the big margin," Palmer said as he pocketed the $5,300 top money. "Those long irons came through for me several times. But now I need a rest."

Palmer, 32, is golf's third greatest money winner with total earnings of $275,754.76. He is only $7,200 short of Gary Middlecoff's career total and $9,000 behind Doug Ford.

IS 5 UNDER PAR

Before Phoenix, Palmer won the $50,000 Palm Springs classic. He tucked away the Phoenix event with a five-under-par 66 Sunday after carding a 71 Saturday. His two earlier rounds were 64 and 68.

Sharing second place money at 281 were Jack Nicklaus, 1961 U.S. amateur champion, Bob McCallister, Don Fairfield and Bill Casper. Nicklaus, McCallister and Fairfield scored 71s Sunday.

Casper trailed Palmer by five strokes after three rounds, but was betrayed by his usually infallible putter Sunday on the final 18 holes. He finished with a two-over-par 73.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, who shot a 69 Saturday and a 74 Sunday, finished at 287 and won $380.

Minor Hockey Results

Playoffs continued on the bantam hockey front Saturday with four games being played.

The Maple Leafs defeated the Black Hawks 6-1 to win their series 13-2. G. Lucas and D. Muldoon each scored two goals while R. Brooks and B. Tomaso had the others. Assists went to B. Wickens, R. Ellis, Brooks, D. and J. Blakely, with two. B. Snowden scored the lone Hawk marker.

The Browns downed the Canadiens 5-1 to take their series 11-2. G. Moore and J. McCreary fired two goals apiece with M. Fahey getting the other. H. Townsend had the lone assist and was also assessed a match penalty. J. Beatty was the Canadien marksman.

Quinte topped the Macs 6-2 for a 15-8 victory on the round. D. Beresford led the winners with two goals while B. Watson had a goal and an assist. Other scorers were T. Herrington, C. McFarlane and R. Summers. M. Cook and W. Occomore triggered the Mac goals with J. Doran assisting on one.

The Bruins squeezed past the Red Wings 4-3 in overtime to take a narrow 8-7 series victory. S. White potted two of the Bruin goals, including the winner, with J. Pringle and K. Lang having the others. D. Emerson drew two assists. P. Ford scored twice and D. Loft once for the Wings while Hunter earned two assists.

Peewee playoffs were also continued on Saturday morning with the Rangers and Bruins playing to a 3-3 tie. Rangers won the series, however, by a slim 6-5 margin. P. Drury, S. Scott and P. Helm scored for Rangers with R. Duminie getting one assist. W. Storms, R. Day and S. Ling had the Bruin goals, J. Parsons an assist.

The Barons blanked Quinte 6-0 to take the round 11-1. P. Scherling registered the shutout for the winners while D. Loder and J. Holgate each scored two goals. C. Scott and D. Clements added a goal each with T. Doran and Holgate drawing single assists.

Canadiens took a 4-3 win over the Black Hawks and won the series 8-6. R. Mallory and M. Aquafredda triggered two Canadien goals each with T. Hyatt and Mallory also getting assists. B. LaRue, with two, and J. Henn, had the Hawk goals while R. White, T. Waite and R. Fuller had assists.

The Red Wings pulled out a 13-12 series win over the Browns by defeating them 8-2 on Saturday. L. Blatchford and T. Boulter shared the winners' scoring spotlight by picking up three goals and two assists apiece. L. Moore and B. Gibbons had the other goals with Moore drawing three assists and Gibbons one. T. Beresford and Lumsdon scored for the Browns with B. Campbell helping on one.

Maple Leafs dumped the Macs 8-2 to take a 13-4 series win. Alex Bradley paced the Leafs by scoring four goals. R. Reeves had two goals, P. Barrett a goal and two assists and T. Young one and one. D. MacDonald and R. Mitchell fired the Mac markers with M. Coughlin helping on one.

HEADS PRESS CLUB

OTTAWA (CP) — Bruce Phillips of Southam News Services Saturday was re-elected by acclamation as president of the National Press Club of Canada.

Elliot Well Back In This One

LEEDS, England (AP)—Herb Elliott, recently dethroned as king of the world's milers, finished 14th of 176 runners in the British universities cross country race Saturday.

He said afterwards "I enjoyed the race, but it was a hard one because I am not in condition." Elliott was seventh once but fell back over the last few miles.

The 23-year - old Australian, whose world mile record was beaten by Peter Snell of New Zealand two weeks ago, has not decided whether he will challenge Snell in the British Empire Games at Perth, Australia, next November.

Saturday's race was won by Ron Hill of Manchester University, who finished the six miles in 3156. Elliot was not timed.

Falcons Edge Booths 3-1 Joyces Win

The top-placed teams in the Belleville Industrial Hockey League chalked up victories in last night's games but both had a fight on their hands to do it.

First-place Joyce Real Estate had to come from behind three times before defeating the tail-end Vagden Mills squad 9-6 in a free-wheeling affair.

Meanwhile, Napanee Pringle's Falcons, with only eight players, scored two goals in the last nine minutes of play to edge Booth TV's 3-1 The Falcons are in second place, one point back of Joyce's.

The Napanee-Booth's game was a thriller all the way with goalies Bill Cuthill of the winners and Claude Carr of the losers both called on for some tremendous stops.

Napanee held a 1-0 lead at half time on a goal by Don Aylesworth with just three minutes left in the period. Doug Yearwood assisted. Booth's tied it 1-1 midway through the second half, Don Wilma pushing the disc home after a Napanee player had almost scored on his own net.

Pat Maracle completed a play with Aylesworth and Yearwood while Skelly of Booth's was in the penalty box to account for the winning goal. One minute later Aylesworth, playing with a painful jaw injury, rapped home the insurance goal, aided by Carl Gray.

Vagden's threw a scare into Joyce's when they held 1-0, 3-1 and 4-2 leads before the first hald ended up tied 4-4. Vagden's were in front again at one point in the second half, 6-5, but four goals in a row pulled out the Joyce win.

League-leading scorer Hylie Bryant starred for the winners, scoring four goals, including three in the second half and also adding one assist.

Jim Sheridan scored two goals, Jackie Elliott, Doug Moreau and Bill Vesterfelt one apiece. Wayne Fox, Huck Reeves, Ruffert and Vesterfelt each had an assist. Elliott missed most of the game when he was charged heavily into the boards and injured his shoulder.

Ron Pointer had two Vagden goals with one each for Jim Rutherford, Jim Woodcock, Norm Richards and Pete Emerson. Assists went to Emerson with two, Hugh Pointer, Jack O'Brien, Richards, Cec Haines, Rutherford and Bob Duggan.

Nips Crothers, Kidd Third In Mile

Snell Sets Another World Record

LOS ANGELES (CP - AP)—New Zealand's sensational Peter Snell added the world indoor record for 1,000 yards to his growing list of conquests by running the distance in two minutes, six seconds here Saturday night.

Hot on his heels was Bill Crothers of University of Toronto, who also bettered the record by finishing in 2:07.4 in the event at the Los Angeles indoor games.

The old mark was 2:07.9 set by Ernie Cunliffe in Boston, Jan. 28, 1961.

Snell received a tremendous ovation from more than 13,000 fans who attended despite a fierce downpour of rain.

Snell was running on an indoor board track for the first time. In outdoors events he set a world mile record of 3:54 in New Zealand Jan. 27, and on Feb. 3 bettered the world marks both for 880 yards and for 800 metres.

The games also saw little Jim Beatty of Los Angeles become the first runner to crack the four - minute mile indoors. Beatty, 27, reeled off the mile in 3:58.9 to eclipse the indoor mark of 4:01.4 set by Ron Delany of Ireland in 1959.

The new indoor shotput king, Gary Gubner of New York University, got off a toss of 63 feet, eight inches. This bettered the accepted mark of 63 feet, 1½ inches set by Parry O'Brien a year ago, but didn't erase the 63 feet, 10¼-inch mark set by Gubner in New York Feb. 2.

HALBERG WINS

Murray Halberg of New Zealand ran away with the two-mile feature, but his time of eight minutes, 42.5 seconds failed to dent his U.S. indoor record of 8:34.3. Bob Schul of Los Angeles was a well-beaten second in 8:5.53 and Bruce Kidd, sensational 18-year - old from Toronto, was third in 9:00.7.

Schul and Kidd swapped second and third places throughout the long run with the Toronto teen-ager seemingly tiring in the final lap.

The East York Track Club of Toronto finished second in the two-mile relay which wound up the games. A University of Oregon team which had announced it was out to break the U.S. mark of 7:32.8 finished first in 7:33.1, and the Toronto team of George Shepherd, Stan Worsfold, Jim Snider and Crothers was clocked in 7:39.2.

Sig Ohlemann of Vancouver ran the anchor leg for the winners.

Provincial Curling

5 Champs In, 6 To Come

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Five of the 11 places in the 1962 Canadian curling championships have been claimed and most of the others will be settled within the next week.

Bill Armstrong's Lachine Curling Club rink won a trip to Kitchener March 5-9 when they downed Herve Richard's Louiseville entry 11-6 in the Quebec final Sunday.

On Saturday Art Burke's Charlottetown rink dethroned fellow - townsman Doug Cameron in the Prince Edward Island final, edging the 1961 champions 7-6 in an extra end.

In Saskatchewan, Ernie Richardson of Regina, who won the Canadian title in 1959 and 1960, will come back for a third try on the strength of 8-7 and 10-3 victories over Merv Mann of Saskatoon Saturday.

Jim Florian of Dartmouth, N.S., and George Giannou of St. John's, Nfld., won the right to represent their respective provinces earlier.

Hec Gervais of St. Albert, Alta., last year's Canadian champion, goes into a four-rink playoff next weekend to try for his second straight Alberta championship.

Four and Twenty Scratched

'Olden Times' Win Race

NEW YORK (CP)—Four-and-Twenty, the pre-race favorite, remained in the barn Saturday and Olden Times splashed to an 8½-length victory in the $80,500 San Antonio Handicap in Arcadia, Calif.

The ace of the Alberta Ranches Stables, Four - and-Twenty was scratched along with Preston Madden's TV Lark and Wonder Y Ranch's Sea Orbit when the track came up sloppy.

That enabled Olden Times, a less renowned member of the Rex Ellsworth racing stable, to record an easy triumph in the final tuneup for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 24.

At Hialeah Park near Miami Saturday, Intentionally won the $62,300 seminole handicap by eight lengths, and may thereby have delayed his retirement to stud.

Carry Back, offered for syndication during the week at $35,000 a share for a total of $1,250,000, was second at Hialeah and Yorky third.

A surprising second to Olden Times in the 1⅛ mile race at Arcadia was Juanro, a 40-to-1 shot, and British Roman was an unexpected third in the field of eight.

Prove It, the big horse of the Ellsworth Stable, with Willie Shoemaker aboard, finished seventh.

Olden Times, winning in 1:53 3-5, paid $4.20 $3 and $2.60. Juanro paid $23 and $8.60 and British Roman $5.60.

Vance Longden, trainer for Alberta Ranches, said Four-and-Twenty was scratched when an abscess was found on his left front foot.

Second choice of the crowd despite a triumph over Carry Back 11 days ago in the Palm Beach Handicap, Intentionally paid $9.70, $3.90 and $2.90. He ran the 1⅛ miles in 1:48 2-5.

Carry Back paid $2.60 and $2.20 and third-place Yorky was $2.30 to show.

Red Wings Hit Petes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Red Wings blasted the last - place Peterborough Petes 8-2 Sunday and regained a first-place tie with Montreal Canadiens in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings.

The Canadens, idle in league play Sunday, took a two-point lead over Hamilton Saturday night in the only other game during the weekend, beating third-place St. Catharines Teepees 4-1.

Montreal and Hamilton both have 59 points in the standings with St. Catharines far back with 40. Niagara Falls has a one point lead over Guelph for fourth spot, 33-32, and Peterborough trails with 23.

The Canadiens were aided in their short-lived grasp on the league lead by a three-goal performance by Andre Boudrias after Yvan Cournoyer had tallied Montreal's first goal.

SPOILS SHUTOUT BID

Rich Lachowich spoiled Montreal goalie George Holmes' bid for a shutout by scoring the Petes' lone goal late in the final period.

Action was hightened in the first period by two fights within four minutes, resulting in match penalties for all four combatants.

Canadiens' Jacques Laperrier and Peter Ford of the Teepees were expelled at 13:07 and Norm Dennis of the Canadiens and Paul Poepil of St. Catharines were sent off at 16:42.

Both battles were short stick-swinging duels and all four were charged by the referee with "intent to injure."

Hamilton and Peterborough played to a 2-2 standoff in the first period with Tom Carty and Lorne O'Donnell tallying for the Petes.

However, after O'Donnell's goal at 9:26 of the period, the Red Wings took over the game and scored seven unanswered goals, led by right winger Paul Henderson with three.

Canada Will Send 65 to Empire Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada will send 65 athletes and 17 officials to the British Empire Games starting at Perth, Australia, Nov. 22, it was announced Sunday.

Jack Davies, president of the Canadian British Empire Games Association, said after a meeting the association has collected $12,000 in cash and has another $52,000 pledged in its campaign to raise about $100,000.

The team will leave Vancouver by chartered plane Nov. 9. Davies said some trial dates and venues had been set. These include wrestling, June 7-9, Guelph; weightlifting, June 23, Sudbury; rowing, Aug. 4-5, St. Catharines; swimming, July 11-14, Vancouver; track and field, Aug. 4-6, Toronto.

Ferree Leads At Panama

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Jim Ferree exhibited some near-perfect putting Sunday coming from two strokes off the pace to win the Panama Open golf tournament with a blistering 11-under-par 277.

His five-under 67 brought him brack from a tie for third to edge third - round leader Billy Maxwell of Dallas by one stroke.

George Knudson of Toronto, tied for second going into Sunday's play, was disqualified after reporting an infraction in his Saturday round.

"He told me he gave an incorrect score on the 17th hole Saturday," assistant tourney director Mark Thomas said. "Knudson said he learned later he was wrong in teeing up the ball. George thought he was entitled to do this under local rules instead of taking a two-stroke penalty.

Americans Win Speed Skate Titles

EDMONTON (CP) — Dick Hunt, 26, of Burbank, Calif., captured the North American senior men's open speed skating championship Sunday when he outraced his closest rival, Ralf Olin of Edmonton, by about 100 metres in the 10,000 - metre event.

Sylvia White, 18, of Butte, Mont., came back in the last two women's events to beat out Mrs. Doreen Ryan of Edmonton for the senior women's crown.

Hunt skated the 10,000 in 18 minutes, 28.5 seconds, opening up to a near-sprint pace on the last four laps of the gruelling seven-mile event. Olin crossed the finish line less than 13 seconds later.

Hunt was second in the men's 500-metre race and first in the 1,500, 5,000 and 10,000 to take the championship. Olin placed third in the 500, but was second in the 1,500, 5,000 and 10,000, giving him the runner-up position.

Miss White beat Mrs. Ryan in the women's 500 metres Saturday by a 10th of a second, but suffered a fall in the 1,500 that raised her time to a third place three minutes, four seconds and placed her behind Mrs. Ryan in the points standings. She fought back hard in the 1,000 and 3,000 Sunday and beat Mrs. Ryan by substantial margins in both races.

Terriers Win Final Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Terriers, Canada's representatives in the world hockey tournament which goes at Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 8-18, made their last weekend of Senior Ontario Hockey Association action a good one.

They beat Stratford Indians 5-4 on Saturday night in their final home game and then bounced Waterloo Tigers 4-1 Sunday night.

In other weekend action Sarnia Rams edge Chatham Maroons 7-5 and Strathroy Rockets beat Windsor Bulldogs 5-3 on Saturday, while Windsor handed Sarnia a 14-1 drubbing Sunday.

Galt, leading the league, will leave Tuesday for a cross-Canada exhibition tour before the world tournament.

Only about 850 fans turned out to watch the last home game and see Ron Brain's goal with eight minutes to go salvage the win over Stratford.

Brain's 15 - foot backhander, broke the 4-4 tie after the Indians rallied from a 4-0 deficit.

Speedskating In Norway

Canuck Sets World Mark

HAMAR, Norway (CP)—Paul Enock of Toronto, a 27-year-old goldsmith who sold all his furniture to finance a trip to Europe so he could train properly, has eclipsed the 3,000 - metre world speedskating mark. But a technicality may keep his time out of the record book.

Enock bettered the world standard of Hamar Lowland Rink Saturday with a clocking of four minutes, 37.2 seconds. The recognized record of 4:40.2 was set by Anton Huiskes of Holland at Davos, Switzerland, in 1953.

Sources in the International Speedskating Association (ISU) said in Oslo today Enock's time will not be recognized.

They said the 3,000-metre distance was not included in original program of the Hamar event. Regulations require that the ISU be notified by meet organizers in advance what distances are on the program. The original Hamar schedule called for a 10,000-metre event, but this was later changed to 3,000.

There was no official word from the federation.

Enock made a brilliant showing. Only a fall in the 5,000-metre race Sunday kept him from becoming champion of the meet. The tumble cost him 15 seconds and he ended up fourth in the event and third in over-all scoring.

Handy Tips To Help Save Gas Money

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

For the benefit of those who waste gas as if money were going out of style, we continue to nag — and offer another list of 'don'ts.'

Don't be anxious to make the fastest getaway as the light turns green. Don't keep tires low for the sake of a little smoother ride. Don't wait until you start climbing a hill to gun the engine — speed up steadily as you're approaching it. Don't let transmission fluid, engine oil, wheel bearing and chassis grease, etc. run low. Don't remove the thermostat or ignore it when maintenance becomes overdue.

Don't underestimate the gas-wasting power of a dirty carburetor air cleaner. Don't overwork your brakes when you can easily gauge speed to anticipate slowdowns and stops. Don't call your neighbor a liar if he claims much better gas mileage from the same make and model car as your own.

From W. P.: "How much tire air pressure is added by heat after a car has been running for an hour or so?"

(A) If tires are properly inflated to begin with, between six and eight pounds are normally added.

S. K. writes: "Here's a queer one. My 1958 sedan started to miss badly last fall and I found out that all six spark plugs were oil fouled. The plugs were cleaned and I never had this trouble again."

(A) Perhaps the crankcase had been overfilled with oil at the time. This will cause abnormal plug fouling.

F. T. asks: "My engine runs cool enough in the city, but when I drive at highway or expressway speed, it heats up too much. My garage replaced the radiator hoses, but it still happens."

(A) This means water circulation is being slowed down — possibly by a slightly clogged radiator core.

From A. W.: "Is brake-fade — as the brakes are ridden down a long hill — due to sub-standard brake fluid?"

(A) This will happen with the best fluid. The fade is due to overheated drums which expand and reduce shoe contact.

McKINLEY WINS

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck McKinley scored a comeback 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 9-7, 10-8 victory over top-ranked Whitney Reed Sunday for the U.S. national indoor championship.

McKinley upset Wimbledon champion Rod Laver in straight sets in Saturday's semi-finals.

Rita Hayworth Has Signed For First Theatre Role

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Meet Rita Hayworth, rookie stage actress.

"I'm not doing this simply to show I can," she says. "It's just that I have confidence. I feel I have changed."

For her first theatre role Miss Hayworth is signed to appear in Step on a Crack. It is to arrive on Broadway next fall.

The entire phase, according to Miss Hayworth, stems from "what I feel now." She adds:

"I feel more mature—I hope I am."

Miss Hayworth — who has been dubbed "America's Love Goddess" and whose real life has been a matter of sustained international interest—is glamorous as ever at 43.

The transfer to Broadway was arranged without prior planning.

"I hadn't really ever thought of doing a play. There had been many scripts submitted, none that I wanted. I fell in love with this role."

As Ellen Hurlbird in Step on a Crack, she plays an ex-vaudeville performer whose marriage to a small town doctor is on the verge of disintegration.

Cast as the medical man is Gary Merrill, a frequent escort of the star since her divorce last fall from James Hill her fifth husband.

As for the rigors of eight performances a week, and no chance for retakes, Miss Hayworth is confident she has the necessary equipment.

"The screen affords a lot of discipline that people are not aware of. Getting up at 5 o'clock on a cold morning for location shots in Utah isn't luxury.

"And I've always worked out a character as a whole, not simply scene by scene."

She hastens to point out that several times in her screen career that started in 1935 she has been called on to register more than charm.

"There's never been any drama study with teachers, but strangely enough I did study opera. Not to sing, but for vocal training.

"I think I'll be able to fill a theatre with my voice."

Canada Outdoors

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP)—Government records show that 91,524 hunters shot 8,853 deer in Quebec province last season.

This was the number registered with the 270 game wardens roaming Quebec's vast hunting grounds.

"I would say the probable kill was four or five times greater than that," said Claude Minguy, provincial game biologist.

"Farmers still don't bother to report deer they shoot on their own land."

There were two or three professional poachers in every county and in some counties there were no game wardens One old pro in Temiscouata got 50 deer last season, selling them for up to $50 each.

Poaching is encouraged by the fact that much of the best hunting land is leased by private clubs. Pulp and paper companies discourage hunters from entering their territory though the firms have no right to. And getting permission to hunt on farmland usually is costly.

MORE FOR PUBLIC

Quebec is slicing chunks from the land leased by private clubs in order to open more to the public. It was found that one club was using only three of the 300 lakes in its territory for fishing.

The government plans to put 425 well - trained game wardens in the field next season. It also is trying to find out how many deer there are in Quebec. Once this is done, an attempt may be made to limit the number of licences by township.

Sixty per cent of Quebec's hunters now go to Labelle and Papineau counties north of Montreal. The government is trying to encourage more to hunt in eastern counties such as Rimouski and Temiscouata. The deer season north of Montreal last year was Oct. 7 to Nov. 12, a week shorter than 1960. South of Montreal it lasted from Oct. 7 to Nov. 19, a week longer. Limit was one deer.

On Anticosti Island, where there are too many deer, hunters find it too expensive to get there and the land is privately owned anyway. Nevertheless, 2,000 to 3,000 deer are killed annually.

HARD TO SOLVE

Game experts see only two solutions to the problem of overpopulation on Anticosti: Introducing wolves or increasing hunting. Neither is likely Getting records in shape is another problem. Quebec doesn't even keep records on the size of deer shot. Hunters say last season was marked by some unusually large deer, one a 270-pounder shot by Con Cronin of Montreal.

Biologist Minguy knows this wasn't a record — he saw a 310-pounder two years ago—but the department has no file on big deer. He believes the 310-pound deer wasn't a record either, since several 400-pound deer are noted in Boone and Crocket files.

Regulating records, opening land, picking off poachers and enforcing laws are some of the department's knotty problems. "But the biggest is educating the public," said Minguy. "People are beginning to catch on but it's very slow." Once they do, Quebec's registered deer kill is expected to climb above those of Vermont (15,000) and Nova Scotia (22,000).

Senior Baseball Query Mark

GUELPH (CP) — The future of the Ontario Senior Intercounty Baseball Association remained a question mark after a meeting of the senior operators here Sunday.

St. Thomas and Hamilton have dropped out of competition and following today's meeting only three of the six remaining teams from last season have filed entry for the 1962 season.

London, Kitchener and Brantford have posted their $50 entry fees. Galt asked for a one-week extension, pending rental negotiations with the Galt parks board. Guelph refused to file entry until receiving assurance that at least six teams will play and Listowel was undecided.

ASKS DELETE WORD

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Dairymen's Association will ask the federal government to stop using the word "milk" in statistics on measurement of strontium-90. The request was made in a resolution passed Thursday at the association's annual meeting.

Toronto Wins Five Bird Titles

WOODSTOCK (CP) — The three - day Ontario badminton championship wound up Sunday with five of the six titles going to Toronto players. The other trophy went to Kitchener.

Ed Yablonsky pulled a surprise upset in the tournament as he walked off with top honors in the men's singles division. Yablonsky, who plays out of Toronto and has been relatively unsuccessful in tournaments this season, earned a surprise win over Jim Carnwath, Canada's number one player.

Yablonsky, third seeded player in the championship, downed Carnwath 15-5, 11-15, 15-6.

Marjorie Shedd, also of Toronto, kept her ranking intact to walk off with the ladies' singles honors. She defeated Dorothy Tinline of Toronto 11-5, 11-0. These two opponents teamed up to win the ladies' doubles laurels defeating J. Jarvis and J. Warren of Toronto 15-3, 15-2.

The men's doubles title went to former Woodstock players Pete Ferguson and Carnwath. They defeated Herb Kirkconnell and Jack Martin 15-4, 15-8. This win was a repeat of last year's victory over the same opponents.

In mixed doubles Carnwath and Miss Shedd teamed up to defeat Shirley Uniac of Stratford and Bill Parkes of Woodstock 15-5, 15-2. The winners were the top - seeded team.

The only other trophy event saw Bill Butler and Jack Koehler, both of Kitchener, defeat the team of T. Graham of Toronto and C. Vincent, Orillia, 15-5, 15-12. This event was the senior men's doubles for men over 40 years of age.

AT THE PARK — Francoise Arnoul stars with Andre LeGall in "Sin and Desire", opening tonight at the Park Theatre. On the same program violent crime with and without passion "Mania" starring Peter Cushing, Donald Pleasence, George Rose, June Laverick, Dermot Walsh and Billie Whitelaw. Both shockers are first Belleville and district showings. Complete shows 7.00 and 8.50 p.m.

Lerner and Loewe Hour Proved All Too Short

NEW YORK (AP)—Take the product of a song-writing team which has turned out such shows as My Fair Lady, Gigi and Brigadoon. Cast their finest moments with talent like Julie Andrews and Maurice Chevalier. Let a director of taste and imagination pull it all together

The result is a joy and a delight, as Sunday night's The Broadway of Lerner and Loewe proved to be during an all-too-short hour on NBC.

Although the program was built around Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, the composers appeared only briefly—and never once got into the dull, dreary trap of "and then we wrote . . ."

Chevalier did sing his famous Thank Heaven for Little Girls and Stanley Holloway his Get Me to the Church on Time, but most of the time the stars were doing great, popular songs with which they were not associated.

There were amusing sketches and short memorable scenes in wonderful color.

NBC had a Friday evening bull's-eye with a light documentary called Debutante '62. It was a sly look at an expensive, fatiguing, frenetic preoccupation of the social launching

Cornelia Otis Skinner called it "debutantism" and explained it started centuries back when wealthy families announced their daughters had become young adults or, to put it bluntly, were in the marriage market.

Wisely, the program producers and Miss Skinner refrained from waxing editorial on the subject. The debs did that themselves.

Recommended Tonight: 87th Precinct, NBC, 9-10 EST—cops-and robbers series, which has settled into an interesting, often amusing, program.

Chess Results

STOCKHOLM (CP - AP) — Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg participated in two unfinished matches during the weekend in the world interzonal chess tournament.

On Saturday his game with Istvan Bilek of Hungary was interrupted with Bilek in a favorable position.

On Sunday, Yanofsky's game with Gideon Barcza, Hungary, was adjourned after 41 moves. Adjourned games are to be finished today.

After 10 rounds, Wolfgang Uhlmann of East Germany was leading the tournament with seven points. Dr. Miroslav Filip of Czechoslovakia was second, a half-point behind Uhlmann.

Yanofsky has 3½ points for eight games — two victories, three draws and three losses.

"The Greengage Summer" and "Scream of Fear"

A motion picture set in the lyric Marne Valley, home of Champagne and site of numerous catastrophic battles, Columbia Pictures' "The Greengage Summer" reportedly brings to the Belle Theatre screen today, one of the most unique, most exciting dramas in recent years. British actor Kenneth More and French actress Danielle Darrieux are starred in "The Greengage Summer," as the mysterious jewel thief and the provincial hotel proprietor, respectively: it is their happily, passioned affair which is interrupted by the unexpected younger sisters and brother. Lovely Susannah York, screen newcomer, who is filmdon's next sure bet for stardom, according to the Hollywood talk.

"The Greengage Summer" is by Rumer Godden, author of such best-seller books — later turned into equally good screen dramas—as "Black Narcissus" and "The River." The present story permits a wide-ranging camera to take in the beauties of the quiet hills of France, historic Rheims and its famous cathedral, champagne cellars and similar impressive backgrounds to the emotional action of "The Greengage Summer."

"Scream of Fear" Thrilling

Sudden shock follows sudden shock in the new thriller "Scream of Fear," the companion feature offering, co-starring Susan Strasberg, Ronald Lewis and Ann Todd, produced by Christopher Lee.

Cannot Support Baby

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—I had a baby last year and I still have the child at home with my parents. Recently I have been going with another boy, and we were planning to get married until he asked me to give the baby up.

I can't bear to give her up. He loves her but it is just that we won't have enough finances for her. The baby is 13 months now and she needs a father too.

I've tried all ways to forget him, but no use. When we broke up I dated others but I still can't get him out of my blood. Perhaps you can understand as you were young once.

The baby is still a ward of the child care agency.—KATHY.

DEAR KATHY—Is it really lack of funds that is troubling your boy friend? Or is he resenting this baby, who is someone else's child?

Women have found ways of making money before to help a tight budget; clerking in a store part time, with your mother as baby sitter; or telephone saleslady at home; sewing, knitting, envelope addressing. A little imagination, an advertisement in the paper, a visit to the National Employment Service, might clue you up about this.

But if he really doesn't want the child, you will have to choose between them. You can have professional help about this from the child care worker at your agency.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—Nine months ago my daughter's husband passed away. She took it very hard but her in-laws, who are very fond of her, soon insisted on her starting to go out again.

Finally she thought she might as well go and try to enjoy herself. Now a man she has dated some has asked her to accept an engagement ring. My daughter thinks they could have a good marriage.

If my daughter accepts the ring, they plan to get married in 2½ months. I think they are wrong and that people will talk. The in-laws are all in favor and also the man's friends.—ANXIOUS MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

DEAR ANXIOUS:—Times have changed. Most neighbors are glad to see widowhood end.

In similar communities people are conservative, but even here marriage is accepted in less than the prescribed year. If it does not appear ill-considered and hasty, mature people are trusted to decide what is best for them in their particular circumstances.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—I am a 17-year-old girl. Recently my brother-in-law and I had a little misunderstanding and he told me to mind my own business. I only wanted to be helpful.

When he said this he hurt my feelings very much. He knew he had and said that he was sorry. He even tried to kiss me to show me how very sorry he was.

My mother thinks he got mad at me because I have been spending too much time with my sister and him. I have not gone anywhere with them unless they have asked me to. I don't think I can feel the same towards him again. I am not sure any more whether he means the things that he says or if he is just saying them to make me feel better.

Do you think he still likes me or should I just keep out of their lives forever? I would do anything to see my sister happy.—BADLY HURT.

DEAR BADLY HURT:—Forgive and forget. Your brother-in-law is your good friend; but a man and wife like to feel they have some business of their own.

You'll understand this better when you join forces for life with your own One and Only.

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO H. G. M.—Many boys are shy at 13. Shyness is overcome when one begins thinking of someone else. The trick is to show him that you need his help with something he is good at.

Coax him to show you how to draw, or do arithmetic or skate. He can forget himself in helping you.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Coady International Institute Is School That Aims to Teach People How to Produce Goods

By IRA DRYSDALE

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — East and West meet every day at the Coady International Institute, a school that aims at teaching people how to produce goods more efficiently.

Sixty-four students from 24 countries are in the midst of a nine - month course in social leadership.

Nineteen of the students know little English. There are both men and women of various colors, religions and backgrounds. The institute has no fixed academic requirements. Students range from Grade IX to PhDs and their ages are varied.

Msgr. Francis J. Smyth, 44-year-old native of Sydney, N.S., who directs the institute, says it is "looking for men with ideas."

The tall, former basketball star at St. Francis Xavier University, at which the institute was built, apparently has found some thinking people, and he has ambitious plans for what they will do.

LEARN CO-OP METHODS

"I don't know any better answer to world problems. . . Education is a means of harnessing the tremendous power in people."

The institute gives classroom instruction in co-operative and trade union movements and conducts field tours to show how Canadian fishermen and farmers have grouped together to benefit from pooled knowledge and resources.

The lights burn late in the Coady International Institute. "You don't have to put the whip to these people to make them work," says Msgr. Smyth.

Moti Malakar, 27 - year - old East Pakistanian who says neither communism nor capitalism is the answer to world problems, says he studies five or six hours a day outside class.

Established two years ago, the institute is the offspring of the Antigonish Movement which since 1929 has promoted co-operative and self-help programs on a grass-roots basis.

GROWS QUICKLY

Nine students attended the institute in its first year, 24 last year. Last fall the first section of a proposed $1,000,000 institute building was opened. Built at a cost of $300,000, including $79,000 from the Canada Council, it houses 45 students.

It is named after Msgr. Moses M. Coady, a founder of the co-operative movement in Canada and father of the Antigonish Movement. He died in July, 1959, a few months before the institute was set up.

Most of the students at the institute are sponsored by international organizations, the World Council of Churches, other religious groups or the governments of their countries. Fees are as much as $2,000 depending on the distance a student must travel.

St. Francis Xavier is a Roman Catholic university but has long attracted students of many religions with its courses in co-operative practices.

York College Is Expected To Be Registering 10,000 Students Within 2 Decades

By CARL MOLLINS

TORONTO (CP) — A debate that began in the academic cloisters of Athens 22 centuries ago is burning with fresh fervor today on the edge of a treed ravine in northwest Toronto.

The perennial issue of education, discussed by Plato and Aristotle and many philosophers since, is crystalized in a turmoil of planning at young York University.

York was established in 1960 to help meet the mounting demand for higher education in Ontario. The University of Toronto, with some 15,000 students now, plans to enrol no more than 23,400. But authorities estimate twice that many young people will be in line for university education in 1975 in Metropolitan Toronto alone.

The new school thus is destined for swift growth. From a current enrolment of 216 students, York is expected to be registering' more than 10,000 students well within the next two decades.

WORKS WITH U. OF T.

York's general arts course and degree now are offered through the University of Toronto. But by 1964 at the earliest, 1968 at the latest, the affiliation will be severed and York will be on its own.

Faced with the prospect of quick expansion, York president Murray G. Ross and his youthful staff are anxious to avoid rushing off in the wrong direction.

Dr. Ross, a Sydney, N.S., sociologist who was vice-president of the University of Toronto before launching York with provincial government backing, is determined that the new school will not become a mere carbon copy of its older, midtown neighbor.

"We have the opportunity to be creative, and to produce something that may be new and valuable," Dr. Ross says. But the move would have to be made now while York is "young, fresh and flexible."

He says York's first aim is "to free man to use all his creative powers." He emphasizes the importance of a general, liberal education in achieving the goal.

HUMAN PROBLEMS

Society is "already overburdened with professional technicians who have little idea that life involves more than cutting a hole in a mountain, or a tooth or an abdomen."

The university's major concerns "should not be how to improve technology, but how to cure man's spiritual impotence; not how to create new forms of transportation, but how to apply creativeness to our social structure; not how to link continents physically, but how to achieve decency in human relations the world over."

The current concern at York is how to translate the aim into a formal course of study and create an atmosphere of inquiry that will make the university more than just a greystone mansion and a redbrick academy on the edge of the Don River ravine.

York began by offering a broad curriculum covering the humanities and the social and natural sciences. The program also stressed direct discussion between individual student and teacher.

RAN THREE SCHOOLS

The curriculum was borrowed from the University of Toronto and the direct communication between undergraduate and teacher was easy enough to arrange with the student-staff ratio only about nine to one.

The problem is to maintain the pattern, making certain that such standards are not lost in the shuffle of swift expansion when York's own curriculum is introduced, classes grow in size and demands for professional training are met.

Answers now in the planning stage call for the division of the university into three schools and a determination to base specialized training on a firm foundation of general education.

The present school will be maintained and developed as a college of up to 1,500 resident students concentrating on a broad, liberal arts course of study.

A large urban university, with a range of arts and professional faculties, will branch out to the northeastern outskirts of Toronto and cater to some 15,000 students, mostly commuters.

DEGREE AT NIGHT

An evening college providing courses leading to a university degree is planned for midtown Toronto within the next two years.

The residential college would foster a program encouraging the most intelligent high school graduates to develop themselves through a study of the great ideas of past and present as well as by the stimulation of a close student-teacher relationship. The student here would be concerned with "why, not how," as Dr. Ross puts it.

The same principles would be adapted to the other two schools alongside specialist courses. One curriculum idea would insist that students at all branches of York complete a general education course in addition to any specialized professional training.

Several North American universities have introduced a two-year course of the liberal arts as a preface to specialized studies like medicine and engineering.

York might refine such a system be adding a final-year synoptic course, a review that would attempt to sum up and relate the fields of study to each other and the current world.

"Much of the material fed by the high school and the university to young people has little, if any, meaning to them," Dr. Ross says. "Unless the student learns to relate facts, to enjoy speculating about them, to receive them into his imagination, the facts remain sterile and largely meaningless."

Dr. Ross believes that to lift young people above the mere accumulation of facts, the university must "nourish intuitive and imaginative powers," encourage understanding "not only with the intellect but also with the emotions" and assist the personal search for values and beliefs.

York's president has set himself and his staff a task that only the young, fresh and flexible might dare tackle.

But most of the faculty and the majority of the students are happy to be in on the experiment. They agree with York's motto — Tentanda Via — that "the way must be tried."

Garden Notes

For Your Garden Scrap Book

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Each year new plants come to our notice. These may be fresh from the hybridist or family favorites that have just come to our attention. I would like to try many new plants but there is not the room, or the time or the energy to do so. However I can try a few and hope to see the others in someone else's garden. Here is a list of a few I would like.

Two lavenders, Hidcote and Mundtead. I have a plant of L. Vera, or Lavendula officinalis. This is the true lavender they use for perfume. Hidcote is a dwarf type compact, quite fragrant and only one-foot high. Munstead grows taller and loosely.

There are two Clematis on the list. C. Tetrarose, a climber with deep pink, three - inch blossoms Not subject to wilt, blooms in June. C. Tangutica grows 10 to 15 feet, has yellow lantern - like blooms, is quite hardy and prefers full sun. This blooms from June to frost.

HAD NO SUCCESS

I have had no success with flowering almond. There is a new (to me) member of that family, Prunus tribola plena, said to be hardy even on the prairies. This is called Rose Tree of China. The shrub is covered with pink double blossoms in June.

Next come the hardy Azaleas. These come in several lovely colors and are hardy in most sections

The everblooming pink Spirea is extremely hardy and blooms all summer. This sounds just the shrub for a semi-shady place where I want color all summer. Height six feet.

The masses of gold that forsythias display in early spring are so welcome. I would like to try F. Beatrix Farrand which has bigger blooms of deep gold.

Fountain Butterfly Bush (Buddleia altemifolia) is very hardy and does not die back as most Buddeias do. The long arching stems are solid with lilac colored blooms in June, height six feet, perfumed.

Three new shade trees look good to me. Sorbus aucuparia, Modern Mountain ash is a good tree for a small lot or for a one story house. Height 20 feet with a 15 ft spread. Clean, very little litter, foliage small and fern-like, not too dense. Sorbus Red Tip another Mountain ash, is a good specimen tree with white berries tipped with red. Still another ash for city lot is Fraxinus holotricha. Small olive green leaves give good shade for lawn or house. Deep roots, quick growth, hard wood and little ground litter makes this another good tree to select

WERE VERY LATE

Last fall the late chrysanthemums were very late. We could have used something to keep color in the garden between the mid-summer flowers and the fall mums. English perennial asters would fill the bill. These are called hardy asters or Michealmas daisies. Their height is from the dwarf types eight to 12 inches tall to tall types three feet or more. Their colors are lovely, white and bright yellow eye through pale blue to deeper blues and purples and through the pinks to carmine.

Several good Shasta daisies give you cut flowers all summer. Alaska is a five-inch single, Double chiffon Elsie Gilbert is a real beauty. Mount Shasta is a fine double with crested centre. Increases rapidly. Dig and divide every three years. Keep the faded blooms cut and they will bloom most of the summer.

Gypsophilia Rosy veil or better still G. Rosy star are new perennials in double pink.

Hydrangeas are handsome plants and the new Oak Leaf white blooms in June in large loose panicles. The foliage is excellent in summer and especially colorful when it turns crimson in the fall. Hydrangea Petiolaris is a vine type with flowers borne on short spurs. These keep forming all summer. Clings to wood or brick without any extra support. Quite attractive for a porch or in an ell where walls meet.

SILVER WRAP

WHY WAIT FOR SPRING?

—you get the most for your dollar now when skilled men and materials are available. In addition to interior renovations to homes, plants and businesses, there are many other things that can be done to advantage during the winter—maintenance of lawn or garden equipment, electrical appliances, outboard motors and automobiles, as well as dry cleaning of drapes and rugs, replacement of upholstering, and many more. Why wait for Spring? Do it now.

Signs Pointing To Record Outlay In Year Ahead

Expenditure Estimates Total $6,276,211,594

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament has received the first — and main—instalment of the bill for government operations in the coming year with every sign pointing to record spending ahead.

The bill was the "blue book" of budgetary expenditure estimates totalling $6,276,211,594 tabled in the Commons Monday by Finance Minister Fleming for the 1962-63 year starting April 1.

It is only a starter, since further appropriations later on are inevitable.

Even with a big $279,300,000 "saving" from termination of tax - rental payments to the provinces, the amount exceeds the $6,123,758,182 in initial budgetary estimates for the current year.

On top of this are added old age pensions, due to rise in the coming year to a forecast $736,700,000 from this year's $606,570,000 with the $10 increase in payments to $65 monthly. These aren't counted as part of budgetary spending.

Altogether, $7,012,911,594 is the main spending program to launch 1962-63, an increase of $282,583,412 or 4.3 per cent from the $6,730,328,182 in total outlays proposed at the outset of the current fiscal year.

MORE TO COME

Further cash demands are certain to crop up as the year progresses. In the current year there have so far been $355,888,112 of these supplementary expenditures to bring the bill for the year to $7,086,216,289.

The termination of tax-rental payments to the provinces was provided for in the new Dominion-provincial tax deal under which the provinces this year have started to levy their own personal and corporation income taxes.

This will bring a drop in federal tax revenues equalling, and probably exceeding, the $279,300,000 cut in payments to the provinces. If the payments had been continued, the initial spending program for 1962-63 might have been some $562,000,000 higher than this year's—an 8.3 per cent rise.

Old age pensions, excluded from regular budgetary accounts, are financed by special three-per-cent personal and corporation income taxes and a three-per - cent sales tax. The $736,700,000 forecast of pension outlays in the coming year was made by Health Minister Monteith last week during debate on the proposed $10 pension boost.

Biggest impetus behind the new increases in government spending comes from higher social welfare outlays, programs to counter unemployment and expansion of the country's transportation system.

Defence continues to take the largest share of government spending — 26.7 per cent of budgetary estimates. The defence department's new budget of $1,675,792,175 is down $5,844,977 from the amount appropriated so far this year.

100,000 March In Funeral of Riot Victims

CP from AP-Reuters

PARIS—An estimated 100,000 or more Parisians marched slowly through Paris today in silent protest against the Secret Army Organization and police repression of demonstrations against the right - wing terrorists.

The vast throng marched two miles from the historic Place de la Republique to Pere Lachaise cemetery with the bodies of four of the eight persons killed in wild street fighting last Thursday night between police and Communist-led demonstrators against the secret army.

The government relaxed its ban on public demonstrations for the funeral, which was arranged by virtually [illegible] labor and left-wing organizations in Paris.

The bodies of the other four demonstrators killed were sent to their hometowns in the provinces for burial.

STRIKES WIDESPREAD

Strikes paralyzed Paris for the second day running. All public transport halted and services on main and suburban lines stopped. Also hit were utilities, newspapers, state and private radios, airports, post offices, factories and offices.

Grey, rainy skies added to the gloom and an electricity workers' strike darkened shops and stores. The familiar clatter of buses and the muffled roar of the subways were missing as transport workers joined in the strikes called on nearly all levels of the economy.

Most walkouts were called by the Communist - led General Confederation of Labor. The Catholic Union and powerful National Education Federation, grouping teachers unions, also joined the strike call.

January Jobless Represents 8.5 Per Cent of Labor Force

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment in Canada at mid-January was 545,000, an increase of 132,000 from mid - December but 148,000 fewer than in January of 1961, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The January jobless total represented 8.5 per cent of the labor force compared with 10.8 per cent a year earlier.

This was the sixth straight month that unemployment dipped from the corresponding period of 1960 following 17 successive months of increases in the year-to-year comparison.

The bureau said that while employment declined seasonally between December and January, an unusually large number of workers withdrew from the labor market, making the unemployment rise smaller than in comparable periods of recent years.

The report is based on a survey of 35,000 households across Canada during the week ending Jan. 13.

There was a drop in employment of 218,000 between December and January, but it was up 161,000 over the year-earlier total.

SEVIGNY FORCED TO APOLOGIZE FOR REMARKS

Pushed by P.M. To Make Statement

OTTAWA (CP)—With a not-so-gentle push from the prime minister, Associate Defence Minister Sevigny Monday gave to Commons what it rarely hears—a ministerial apology.

The House sat in silence as Mr. Sevigny rose, referred to a Montreal speech last week in which he said Communist governments have taken over Ecuador and British Guiana, and said "I guess I was a little out of line in that speech."

"I have since been satisfied that the governments of those countries are not Communist and I am glad to correct the statement I made," Mr. Sevigny said. He expressed his regrets and said he trusts his explanation will clear things up.

The man who satisfied him was Prime Minister Diefenbaker, it was learned authoritatively. Mr. Diefenbaker was angered and demanded a public correction. The earlier statement by Mr. Sevigny evoked sharp denials from both countries through diplomatic channels.

REPROVED BY HERRIDGE

H. W. Heridge (CCF—Kootenay West) called it a "most unfortunate blunder" and tried to suggest that Mr. Sevigny consult External Affairs Minister Green in the future. There were cries of "shame" from the government back benches.

In other parliamentary developments Monday:

Finance Minister Fleming tabled 1962-63 government spending estimates totalling $6,276,211,594, not including a rising bill for old age pensions. Further estimates later are inevitable.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced the appointment of Charles Rit-

Ready to Start Countdown for Glenn's Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—With the weather a big question mark, space technicians were poised today to start the countdown for astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s space flight around the world Wednesday Valentine's Day.

Although skies were blue and clear over this spaceport, the weather bureau warned of possible increased cloudiness, high winds and rough seas in the areas off Bermuda. That's where navy ships would try to recover Glenn's space capsule if his trip were limited to one orbit.

The countdown — a detailed check of the complex rocket and space capsule and supporting systems—is a 14-hour process spread over a two-day period.

The weather—a heavy cloud over the cape—forced postponement of the first effort to send the 40-year-old Glenn into orbit. Trouble with the Atlas rocket's fuel tanks extended the postponement for more than two weeks.

Glenn, a lieutenant-colonel in the U.S. Marine Corps, took the first half of the extensive physical check that precedes a space flight Monday. He was scheduled to finish the examination today.

Rusk Turns Down Mr. K's Proposal For Summit Meet

Macmillan Welcomes 'Broad Spirit' of Note

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk has rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal that the 18-country Geneva disarmament talks start off next month with a summit conference.

But Rusk indicated that if progress is made it is possible the heads of government might then wrap up any loose ends.

This was the first official public reaction to Khrushchev's suggestion for a summit meeting on disrmament.

The Soviet leader made it in a letter replying to messages from President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan. They had proposed that the United States, Britain and Russia send their foreign ministers to the disarmament conference.

They further proposed to Khrushchev, it was disclosed Monday, that the three governments keep their representatives at the bargaining table "until concrete results have been obtained — however long this may take."

President Kennedy is expected to reply in a few days to the Russian premier's counter-proposal.

EXPECT FIRM REPLY

Informants said the reply will be courteous, as was Khrushchev's letter, but firm.

Rusk explained the U.S. position late Monday in a radio interview.

Summit meetings, he said, "ought to be handled with considerable care and advance preparation."

"It is important that when the summit meets that it be successful. There are considerable dangers and disadvantages if the summit meets and ends in disagreement and in increased tension.

"We believe that what is now called for is some systematic, serious, hard and determined and quiet negotiation to translate these agreed (general disarmament) principles which have been endorsed by the UN General Assembly into reality and fact.

"And we do not believe that this kind of negotiation can best be carried on at a heads-of-government level because, among other things, there are problems of time and there are problems of commitment."

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda held out hope today for Western acceptance to convene an 18-country summit meeting to open the forthcoming disarmament conference.

There was specula[illegible] diplomatic circles here [illegible]at Premier Khrushchev would attend the opening of the conference in Geneva, Switzerland March 14 even if other heads of governments do not.

Pravda correspondents in New York and London reported there was no immediate official reaction to Khrushchev's proposal for the summit meeting.

It said U.S. press reaction was generally cautious and that newspapers in London underlined the businesslike, friendly tone of the proposal.

REPORTS DETAILS

The official news agency Tass reported earlier details of Khrushchev's letter proposing the summit to President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan.

One phrase in the message tended to support speculation that Khrushchev would "go it

LONDON (AP)—Prime Mini ter Macmillan today boosted t prospects of a summit confe ence by welcoming "the bro spirit" of the letter Soviet Pr mier Khrushchev sent to hi and to President Kennedy.

Macmillan told the House Commons the problem now is find a way of linking up propo als made by the two Wester powers "with the more gener ideas which the chairman of th Soviet Union has in mind."

Khrushchev proposed that th 18-nation disarmament confe ence opening in Geneva Marc 14 be conducted at summit lev in its opening stages.

His proposal came after Ma millan and Kennedy had sug gested an American-British-Ru sian foreign ministers confe ence as a curtain raiser for th disarmament talks.

Labor MPs, including Opposi tion Lader Hugh Gaitskell pressed Macmillan to promis there would be no American at mospheric tests of nuclear wea pons on Christmas Island unti the Geneva talks have had chance to produce some result

The prime minister decline to make a specific promise. H told the House preparations fo the Christmas Island tests woul take some time and "the test would certainly not be con ducted before March 14."

Diplomatic sources predicted that Kennedy, Macmillan and Khrushchev will mtet later this year.

This possibility, the informants said, represent the likely outcome of communications which the two Western leaders exchanged with Khrushchev.

A foreign office spokesman at a press conference explained that future planning for East-West contact still was in the fluid state.

He stressed that the Western powers were continuing the consultations among themselves on the type of approach to be made now to Khrushchev.

"What we are considering is how best to achieve a successful conference on disarmament," he said. The spokesman also noted that embassy officials of Britain, France, Canada and Italy are meeting with U.S. government officials in Washington to consider a Western approach to disarmament.

Khrushchev tossed Kennedy and Macmillan a hot potato Monday by proposing the 18-nation disarmament conference in Geneva should begin March 14 on a summit basis.

Windows Broken All Along Block As Bomb in Car Kills Toronto Man

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Yetman, 38, a city works department employee, died today when a bomb attached to his car exploded.

Police said the dynamite bomb was rigged to the steering column of his car.

They are seeking a truck driver for questioning.

Mr. Yetman, father of six children, was leaving for work about 6:30 a.m. when the car parked opposite his west-end home exploded.

Police said windows in five homes were smashed by the blast which hurled the car's engine hood 25 feet into a tree.

A spring was hurled through the window of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Walsh, who live next to the Yetmans on Brock Ave.

Parts of the car were scattered 200 feet and windows were smashed along an entire block.

Thomas Hancock, who worked with Mr. Yetman at a city incinerator, said the Yetmans came to Toronto from Newfoundland about seven years ago. He had worked on the same job since.

Bill Yetman, 33, brother of the dead man, said:

"I got lots of ideas about that (the bomb) but I can't say right now."

Police have established no motive for the bombing.

Insp. William Culver of the Metropolitan Toronto Police bomb squad said the blast caused "the most fantastic aftermath of an explosion I've seen."

Mr. Hancock said Mr. Yetman was "a nice quiet guy who never bothered anyone.

Walter Cain, who also worked with Mr. Yetman, said he was a "popular and willing worker, and had no enemies that I know of.

Inspt. Culver said parts of the car were blown over the top of a nearby three-storey building, and that the chassis of the car was the only part left intact.

An entire fender landed 90 feet from where the car had been parked.

Mr. Walsh told police he had just started to go into his living room when he saw the window shatter and fall in.

"The whole house shook," he said. "I shouted to my wife to get the kids out. I thought the furnace had exploded. Then I saw the car all shot to bits."

New Ambassador Pleased Over United Nations Future

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada's Charles S. A. Ritchie will go to his appointment in Washington with the conviction the United Nations has survived a period of "doom and uncertainty."

Ritchie, 56, named Monday to succeed Arnold Heeney as ambassador to the United States, spoke in an interview of demonstrated UN strength during his 4½ years as Canada's permanent delegate.

The lanky career diplomat—who brings a touch of humor to the grinding affairs of cold-war impasse—noted that events of world-shaking importance have occurred since he came to the UN.

In most cases it was impossible to guess that Ritchie was under stress as he strolled about the UN General Assembly with hands in pockets and relaxed air, an easy grin twitching the moustache on his lean face.

"He has a way of taking the tension out of the air when things are tough," one associate said.

But Ritchie recalled the intense worry that pervaded the world body after Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was killed last September while on a mission for peace in The Congo. Diplomats were aware of a "feeling of doom and uncertainty."

"It is inspiring that with Acting Secretary-General U Thant at the helm we seem to be getting over that feeling," he added in the interview.

Ritchie spoke with admiration of leaders of smaller countries who were willing to block the Soviet Union's demand for a three-man troika leadership for the UN secretariat after Hammarskjold's death.

There is evidence the admiration was returned.

The most eloquent tribute for Ritchie, however, came Monday night from chief United United States delegate Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson spoke of "my good and able friend" and added:

"He and his wife both have brought grace and wit and intelligence to our United Nations community and we shall miss them."

Ritchie's aplomb dropped when Soviet Premier Khrushchev and his Communist cohorts broke up an assembly meeting. It was Khrushchev's famous shoe-pounding incident.

"I don't know what this means for the UN," Ritchie said.

Ritchie is known at the UN as the "common sense" type of diplomat. He said Monday he is convinced Canada can produce broad support for its proposal provided they are "solid."

As chief Canadian delegate Ritchie did some of his most valuable work in the preparatory field—explaining to other countries what Canada had in mind, getting their opinions and support.

He says that nowhere but in the UN has he found diplomats so full of camaraderie and willingness to understand, even when their interests might be opposed.

Should Produce in Order to Live, Not Live to Produce, Say Farmers

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Farmers Union today presented a brief to the provincial government expressing concern about "the continued stagnation of the general economy and especially the distressed situation of the Canadian farmer."

Farmers, says the brief, are in a precarious position mainly because of the high cost of goods and services they must buy and the low prices received for produce. "This is a matter largely for the federal government. . . ."

The brief takes exception to the recent report of the Agricultural Marketing Enquiry Committee which "fell into the quite common error of taking the farm problem out of the context of the general economy."

The brief says the report indicated efficient production was the supreme purpose of man "as if men lived for the sake of production instead of producing in order to live."

The brief objects to a recommendation in the report suggesting the governments should not interfere with the trend to fewer and larger farms.

"We point our finger at those countries in Latin America where the ownership of land is monopolized by a very small minority and urge them to break up their semi-feudal es-

Science Fair At Collegiate Great Success

By FRED BEEBY

Judging from the interest displayed by the general public last Friday, at the Belleville Collegiate, it can be said that Belleville is proud of their Science students and future Science Fairs of this type are a certainty.

As an observation, the writer could not help but get the impression that, contrary to general opinion, the youth of today does know what they want, and what's more, they know how to get it.

The displays were well presented and the depth of research was quite evident. If one suggestion is permitted, the displays lost some of their appeal due to the limited space allotted to them. Future fairs should be held in a more spacious area, thus giving the viewer more room to observe the displays with the interest and enthusiasm they justly deserve.

The wide variety of categories, the individual treatment, and the amount of time and work put into each of the projects prompted the viewers to remark: "They didn't do this sort of thing in my day," "Where do all the ideas come from?" "I couldn't do that now, never mind when I was a student," "Look at the work in that one," etc.

The grand prize winner took the very difficult and controversial subject of "Reproduction" and handled it with dignity and in a way that will do much to dispel some of the mysticism that surrounds this subject.

Alberta Minister of Health Denies Medical Plan Needed But Wants Drug Costs Cut

EDMONTON (AP) — A universal prepaid medical care plan is not "as necessary as it is made out to be," Health Minister J. Donovan Ross of Alberta Monday told the royal commission on health services.

Dr. Ross disagreed with a suggestion by Commissioner O. J. Firestone that there is "overwhelming demand" for a comprehensive, government-supported medical plan.

"There are other things we should look at before going into an area where needs are already being met," he said. He admitted, however, that if the federal government offered to pay half the cost of a universal program Alberta would have "no other choice" but to consider instituting one.

Dr. Ross was the chief witness as the Social Credit government presented its brief to the commission, which opened five-day public hearings.

The only question of a government-supported medical plan was touched upon only obliquely in the brief itself—"the government of Alberta has consistently opposed so - called socialized health and medical services, believing that such programs are incompatible with the rights and responsibilities inherent in a free and democratic society."

It was amply covered, however, in a prolonged question-and-answer session.

DRUGS ARE COSTLY

A subject dealt with in detail in the brief—and in oral examination—was that of drug costs, which the Alberta government said are too high at the retail level.

Alberta called for establishment of a federal agency with power to examine the cost-revenue position of individual drugs and take action to reduce prices. It suggested this might be done by other means than direct price-fixing.

The agency would furnish information on new drugs to doctors, pharmacists and hospitals so as to "eliminate or moderate" present promotional costs, encourage the use of generic or chemical-name drugs in preference to brand-name drugs and ensure that existing legislation such as the patent act and the food and drug act "does not stand in the way of any steps which might be taken to reduce the cost of drugs."

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta government has filed with the royal commission on health services a table comparing the cost of drugs at various levels.

The table was filed as an exhibit supplementing the province's formal brief to the commission which claimed the retail price of prescription drugs is too high and called for establishment of a federal agency to reduce prices.

Shown in the table were prices in Alberta of what the provincial government said was a representative group of antibiotic, cortiscosteriod and tranquillizer drugs.

The table listed both the generic and brand names of the drugs, the manufacturer's cost and suggested retail price, the price to retail pharmacists, the price to wholesalers and the list price to University Hospital in Edmonton.

GIVE COMPARISONS

Tetracycline, produced under the brand name of Tetrex by Bristol, cost the manufacturer $140 a kilogram. A kilogram will produce 4,000 tablets of 250 milligrams each.

The manufacturer's list price for the drug was $47.84 for 100 tablets. The price to the retail pharmacist was $28.73, to the wholesaler $24.42 and to University Hospital $14.95.

The Gilbert Company's price by generic name to physicians was $19.60 for 100 tablets.

Chlorotetracyline, produced in 250 - milligram dosages under the brand name of Aureomycin by Lederele, cost the manufacturer $476.51 a kilogram and the suggested list price was $43.13 for 100 tablets. The price to the pharamcist was $25.88, to the University Hospital, $19.18.

Under corticosteriods, the brief listed the generic drug prednisolone, produced by Schering under the brand name Meticortelone at a cost of $1.57 for 100 tablets.

The list price and cost to retail pharmacists, to wholesalers and to University Hospital for 100 tablets were $22.70, $13.62, $11.35 and $7, respectively.

The Starkman Company's price by generic name to physicians was $3.95 for 100 tablets, the Gilbert price by generic name was $5 and the Empire Company's price to physicians and retail pharmacists under generic name was $4.80.

Around The Tee

The boys and girls of the Quinte Curling Club are beginning to bring home the silverware from outside bonspiels in great quantities. On Saturday six rinks of mixed curlers journeyed to Picton to enjoy the hospitality of that club and home they came with three prizes.

Charles Lovett and his wife, Doreen, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carruthers, won the high three-game score and closely followed by Mr. and Mrs. Ev Gowsell with the Neils. Incidentally, it is nice to see Audrey out again after a seige of illness. Bill and Jean Riley with Mr. and Mrs. Hal Emerson won the two-game high score Bill and Mrs. Gault with Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bakay, the Stanton family with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graham with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Acton made up the other rinks. Everyone reported a good time and the ice in the skating rink first class.

On Saturday Jack Snetsinger, Jim Coverdale, Ron Benn and Ross Booth were only beaten by one point for the top score in the one-day spiel held by the Trenton Curling Club. Andy McFie and his rink of Kingston were the top pointgetters at the spiel. There were sixteen rinks in play from the district and a good time was had by all. Another rink of Chick Tierney, Bob Alexander, Ernie Wilkinson and Ken LaPalm were on hand but could not break into the win column. The club held several meetings during the day.

Friday night will be a big one at the Quinte Curling Club. On that evening 32 curlers from the Kingston Curling Club will pay an inter-club visit, play a couple of games and enjoy the hospitality of the Quinte members. These get-togethers are one of the best means of promoting the fellowship of curling. The combined scores of the rinks will count and the visit will be returned before the end of the year.

One of the active clubs in the city, the Sales and Ad Club, is preparing for its annual bonspiel to be held on March 21st at the local rink. This is one of the highlights of the season. There will be sixteen rinks in play in the three games and so great has been the entry the Belleville club will only have at the best about five rinks entered. Rinks from Niagara Falls, Peterborough, Oshawa, Kitchener, Toronto and other points have accepted invitations. The prize list is a little bit out of the ordinary as many of the prizes will be donated by various firms and special preparations are being made to entertain the guests. There will be a full course dinner served and the whole show will be topped off with high class entertainment by out-of-town artists.

Fanfani Opens Talks With Leftist Group

ROME (AP)—Premier Amintore Fanfani Monday night opened talks with leftist party leaders expected to join his Christian Democrats in a new coalition government.

Fanfani first met Aldo Moro, political secretary of his own Christian Democrat party. Then conferred separately with negotiating missions of the Democratic Socialist, Republic and Socialist parties.

It was the premier's first formal move toward a coalition with the socialists—former allies of the Communists—providing "external" support in Parliament.

Arthur McGie Celebrates 98th Birthday

Hard work, decent living and only moderate use of tobacco and alcohol are all attributes to a long and healthy life, according to Arthur McGie, a retired tailor, who celebrated his 98th birthday in Metropolitan Hospital, Windsor, on Thursday.

As he nears the status of a centenarian, Mr. McGie feels that modern day living is easier than when he was a young man but he does not think everything is better.

He terms labor unions the "craziest things" he has ever seen and he disagrees with the way they are run, claiming that United States unions dictate policy to the Canadian unions.

He spent his birthday with two generations of his family, a granddaughter, Mrs. Audrey Desjarlais and a great granddaughter, one-year-old Beth Anne Desjarlais.

During the afternoon, he sat in a chair and talked to the many well wishers who came to see him and in the hallway sat a table with a birthday cake and many greeting cards. The cake was complete with candles, but not quite 98 of them.

The cake, which he cut during the day was termed "the best in the long line of cakes I have had".

Mr. McGie was born in Hamilton and at the age of four moved to Belleville where he lived until he moved to Windsor to live with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Peacock, 712 Kildare Rd.

Mr. McGie has many clear memories of his youth in the Belleville area, recalling drives from Belleville to nearby Campbellford on a narrow strip of roadway between snowbanks 12 to 14 feet in height. Today's winters are mild compared to those in his recollection, he said.

Mohawk Fair Board Names Officers

The Mohawk Agricultural Society held its annual meeting on February 3 with 25 members attending. President Clifford Maracle opened the meeting by thanking all those who helped make the 1961 Fair such a success and hoped for the coming year every one will do his and her best to make it even better.

New officers for 1962: president — Clifford Maracle; vice-president — William J. Brant; secretary — Helen Louis; treasurer — Clinton A. Maracle; foreman director — Franklin Green; lady director — Betty Brant.

Next meeting will be held on March 12th.

Mrs. Clifford Maracle and Mrs. Helen Louis attended as delegates a district meeting held at the Kiwanis Centre, at Belleville, on Thursday and set the date as Saturday, September 15, 1962 for Mohawk Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brant will be attending the Agricultural convention held in the King Edward Hotel on February 21 and 22 as delegates for the Mohawk Agricultural Society.

After the meeting adjourned refreshments, furnished by the Society, were enjoyed.

Rotary Club members listened intently to a very interesting explanation about the functions of the local branch of the American Optical Company, at their luncheon meeting held Monday afternoon at the Hotel Quinte.

Malcolm "Mike" Mallory, formerly of Cobourg, head of sales department at American Optical, explained to the group present how the lens in a pair of glasses was made.

Mr. Mallory said that at any one time there would be about 40 sets of frames going by on the production line at once and taking in mind color and shape, there would in a sense be 40 different styles.

He said that as a rule, one new style is added each month and likewise, for inventory purposes, one is taken away.

In addition to the regular line of glasses, American Optical also produces sunglasses with polaroid lenses. This type of sun glass was sold exclusively by American Optical.

American Optical does not deal in glasses alone. Safety products, such as the hardtop hats worn by construction workers, along with many other products, such as goggles, respirators, and safety clothing are manufactured.

LARGEST IN WORLD

Mr. Mallory said that American Optical was the largest company of its kind in the world with 10 plants in the United States, several in England, and also continental Europe.

Not only is American Optical producing glasses and safety equipment, but it is also active in the space age, and does a considerable amount of work in the electronics field, according to Mr Mallory.

For instance, the "infra-ray" was first introduced by American Optical and has been used for many different purposes.

Now, a new product known as "Fibre-Optics" is being introduced, this being a method of transmitting light through a flexible cable. Already airline companies are using this product by placing one end of the cable in the motor with the other end located in the instrument panel. This enables the pilot to determine the location of trouble immediately and not after a lot of damage has been done and he is in danger.

Using a sample of this product, Mr. Mallory demonstrated with a scaled fibre-optic cable, how it was possible to see around corners. He said a doctor could use one of the cables to examine the stomach or the heart.

There are two American Optical of Canada plants in Canada, one located here in Belleville, manufacturing lenses, and one in Quebec which manufactures frames. Head office of the company has recently been transferred to Belleville.

During the meeting members welcomed guests and presented birthday cakes to Rotarians Harry Ackerman, presently in hospital, and Don MacKinnon.

Mr. Mallory was thanked by Rotarian Jim Marker.

Khrushchev said work at the conference could begin at the summit level even if all heads of participating governments could not take part.

Pravda printed the Anglo-American message to Khrushchev suggesting the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva. It was the first time contents of the message were published here.

Diplomats pointed out that Khrushchev had accepted the Western proposal that foreign ministers participate in the Geneva conference.

Pravda also carried a lengthy commentary bearing the authoritative signature "Observer" which accused the United States and Britain of deceit in its approach toward disarmament.

"Observer" rejected in advance any Western proposal for a nuclear test ban.

Now Is the Hour

From time to time we have urged the improvement of docking and shoreside facilities in Victoria Park to accommodate the needs of visiting yachtsmen and the water tourist traffic which the Bay of Quinte area attracts during the late spring, summer and early fall.

The advantages to be realized from such investment of the community's funds to make Belleville harbor an attractive port for what can bluntly be termed a high-priced and high-paying trade have been fully expounded and justified in previous editorials.

Over the past several years some small improvements have resulted. The major public dock has been renovated so that it is no longer an invitation to break one's leg. Several small docks have been added to accommodate up to about a dozen boats: The parkway road was filled and levelled in a temporary effort to make it more suitable for passenger cars than for tanks.

While commendable, these efforts are not enough. The major improvement to enhance what is essentially a public property is being made by the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club with its expansion program designed to first meet the needs of visitors and eventually to improve facilities for its own members.

We would suggest that the rest of the community pick up its heels and get going also. Due to the complex of authorities and organizations involved in the handling of Victoria Park and the harbor facilities there has been some tendency for one group to say that any improvements are another body's responsibility. There is also a tendency for some to say why bother to improve the harbor and park facilities for the benefit of a few local yachtsmen.

We would suggest that the harbor commission, the parks board, city council, the Chamber of Commerce and the yacht club appoint representatives to form a port facilities development board. Such a board could then make a survey of the tourist water traffic which comes into this area, appraise the needs of these people, determine what must be done locally to meet these needs and organize and execute a positive plan to develop the great natural potential which lies in Victoria Park and Zwick's Island to build up a long range, and lucrative, tourist trade for this community.

We note that Picton is to build new dock facilities to accommodate visiting yachtsmen. It was announced some time ago that many millions of dollars are to be spent on improving the Trent Canal system. A new marina designed to meet the needs of the yachting public is being built in Deseronto.

Now is the hour for some positive and collective action to be taken in this community to ensure that Belleville is at the right forward position in this district development and not hanging over the stern like a seasick landlubber.

A concrete and comprehensive plan could be decided upon within the next few months so that its initial stages may be started immediately the weather becomes favorable in the spring. It may even be possible that part of such a long range project could be carried out as a winter works project also.

Whatever the format may be, now is the hour to get underway on it — before it is too late.

New Ice Survey Method

Tiros IV, the latest U.S. weather satellite, is performing its duties so efficiently that consideration is being given to using it for reconnaissance of ice conditions on the Great Lakes and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Of course, this would merely be a quicker and easier way of accomplishing what has long been well within the bounds of man's capability.

It seems incredible, but it is true, that only a few decades ago, at the conclusion of a winter such as the one through which we are shivering, the extent of Great Lakes icefields was often the cause of much speculation in marine circles. For instance, heated arguments might spring up amongst sailors, gathered amongst the heavy shavings which marked the repair of wooden ships, as to whether Georgian Bay could have frozen completely over. And nobody, nobody, knew for certain. Since ships could not sail until inshore ice broke up, nobody wanted to pay for a plane inspection trip.

And today that obvious solution, a short trip in a light plane, has been outmoded and a satellite whirling effortlessly and ceaselessly around the world is the simpler method of ascertaining what is going on a few short miles from our busiest summertime ports! Who would have believed such a story thirty years ago?

Crerar Annoys Liberals

BY RICHARD JACKSON

(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — A few of the more outspoken Liberals are so steamed up these days over the Senate, that they could almost go along with Prime Minister Diefenbaker on "reform."

The Senate is Liberal—militantly so—and has been a source of embarrassment and frustration to the Prime Minister.

First it blocked him on his tariff bill and the Government's plan to provide a little more protection for hard-pressed Ontario and Quebec secondary industry against low-cost, cheap-labor and often subsidized competition from abroad.

Then it stopped Finance Minister Fleming cold in his fight to fire former Bank of Canada Governor James Coyne.

Both reverses were politically painful to the Prime Minister and hardened his determination to keep an old promise to "reform" the Senate.

This could be done in any one of several ways including imposition of an age limit, or perhaps a fixed term of service.

Through all this feuding between the Government and the Senate, the Liberals were having nothing but fun, and it seemed as if the love affair between the Opposition and the Upper Chamber might go on forever in a delirium of political joy.

CAME THE DAWN

But now, suddenly, without warning, there has been cruel disillusion, or, as they used to say in the silent movies, "Came the dawn."

Unfaithful, the Senate has betrayed the love and trust of the Liberals, and the dismay is almost hilarious to behold.

Old Liberal warhorse, Senator Thomas Crerar, tough, independent-minded, 86-year-old former member of Mackenzie King's wartime Cabinet, has come out against his own party's pension plan.

Hardly anything could be more politically awkward at the moment, for it is on promises of an immediate $20 boost in the Old Age Pension—double the pledge of the Conservatives — that the Liberals are making their main election bid.

Maybe because they are numerically weak in the Senate, or their Senators are more restrained, the Conservatives have been spared the humiliation of one of their captains disowning the party's election platform.

Not only is Senator Crerar against any non-contributory increase in the pension, he's opposed also to that $42,000,000 in acreage payment cash handouts to Prairie farmers, and objects even to the $63,000,000 flood control program in the Parliamentary works for his home base of Winnipeg.

All that should pretty well cook whatever Prairie votes the Liberals might have been able to retrieve this time from their 1958 political liquidation West of the Manitoba border . . : or so say the Conservatves, with the Opposition not at all sure they might not be right.

THROW THE RASCAL OUT

The Liberals are so spitting mad, that they could throw Senator Crerar out of the party. He himself grinning, has confessed that they wouldn't mind at all expelling him.

For there they are, with the election chips down, and one of their respected old captains knocking their program.

Trouble was, too, that he did it out in the open proclaiming it from the Senate floor, for all the voters, young and old, to hear.

When he made his statement of opposition to the Liberal pension promises, the Conservatives could hardly believe their ears.

It was simply too politically good to be true.

But true it was, and Conservative Senator John Hnatyshyn, a fell Manitoban of Senator Crerar, moved quickly, with sharp perception ,to confirm it.

Even the $10 pension increase the Conservatives were promising, Crerar scolded, was too much.

"But what about the Liberal pledge of $75 a month, that's a $20 increase?" asked Senator Hnatyshyn.

"I have no sympathy with it, and won't suppor it," rumbled Crerar, while the other Liberals in the Senate gasped and perhaps even turned pale. He since has partially recanted, but as with all such explanations, qualifications and even denials, the "correction," for good reason, never catches up with the first unvarnished version. Anyway, his first fine careless rapture remains to confront him in the official Hansard record.

Best part of the whole thing, from the Conservative point of view, is that Senator Crerar's stand will do nothing to increase the political popularity either of the Liberal Party or the Senate.

For the voters will have little difficulty remembering that, when it comes to the matter of pensions, Senator Crerar, as a member of what is without doubt the nation's finest "Pension Plan" — the Senate, a "club" for retired politicians — draws a cozy annual $10,000.

Would Fill Part Of Harbor, Park Cars

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

A letter to the editor by a J. G. Caldwell, of 209 Albert Street, Belleville, in Wednesday's paper, suggested diverting the river into the harbor through a channel to wash out the weeds and filth.

I think a better idea would be to fill in the harbor and make more parking space as that part of the harbor is not used by boats anyway.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WE TOOK THEM

Are you independent of outward circumstances? True happiness will come to all of us if we can achieve that great end. We look with horror on the Hindu holy man reclining on a bed of spikes. This is ghastly and grotesque. But it is a diseased example of something that is essentially true. This poor creature is trying to make himself independent of outward circumstances. He takes a hideously mistaken way to do so, but there is some speck of virtue down at the bottom of his impulse.

No one can truthfully say that circumstances make no difference to him. What he really means is that he does not show the difference, nor does he allow it to interfere with the great goals of achievement which he has set up in his life. Of course sorrow makes a difference. So does failure. So does disappointment and the turning back of our fondest hopes. If we could toss these things over our shoulders we would reveal that we were people of no heart or conscience, or in fact of no mind. They hurt us. They bear down upon us through the years. But if we are true to ourselves and God, they make no essential difference.

In the end we are victorious only if we can say that throughout our lives we have been independent of outward circumstances. We took them with bowed head and with heavy hearts — but we took them.

Mr. Redner took second prize on his exhibit of early oats and was also a consistent winner on exhibits of clover and grass seeds. He was first in the sweet clover class.

Nathan Clapper of this city, has reasons to lose his faith in humanity, or at least he claims so after losing eight shirts off the family clothesline yesterday, about which he informed police. Later in the day police arrested a transient who gave his name as McEachern, on charges of intoxication and panhandling. At the station it was discovered that this transient was overclad with shirts; to be exact he was wearing nine shirts. When confronted with McEachern later in the cell block, Clapper blurted out, "Why that's the man we took in and gave a meal at our house this morning." So that is why Clapper today may have lost his faith in humanity.

The Madoc train which left here at 12.55 p.m. on Friday became stalled by snow three miles west of West Huntingdon station and it was thirty-six hours before relief was obtained. An effort was made to reach the stalled train by two engines and a snow plough from Belleville. This outfit also became stalled and when it did reach the stalled train, it could not be moved until the track was shovelled clear for a considerable distance. Eventually when the train began to move it was at a very low rate of speed, possibly one mile an hour. It was thirteen miles to Madoc and it took as many hours to reach that place. It was 5.10 Sunday morning when the train finally pulled into Madoc station. On the train were five women and hree babies; Dr. Harper of Madoc; F. Curry, a traveller; Mr. Tummon, an insurance agent of Belleville and a few others. Soda biscuits were the only available food and snow was melted for water to drink. Eventually some of the men led by Charles Moore, with great difficulty, reached a farm house three miles away and obtained some food which was thankfully received by the passengers. Dr. Harper rendered valuable aid to a sick baby.

Strictly Personal

People's Minds Are Narrowed By Hobbies

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What we call a "hobby" is popularly supposed to broaden people, to give them a wider field of interest and to shake them out of the rut of their everyday affairs.

But my own observation leads me to believe that most hobbies do exactly the opposite — they narrow people, involve them intensely in a small segment of activity and insulate them from the world of reality.

I was thinking this the other day, when we took the children to an indoor skating rink. All the skating buffs were there, performing their incredible feats, talking shop and excluding the outsiders.

They reminded me of all the other buffs I have seen at close range — the horsey people, the dog set, the tournament bridge players, the collectors of first and rare editions.

Almost without exception, these people have constricted themselves into a tight little world. They are alcoholics of a sort, using their particular field of interest as a drunk uses liquor — to shut away the large world, with its perplexing relationships and its harsh demands. And they are "happy" only when under the influence.

One reason I stopped, years ago, taking part in serious bridge tournaments (apart from my obvious ineptness at the game) was the uneasy feeling that most of the participants were simply transferring their neuroses to the tournament table.

Much as I enjoy the game, it is only a small part of life. But to them — as to all buffs — this was really life, and the rest merely an illusion. It is a form of addiction, perhaps harmless at first, but I am sure in the end it is stultifying to the whole personality.

A long time ago, when I was trying to train an especially recalcitrant springer spaniel, I joined the dog world briefly and found much the same spirit of narrowness, fanaticism, escapism and almost pathological identification with the canines.

A hobby, it seems to me, to justify itself, should form a bridge to the larger world; it should be a sphere of activity which increases our sympathies, widens our horizons and serves as a lifegiving link between our vocational activities and the broader latitudts of life.

Instead, in most cases, it is used as a soporific rather than as a stimulant, as a means of focusing one's envies, fears and ambitions instead of freeing them and as a form of retreat from the challenging multiplicity of human life. It makes us smaller, when what we should be looking for is something to make us bigger.

To Your Good Health

Colds Can Sometimes Be The Result of Allergies

Dear Dr. Molner: My four-year-old daughter is in excellent health except for having several colds every year. She gets a cough with each cold and it takes three to four weeks to clear up.

The doctor now says she is allergic to something and that she should be taken to an allergist. Her nose lining is white instead of pink.

Is it possible for her to have an allergy, although she is, in all other respects, in good health? — Mrs. J. S.

Yes. For a comparison, a person (or child) can be in perfect health, yet have red hair and a fair skin, and be unduly sensitive to sunshine. It's not a fault of health; it's an extra-sensitivity to sunshine.

So with allergy. It's an extra-sensitivity to something.

Cautiously, I'm not saying that little Miss S. does have an allergy — but on the basis of what I've learned from the letter, I'd be strongly inclined to suspect it.

It's not unusual, of course (as any mother will agree) for a child to have several colds a year. We all catch colds. But the cough that hangs on is something else. However, the general record of health makes us think that the cough isn't some chronic throat or lung or any other respiratory condition.

At this point I take off my hat to the doctor who suspects an allergy. Besides the points mentioned, he has noted that the nasal membrane is white, not red.

With an ordinary cold, or with a secondary infection which sometimes follows a cold, the membranes are inflamed and red, as a rule. But with allergy it is more likely that the membranes will have a boggy, pale, moist appearance.

The evidence for allergy is present, and it makes a great deal of sense for the family doctor to suggest tests by an allergist. Find out what is causing the allergic reaction. This will permit the little lady to avoid substance (some food, house dust, wool or any number of other possibilities) in the future.

Or better yet, desensitization shots, to help her build some immunity, may be advised.

Yes, a certain number of "colds" either are allergies or are accentuated by allergies, and it's better to start taking precautions sooner rather than later.

Dear Dr. Molner: Almost every night when I go to bed, I am just nicely comfortable when I have a series of involuntary, uncontrollable constrictions of most of the body. I call them the "jumps." They don't last long but are very annoying. Is there any explanation? — M. J. M.

Yes sir. Most likely what we call a case of "mind over matter." You get wound up nervously during the day. You control this nervous energy, which is like a wound-up spring — meaning your nervous tension. Your "jumps" are probably just the release of this. Your doctor may be able to choose a relaxant, a sedative or even tranquilizer which will let you "unwind" more gradually.

Dear Dr. Molner: You mentioned "a sniff of pituitary powder" as being helpful for people with diabetes insipidus, instead of injections. Does that mean actually sniffing it, like snuff? — P. P.

Yes. (Other readers please note that this is for diabetes insipidus, which is a different disease from the more common — yes far too common — diabetes mellitus.)

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SACRIFICE

Sometimes I think the old virtue of sacrifice has lost its way in the world — you see it so infrequently.

Yet, were all the facts known, I believe they would show that there are more people in the world doing deeds for others and giving of themselves to their own material loss, than ever before.

For sacrifice doesn't show its face excepting as it shines and lights up everybody about its deed.

If sacrifice is advertised, it loses its fragrance. Many are the beautiful flowers of manhood and womanhood which are born "to blush unseen" as well as to wilt unsung though their very presence in the world has made it far more beautiful.

It is natural for a mother to sacrifice, and under any protest you could draw nothing but a smile from her.

In life, what is worth while? The answer to this question marks the measure of our worth in the world and gauges the degree to which we respect ourselves and are willing to sacrifice for others.

There is nothing that brings so much happiness to one as giving to make others happy through much personal sacrifice. This is one's compensation.

The human heart is the richest mine in the world. It contains more than pure gold, more than the most precious pearls or the most mystifying stones from the silent breast of the earth.

You never know the greatness of life until you have sacrificed much for the pleasure and happiness of others.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In recent discussions of discount houses and the emergence of disturbing new factors in the world of retail trade, the phrase "distress merchandise" is used. The dictionary gives the definition of distress merchandise as "goods sold quickly, usually at less than the prevailing price, in order to obtain cash."

According to merchants of my acquaintance, there is a wider meaning. In all but a very few of the manufacturing fields, there are not infrequent boo-boos, in which the management misjudges the fashions, the demand, or the fickle public mood. Warehouses become backed up with these goods. They are laboriously pushed upon the smaller out-of-the-way shops, or distributed to the smaller communities at a reduced price, though seldom at a loss. When the warehouses and small shops become overloaded with these mistakes on the part of production, steps have to be taken to unload. These goods become "distress merchandise "along with the goods referred to by the dictionary. But it is safer to avoid the dictionary category even more than the boo-boos. For that is goods urgently produced as bargain goods in order to raise hurried cash.

True bargains, actually, are a little hard to come by.

three-quarters of the decline over the month. Manufacturing was responsible for most of the remaining drop.

On a year-to-year basis, employment was described as "well ahead," up 2.8 per cent. Non-farming industries were up 3.3 per cent, chiefly in service and manufacturing. Construction employment was up four per cent.

The brighter employment picture showed in lower unemployment rates for all regions, with Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia showing marked improvement.

Some 476,000 of the jobless were men. Of these, 132,000 were under 25 years of age, 204,000 were 25 to 44 and 140,000 were 45 and over. About 292,000, nearly 60 per cent, were married.

An estimated 69,000 women were unemployed in January. Of these, 35,000 were under 25 years, 20,000 were 25 to 44 and 14,000 were 45 and over. Some 26,000, nearly 40 per cent were married.

Unemployment rates were reported substantially lower than last year for men in all age groups.

Of the 545,000 unemployed in January, 74 per cent had been unemployed for three months or less, 14 per cent were unemployed for four to six months and 12 per cent were out of work for more than six months. All of the decline in unemployment over the year was among those unemployed for four to six months and 12 per cent were out of work for more than six months. All of the decline in unemployment over the year was among those unemployed for six months or less.

Ontario

There were 149,000 unemployed in Ontario in January, compared with 113,000 in December and 202,000 in January, 1961. The unemployment rate was 6.3 per cent of the labor force, compared with 8.5 per cent a year earlier.

The decline in employment between December and January was estimated at 62,000, mainly as a result of decreases in construction, trade and manufacturing. Relatively stable and employment levels were maintained in other industries.

NEW YORK — A young North American team took a 110-78 lead over favored Italy Monday night after 48 hands at the world contract bridge tournament.

It was the first time in five years Italy has trailed another team at the world contract bridge team championship.

Argentina, expected to finish last in the four-team, nine-day competition, took a surprising 124-85 lead over Britain.

Italy, which has won the championship four straight years, has not been defeated by North American players since 1955. However, the Italians can still win since there are 96 deals left in the match.

chie, 56, permanent representative of Canada at the United Nations since 1957, as Canadian ambassador to Washington to succeed Arnold Heeney, whose future job will be announced later.

Third and final reading was given a bill boosting pensions and allowances for the disabled —up $10 monthly to $65.

BOOST VETERANS' AID

Four pieces of veterans legislation—amendments to the various acts that make up what is known as "the veterans' charter"—proceeded through varying stages of the legislative mill in rapid Commons action.

Made ready for third reading were two amendments granting a further extension to Oct. 31, 1968, the time in which veterans can apply for insurance and war service grants. First reading was given two other bills—one broadening education aid for children of war dead, the other giving allowances to civilian volunteers who contributed to the overseas war effort in both world wars. The latter step applies mainly to merchant seamen.

The House gave first reading —no debate is permitted at that stage—to a bill that would boost the borrowing power of the St. Lawrence Seaway authority by $10,000,000 to a maximum of $345,000,000.

In the hour for private members' bills, the House "talked out" a proposal by W. H. McMillan (L — Welland) to make deductible for income tax purposes company contributions to employee pension plans, contingent on vesting pension rights in the employees "reasonably early" after contributions start.

Irwin McCoy Again Heads Hog Producers

Former Marmora township reeve Irwin McCoy was re-elected president of the Hastings County Hog Producers' Association at their annual meeting and election of officers held Friday afternoon at Ivanhoe township hall.

Approximately 60 county hog producers attended the meeting and had a wide variety of questions to ask guest speaker Clare Boynton, secretary of the Ontario Hog Producers, during a question and answer period.

Mr. Boynton talked on the program of the Ontario Producers before inviting questions from the floor. Township directors for 1962 were also named at the meeting.

There were 14 nominations for county hog producers committee men and producers will hold an election on March 6th to name the seven committeemen to represent the county.

PIGGYBACK SERVICE

In 1961 Canadian National Railways piggyback services were extended to 15 additional communities in Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Floyd G. "Flip" Clare welcomes Mrs. Allen Bertram (Shirley Harmer), and her son Anthony, as they arrived from London, Ont. Allen Bertram, a nephew of Mr. Clare, joined his family on Saturday. Shirley's next TV appearance will be on the March 4 CBC production "On Parade."

Husband-and-wife entertainment team, Shirl Harmer and Allen Bertram were weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Clare, 35 Holloway St., Bell ville. A marriage that took place in Hollywood unite top talent from this city with that from Oshawa, bot beginning their careers with CBC-TV and not meetin till they crossed the border. Mr. Bertram, an acto now is manager, producer and writer for his lovel wife, who includes one of his songs in her night-clu engagements.

Shirley Harmer, Belleville-Born Husband - Allen Bertram, Son Visit Relatives Here

Last Thursday, a smart appearing young lady, wearing a straight cut black coat and white felt hat stepped off the noon train to be met by Mr. Floyd "Flip" Clare of Belleville.

The attractive blonde, carrying her 14-month-old son was none other than Shirley Harmer, who a few years ago was regularly seen over Canadian TV.

Saturday, Miss Harmer was joined by her husband, Allen Bertram, who is rapidly making a name for himself in the entertainment world as a writer and producer. Miss Harmer arrived from London, Ontario, where she had just completed a night club engagement, while her husband had been to New York on a business trip.

And what, readers might think, has all this got to do with Belleville?

The answer is that Mr. Bertram is a former Belleville boy, who after winning recognition with the CBC-TV in Canada, went to Hollywood in search of greater fame and fortune.

His mother was a sister of "Flip" and Robert Clare of Belleville. Mr. Bertram and his wife frequently visit in the city but due to modesty on the part of the Clares, previous visits of Mr. Bertram and Miss Harmer to Holloway Street have received no publicity.

MET IN HOLLYWOOD

It was in Hollywood, that Mr. Bertram met Miss Harmer, also from Ontario and who received her start up the entertainment ladder in Canada.

The couple have their home in California. It is rented while they are in the East.

Now Mr. Bertram's interests have, almost entirely turned to writing and producing field, plus being his wife's business manager. He writes songs that Shirley includes in her night club program.

As a boy, Allen attended King George and Queen Alexandra public schools and left the city, with his family, at the age of 19.

Before going to Hollywood, he was with CBC-TV appearing four times weekly. In 1950 Al won the Canadian Drama Festival Best Acting Award. In Hollywood he had roles in several shows such as "Matinee Theatre" and "Buster Crabbe" with guest appearances on "The Verdict is Yours" and "Traffic Court."

Since the first of this year, the versatile pair have had night club engagements at the King Edward Hotel in Toronto and a week in London, Ont.

Miss Harmer's next CBC-TV appearance will be with "On Parade," to be seen March 4. She is cast with such top Canadians as Tommy Common and last year's Olympic champions, Anne Heggveitt, Ottawa skier, and the skating team of Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul. The show took four days to film at a Huntsville lodge.

The couple recalled that during the filming of one sequence the cameras froze, and had to be equipped with heating pads.

Al, although busy with negotiations for the future, in New York, did not fail to bring his wife a gift. He selected new tortoise shell frames in a perfectly round style.

While relaxing here, Shirley found time to start knitting her husband a heavy black wool cardigan, which she will line with red silk Paisley.

BABY IS DANCER

Steady on his feet for his ag Anthony goes into his own danc routine at the sound of music. Born in Hollywood Presbyte ian Hospital, the birthplace of many of the film stars' chil ren, Anthony is accustomed t travelling and will accompan his parents to New York earl this week.

Some people shovel driveways. Others dig Volkswagen.

If you live in Snowsville, think deep about your next car.

People who own conventional models often put something heavy in the trunk for extra traction. A Volkswagen owner never bothers. He's got 200 pounds of engine back there sitting right over the drive wheels. His car plows through snow without chains or special tires. On ice, the VW keeps its footing like a penguin.

Look at the underside of a Volkswagen. It's built like a toboggan. The bottom is completely covered with a smooth sheet of metal that skims over deep snow. The wires and rods you'd expect to find are inside, completely protected against sand, salt and slush.

There's no worry about sub-zero temperatures either. The Volkswagen can't freeze because it has no radiator.

The engine is cooled with air instead of water. (You can spend your anti-freeze money on jazz records.)

And before you start guessing at the price of a VW, check with one of our dealers. You could be way out, man.

Girl Becomes Inspiration To Patients

HAMILTON (CP) — Pretty Audrelyn Speight, 19, has become an inspiration to other patients in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Paralysed from the waist down since her back was broken in an automobile accident last November, she was sure she was doomed to months of inactivity.

But she got an idea from a television program. She noticed that on Route 66, patients in a veteran's hospital were shown using crutches to push their beds around. Now she uses a pair of children's crutches like barge poles and wheels up and down the corridors talking to other patients.

Audrelyn gets an hour's physiotherapy daily and then practises by herself, raising herself from the bed by pulling on an overhead bar to strengthen the back muscles she will need to walk again.

Moira W.I. Marks 65th Anniversary

On February 7th the Moira W.I. held their annual family supper with members and their families present, also many guests from the community were present filling the church hall to capacity.

The bountiful turkey supper, was provided as a compliment of the women who helped so well at the plowing match in October.

The president, Mrs. M. Vanderwater, presided and welcomed the guest speaker, Mr. R. Temple, Belleville and Mrs. Temple. As the assistant secretary-treasurer called the roll each member put a question in a box passed, to be answered later by Mr. Temple.

Letters were read and business dealt with. Mrs. G. Thompson is to attend the District Workshop at Plainfield.

It was decided that the W.I. pledge 50 cents per member to the scholarship fund.

The 65th anniversary cake was cut and served.

Mrs. W. Collins, program convener spoke of the W.I. celebrating this anniversary and how W.I. was founded in Ontario 65 years ago on February 19th by Adelaide Hoodless and Mr. Lee; and how it spread from Ontario to all Canada and across the seas. Not only is W.I. strong in Canada but the world over for the Good of Home and Country.

Reading by Mrs. W. Farrell, "If"; solos by Mrs. D. Holbert, "Dear Hearts and Gentle People," and "My Happiness".

Music by Mr. H. Holden on harmonica and Mr. J. Holden on bones.

Mrs. Collins introduced the speaker, Mr. Temple who spoke on "Will Making." He also answered many questions on that subject.

Mrs. F. Naftel presented Mr. Temple with a small gift and thanked him for coming.

Sacred Praise Syllabus Outlined

STIRLING—Last week Mrs. D. M Armstrong, 205 Front Street, Stirling released the entry forms and syllabus of the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise which will be held three days in the month of May on the 14th, 15th, and 16th, at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling under the auspices of the official board of that church, and the management of the Stirling festival committee.

This festival was organized while the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Baker were at St. Paul's and the object was, "To promote a love for sacred praise, especially among boys, girls and young people." Year by year the festival has grown and now it is a three day affair and entries come from many points.

The adjudicators will be Mr. Henry Rosevear, director of music, Knox College, Toronto and the Rev. J. Alastair Haig B.A. B.D. principal of Albert College, Belleville, Ontario.

The last day for the entries is April 7th, thus music teachers and interested parents should make their arrangements at an early date and send in their fees to the secretary, as soon as possible.

All gold awards and choir trophies must have a mark of 80 and the syllabus contains a full outline of the rules governing the festival. Section one for the juniors contains nine piano solos and duets for the junior grades 2-5. There are four classes for the intermediates in the piano competitions and the seniors have a choice of five classes. At last year's festival the music teachers recommended more classes for piano, thus there is a good choice this year.

VOCAL CLASSES

In the vocal section the juniors have 11 solo classes, one vocal duet for boys and girls under 14, a public school choir of one room only, a rural church choir, a junior choir and a public school choir, a total of 16 classes.

The vocal classes in the intermediate group cover a variety of solos such as soprano, contralto, tenor, baritone, a double trio, a girls' teenage ensemble, duets and a total choir of 11 classes. The senior vocal classes are centred around 13 items covering various solos, duets, church choirs and a male quartette. The mixed quartette will render the selection, "Be With Us Lord" and the boys' choir "Forth in Thy Name".

There are six classes covering the Bible, four for Scripture reciting, one for Bible reading and the public speaking to be not more than five minutes based on theme, "Moses".

The awards will feature a new addition in honor of the late Egerton Boyce and will be known as memorial bursary in his name for $50 donated by the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise Board of Management.

The gold trophy will be awarded to a church or charge with the highest average mark. There is also Mrs. Burton Morton's religious picture, Mr. and Mrs. H. Keefer trophy for boys choir, the A. Roy Kendall trophy for piano talent, the Marjorie Gothard trophy for the highest mark in the music classes, the Albert College bursary of $50., the Christie Brown trophy, The T. Eaton trophy, the R. A. Patterson shield, the News-Argus trophy and The Ontario Intelligencer, and this is for the highest marks in a public one room rural school choir.

Women's Activities

PARKDALE BAPTIST L.M.F.

Mrs. June Warren, Rossmore was the hostess for the February meeting of Parkdale Baptist L.M.F. There were 17 ladies present who braved the extreme cold to attend the meeting. The president, Mrs. R. Snyder opened the meeting with prayer and choruses.

Following the Scriptural readings a short business session was held. Margaret Watson gave a reading entitled "How to help your missionary group". Mrs. Mitchell missionary convener took as her subject for missionary study period, "Bob Pierce", president of the World Vision Inc. She said in part, "Bob Pierce was a man who thought he didn't have any talents or abilities but through surrendering his life to God, he has become one of the world's greatest missionaries via world vision. In over 40 countries more than 300 projects are being carried out by world vision. Orphans, widows and lepers are all given help while pastors' conferences are held in different parts of the world for underprivileged pastors in Japan, Argentina and Central America. In Seoul Korea, a musical institute founded in 1960 provides musical training for talented orphans. Vitamins clothing and food are sent to needy people, especially in Indonesia, while the spiritual aspects of world vision is not overlooked, mass evangelism recently took place in Japan with thousands hearing the Gospel and receiving Christ.

INTERESTING LETTER

A letter was read by Mrs. Mitchell from Miss Audrey Hullbert of the Sudan Interion Mission in which she told of an exciting rescue of a plane's crew enroute to the East. She also stated, "In this country one must revise one's thinking, we had our Christmas program of December 23rd with black angels, black Mary and a black Joseph, black shepherds and black wise men. However the story was once again told in the familiar way and must have stirred the hearts of many".

Mrs. Foster in her devotional period spoke of the New Year resolutions made and never kept. She remarked "Are we like that in our prayer life? We pray for the sick and yet we do not minister to them. In 1962 let us pray and mean it, always remembering that the tongue can be a powerful force for good or evil".

At the conclusion of the meeting, a time of fellowship followed, with refreshments served by the hostess and her helpers.

FRONT ROAD U.C.W.

Bulgaria's Communist Govt. Controls Almost Everything

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — The policeman stopped a girl on Rakovska Avenue.

"Pardon, comrade," he said with a voice of authority. "Your seams need straightening."

And he pointed to a nearby doorway where she could straighten her stockings out of sight. The girl followed his directions without hesitation.

Bulgaria's Communist regime does not like people to look untidy in the street. The seamless stockings popular in the West have not caught on yet.

The government had its hand in practically everything. Communist control extends to supervision of morality and cleanliness.

A man cannot register in a hotel with a girl—or invite her to his room—unless he can prove sh is his wife.

Universities expel any student guilty of "immoral conduct."

STRESS ON DRESS

Farmers who come to town in shabby or dirty clothes are sent home and told to come back decently dressed.

Divorce is more difficult than in most Communist countries.

The chronic housing shortage leads to bizarre situations when couples do get divorced. One young Sofia couple shared a two-room apartment with a baby and a mother-in-law. Now they are divorced and each has married again. The mother-in-law has moved out, and the former husband and wife live separately in the same two rooms, each with a new marriage partner.

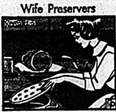
The state's paternalism includes a kind of means test for anyone who wants to buy an automobile. If a prospective car-owner lives with a wife and three children in a single room, the government may tell him to spend his money on a better apartment.

Some four per cent of the shops are still privately owned, and these are being systematically edged out.

SCATTERED GROUP

Indonesia's 92,000,000 people of a dozen ethnic groups are scattered over some 3,000 equatorial islands.

Wife Preservers



The lid from a canned ham makes an ideal rack for cooking it, once it is perforated with holes and placed rim-down in a baking pan.

BABY OF THE WEEK

"Will you be my Valentine?" asks little Catherine as she poses in her pretty red dress. This little Miss Valentine is the 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Coote of of R.R. 3, Belleville.

If you forgot to have your "pride and joy" photographed for Valentine's Day gifts, why not make it for Easter? It isn't far off you know! Now is the time to book your appointment. Imperial Order Daughters Of Empire Marks Founder's Day on 62nd Anniversary

The Imperial Order Daughter of the Empire (IODE) observe Founder's Day on February 13th, which will mark their 62nd anniversary.

It is the first women's organization to have as their project, the building of community halls in the far north. One has been completed in Frobisher Bay in the Eastern Arctic; a second one in the western Arctic at Tuktoyaktuk is at present under construction, and plans are now under way for a third hall in the central Arctic at Baker Lake.

The order was organized in 1900 by Mrs. Clark Murray of Montreal and now has 975 chapters reaching from the Yukon to Newfoundland. It cooperates with the National Chapters of the IODE in Bermuda and the Bahamas. It is associated with the Victoria League in England, and the Daughters of the British Empire in the United States.

Thirty-one thousand voluntary women comprise the membership who raise and disburse over one million dollars annually.

BURSARIES AWARDED

One-third of a million dollars is spent on education. During the past year 2,022 schools were assisted, and 1,290 scholarships, bursaries and grants were awarded; fifty-six schools in the far north have received over 1,600 Prize Books. In the Federation of the West Indies and British Honduras, forty schools have been adopted by IODE chapters.

$78,000 was awarded from IODE First and Second War Memorial Funds to provide 15 overseas post-graduate scholarships of $2,000 each, and 30 bursaries in Canadian universities to the value of $1,600 each, for children of Canadian war veterans.

In the field of service, half a million dollars is spent annually: $400,000 in Canada and $100,000 on supplies shipped to Europe, Africa, Korea, The West Indies, Hong Kong and India. Thousands of knitted and sewn articles of clothing and quilts are made by the members, for distribution, and chapters have undertaken the sponsorship of destitute and refugee children.

DIVERSITY OF INTERESTS

By its diversity of interests, the IODE offers a satisfying outlet to any woman who is a Canadian citizen or British subject, and who would like to be a member of a patriotic and non-sectarian organization.

There are two chapters of the I.O.D.E. in Belleville, the Argyll and the St. Julien. In addition to supporting the national and provincial projects both chapters do much work, locally.

In the field of education, both chapters visit their adopted schools on special occasions, giving them gifts, parties, prizes and presentations. All city secondary schools receive prizes or scholarships to children of war veterans.

This last year, the St. Julien chapter has presented prizes to children of naturalized Canadian parents for proficiency in English. I.O.D.E. calendars are placed in each public school classrooms and aid is given the school for retarded children.

On Citizenship Court days, new Canadians are welcomed by the chapters and are given information and assistance to help them become loyal citizens of their adopted country.

Members of both chapters help at Blood Donors' Clinics and at the Cancer Society workrooms. They also aided in the United Appeal canvass, as they are participating agencies.

FEWER HORSES

Farm horses in the United States decreased from 10,400,000 in 1938 to 3,354,000 in 1958.

Bridge St. Choir Entertained by Congregation

On Wednesday evening, Bridge Street United Church choir was entertained by the congregation. The members enjoyed a dinner in the form of a 'smorgasbord' at the Hotel Quinte.

The president, Miss Grace Kenny, welcomed the guests. Following this, Mr. J. E. Buchanan led a varied and interesting program.

During the evening, Mr. S. A. Gordon, who this week is celebrating his 25th anniversary as church organist, was honored. Appreciation was expressed to Mr. Gordon by the Rev. H. M. Davis, and Mr. Robert Reid, choir director.

The choir members extend their gratitude to the congregation for this pleasant evening of fun and fellowship together.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Faye R. — He thinks it's up to him to keep everyone in stitches.

Paul R. — She's just a killjoy and a wet blanket.

• • •

Faye R. — Around the house, Paul is a normal, predictable husband. But get him out with a crowd and he turns into the complete clown. He shoots out a steady volley of jokes, as though it's up to him to keep everyone doubled up with laughter. The trouble is the jokes are all slapstick and forced. They're not even funny, just wild. And I nearly die from embarrassment.

The other night, for example, we were in a restaurant and when the service was slow Paul ate the picture of a steak on the menu. He said it looked good! The laughter went to his head so much he proceeded to eat a leaf off a hanging plant nearby. His nonsense makes me furious and, of course, when we get home we always fight over it.

• • •

Paul R. — Faye knew I was something of a ham long before we were married. She and her family seemed to enjoy my impersonations. It's only when I try to cheer up groups of our friends that she becomes so self-conscious she can't join in. If she'd stop worrying about how I look and just admit what a good time I'm giving our friends, she'd be better off and we'd get along without arguments.

Instead, I just go ahead doing what comes naturally, cutting up and making others laugh — even though I see her freezing up on me. She frowns disapprovingly and I know there'll be a big scene at home. She's the only one who doesn't have a good time when we're out. Why can't she be a good sport?

• • •

The Council: There's something about an audience that brings out the ham in any performer, from a trained seal to a flagpole sitter. Where's the fun if nobody looks? The issue here, hard indeed for a wife to get across to an extrovert, exhibitionist husband, is one of sensitivity.

What Faye may be observing, but what eludes Paul while carried away with the hilarity of his high jinks, is that much of the laughter may be merely polite. Paul's audience is a captive one. Would they stick around if they were free to leave? This is a good question for all volunteer clowns.

But if Paul is really attuned to the mood of the gathering, if he seeks to fill a genuinely empty breach of communications, Faye should recognize his efforts as a friendly contribution to the pleasure of the occasion. Her own capacity for enjoyment may need expansion. Paul can help her here by revealing his own awareness of whether he's really "going over," or just being tolerated. He can also wangle a small opening in the program during which Faye gets a chance to be the center of attention, if only to discuss a recipe.

Sometimes a life-of-the-party type like Paul gets that way because he rarely gets other opportunities to hold the floor. Perhaps if Faye showed more appreciation of his talents, Paul wouldn't seek the applause of others at every chance. On the other hand, Paul may be a perfectly well-balanced guy who recognizes boredom when he sees it, and tries to banish it. He may not succeed, but in his own eyes he's attempting an act of mercy, a form of resuscitation!

After the ball is over, no more fights, please. Instead of knocking yourself out, Paul, to keep the crowd in stitches, do your best to see that Faye is having a good time. Enjoying herself, she won't be so picky and edgy while you hold the floor. She may even join you as straight man!

C.Y. Service Held at United Church

THOMASBURG — The special worship service for Christian Youth took place in the United Church on the evening of February 4, at 7.30 p.m.

The CGIT group and their leaders, Mrs. Fred Preston and Miss Marion Phillips, were in charge.

The girls made up the choir for the service and rendered a selection in keeping with the theme, "Jesus Christ, the Light of the World."

The pastor, Mr. George Dyson, gave a short address along the same line.

Mrs. Harold K. Morton, president of the United Church Women, attended a special service in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, on February 5th.

The presidents of the various branches of the organization in Belleville Presbytery were present and enjoyed hearing the guest speaker, who spoke on Christian Education and Literature.

On the evening of February 5th, the card party, sponsored by the Rebekah lodge in the IOOF hall, was rather poorly attended, due to weather and road conditions.

However, five tables of euchre were played, with Mr. Archie Wickens and Mrs. H. Cronkwright as the prize winners.

Mrs. Fred Preston won the door prize.

Directions For Prize-Winning Roll Cake Clarified

by Mary Moore

Some time ago one of our readers sent me a clipping giving a prize-winning recipe for an Applesauce Roll Cake submitted by a Mrs. A. Gonthier in a contest.

She tried it and it was a failure. Now this may have been because she lives in Alberta where the altitude is 3000 feet. Or it may be that the directions were not specific enough.

I made the cake and it turned out satisfactorily. As a matter of fact we liked it. I am giving you more detailed instructions than were in the original recipe.

APPLESAUCE ROLL CAKE
(a first prize winner)

Note: If this cake is made and baked in areas where the altitude is high, bake it at 375 deg. Fahr. for 27 minutes.

1 cup less 1 tablespoon unsifted all-purpose flour; 2 teaspoons single-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon baking soda; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ teaspoon cloves; 3 eggs; ¾ cup sugar; ½ cup unsweetened applesauce (see below); ½ cup light seedless raisins; icing sugar (for dredging towel).

FILLING:

Grated rind 1 large orange (or 1 tablespoon grated rind); 6-oz. white cream cheese (¾ of an 8-oz. package); 3 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk or homo; ¼ cup fine granulated sugar.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and spices. In a large bowl beat the eggs until very thick. (This takes 10 minutes in an electric beater; longer if done with rotary beater or by hand.) Gradually add sugar while beating constantly. Add the raisins and applesauce. (Note: I used 1 large Spy apple, which I pared, cored and cut in eighths. To it I added ¼ cup warm water and cooked, covered, until apple was tender. Then with a fork I beat it until blended to a puree.) Fold in flour mixture, ½ at a time, until all flour is moistened. Fold. (Don't beat.) Line a jelly roll pan 13" x 9" with buttered wax paper or foil. (Or fold doubled heavy duty foil to 13" x 9" x 1" shape and place on cookie sheet.) Pour in batter evenly. Bake on centre shelf in oven at 350 deg. Fahr. for 27 minutes. (375 deg. at high altitude). Meanwhile sprinkle a clean tea towel with enough icing sugar to cover surface large enough to receive cake. When cake is done turn out on towel, remove paper, trim off ½ inch along edges. Roll in towel (including towel in roll) and let stand open side down, for 10 minutes. Unroll cake and spread with Filling: Mash and cream the cheese with the sugar, cream or milk and orange rind until perfectly smooth. Spread on cake. Roll up (excluding towel). Wrap towel around cake, open side down, until cold. Lovely served fresh and a nice change from a jelly roll.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

READERS WRITE:

Dear Mrs. Lewis: I live in a farm area where most of the boys rarely wear hats. When they do, they often forget their manners. For this reason, I've listed some points of hat etiquette which you might want to pass along to other teenagers as a reminder:

A boy lifts his hat and nods his head when he greets a girl, a woman or another man. He removes his hat if he stops on the street to talk to a girl or woman, unless the weather makes it inadvisable for him to stand bare-headed. If the weather is very bad, a boy may show his respect by touching the brim or the crown of his hat without actually removing it. A boy also lifts his hat when he leaves a girl or a woman with whom he has been walking.

A boy should remove his cap or hat as he enters a church, a schoolbuilding, a theatre lobby, or an elevator in a hotel or apartment house. He also should take his hat off during the singing of the National Anthem his school song or when the American flag goes by. In office buildings and stores, the elevator is considered as public as the corridors, so hats need not be removed.

Girls, too have certain "musts' with respect to hats. A hat is worn for Sunday school, church, weddings, funerals and teas Head scarves are acceptable only for school picnics and for sports events.

J. Y., Lakeville, Ohio

Dear Mrs. Lewis: I read a recent column in which you printed a letter from a reader who asked how she could discreetly make a toll-call home from a friend's house to check with her baby-sitter.

Instead of placing a collect call, as you advised, to the best of my knowledge she need only tell the operator to place the call and charge it to her home number.

My sister and I often do just that, and only recently my husband made an out-of-state call from a pay station and had it charged to our home phone.

This, to me, would be the most courteous way to make a call from a friend's home and if the person calling were to do it unexpectedly, then the party at the other end would not have to make a decision about whether or not to accept a collect call.

Mrs. W. P., New Haven, Conn.

Question: Our new baby is to be christened in a few weeks, and friends say that the clergyman should be invited to the small reception we're having after the ceremony. Is this customary? If so, should he be invited in advance of the christening? — Mrs. J.V., West Orange, N.J.

Answer: An invitation should be extended in advance of the ceremony. If the clergyman is married, it's customary to invite his wife, as well.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE U.C.W.

The regular meeting of the Shannonville United Church Women was held in the church hall on the afternoon of February 1 at 2 o'clock with an attendance of 19 ladies.

The president, Mrs. A. Cook, opened the meeting. Mrs. Don Thompson, standing committee convener of Christian citizenship and social action, took charge of the devotional. Assisting were members of her committee, Mrs. D. Lazier, reading the 90th Psalm, and Mrs. E. Vivian, a reading.

Roll call was each member responding with the number of sick calls made during the past month.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Plans were made for "World Day of Prayer" on Friday evening, March 9th, at 8 p.m., inviting Melrose and Lonsdale U.C.W. and Trinity Anglican Guild to take part in the service.

A short business period followed, planning quiltings, pie social, catering at Belleville Livestock Sale, and also purchasing stack tables for the church hall.

Offering was received by Mrs. G. Osborne and Mrs. E. Stratton and dedicated by Mrs. Cook.

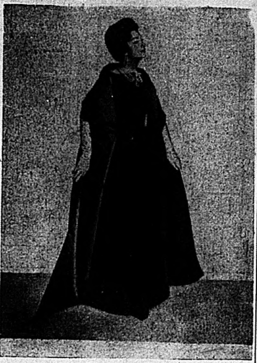
Mrs. Thompson continued with the program by presenting a skit, "Christian Citizenship that Counts," with Mrs. A. Houston, Mrs. E Stratton and Mrs. O. Stratton taking different parts.

Mrs. Charles Wood gave an instruction reading, taking from the study book a topic, "Soul Searching Sixties," stressing that the church has many duties to adjust itself to the time.

Mrs. W. D. Robertson also read an interesting story of "A Christian Policeman," telling of missionary work at home and abroad.

Mrs. Cook thanked all who took part in the meeting. Refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Elgeant Ball Gown



By ALICE ALDEN

The floor-length evening gown, fashioned of fine fabric and accompanied by a matching stole, is a fashion picture frequently encountered at formal parties.

Hannah Troy, who has an eye for line as well as for beautiful materials, uses a silk and wool ottoman with an irregular rib for this elegant ball gown, cut so simply and so well.

The matching stole is satin-lined to tone with the dress, which comes in such colors as turquoise, green and peony red, as well as indispensable black.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Women of the Moose held their first meeting of the month in Moose Hall with Sr. Rgt. Nellie Shandraw presiding.

One candidate was balloted on and will be enrolled at the next assembly. The auditing report of the chapter for the last three months was read by Nellie Scrimgeour, who occupied the recorder's chair in the absence of the regular recorder, Ruby Stapley.

Thank-you cards were read from different co-workers who have been ill.

A euchre is to be held at Sr. Regent N. Shandraw's home this week for Alice Ward, chairman of the month.

Alma Haley is reported ill in hospital. All wish her a speedy recovery.

The co-workers were asked to each bring a toy or book for a child at the next meeting and they will be divided between the Belleville General Hospital and Trenton Memorial Hospital for the paediatric wards.

A draw, donated by Alice Ward, was won by Hilda Whittaker. The co-workers of the chapter will meet in Moose Hall on Sunday with the Loyal Order of Moose at 3.00 p.m.

The chapter will go to Watertown for its annual trip in April.

After the meeting closed, penny bingo was played and lunch was served by Alice Ward and her committee

Aged Parents Still Fight

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—My parents are both old age pensioners. Over fifty years of marriage it has been almost one long battle over money, tastes, conflict of opinions. My mother has had numerous illnesses and falls and is now in hospital with an asthma attack.

Even now they fight. My mother has written that my father has cashed both pension cheques and has collected the rent from the one tenant who occupies two rooms in the house. This was her job and she was the one who paid the bills.

My father has no conception of how to handle money and will just let the bills run up. They already owe quite a lot.

Do you think that either of my parents would now acknowledge that they have a problem and be willing to seek competent advice? Are they too set now, in habit patterns of years, to alter their way of doing things?—WORRIED DAUGHTER.

DEAR WORRIED:—You're right. They are set in their ways. So this is what you build on.

It means they are used to each other and used to their squabbles. Couldn't live without them! It also means your father will never handle money properly.

They both know this. Your mother must face failing health. Father might incline to accept another manager —of money—if a trained counsellor were presented, firmly, by you. Could be that both of them would be secretly relieved.

Sooner or later someone will have to take over. You and your brother must step in now and engineer this. Your resource is the Children's Aid Society, 63 West Moira Street, Belleville, which counsels on family problems as well as when children are involved.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—At a 50th wedding anniversary celebrated a while ago, an anniversary cake was made, iced and decorated and set on the tea table at an "In and Out Tea." It was left there and not cut.

A Christmas cake was iced with a thin almond icing and cut and passed around for the anniversary cake. Could you tell me if this was the proper thing to do or if it is a mistake and what should have been done?—BEWILDERED.

DEAR BEWILDERED—Guests should feel they are sharing the anniversary cake.

If the hostess does not wish to demolish her table centre, a double recipe is made up and the second cake is cut and served. Often done at weddings. Are you sure this is not what happened at the tea?

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED:—What was his offence? "He has caused us untold grief and misery." If she is a young teenager, and what he is doing is unscrupulous, confide in the police.

Gets Better Mileage With Plane Than Car

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Peter Docking commutes by air because he says it's cheaper than driving.

The Chilliwack Flying Club member owns a single engined aircraft and he says he gets between 25 and 30 miles to the gallon of gas with it.

That's better mileage than his car gets, he said.

The plane's operation is so economical, he said just before departing with Joel Kuttainen on a flying holiday trip to Mexico, that he regularly uses it to commute between Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley, and his work in Boston Bar, about 50 miles north.

Newly-Formed Staff Now Has Special Badge

OTTAWA (CP)—A special hat badge approved by the Queen now identifies the newly formed physical training staff of the Royal Canadian Infantry Corps.

This unit, comprising 19 officers and 165 NCOs, is responsible for the physical and recreational training of the army.

The badge is a maple leaf with crossed swords and a superimposed crown.

Before formation of the staff the various corps of the army provided PT instructors. Now all will belong to the new organization.

The staff can, and does, on request, organize and conduct coaching clinics at high schools and universities. This has already been done at Oakville, Ont., Port Hope, Ont., and Ottawa.

The staff has in its ranks a prospect for the 1964 Olympics. He is Sgt. Wilhelm (Willie) Weller, 25, of Alliston, Ont., Canadian and Mexican national gymnastic champion. He won the Norton H. Crowe memorial award last year as the outstanding contributor to an Amateur Athletic Union of Canada sport.

Squaw Bread Harks Back to History

By EVELYN WITTER
in The Christian Science Monitor

There is a food my family takes special credit for. In fact, we feel certain that we are the only people who eat it. The reason for this certainly is that it originated in our family over a hundred years ago when my great-grandmother, Theodosia Steeb, was frightened by an Indian squaw. We call our special food Squaw Bread, and the story of how it came about helps make it taste wonderful.

It was a lively spring morning on the Illinois prairie near Rock River. Theodosia, tall and sturdy for her sixteen years, was busy with the family baking while her parents worked in a distant field. They had been reluctant to leave the cabin because of the disputes going on between the settlers and the Sauk and Fox Indians. But the urgency of getting the crop in compelled them.

In the cabin there was a big caldron of rendering lard in the fireplace which sent up a continuous vapor of savory smells. Theodosia moved back and forth tending the caldron and kneading bread dough on the rough-hewn work table. At mid-morning when the dough was elastic enough to set aside to rise, she had the feeling that she was being watched, watched closely.

Turning, she saw standing in the open door, an Indian squaw with a sleeping papoose on her back. She was not much older than Theodosia, but she was much shorter and slimmer. Her smooth skin, drawn tightly over her cheekbones, gave her face a meagre look, while the eyes appeared too big. They stared at Theodosia.

"What do you want?" Theodosia managed to ask, as she gripped the edge of the table to gain support.

The squaw uttered not a sound, but flitted noiselessly about the cabin like a hummingbird, stopping midway in her flight to listen for sounds. "I-I'm alone." Theodosia gasped out pleadingly.

DRAMATIC MOMENT

The squaw seemed to understand though she did not answer. Quickly, like a timber animal sure of its prey, she glanced at the caldron, then at the mound of dough, and then at the hunting knives racked near the fireplace.

Noiselessly she sprang to the rack and grasping a knife she approached Theodosia.

"Oh . . . please . . ." Theodosia begged, afraid to make a single movement which might incite the squaw.

The Indian woman moved stealthily forward until she reached the table. With a deft stroke she cut off a piece of dough. In another instant she had dropped it into the rendering lard.

Before Theodosia could retrieve her thoughts, the squaw was fishing the dough out of the kettle with the fireside ladle. While it was still sizzling, the woman began handling it tossing it from one hand to the other as it blistered her skin. Soon she was devouring the dough.

Again and again, the squaw cut off chunks of dough, threw them in the caldron and consumed them.

And each time the squaw approached the table with the gleaming knife Theodosia wondered if it would be she or the dough this time. Each time the squaw approached, Theodosia drew herself up a little tighter until she became as taut as a brave's hunting bow.

FOR THEODOSIA

On the tenth or twelfth trip to the table, the Indian cut off two pieces of dough at once. When she drew them out of the caldron she approached Theodosia, who was still as quiet as a possum.

The squaw thrust out her greasy hand in which she was holding one of the pieces of fried dough. Her eyes insisted that Theodosia take the food. Theodosia wondered if she could even swallow through her tight throat. But there was no denying the insistence of those blacker-than-night eyes.

She took what the woman gave her. She ate. The realization, even in her frightened state, that the food was good, surprised her.

But what surprised her most was the squaw. The squaw was reaching out to touch Theodosia's hand. It was a gentle touch. A touch that transmitted gratefulness and apology and a pleading for forgiveness.

Theodosia's sympathetic response was immediate. She said: "I know you did what you did because you were suffering from hunger. I'm glad you came."

BARRIERS GO DOWN

A smile of friendship brightened both faces as the white girl and the Indian squaw looked deep into each other's eyes. In that moment, in the log cabin on the Illinois prairie, there was a bond of understanding between two people of different races that was more genuine than any of the pacts that had been drawn up between their two peoples.

Soon the Indian woman moved away toward the door and out again into the open prairie. Theodosia watched her as she disappeared.

After that, whenever Theodosia made bread, she thought of the squaw. And as she thought, she cut off a piece of unrisen dough and fried it in deep fat. She called it Squaw Bread.

Years later Theodosia's daughter, my grandmother, learned to love Squaw Bread in her growing-up years. Then, when she had a little girl—my mother—she made Squaw Bread for her and told the story of the momentary friendship between the pioneer girl and the Indian Squaw with her papoose on her back.

When my mother baked bread she always made Squaw Bread for me, and we talked about Theodosia Steeb's experience.

The Squaw Bread tradition will probably go on for many more generations in our family. Today, when I make rolls, I fry Squaw Bread for my little girl. And as she eats, she always asks me to tell her the story about her great-great-grandmother and the Indian squaw.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics this week: Whale talk, fallout effects on farm animals and a giant sea save.

WHALE TALK

Scientists have been eavesdropping on pregnant Pacific grey whales.

The purpose: To discover if they do make sounds, and catalogue them as part of a growing library of the sounds made by many species of animals including sea lions, seals, porpoises, shrimp and many fish.

The findings could help experts distinguish between true and false targets showing up on anti-submarine sound detection equipment.

Scientists of the Lockheed-California Company used hydrophones lowered from a research ship into shallow water of a channel which the grey whales follow in migrating from their Arctic home waters to spawning grounds south of San Diego. Earlier, they had stuck aluminum tubing into the sea floor to make a picket fence corralling the pregnant whales into chosen spots for the sound studies.

FALLOUT AND MEAT

If nuclear bombs fall and farm animals become dusted with fallout, it would be safe to eat the flesh of animals which you could lead to slaughter.

Their meat would not be made unsafe by large amounts of external radiation, says Dr. John H. Rust, University of Chicago veterinarian, reporting the findings of the National Academy of Sciences' subcommittee for assessment of damage to livestock from radioactive fallout.

Eating radioactive forage probably would not by itself kill many farm animals and their reproductive ability or fertility would not be noticeably reduced, he adds.

HIGHEST WAVE

And that created a sea wave which probably threw its foaming crest higher than any wave before known to man, writes Capt. Elliott B. Roberts of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The wave of July 9, 1958, caromed down the bay, sloshing hundreds of feet up the sides of the bay, and in one place a heavily - wooded mountainside was scoured clean to its bedrock to a height of more than 1,600 feet, he says in a Smithsonian Institution report.

President's Message!

1961 was a year in which the citizens, industry and commerce of Belleville assured the continuation and growth of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city. The Building Fund Campaign conducted in May and June has already raised almost $300,000 in cash and pledges, sufficient to start the first phase of the building in 1962.

The success of this campaign has been due to the voluntary effort of a great number of men and women in the conduct of the campaign, and to the generosity of industrial and commercial firms, and the citizens of Belleville who have contributed to this fund.

To all these people I express my sincere appreciation. I am certain that you will feel pleased and rewarded when the building takes shape this year.

Despite the very heavy load associated with the campaign, the professional staff have carried on the daily program most successfully, as depicted elsewhere on this page. The quality of this leadership assures the continued success of the Y.M.C.A. program.

We are again grateful to the Belleville United Appeal support during 1961. This financial assistance from the citizens of Belleville makes it possible to provide the full program while maintaining modest, non-discriminating membership fees. Membership in the Y.M.C.A. is available to everyone through the support of the United Appeal.

The year ahead is a challenging one, as we prepare to move into the new building. We look forward to the continued support of the Y.M.C.A. family of friends.

J. C. McDonald,
President.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Refusal to grant the East German hockey team travel permits so they can take part in the world hockey tournament at Colorado Springs, next month, has drawn diversified comment from sportsmen hereabouts.

Some I have talked with have denounced American authorities as "poor sportsmen." Others have accused NATO officials of allowing politics to overrule any world sports enthusiasm they may have had.

Others say that in view of the political situation in Berlin and recent actions of East German authorities, fully warrant the ban placed on East German would-be travellers.

The Russian and Czech reaction to the East German ban is understandable. The Czechs listen to their master's voice, but I doubt very much if the Red teams will be absent when the tournament whistles blow. The Swedes, I believe, went off at half-cock when they first heard of the East German ban.

Generally there has been a tendency to rap the West on its attitude, but it seems reasonable when you consider the actions of East Germany regarding travel of its residents.

As a matter of fact it is the first time that East German authorities have exhibited any interest in travel permits to the West. In fact application for a travel permit was tantamount to arrest, prison, or even worse.

In fact travel in any form to the West was verboten. Some four million East Germans have fled the place since 1954 without benefit of permits. Many others have been brought back and jailed. Others have been shot in the attempt to flee the country.

Last summer the Iron Curtain wall was erected to separate East from West Germany. It climaxed the East German Government's attempt to halt all free traffic to the western part of Berlin.

Sportsmen the world over perhaps feel a twinge of sympathy for East German hockey players who are denied the opportunity of playing in the Colorado tournament. But perhaps there is a stronger feeling for Germans who are denied family associations by the Red powers-that-be. . . .

You hear a lot about international sport being a soothing ointment for political ills. I don't believe it. Tours of foreign athletes behind the Iron Curtain, have done little, if anything, to assuage differences at any political level. They have been tests of athletic prowess, with prestige the prize—and nothing else.

If the East Germans, by any stretch of the imagination, came to Colorado Springs and won the world amateur hockey title, the Berlin wall would be doing business at the same old stand the next day and Khrushchev might read about it in a paragraph tucked away on Page 24 of Isvestia or Pravda.

I'm not saying that Western athletes are not well treated in Russia and her satellite countries. They are usually accorded the red carpet type of hospitality and given the victors' accolades if they won. But world tournaments, including the Olympics are not a guarantee of universal fellowship. As Canadian hockey teams have discovered, breaches of European rules have engendered enmity, not amity.

As one writer puts it: "The East German situation is now beyond the sports arena. The Western Allies often have a difficulty for every solution, and can be rapped for it. This time the idea was spawned in East Germany.

Senior Playoffs

Bulldogs Meet Indians

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs will begin a best-of-nine semi-final with Stratford Indians at Windsor Feb. 21, the Senior Ontario Hockey Association decided Monday night.

Woodstock Athletics are to play Waterloo Tigers and Chatham Maroons are to play Strathroy Rockets in best-of-seven quarter-finals, but Woodstock and Chatham announced they have yet to establish home dates at their arenas. League convenor C. G. Patterson of Brampton said he expects these dates will be decided by Saturday.

A Senior OHA champion must be declared by March 25 to enter an all-Ontario final against the Northern Ontario Hockey Association winner.

Arrangements were made Monday night for members of Sarnia Rams, the only club excluded from the playoffs, to replace Chatham and Windsor players who have joined Galt Terriers for the world hockey tournament. Chatham needs replacements for forward Joe Malo and defenceman Jack Douglas and Windsor for forward Bob Brown and defenceman Billy Mitchell. Both clubs will announce their draft choices before the first playoff game.

The dates set so far for the semi-final are: Feb. 21 at Windsor, Feb. 23 at Stratford, Feb. 25 at Windsor, March 2 at Stratford, March 4 at Windsor.

Palmer Second In Loot List

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer almost caught up with Gene Littler in golf's money - winning sweepstakes last week.

Palmer pocketed $5,300 for his 12-stroke victory in the $35,000 Phoenix open, lifting him from fourth place to second in the top 10 money winners. He has won $12,425 in 1962, according to figures released by the United States Professional Golfers Association. Littler won only $136 last week to give him a total of $14,186.

ALs SIGN BACK

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League Monday night announced the signing of halfback Bobby Lee Thompson from the University of Arizona. Thompson, a 178-pounder, was the third draft choice of Detroit Lions of the National League, who had said he will be the "modern Doak Walker."

Patterson-Cleroux Bout In Montreal?

Offer Champ $300,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Weston, New York publisher, said Monday night a $300,000 offer has been made to Floyd Patterson's handled for a summer title bout here between the world heavyweight champion and Montreal's Bob Cleroux, Canadian titleholder.

Weston said the offer was discussed in New York a few days ago between Cleroux's co - manager, Al Bachman, and Charlie Rose, an associate of Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager

The $300,000 would be put up by Weston's magazine, Boxing Illustrated, as a guarantee to Patterson's camp. Cleroux's cut was not disclosed.

Weston indicated he plans to move into boxing promotions in Montreal, a field left open last month after the Montreal Athletic Commission suspended the licence of Eddie Quinn for calling off a scheduled bout between Cleroux and Archie Moore because of poor advance ticket sale.

A suspension imposed against Cleroux by the Ontario Athletic Commission last month has been recognized by the National Boxing Association although he is ranked No. 7 among the contenders in the NBA's latest ratings and fifth by Ring magazine.

The suspension was imposed for failure to live up to a contract calling for a return bout with Toronto's George Chuvalo, whom Cleroux stripped of the Canadian crown here last Aug. 8.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Peter Ford and Paul Popeil of St. Catharines Teepees and Jacques Laperrier and Norm Dennis of Montreal junior Canadiens have been given the option of paying $50 fines or sitting out five - game suspensions according to a ruling handed down by OHA President Lloyd Pollock of Windsor Monday.

All four were involved in a stick - swinging battle during a game in St. Catharines Saturday night.

The Teepee players will pay their fines and thus be eligible to play in Montreal Tuesday night against the Canadiens. It is understood here that the Canadiens' players will also accept fines.

Aga Khan Hurt in Ski Practice

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — Several skiers, including the Aga Khan, were injured in accidents Monday while practising for the World Ski Games.

The young Aga Khan, competing for Britain, twisted an ankle in a fall while preparing for the men's downhill race scheduled for Sunday. He failed to qualify Saturday for the slalom final and British team officials said it now is not certain he will start in the downhill.

Also hurt in spills were Switzerland's Philippe Stern and Italy's Ivo Mahlknecht. Both probably will miss the rest of the meet. Bruno Alberti, Italy's national champion who had qualified for today's slalom final, pulled a hip muscle and was listed as a doubtful starter

Two Canadian men qualified Saturday for the Slalom final—Verne Anderson of Rossland, B.C., and Jean-Guy Brunet of St. Agathe, Que.

For Wednesday's women's downhill race, Canadian entries drew the following starting numbers: Nancy Greene, Rossland, B.C., 24; Linda Crutchfield, Shawinigan, Que., 27; Vicki Rutledge, Ottawa, 37.

Brockville Dogs Win Awards

NEW YORK (CP) — Cairn terriers exhibited by Mrs. Betty Hyslop of Brockville swept the major awards for their breed in judging Monday in the 86th Westminister Kennel Club dog show.

Picked as best of breed was Ch. Cossmars Clanruf O'Cairndania, bred by Mrs. Mary Trotter. Chosen winners dog and best of winners was Unique Cottage Mr. Bradshaw, bred by Marshall and Longmore. Picked as winners bitch was McBrigand's Brighol, bred by Mrs. David Bryant.

All were part of Mrs. Hyslop's entry.

Winners dog and winners bitch are picked from the first place dogs and bitches of each class in the breed. Best of winners is chosen in competition between best dog and best bitch and best of breed is selected from all champions in the breed.

A female bullmastiff from the kennels of Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins at Rouge Hills near Toronto was selected winners bitch.

In papillon (toy butterfly) classes, Wynfield's Treasure, bred and owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. Ionson of Georgetown, was selected winners dog and best of winners.

Winners bitch in the Pomeranian class was Ch. Rose Marie of Cantoy, exhibited by Mrs. Bertha Howlett of Brantford.

Chess Results

STOCKHOLM (CP - AP) — Wolfgang Uhlmann of East Germany lost his 10th-round match to Ewfin Geller of the Soviet Union Monday but still maintained a half-point lead in the interzonal chess tournament here.

Tied for second place are Bobby Fischer of the U.S. and Miroslav Filip of Czechoslovakia. Fischer played to a draw in his ninth-round match with Arturo Pomar of Spain Monday but his 10th-round game with Svetozar Gligoric of Yugoslavia remains to be completed.

All others in the tournament were ready to enter today's 11th round. Thus Fischer needs only a draw to gain a tie with Uhlmann.

The standings of the leaders now are: Uhlmann, 7 points; Fischer and Filip, 6½; Pal Benko, U.S., Lajos Portisch, Hungary, and Tigran Petrosian, Solvet Union, 6.

Canadian grandmaster Abe Yanofsky has four points after 10 rounds. In interrupted games played Monday Yanofsky lost to Istvan Bilek of Hungary and drew with Gideon Barcza, also of Hungary.

Yanofsky, of Winnipeg, now has two victories, four draws and four losses.

MEXICAN SHIPS

Mexico's merchant marine reached a total of 417,000 tons in 1961, a 30 - per - cent increase over 1958.

Hull Third With 58

Andy Bathgate Seven Points Up

MONTREAL (CP) — Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers has moved seven points in front of his nearest rival, Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, in a bid for his first National Hockey League scoring title.

The 29-year-old right winger, apparently recovered from a long slump, has 68 points to Howe's 61, official league statistics released today show.

He went into last week's play with a slim three-point edge, but scored two goals and assisted on three others while Howe could muster only one tally.

Bathgate has 21 goals and a league-leading 47 assists. Howe has 26 goals and 35 assists.

Bobby Hull, the muscular Blonde left winger of the Chicago Black Hawks, scored three more goals and also drew two assists to take over sole possession of third spot with 58 points. He has the most goals, 33, including 18 in the last 15 games.

PLANTE LEADS GOALIES

Jacques Plante of Montreal continued to pull away from the field in the race for the Vezina Trophy—awarded to the goalie who plays the most games for the team that allows the fewest goals. He allowed five goals in two games, giving him a season total of 119 goals in 52 outings and a goals-against average of 2.29.

Glenn Hall of Chicago has the second best average, 2.58, while Johnny Bower of Toronto, the leader throughout the first half of the season, continued to slip and now has a mark of 2.60.

Hall leads in shutouts with six.

Chicago continues as the most penalized club with 658 minutes while defenceman Lou Fontinato of Montreal is the most penalized player with 149 minutes.

Macs, Petes Fronts Play Round Robin

The Belleville Macs, who wind up their part of the OHA Eastern Junior "B" hockey league schedule in Peterborough tonight, will play host to the same Peterborough club here Friday in the opening game of the playoffs.

Belleville Kingston Frontenacs and the Peterborough Monsens are the league's only "B" clubs. They will take part in a round-robin series, playing each of the other clubs once at home and once away, with the two top teams then meeting for the group championship and the right to advance into the playdowns.

Friday night's game here, at nine o'clock, is the only one that has been arranged in the round-robin to date.

A league meeting will be held here at the Recreation Centre on Thursday night at eight o'clock when all playoff arrangements will be completed.

Four of the loop's five "C" teams will take part in their playoffs. The schedule will be completed Wednesday night when Cobourg visits Napanee in a postponed game.

Gananoque, Napanee and Picton have clinched the first three "C" playoff spots but Trenton and Cobourg have yet to settle the fourth and final position. They are tied in the league cellar and a playoff may be necessary to break the deadlock.

Hot Spot For Hotspurs

LONDON (CP)—This is crisis week for Tottenham Hotspur England's trophy-chasing soccer champions.

Manager Billy Nicholson shepherded his £300,000 array of talent aboard a Prague - bound plane Monday for Wednesday's European Cup clash with Dukla of Czechoslovakia.

The Spurs catch the plane back the following day and travel up to the midlands for Saturday's important Football Association Cup game with West Bromwich Albion.

This means they will travel nearly 2,000 miles and play two vital games in four days to uphold England's soccer prestige and defend the FA Cup they won last season.

An English team has never won the European Cup, the premier team tournament in the world. But even though they are in the quarter-finals, there is a feeling that the Spurs are more concerned with Saturday's sudden-death game.

Even if they lose in Prague they get a second chance in the return match in London in two weeks. The aggregate scores decide the winner.

Canadian Broke Skate Mark

Urge Record Recognition

OSLO (AP) — The Norwegian Skating Association Monday urged the International Skating Union's committee for speedskating to recognize as a world record Canadian Paul Enock's time of 4:37.2 minutes for the 3,000 - metre event.

The 27 - year - old former Canadian cycling champion from Toronto clocked this time in an international speedskating meet in Hamar, Norway, Saturday but Oslo morning newspapers claimed that the time could not be recognized as a world record because the 3,000 - metre distance was not reported to the International Skating Union seven days before the meet as the regulations require.

The organizers had originally arranged for 500- and 5,000-metre races to be run Saturday and 1,500, and 10,000 - metre races Sunday. When more than 50 skaters were entered, they decided, however, that a 10,000 - metre race with some 25 pairs would take too much time. So they changed the program to include the 3,000 - metre race Saturday and 5,000 - metre Sunday instead of the 10,000 - metre event.

Per Jansen, secretary - general of the Norwegian Skating Association, said Monday that the "union considers that the record should be recognized. The decision to let the skaters run the 3,000 - metre was not taken because a world record was in the air, but because a 10,000 - metre on Sunday would take too much time. This argument must be the basis for the decision which the International Skating Union now has to make."

LAUDS PERFORMANCE

"We have already sent the ISU our recommendation and all facts about the meet at Hamar and sincerely hope that Enock will get the reward of being a world record - holder after this most impressive performance at Hamar."

When told of Jansen's statement, Enock said: "Of course I'm glad.. But I wasn't really letting the commotion worry me too much.

"There wasn't much I could do about it whatever way the decision went. You have to have a heck of a day, a heck of a wind and a heck of an ice to do a thing like that. I wouldn't know whether I'll ever be able to repeat it."

WAS SKATING CHAMP

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Fred Logan, 78, former speedskating champion, died at his daughter's Ottawa home it was learned Monday. Logan captured the Canadian, United States and International speedskating championships in 1907, the year he broke the world indoor record for the 220 yards. In 1909 he broke the world 440-yard record with a time of 38.8 seconds.

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will not enter a bid for television coverage rights for the 1962 Western Conference football season, it was announced Monday.

Robert McGall, CBC general supervisor of outside broadcasts, made the announcement in a telegram to G. Sydney Halter, commissioner of the Canadian Football League.

The league meets in Vancouver this week.

McGall said the CBC does not believe that "the situation which developed last year proved to be in the best interests of Canadian football or of the broadcasting industry and associated sponsors, and certainly not in the best interests of the viewing audience."

CFTO last year bought the eastern rights for two years and the CBC purchased western rights for one year.

McGall said the CBC will not bid for the western rights this year but will stand aside "in difference to a bid which we understand will be forthcoming either from the present owner of the eastern rights" or from another television organization.

But if the rights go to a commercial sponsor instead, the CBC will carry the games on its network if a satisfactory schedule is worked out in advance, McGall said. He added that the CBC will enter a single bid for both eastern and western games in the 1963 season.

Yanks Up Blanchard Salary

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Blanchard part - time catcher outfielder who is carrying a first baseman's mitt around New York Yankees' advance baseball training camp, has received a $7,000 raise for being "captain of the scrubbinis" for the world series champions.

The 29-year-old reserve signed his 1962 contract Monday along with pitchers Bob Turley and Hal Stowe.

Blanchard received $21,000 for his hefty hitting in 1961. He swung at a .305 clip in the American League with 21 home runs and won eight games in a pinch - hitting role, four with homers and hit two homers in the world series against Cincinnati Reds.

Turley, outstanding pitcher in the majors in 1958 when he posted a 21-7 won - lost record and a 2-1 mark in the world series, was bothered by arm trouble last year. He took an estimated $3,000 cut to $25,000.

Signing activity among other clubs was light, with Cincinnati coming to terms with outfielder Wally Post and rookie hurler Bob Risenhoover. Milwaukee Braves signed rookie infielder Ajado Samuel.

Houston Colts, new entry in the American League, signed veteran catcher Clint Courtney

Fighter Wins Silent Bout

Will Done-Oops-Sorry

LONDON (AP) — Chic Calderwood of Scotland retained his British Empire light-heavyweight title Monday night by knocking out England's Stan Cullis in the fourth round of a scheduled 15-rounder watched in deep silence by Britain's highest class of boxing fans.

More than 700 dinner-jacketed guests without a murmur among them, saw the privately - promoted bout staged by the National Sporting Club in the opulence of the Napoleon Room in London's Cafe Royal.

Guests of the National Sporting Club are forbidden to shout encouragement or abuse at boxers.

Calderwood had it all his own way. He floored Cullis for a count of seven in the first round, pummelled him all around the ring from then on and finally knocked him out in the fourth with a right and a left hook to the head.

CHECK SOCCER PLAYERS

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Thirty players were given medical examinations Monday in the first step taken by the Italian Soccer League to check on reported use of stimulants during Italian championship games. The move was ordered by the Italian Soccer Federation after a year's investigation of charges that several major league players were using stimulants before games.

RANGERS CALL GILBERT

KITCHENER (CP) — Right winger Rod Gilbert of Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers of the Eastern Professional Hockey League was called up today by the parent New York Rangers.

He will work out with the National League club today, Wednesday and Thursday. If the Rangers decide to play him, said chief scout Jack Humphreys, Gilbert will stay with the club for the rest of the season. Otherwise he will return to the Beavers.

Gilbert, 20, starred with Guelph Royals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series last year and was regarded as one of the Rangers' hottest prospects. However, a spine injury late in the season resulted in surgery and lengthy convalescence and he only recently returned to action.

The Tracks

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Hard on the heels of the purchase of Bowie Race Track by Canadian interests, a bill was introduced in the Maryland legislature Monday night to require that a majority of shareholders of a race track live within the state.

John F. McNulty, a Democrat, introduced the bill, which would require that at least 70 per cent of the owners or holders of stock in a race track be state residents of at least two years' standing.

Control of Bowie recently passed to Patino Mining and Enterprises of Canada and its president, Edward R. E. Carter, who said Patino controls 46 per cent and 3,000 Patino shareholders the other 54 per cent.

Will Stage Program for Swimmers

MONTREAL (CP)—Phase II of Operation Tokyo, a program designed to uncover promising swimmers for the 1964 Olympics, will be conducted March 10 at 12 centres across Canada, it was announced Monday.

The project features a series of swim meets conducted simultaneously in the various cities with results compiled by electronic computer here and relayed back to each centre within minutes.

More than 1,200 competitors are expected to take part.

Phase I was held last March and chairman Ken Murray of Montreal indicated another such project will be conducted next year.

Five time zones are spanned in the program but the meets will start at staggered times in the different pools so that races will be conducted simulteneously everywhere.

Murray said a number of bright prospects were discovered last season and this year officials look for an even greater improvement in standards.

Cities participating are Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert, B.C., Edmonton, Suffield, Alta., London, Ont., Montreal, Quebec City and Halifax.

Sports Snapshots

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Can the carspiel make a successful comeback in curling?

A former Prairie sportsman who ran a couple of the big-money bonspiels in Saskatoon when they were going strong on the Prairies thinks it can in Vancouver.

Bill (Red) Hunter, with three partners, has announced a $20,000 bonspiel here April 9-14, with the winning rink getting four new automobiles.

He's set a 96 - rink limit and an entry fee of $200 a rink and has arranged a draw system that will put 32 rinks into a knockout competition leading to a sudden - death final for the cars.

The entry fees would bring in $19,200, not quite enough to pay the prize shot. Admission fees from spectators are expected to make up the balance required and, says Hunter, if we break even on the first one, that will be an outstanding success."

The carspiel had its beginning in 1946 in Nipawin, Sask., where Scotty Moir, long - time curler and a car dealer then, organized a competition won by Howie Wood Sr. of Winnipeg.

ATTRACTIVE PRIZE

At that time, just after the Second World War, automobiles were hard to come by, so the spiel had a special attraction right off.

Many carspiels followed that one, perhaps too many for the health of the event and since Bayne Secord of Saskatoon won the Swift Current, Sask., competition in 1959 there hasn't been one on the Prairies.

The Vancouver suburb of Burnaby staged a couple but quit two years ago for financial reasons.

In the face of this, however, Hunter remains optimistic.

He has had a long history of sports management, as owner, manager and coach of the old Regina Caps hockey team and as manager and coach of teams in Medicine Hat, Alta., and Saskatoon. His two carspiels in Saskatoon were successful.

He's banking on several things to make the Vancouver event successful — and hopes it will become an annual one.

First, he's scheduled all games in the week - long affair in the Kerrisdale Arena, which can seat 2,700 to watch action on five sheets of ice. In 1950, when the Canadian championships were played there, 25,000 attended.

CURLING HOLIDAY

Second, there has been a tremendous upswing in the number of active curlers in the Greater Vancouver area in recent years and Hunter says they'll be anxious to see the best in action.

Third, he says, the people from the Prairies like to come to Vancouver in early spring for a vacation and this will almost assure an entry of 40 rinks from there, including big-name skips such as last year's world champion, Hec Gervais of Edmonton, who already is committed to enter.

Hunter remembers the excitement of the final in that first Nipawin carspiel. The four cars sat on the ice at one end of the rink. Wood faced a double take-out and stay shot with his last rock to win.

Tension mounted as he walked from the house to the hack to throw his stone, all the time staring at those cars.

He knew immediately his rock was delivered that it was perfect and he turned and walked to the nearest car and sat down before the stone reached the other end of the ice.

Relations Between Countries Remain 'Basically Excellent' - - Heeney

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Arnold Heeney, who leaves his ambassadorial post here shortly, believes that despite a "long agenda of important differences of opinion," relations between Canada and the United States remain "basically excellent."

The 59 - year - old diplomat, whose reassignment has been announced by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, says that "in my judgment and in my experience, relations between the two countries are the best between any two independent countries in the world."

"I must immediately qualify that statement," added the ambassador looking back on a 23-year public service career that began when Prime Minister Mackenzie King made the Montreal-born lawyer his principal secretary in 1938.

"As Canada-U.S. relations increase so do the number of human activities. Our cross-border affairs become multitudinous and growing. With so many contacts, we are bound to have a long agenda of items with important differences of opinion."

SEES PROBLEMS SOLVED

A self-described optimist, Heeney believes that many of these differences eventually will be resolved, including the question of whether Canada will accept U.S. nuclear warheads and the issues surrounding the delay in implementing the Columbia River power treaty.

The announcement that Heeney will be succeeded shortly by Charles S. A. Ritchie, Canada's permanent representative to the United Nations, came just as the ambassador prepared to take up a five-day fellowship at Yale University where he will lecture in Canadian and Commonwealth history.

He was ambassador here in 1953-57 and came back for a second tour in 1959.

Two Questions Are Referred To Minister

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate—which stole the spotlight from the Commons last year in committee hearings on contentious government legislation—scheduled a hearing tonight on the government's bills to raise basic pensions for the aged, blind and disabled to $65 a month from $55.

In debate Monday night—which, for the Senate, was spirited, the Upper House decided to refer two pointed questions to Health Minister Monteith and his officials in the banking and commerce committee:

1. Why are the pensions for needy persons in the 65 to 69 age bracket, the blind, and the disabled, not paid by the federal treasury in a way to ensure the same rate applies in all provinces?

2. How does the federal government intend to raise the money to pay them, and the old age pensions paid to everyone 70 and over, at the new $65 rate?

Liberal senators questioned the Conservative sponsors on these points during Monday night's debate. The Conservative senators deferred answering.

LIBERALS FAVOR BILLS

Each time Senator W. Ross Macdonald, the Liberal opposition leader, rose, he emphasized the Liberals were not opposed to the bills. They simply wanted clear answers.

Senator Macdonald said it was unfortunate that some provinces might not be able to pay their share of the higher rate. He urged the government, "even now," to devise a plan to ensure the $65 rate will apply everywhere in Canada.

"It may be the effect of this bill is to bring help in those provinces which are rich, and no help in those provinces which are poor," added Senator Arthur Roebuck (L — Ontario), "Are people more blind on the eve of an election than they are at any other time?"

"How do the blind vote?" asked Senator Lionel Choquette (PC — Ontario).

"If they have any sight left at all," said Senator Roebuck, "They won't vote for your party."

Just Independent Streak Keeps Grand Mananers on Island Near N. B. Coast

By DAVE PIKE

GRAND MANAN, N.B. (CP) Why do Grand Mananers prefer to live on an island a quarter the size of Metropolitan Toronto—cut off physically and, for the most part, socially from the mainland?

Some islanders explain it's just their characteristic independent streak. Others talk about the pointlessness of striking out for the mainland when they're making a good living on the island.

Grand Mananers generally agree they would think more than twice before exchanging their 14 churches for an ultramodern shopping centre, their simple problems for mainland complexities.

The islanders, who earn a sometimes capricious, usually laborious, living from the sea at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, have settled into a comfortable, familiar mould forged from a string of tiny villages into one secure "family."

Community leader Elmer Wilcox of Deep Cove says the independent spirit has developed from the first settlers. "No company controls the fishing; if you don't want to fish you don't have to. After all, islanders have more latent intelligence than mainlanders."

WRITING HISTORY

The islanders are not oblivious to the mainland, says Grand Manan High School principal L. Keith Ingersoll of Seal Cove, who is writing a history of the island. He and others add, however, there is a certain constricted viewpoint resulting from Grand Manan's isolation.

Dr. R. G. Ritchie of North Head, only doctor on the island, calls the fishermen "gamblers" who are complete in themselves.

"They lead a full life but they certainly don't extend their interests beyond their family life," says Mrs. Doris Richardson, a native of Toronto who has operated a summer hotel at North Head for eight years.

The 2,600 people live on 55 square miles of often breathtaking terrain ranging from rolling grasslands along the beaches to sheer cliffs 200 to 400 feet high. Most live along the eastern coast which offers the only safe anchorage.

There are good years and bad but islanders can usually count on a comfortable living. Most own their homes and there are few cases of extreme need. The fishing industry is the keystone of the economy. There are about 400 fishermen and many others run businesses catering to them.

Many islanders now have television sets. Movies are shown two or three nights a week. Residents take a great interest in the board of trade and church organizations.

Of the 14 churches on the island (it's not uncommon to find two side by side) one is Roman Catholic. It faced heavy opposition when it was established more than 10 years ago but that attitude is not in evidence now. A Catholic priest visits the island once every two or three months while Protestant student ministers are posted here in summer.

Mrs. Edith Hutchins of North Head, who teaches music in the six elementary schools, says the youth of the island seem uninterested in forming church groups. With the adults it's different.

Mrs. Hutchins also directs an adult 40-voice choir including Dr. Ritchie and 80-year-old Grovenor Ingalls of Ingall's Head who attends faithfully.

The standard of education is high. Mr. Ingersoll said students have been praised by Dalhousie University and the University of New Brunswick.

SCHOOL BOAT

Each day 25 students from White Head Island, part of the Grand Manan archipelago, sail to and from school on a fishing boat skippered by 65-year-old Stuart Morse. It's the only means of transportation for the 300 White Head residents.

There is little serious crime and almost no juvenile delinquency on Grand Manan.

"The islanders are no more or less law abiding than mainlanders," says RCMP Constable R. E. MacMonagle, the only police officer. But he finds it difficult to get information when on an investigation—"it would be like informing on a cousin you have to live with."

Dr. Ritchie, a native of Toronto who studied at Dalhousie and interned in Saint John, N.B., works in a well-equipped $100,000 hospital, with 16 beds, built in 1941.

He agrees with other former mainlanders that they are "never really accepted—I could be here 25 years and still never feel I'm one of the islanders."

Grand Manan was founded by Loyalist settlers in 1784 and became part of New Brunswick only by chance. It is 28 miles from St. Andrews, N.B. and 45 from Saint John—the two points for the ferry service—but only six from the Maine coast.

About 35 TV Programs Will Not Be Around Next Year

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing much is really final, but it looks now as though some 35 programs currently on TV network schedules will not be around next September.

That represents about one-third of TV prime evening time schedules — about par for the annual course. Cancellations will effect particularly police-action and filmed comedy shows, the cartoons that didn't fulfil the promise of The Flintstones, which two seasons ago kicked off the trend.

Among the older programs expected to go are Lawman, adventures in Paradise, Surfside 6, Bachelor Father, Hennessey, Twilight Zone, National Velvet, Thriller, The Detectives and The Tall Man.

All three networks have a pretty good idea now what their next season's schedules will look like, although there may be some shifting around. At this early date, it looks as if there are only about seven hours left open to fill—and there are at least 200 show ideas and pilot programs competing for them.

So, if you think one of your favorite programs is on the skids, now is the time to take pen in hand and tell the network and the sponsor how you feel. This is a time of decision.

Yours For a Song, ABC's dreary attempt to capitalize on the popularity of NBC's Sing Along With Mitch, announces an important change. Henceforth, its title, said ABC in a special bulletin, will be Yours for a Song Starring Bert Parks.

Mitch, by the way, has had his contract renewed for another two seasons of singalongs.

NBC is forced to reshuffle its schedule for Hazel shows and drop in a rerun because Shirley Booth was knocked out of action recently with an abscessed tooth, and Don DeFore, who plays her boss, was bedded with an attack on flu—his second this season.

Recommended tonight:
Seeds of April, NBC, 9-10 EST—Drama in the Dick Powell Show series, with Gene Barry, Keenan Wynn and Nina Foch; Mr. Easy, ABC, 10-11—Fred Astaire starring in a comedy.

AT THE PARK — Glamorous Jayne Mansfield, as a movie star who played an important part in the life of George Raft, is starred in Allied Artists' "The George Raft Story", starting at the Park Theatre Thursday for its first Belleville and District showings. On the same program Leo Gorcey and the Bowery Boys in "Dig That Uranium".

BIG PRIZES AT STAKE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (CP) — Women bowlers, including some from Canada, will split prize money totalling $142,932 at the 45th women's International Bowling Congress at Phoenix, Ariz., April 5 through May 17. The association's headquarters reported Monday that 2,637 teams, 5,637 sets of doubles and 11,274 individuals had entered.

Expenditures At Lowest Total Since 1957

TORONTO (CP)—Capital expenditure approved by the Ontario Municipal Board for the province's municipalities last year came to the lowest total since 1957, the OMB's annual report shows.

Last year the board approved 2,229 applications for a total of $274,132,977, compared with $317,940,371 in 1960 and $284,040,812 in 1959. The 1958 figure was $511,859,511 but this included approval of Metropolitan Toronto's $200,848,000 east-west subway.

The report, released Monday, suggested a need for caution in municipal financing.

"The prevalence of instalment buying of both commodities and real property has fostered increased demands for services for which taxpayers cannot afford to pay in cash and consequently the cost must be borrowed on debentures," it said.

"The resulting increase in the fixed overhead of municipalities is a serious matter and will become crippling in periods of recession if the total debt is not kept within a safe limit."

During the year the board received 71 applications for the installation of water or sewerage systems with a total of $30,385,805. There were 851 applications for approval of restricted area bylaws and 67 for official plan amendments.

Members heard 235 appeals against municipal assessments and arbitrated 101 claims for compensation on expropriated lands.

Burns and Channing Name Of New Act Soon to Be Seen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Burns and Channing is the name of George Burns' 52nd act.

If it's as successful as his 51st, he'll be a lucky man indeed.

His last act was Burns and Allen. It broke up after 35 years because Gracie didn't want to play any more.

After three years as a single, George is joining forces with blonde, big-eyed Carol Channing. They'll play a number of dates this summer.

"This is not really a new team," George explained, "because Carol is a star in her own right. In our act I'll do some material alone and she'll do some alone, then we'll do some things together."

"But she won't be another Gracie. She couldn't be; they're not at all alike."

"Carol plays wide-eyed; she's dumb but she knows it. When she makes a mistake, she realizes what she has done.

"Gracie was never wide-eyed. She was dumb but never realized it. She was positive about everything she did

"They're different in other ways, too. Gracie never played to an audience for the simple reason that she never knew it was there. For her, she was just playing within four walls.

NO WALLS AT ALL

"With Carol there are no walls at all. She thinks she is entirely surrounded by audience. She's crazy about show business, which Gracie never was. That's why Gracie doesn't miss it at all."

George said that if the act clicks, he and Carol would play eight or nine weeks of dates a year together.

"Carol likes to work 52 weeks a year, but not me," he added. "I'm crazy about show business, too, but not that crazy."

You are wondering about George's first 50 acts? He explained:

"When I was in vaudeville, I changed partners all the time. I had to. The acts were so lousy that we had to break them up and try something new. I had to change towns, too."

AT THE PARK — Huntz Hall, Leo Gorcey and The Bowery Boys come to the Park Theatre Thursday in the riotous comedy "Dig That Uranium". On the same program "The George Raft Story", starring Jayne Mansfield, Julie London and Ray Danton as (George Raft).

POLICE HOLDING

taken in a break-in at a cafe in the same section of the city.

Police Chief James Mackey has taken charge of the investigation.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said he intends to ask Chief Mackey for a report of the shooting at a meeting of the police commission Thursday.

"This was an unfortunate situation," the mayor said. "Whether it would have happened if there had been two constables in the cruiser, nobody can say."

Nash was the first officer to be killed since Metropolitan Toronto instituted a one-man-to-a-cruiser system a year ago. Some constables have asked for a return to the partner system.

"As far as I'm concerned, that's up to the police chief," Mayor Phillips said. "All I can do is ask him for a report."

C. O. Bick, chairman of the police commission, said he didn't see why "we should make a change just because an officer has died."

"Any check with the records would show that even when we had two men in a car, officers were shot. There is no guarantee this would not happen if Const. Nash had not been alone."

Constables travel in pairs in "potentially dangerous" downtown areas, he said, but the one-man operation holds in most parts of Metro.

Const. Syd Brown, president of the Metro Police Association, said he will press for the return of the partner system at the commission's meeting Thursday "although we know it's a lost proposition."

Chief Mackey said Nash "died a hero."

He was the first Toronto policeman killed since March, 1952 when Sergeant of Detectives Edmond Tong, 48, died 17 days after he was shot by Steve Suchan. Suchan and a confederate, Leonard Jackson, died on the gallows.

DISTRAUGHT OVER CUT

Tong's widow, distraught over a recent cut in her police pension, said she hopes Mrs. Nash "gets better treatment."

Mrs. Tong, with the help of Robert Macaulay, provincial economics and development minister, was preparing an appeal against the pension cut when she heard of the shooting that made Mrs. Nash a widow with four daughters to support—Jacolyn, 11, Patricia, 8, Judy 6, and Karen, two months.

"The cut from $2700 a year to $1700 came without warning at the first of January," Mrs. Tong said.

Mrs. Tong, 53, cares for an epileptic daughter, Margaret, 32 and has a son, Raymond, 23, at the University of Western Ontario. She said Raymond's plans to become a lawyer may be curtailed by the cut.

Magistrate Bick said Mrs. Nash 34, would receive "an allotment" from the police commission. "This will have to be decided when we have an opportunity to study the case."

In addition Mrs. Nash will get $4,500 from a group insurance policy.

Britons to Spend Million A Week Until 1971 to Build And Rebuild 244 Hospitals

Britain's national health service is often mentioned by groups appearing before Canada's royal commission on health services. This story relates the difficulties facing the British plan and efforts to overcome them.

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Because Britain built the first hospitals in the world she now is burdened with the oldest—some 2,800 of them and only two newer than penicillin.

These obsolete green-walled barracks form the creaking backbone that supports the main weight of the National Health Service.

The NHS is a sick giant gobbling up £900,000,000 a year. Many of its diseases are congenital, some incurable. Wads of administrative fat hang heavily from its extremities; a shattered nervous system makes co-ordination sluggish; its lifeblood—doctors and nurses—is slowly draining away.

Despite these infirmities almost all Britons—peasant and peer alike—are really rather fond of their giant. Unlike Canada the problem here is not whether to have him but how to cure him.

One prescription is a major surgical operation on the backbone. Health Minister Enoch Powell has announced that from now until 1971 Britain will spend £1,000,000 a week constructing 110 new hospitals and substantially rebuilding 134 others.

MENTAL HOSPITALS OUT

Southern England's great teaching hospitals will be brought up to date. Currently inadequate maternity facilities will be extended. Most of the bleak mental hospitals scattered across the country will be abolished to conform with modern theories of out-patient treatment for the mentally ill.

Pivots of the new system will be a series of ultra-modern district general hospitals. These 600-bed institutions will be designed for local population needs and contain all the facilities for specialized treatment.

The patient may have to travel farther to hospital than he does now. But his stay will be shorter, his treatment better and the after - care service more co-ordinated.

When the program is completed Britain hopes to have reached the bright sunlit uplands of socialized medicine. Today, although the anxiety about doctor's bills is removed, the average patient coming under the protection of his own welfare state might think himself back in a new dark age.

'CRUMBLED WRECKS'

"The picture that will haunt me for a long time," writes one critic, "is of silent circles where 30 crumbled wrecks of old men or women sit gazing blankly out at dirty rooms through narrow windows in a long bleak room with one dubious-smelling lavatory and a single bathroom stacked with commodes."

The new hospitals will also bring the general practitioners —the workhorses of the NHS— into closer co-operation with private consultants and hospital staffs.

The gulfs between the three are a structural weakness which the NHS inherited with its inception in 1948 and has done little to repair. It has its origins in Lloyd George's National Insurance Act of 1911 which diverted the mainstream of patients away from hospitals and local clinics and into the family doctor's waiting room.

He was ill-equipped by training and tradition to shoulder the load. During the war years the development of medical techniques far outstretched the facilities available to handle them. After 1948 the GP found himself acting as a clinical expert, consultant and out-patients department all at the same time.

LAG ON PREVENTION

The structure of the health service itself evolved through a process of improvised solutions and expediency rathan than logical planning. The Sunday Times medical correspondent says the result is "an administrative arrangement that bears no meaning to the pattern of need and treatment of the patient."

A letter from a harassed doctor in a large Midland city echoes a universal complaint: "There are people running this health service who've been transferred from the Gas Board. . . ."

At the same time the medical profession itself has been guilty of a major error in judgment. Britain's techniques, second to none in the field of curative medicine, are back in the 19th century in terms of preventive medicine.

Before 1900 preventive medicine concentrated on the diseases of poverty, squalor and malnutrition. The heroine dying of consumption in a garret was the symbol. In 1962 we suffer from the diseases of plenty. The flabby businessman in his early 40s who is always slightly out of breath is the commonest victim.

ADD 103—Britons

DOCTOR SHORTAGE

Early diagnosis of vulnerable groups is the modern method of attacking this problem. The techniques are well advanced in North America but, experts say, are not properly understood in this country.

A third problem is the vanishing doctor. The average GP has about 2,300 patients on his list. He makes about £4,000 a year but in terms of working hours is paid less than a bricklayer.

Fed up with administrative inefficiency and hungry for the £10,000 a year the private consultant can make, many British doctors have sought greener pastures overseas. Since 1950 some 5,000 have emigrated, about 1,900 of them to Canada.

Because of a government committee's miscalculation in 1957 the medical schools are not providing enough replacements. Today one-quarter of the junior housemen in British hospitals come from overseas.

Officials have evoked the nightmare possibility that the creation of two good post-medical schools in India and Pakistan could bring the giant NHS to its knees through lack of doctors.

MAY CHARGE PATIENTS

Plans to meet this emergency hinge on new centralized hospitals. These, it is argued, will give the doctor a better deal and encourage him to stay.

Powell envisages a push-button medical Utopia that will be a general panacea for the most serious ills of the NHS. He admits the problems, especially the financial ones, are still immense. The government still foots 80 per cent of the health service bill directly from the exchequer.

There is talk of charging short-term hospital patients 21 shillings a week for room and food. Prescription costs, now two shillings each instead of the original one shilling, may go up again and socialists moan that the very principles of free medicine are being undermined.

But the plans and criticisms are evidence that the giant, still in its adolescence, is beginning to sort itself out. No one seriously doubts it will someday achieve a healthy maturity.

Iceboats Fastest Motorless Vehicles in the World

By James H. Winchester in the Christian Science Monitor

Making a comeback on the nation's frozen lakes and rivers is the old sport of iceboat racing in many parts of the United States.

One of the nation's most popular wintertime diversions in the 1890's, iceboating as a sport almost ceased to exist, except for a few enthusiasts during the first half of this century. Now it's zooming again in popularity, along with regular boating.

There are more than 10,000 iceboat yachters in the United States this year, according to officials of the Eastern Ice Yach Association. The figure has increased each year.

Speed, of course, is the big attraction and the thrill of iceboating. One boat, on Lake Geneva, Wis., was recently clocked unofficially at 146 miles an hour. Several iceboats have been timed at better than 100 miles an hour in the East, at Lake Musconetcong, N.J., Bantam Lake, Conn., and on Long Island's Great South Bay.

"It's the difference between riding a bicycle and flying in a jet", one ice racer reports, making a comparison between ice boating and regular sailing. "Last winter I covered a 10-mile straightaway course on the Shrewsbury River at Red Bank., N.J., in under 10 minutes. This summer in a regular sailboat with a similar area of canvas, it took me over two hours to do the same distance".

Iceboats are the fastest motorless vehicles in the world. They travel three to four times the speed of prevailing wind.

"Iceboating is best", says Chuck Nevitt of Oshkosh, Wis., "when it's mild and clear, the ice is slicked up with a film of water, and the wind's blowing about 20 to 25 miles an hour?"

What makes one take up iceboating as a hobby or sport?

"It's rather hard to explain", says Commodore W. Tyson Dominy, of Long Island's South Bay Scooter Club "When you're sailing close-hauled to the wind with the runners screaming just a few inches under an iceboat's hull, piling on breeze and speed, with the frozen bay stretched out open and free for miles ahead — well, it's simply unique. Once you've felt the sensation, you come back to do it again and again"

Most iceboats today are homemade and the do-it-yourself trend is credited with helping this sport hit the comeback trail The most popular type iceboat is the 16-foot-long Class "E" or "Skeeter", carrying 75 square feet of sail. Top speed for this size iceboat is 100 miles an hour, but most racing is done at between 30 and 50 miles an hour. A new "Skeeter" already built costs around $1,600. To build it yourself parts cost only about $500 with another $160 for the dacron sail

Class series in iceboating are determined by the square footage of the sails. In the Eastern United States, Class "A" boats are limited to 350 square feet of sail; in the Middle West, under rules of a different association, Class "A" boats carry 1,000 square feet of canvas. This is very big craft indeed. It takes a derrick to raise the mast into place.

• • •

Growing in popularity in the Middle West, particularly with teen-age iceboaters — although it hasn't yet made its appearance in the East — is a Class DN60 platform - type iceboat, with 60 square feet of sail. These are relatively inexpensive, costing only $300 already built. Parts, to build it yourself, cost only $150, including sail.

While iceboating is a sport attracting growing numbers of devotees of all ages and both sexes, teen-agers seem to excel at it.

• • •

Although speeds are great and conditions often haphazard and uncertain, iceboating is not a dangerous sport. Safety-minded racers refuse to take their boats out in winds that exceed 35 miles an hour. Ideal wind conditions are about 15 miles an hour. Crash helmets are usually worn.

Most of the spills come from holes in the ice, snow on the surface, or ramming, usually the result of not observing safety rules. In iceboating, a boat on a starboard tack has the right of way over one on a port tack, and boats going into the wind have right of way over those going down-wind.

Most iceboats are break-down models, transported to and from their owners' homes on the tops of cars. It takes about 45 minutes to reassemble them, or break them down for hauling.

• • •

Back at the turn of the century, when iceboating was at its peak in the United States, all boats were steered from the rear with a tiller, just like a regular sailboat. Boats of that era were all very large, averaging 40 to 50 feet in length, and carrying up to 1,000 square feet of heavy canvass sail. Because large crews were necessary to rig the boats for racing, the sport was expensive. It was also a foregone conclusion that boats with the largest area of sail would always win a race. It took the competitive spirit out of the sport.

To restore competition, in modern form, iceboats are now generally steered from the front, are smaller in size, and carry much less sail. Skill in handling is the important factor in any victory. Modern streamlining has also made today's iceboats, even though they carry one one-third the sail used by the old-type boats, much faster than those in use 50 years or so ago.

Electrodes Put in Brain

B.B.C. News Letter

A good many doubts have been expressed in recent years on the advisability of resorting to the surgical operation of leucotomy in cases of some severe mental illnesses that will not yield to other treatment. Now three medical scientists in the Burden Neurological Institute in Bristol have developed a new method which promises to do away with many of the doubts and uncertainties.

As Paul Vaughan, Chief Press Officer of the British Medical Association, pointed out in the 'Science and Industry' program broadcast in the B.B.C. General Overseas Service, leucotomy, which involves cutting the white fibres in the frontal lobes of the brain and disconnecting it from the rest, 'is a pretty extreme method, and it can have pretty extreme results: for instance, it can convert the acute psychotic into a happy but slightly vacant character with a reduced intelligence quotient, and this is one reason why the operation has become more than a little suspect..' The new method took the guesswork out of the operation and trimmed it to the exact needs (and the exact convolutions of the brain) of the individual patient.

'It's done,' Vaughan explained, 'by implanting in the patient's frontal lobes, just around the hairline, and under general anaesthetic, up to 34 tiny gold electrodes. These electrodes are left in the operation, with wires strapped in place over the patient's skull. They are easily concealed, and he can walk about, and leave the hospital.'

The patient, fully conscious, but without pain, then had a number of sessions with the brain surgeon and the psychiatrist during which very small electric currents were passed through each electrode in turn. These made psychotic symptoms disappear for the time being, but if more current were added in the relevant areas, relief from the symptoms could be made permanent.

If the surgeon found that electrodes had been inserted in areas of the brain irrelevant to the patient's condition, no damage had been done, Vaughan said. He could simply continue the investigation until the seat of the symptom had been located, and when the patient could go back to a normal life. Unpleasant effects were few and transitory. In the cases treated there had been no significant fall in intelligence quotient, and results had been strikingly good in three out of five patients whose serious illness had been untouchable by any other method. The results in the case of four other patients currently undergoing treatment were very promising.

Grandson of Last PC Premier Of Quebec Inherited Strong Views About His Province

By RUSSELL ELMAN

OTTAWA (CP) — Jacques Flynn, Canada's new mines minister, has stepped from the non-partisan eminence of the deputy Speaker's chair in the Commons to the turbulent world of a political office-holder.

In filling the vacancy created by the appointment of Paul Comtois as lieutenant-governor of Quebe, he assumes his first cabinet portfolio at 46 and may become one of the government's chief spokesmen on matters dealing with French Canada.

The grandson of E. J. Flynn, last Conservative premier of Quebec in 1896-97, he has inherited some strong views both about the role of his party in Quebec and the province's future.

A supporter of the late Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale administration, he cast his eyes toward the federal scene where he thought Quebec Liberals had long "had it too easy."

FOUND PREJUDICE

"There was a prejudice against the Conservatives federally in Quebec," he said. "I felt the absence of French-Canadians from the PC party was harmful, making it difficult for the party to be nationally effective."

With no previous political experience, apart from campaigning for law partner Yves Prevost in the 1952 provincial election, he ran in Quebec South in the 1957 federal election but lost. In the Conservative landslide of 1958 he won that Liberal stronghold, held from 1917 to 1955 by wartime air minister C. G. (Chubby) Power and then by his son Frank.

Jacques Flynn rejects separatism as an answer to what he terms Quebec's "legislative aspirations." He contends it would result in Quebec's isolation and raise chances of annexation of the rest of Canada by the United States.

"It seems to me that French Canadians have much more chance of being recognized where they form 30 per cent of the population than as an independent state alone in a sea of more than 200,000,000 English-speaking people."

TWO SOLITUDES

Although during the last 30 years the French-speaking community had gained more prominence in such fields as finance, commerce and industry, he would like to see a greater representation in the federal civil service.

"I would also suggest that if both the English- and French-speaking peoples of Canada knew each other better, then we would have less of the Two Solitudes."

On Aug. 22, 1915, Jacques Flynn was born into a French-speaking family in St. Hyacinthe, Que. He was four when his father died and only a little older when misfortune struck again. He still bears the scars of the facial burns he suffered when he fell on a kitchen stove.

Young Flynn moved with his mother to Quebec City, where she worked as a stenographer to put him through school. While completing law studies at Laval University, he was a reporter on the French-language newspapers L'Action Catholique and Le Journal.

In 1942, the year he married Renee des Rivieres, he was appointed enforcement counsel for the Wartime Prices Board's eastern Quebec region. Later he became a legal adviser for a Montreal group of maritime companies.

LAVAL LECTURER

In 1948 he returned to Quebec to enter private practice with his Upper Town office in the same building as that of his most illustrious constituent, former Liberal prime minister Louis St. Laurent. Within a comparatively short time he was appointed a lecturer at Laval and a Queen's Counsellor.

Mr. Flynn now divides his time between Quebec and Ottawa. In the national capital he maintains a small downtown apartment near Parliament Hill. His wife and two children, Marie, 12, and Francis, 8, reside in their eight-room stone and brick house near Quebec's Saint Sacrament hospital.

On a typical day he gets up around eight o'clock and dresses in a conservative brown or grey suit, usually with waistcoat. Over a breakfast of fruit juice, single slice of toast and coffee, he scans the morning papers. The actual work day is dictated by the parliamentary timetable, which may keep him on the job from 9:30 in the morning to 10 at night.

Once an amateur oil painter and a bridge fan, he now finds relaxation in watching sports on television, perusing a French novel, hunting or fishing at Pointe de la Riviere de la Loup, or an occasional game of golf. He also enjoys vintage wine with a meal.

GETS MINES PORTFOLIO

Jacques Flynn, first elected to the Commons in 1958, was appointed federal mines minister in December, 1961, to fill a vacancy created when Paul Comtois became lieutenant-governor of Quebec. Mr. Flynn, born at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, in 1915, is the grandson of the last Conservative premier of Quebec, E. J. Flynn, who was in office in 1896-97. (CP Photo).

1962 World Almanac Reviews Crucial Year

By HARRY HANSEN

For the 77th consecutive year, the World Almanac and Book of Facts presents its annual compilaton of mportant events and produces an orderly and compact report on the baffling cross-currents of our time. Not since World War II has this encyclopedia recorded so many tense situations in global affairs, nor so many concerted actions by the Western democracies to nail down the peace.

In its 896 pages the World Almanac for 1962 has recorded the patient, tireless efforts of the members of NATO and the other nations opposed to Communist domination to check the hostile interference of the Soviet Union and Communist China into the political affairs of every continent.

FULL REPORTS ON CRISES

International crises that have repercussions in London, Paris, Washington and Ottawa are here reported fully and accurately —the long fight of the United Nations to bring order to central Africa, the tragic mission of Dag Hammarsjold, the firing of Soviet superbombs over Arctic Siberia, the intensification of defense measures in North America.

As in former editions, the World Almanac publishes a timely summary of Canadian political and economic life, with tables supplied by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It describes the resources, industries and populations of Canada, and likewise those of the nations of the Commonwealth and the British Empire. There is information from official sources about the Queen and the royal family, and there is a complete table of British rulers of historic interest.

ASTRONOMICAL DATA

The year's negotiations concerning disarmament and the Common Market are described in the chronology. Space ships and missiles that made headlines and much other scientific information are covered in this issue.

The sports records also occupy a large section of the book, and the results of hockey competition, golf, chess and other sports include Canadian.

The World Almanac and Books of Facts for 1962 is published by the New York World-Telegram & Sun in two formats: cloth and paper. The publication office is 125 Barclay St., New York 15.

44 PLASTIC BOMBS SET OFF IN ORAN

Glenn's Flight Rostponed For At Least 24 Hours

Outlook For Thursday Marginal at Best

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A heavy overcast drifting over the still boiling Atlantic today forced the United States to postpone for the eighth time its attempt to rocket astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., around the world. The shot was put off until 7:30 a.m. EST Thursday at the earliest.

Further, the weather specialists for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the outlook for Thursday's weather was marginal at best.

As soon as the cancellation was determined upon, O. B. Lloyd, public information director for the space agency, advised the White House of the delay by telephone.

Glenn was awakened at 2:15 a.m. by his doctor, William K. Douglas, and advised of the postponement. He had gone to bed in his special quarters four miles from the launch pad at 7 p.m. He was scheduled to arise at 2 a.m. for today's 7:30 a.m. launch.

ACCEPTS CALMLY

Lt. - Col. John H. Powers, another space agency spokesman, said Glenn accepted the news calmly and ate what was to have been his pre - launch breakfast.

Powers quoted Glenn as saying:

"Well, we knew the weather was forecast to be marginal, so I'm not too surprised. All we can do now is watch the weather. Everything else, including me, is go.

"I'm going back to bed and get some rest."

The decision to postpone the flight was made by Walter C. Williams, Project Mercury operations director, after a two-hour weather conference that began at midnight.

FROM PLANES, SHIPS

This conference drew on information gathered by weather planes and from ships stationed in the areas selected for a landing by Glenn, depending on whether he made one, two or three trips around the globe.

Asked how long the launch could be postponed on a day-to-day basis, Powers said: "We can go on this way for four or five days. . . ."

Under no circumstances will Glenn be sent on his mission to circumnavigate the globe three times through space if the waves in any of the planned landing areas exceed five feet and the winds are stronger than 20 miles an hour.

While there was no report on wind velocities in the landing areas, the waves were still breaking at eight feet.

This was the eighth time Glenn had been scheduled for launching. The first time was Dec. 20.

POLICE QUESTION VICTIM'S WIFE AND HER FRIEND

Man Held on 3 Counts of Forgery

TORONTO (CP)—Police overnight questioned Mrs. Walter Yetman for 17 hours and spent 15 hours with a man described as her friend as they sought to unravel the car-bombing which killed her husband Tuesday.

Tall, slender Mary Ann Yetman was released at 1 a.m. to go home to her five small children.

However, the friend, Ado (Peter) Kriivel, 37-year-old truck driver-mechanic, was held and charged on three counts of forgery and uttering false documents.

One of the charges against Kriivel, police said, concerned the bank account of one of Yetman's brothers.

Mrs. Yetman, a former waitress in a downtown cocktail bar, was questioned all morning and afternoon, then again in the evening.

Inspector William McNeeley, head of the Metropolitan Toronto homicide squad, said Mrs. Yetman is helping police in the case.

The pretty redhead hid her face as she was led from the police interrogation room. She wore a green satin sheath dress and spike-heeled shoes.

The blast was heard in suburban Swansea, five miles from the death scene. It blew windows out of houses a block away. Insp. William Culver of the Metropolitan Toronto police bomb squad said it caused "the most fantastic aftermath of an explosion I've ever seen."

Yetman, a city garbage incinerator crane operator who came here from Newfoundland seven years ago, died when he started his car to drive to work.

Speaker Roland Michener rejected a Liberal bid to set aside Commons business for an "urgent" debate on unemployment.

A proposal for a 23 - mile CNR branch line in northwestern Alberta was given second reading — approval in principle — sent to committee study.

A $10,000,000 boost to $345,000,000 in the St. Lawrence Seaway Corporation's borrowing limit was given approval and now goes to the Senate.

Senator Josie Quart (PC—Quebec) hit out at opposition critics for "unfounded criticism" of the government's policies.

4 COMMITTED FOR TRIAL IN MEAT CASE

RCMP Corporal Posed As Buyer

BRANTFORD (CP) — An RCMP corporal who posed as a prospective meat buyer testified Tuesday a Waterdown farmer showed him how to put wrappers bearing the Brant County health stamp on meat collected as animal food.

But, the corporal testified, he was warned to avoid conversation about it in front of the farmer's employees because: "The less they know, the better for them."

Cpl. O. J. Lutes was testifying at the preliminary hearing of four men charged in connection with the sale of meat from dead animals unfit for human consumption.

Charged are the Waterdown farmer, Robert Allan Carrey, 30, Robert Hooton, 48, of RR 2, Scotland, Charles Thomson, 53, of RR 3, Brantford, and Dr. Ormond Raymond, 38, former director of food control and sanitation for the Brant County Health Unit.

The four later were committed for trial. All elected trial by judge and jury.

POSED AS BUYERS

Cpl. Lutes said he and Cpl. E. J. Drayton posed as meat buyers from the Windsor and Detroit areas.

He said they visited Hooton, Carrey, Thomson and Dr. Raymond in search of cheap meat. He said he purchased meat from Thomson, Carrey and Hooton for various amounts and was told the arrangement whereby the health - stamped wrappers and said: "The doc didn't see the meat; he just stamped the wrappers."

He quoted Thomson as saying he handled only dead or "down" cows—those that are diseased but still living. Thomson said he could get a meat stamp.

He said Thomson told him he "could get to" a veterinarian with a "bottle and a woman."

The corporal said Thomson

Kennedy, Macmillan Want Some Progress Before Talks

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today proposed to Premier Khrushchev that a summit conference be held after some progress has been made at a lower level on problems of disarmament.

In a communication delivered to the Soviet leader, Macmillan said he thought "meetings at tht foreign ministers' level would be the best instrument for achieving progress at the opening stages" of the 18-nation disarmament conference scheduled to open in Geneva March 14.

A similar communication was sent to Khrushchev by President Kennedy.

Kennedy said "much clarifying work" toward disarmament will have to be done before a summit meeting is possible.

But Kennedy added in a message to the Soviet leader:

"This may be necessary in any case before June 1 when a report is to be filed on the progress achieved.

Kennedy told Khrushchev he does not question the usefulness "or perhaps even the necessity of a meeting of heads of government."

He added:

"Indeed, I am quite ready to participate personally at the heads of government level at any stage of the conference when it appears that such participation could positively affect the chances of success."

Kennedy referred to the 18-country disarmament conference scheduled to open in Geneva March 14.

The U.S. message was delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow today.

Macmillan said he trusted Khrushchev would give "most serious consideration" to Western suggestions that U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home,

Auditor General Finds Discrepancies in Books

OTTAWA (CP) — Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson has uncovered irregularities, including one case of fraud, in some of the 22 Crown corporations whose books he examined in the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The fraud was discovered in an audit of the Export Credits Insurance Corporation and the facts were turned over to the RCMP.

The agent of an exporter, Mr. Henderson records in his annual report, collected $70,000 on fraudulent claims for purported overdue accounts. The discovery was made by noticing a similarity in handwriting in the signatures of different foreign buyers.

Other Crown corporations in which irregularities were found:

Farm Credit Corporation—the Toronto branch of the corporation moved into new and bigger quarters, couldn't terminate the five - year lease on the old premises and so far has paid $10,300 in rent for unused space.

The corporation is not permitted to charge an interest rate higher than five per cent on loans to farmers. It has had to borrow from the government $30,800,000 at 5¾ per cent and thus will lose $3,000,000.

National Battlefields Commission — a sum of $27,000 has remained undisturbed in a commission account for 30 years. Thtse funds were contributed by provincial governments, municipalities and others and are held exclusively for the acquisition of land.

The commission has made no

Fast-Moving Storm Dumps Load Of Snow on Most of South Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A fast-moving storm dumped up to eight inches of snow on southern Ontario overnight, snarling traffic on highways in all but extreme southwesterly portions of the province.

Hardest hit was the Owen Sound area, where the highways department reported roads were heavily snow-covered following an eight-inch snowfall. In the Toronto area a five-inch fall slowed traffic.

The weather office in Toronto predicted the snow would slow to flurries, with clearing expected during the night.

However, another storm is expected from the United States midwest by late Thursday.

Traffic in the Toronto area was able to keep moving but thousands were late for work.

Bus lines serving southern Ontario reported heavy passenger traffic. Most buses were running about half an hour late.

Railways reported trains in most cases were running only a few minutes behind schedule.

Air traffic control at Toronto's Malton airport said operations were normal. Tans-Canada Air Lines said some flights were delayed as much as an hour but none were cancelled.

Montreal was also getting a heavy fall of snow. Four to five inches were expected before the storm eases off to snow flurries tonight.

The storm was being pushed by northeast winds of 20 to 30 miles an hour. Drifting was expected to make evening driving hazardous. Temperatures were forecast to climb to 25 from 14.

Skies over the Maritimes were clear but snow was expected. Temperatures ranged from five degrees below zero to 15 above.

An inch of snow was reported in Alberta as a band of cold weather moved through the western prairies. Snowflurries were forecast in the southern sections of the province. Temperatures ranged from zero to 20 degrees.

Intermittent snow or freezing drizzle was forecast for Manitoba.

Ottawa's blowing snow was expected to change to flurries. Four to six inches of snow was forecast.

St. Lawrence Seaway May Be Too Grandiose Say MP's

OTTAWA (CP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway may well be "another example of grandiose schemes on which we oversell ourselves," Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said in the Commons Tuesday night.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) said he has felt as well that the big project is falling below expectations and he expressed the hope that Transport Minister Balcer would "try to let us have the real picture on what is happening."

But there was no further discussion as the Commons gave third and final reading—before Senate consideration—to a measure increasing the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority's borrowing capacity to $345,000,000 from $325,000,000.

The auditor-general's annual report published recently said that the "borrowing of $9,500,000 to pay interest has in fact reduced the amount the authority may borrow for construction purposes."

In the brief debate, Lionel Chevrier, former Liberal transport minister and head of the Seaway Authority during construction, called the vast Canadian - United States project a "wonderful success."

In fact, countered Mr. Fisher, all the growth predictions, for the Head of the Lakes at least, are far short of materialization. The impact hadn't been large.

Costs still remained a considerable charge on shippers. It would be optimistic to conclude that the Seaway was a "great cure-all" for the many problems of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Great Lakes basin, Mr. Fisher added.

Additionally, there was a considerable residue of contradictory sentiment in the U.S. where some American groups felt the U.S. should build its own canal across the Niagara escarpment. Others on the eastern seaboard and southern ports were op-

He joined Mr. Macdonnell in expressing the hope that Mr. Balcer would spell out reasons for greater expenditures.

But Mr. Balcer stuck to his seat as the short bill moved swiftly through the committee-study stage.

ATTENDANCE UP AFTER HINTS OF SENATE REFORM

House Authorizes 23-Mile Branch Line

OTTAWA (CP) — Evidently the venerable House of "sober second thought" has found nothing so intoxicating in years as the broad hints of government reform in the Senate itself.

Attendance in the red chamber has been unusually high, House officials said Tuesday night. Since the government announced Jan. 18 that "a measure relating to the Senate" is coming up, 80 or more of the 94 senators have been in their seats daily. One day the count was a rare 76.

Tuesday, four senators produced speeches that eclipsed in interest—if not import—the affairs of the Commons, where members were chiefly concerned with branch-line railroading in Alberta and Quebec.

Liberal Senator A. B. Baird of Newfoundland said the government's throne speech announcement of "a measure" relating to the Senate contained "concealment certainly, vagueness to an almost ridiculous degree." Issues were not being faced.

BLASTS 'DISTORTION'

Senator Josie Quart (PC — Quebec) blasted Liberals and the CCF-New Democratic Party alike for distorting the government's sound policies and debasing Prime Minister Diefenbaker's sincerity. "Unjust and unfounded criticism" of Mr. Diefenbaker was creating doubt and fear in the minds of New Canadians.

And Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) said the Columbia River treaty with the United States should be looked at again by the government. Canadian capital costs would be three times those in the U.S. and Canada would be saddled with up to $50,000,000 in costs for relocating 6,000 persons flooded out by storage dams.

Senator David Croll (L—Ontario) presented a bill that

Cuba Walks Out of OAS, Not Interested Anymore in System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba walked out of the Organization of American States today, saying it was not interested in remaining in the inter-American system.

The Cuban walkout came moments after the president of the OAS council, Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia, had recommended that the Punta del Este resolution ousting Cuba from the system be sent to the council's general committee for urgent study.

The foreign ministers of the 21 member states, meeting last month at Punta del Este, Uruguay, adopted a resolution saying that the Cuban regime is incompatible with the inter-American system and "this incompatibility excludes the present government of Cuba from participation in the inter-American system."

Soon after today's OAS meeting opened, Cuba delegate Carlos M. Lechuga walked out. He said the Punta del Este resolution was illegal and that "we are going to retire anyway, we don't want to remain in this organization."

Lechuga told reporters:

"This last phase of the OAS proceedings has been shameful. It is shameful that even yesterday Cuba's chair had been removed. However, some delegates protested and the chair was restored."

OAS sources said Cuba had not been invited to today's session and was not notified that it was taking place.

Lechuga told reporters that his object in attending today's meeting was "to protest with our presence the illegality of today's proceedings. We consider that they were in violation of the OAS charter."

Blasts At Dawn Rock Moslem Section Of City

Attack by Secret Army Results in Fires, Riots

CP from AP-Reuters

ORAN, Algeria — The secret army today staged its biggest plastic bomb attack to date in the Moslem quarter of Oran.

About 44 bombs exploded, starting several fires and cutting electricity in some areas.

As firemen battled the flames, Moslems streamed into the streets, some of them panic-stricken. Some were half dressed and ran shouting through the streets. Women sent up their traditional "You! You!" cries.

Strong army and riot police reinforcements moved in to break up demonstration that broke after the bombings. Moslem crowds stoned European-owned cars and at least one European was killed.

Later this morning, French security forces opened fire on a crowd of Moslem demonstrators here, killing nine and wounding eight.

In other clashes a French army lieutenant was killed and four soldiers wounded by Moslem demonstrators.

Street attacks separate from the demonstrations killed two Europeans and one Moslem, making the Oran death toll 12 by mid-afternoon.

SET SHOPS AFIRE

Oran, Algeria's second largest city, is a hotbed of secret army activity. Its 400,000 population is about half European, and the Europeans are overwhelmingly behind the terrorist underground and its campaign to keep Algeria French.

The plastic bombs were believed to have been carefully planted by the secret army to go off almost simultaneously in the Moslem quarter at dawn.

Twenty - five persons were killed and 28 wounded in attacks by the secret army and by Moslem insurgents Tuesday. Eighteen of the dead and 17 of the wounded were Moslems.

Officials said they believed the secret army staged its "plastic offensive" as an advance warning to Moslems, who were rumored to be planning demonstrations in Oran Thursday.

European - owned cafes and stores in Algiers closed Tuesday on secret army orders to protest against the kidnapping of a European cafe owners and his manager.

JAIL SOCIALISTS

SEOUL (AP)—A revolutionary court today sentenced 20 members of South Korea's banned Socialist parties to prison terms ranging up to 15 years for pro-Communist activity. Two defendants were acquitted.

PARIS (Reuters) — Representatives of the French government and the Algerian insurgent command unexpectedly continued their talks near the Franco-Swiss border today aimed at settling the Algerian war.

The talks earlier had been reported adjourned to give representatives of both sides time to report back to their leaders in Paris and Tunis.

Louis Joxe, the French minister for Algleria and head of the French delegation to the talks, had been expected back here to report to a cabinet meeting. But a source close to the government said that Joxe was still in conference with the Algerian representatives and would not attend the meeting.

The newspaper Paris Presse said the secret talks were being prolonged because "the discussion is becoming more and more tough as it approaches its conclusion."

It said the French negotiators would not return to Paris until the talks were ended, whether in success or failure.

Government sources indicated it would probably be two weeks or more before any announcement is made on the outcome of the talks.

City and Highway Traffic Slowed to Crawl by Storm; 8-Inch Snowfall in District

With approximately eight inches of snow dumped over the Bay of Quinte area up until noon city and highway traffic was slowed to a crawl today with driving conditions extremely hazardous.

The snowfall started shortly after midnight, but did not reach full intensity until around 3 o'clock. City snowplows were ordered out at 4 o'clock with additional rented equipment being called in to help clear the main arterial roads.

Highway plows were working all out to keep district roads cleared but heavy drifting was reported throughout the entire district.

Weather reports placed the wind at about 25 miles per hour.

Although driving conditions, especially in the rural areas were particularly hazardous, there were no reports of any roads being blocked. Poor visibility, however, slowed traffic to a crawl.

TRAINS ON SCHEDULE

Trains running through the city have been practically on schedule, while highway buses were said to be running about 15 minutes late.

City Engineer Malcolm Turnbull said snowfall was very light until the downfall commenced in earnest about 3.00 o'clock.

Then all city plow equipment was called out with additional equipment being brought in to speed up clearing of bus routes and main arterial roads.

Heavy drifting, however was presenting a problem and without plowing many of the outlying roads would soon be impassable.

Tonight a full scale snow removal program is scheduled with loaders and trucks to go into operation in the downtown area after midnight.

Motorists were warned to keep their cars off the streets in downtown area after midnight, or public works crews might be forced to have them towed away.

KENNEDY

and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko meet in advance of the conference to concert plans for its work.

Kennedy and Macmillan believe that the three foreign ministers should gather in the Swiss city around March 12.

Rusk, Home and Gromyko would be able to plan the work of the disarmament conference and see if they could find some way to prevent a new big power race in nuclear testing.

Macmillan promised Khrushchev that he would "take a close personal interest in the negotiations from the first." The British leader added:

"I am not so much concerned with routine procedures and arguments as wth results".

There were growing indications that Khrushchev would go to the disarmament conference opening anyway.

Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist party, said in an editorial that participation by heads of government in the conference "should not be impeded by the circumstance that not all of them may wish or be able to go to Geneva."

Pravda said:-

"What the Soviet Union is proposing is not a summit conference as such . . . what is meant is not the examination of a wide range of international problems but the participation of countries in talks on one definite question — Disarmament."

SAID SAME THING

Khrushchev had said precisely the same thing in proposing the summit level participation in letters to the U.S. president and the British prime minister, who had earlier suggested that the conference should begin with a meeting of the U.S., British and Soviet foreign ministers to discuss a nuclear test ban.

Pravda said "defenders of the arms race" were trying to prevent heads of government participation under the pretext that the West was unprepared for such a meeting.

Pravda said a number of British observers had emphasized the "constructive character" of Khrushchev's proposal.

"British papers admit that as a result, London and Washington have been placed in a very difficult position," Pravda said.

Macmillan told Parliament in London Tuesday that he welcomed the "broad spirit" of Khrushchev's appeal. But Macmillan declined to give it full backing.

Junior Farmers View Film on Better Farming

A film entitled "A New Word for Farming" showing how farming is rapidly becoming a science for which trained people are needed, was the feature of the February meeting of the Sidney township Junior Farmers.

The meeting was held at Meadowdale school with Gibson Patterson, assistant agricultural representative as the speaker, showing the film on today's scientific farming methods. The meeting was in charge of Barbara Hearns and Robert Hamilton.

The Junior Farmers will hold a hard times dance at the Stirling Community Centre on March 2. Carl Grills led in a sing song with Marilyn Phillips accompanying on the piano.

A box lunch was enjoyed with Carl Richards acting in the role of auctioneer for selling the lunch boxes.

Snowfall Not Affecting Deer Herds

A mid-winter deer yard inspection has just been completed for the Tweed Forest District by Lands and Forests officials.

Snow conditions this winter so far have not been sufficient to confine deer to the low lying swamp areas, and as a result they have been able to move about quite freely on high ground.

Deer are, however, living in the vicinity of the established yards moving frequently around the perimeter and in the general area of the yard.

One group of deer were noted to have moved from a known and established yard across the narrows of a lake and established themselves in what appeared to be an entirely new area on the other side of the lake.

This movement was thought to have been started by cutting operations that were being conducted in the old yard.

The maximum snowfall recorded for the district so far this winter is 17.8 inches in the Bancroft area. Elsewhere in the district snow depths range between 9 and 13 inches.

The deer herds so far have not been greatly hampered by snow this winter, and it appears that there will be no bottlenecks in the deer population brought about by deep snow and starvation.

Will Enlarge Stirling Plant

The Elaine Footwear Co. Ltd. of Stirling is adding to the plant constructed some years ago.

Work on the new addition was started during January and is expected to be completed about the middle of March.

The company, which has made California process and Cement process shoes since 1950, is adding storage space to their main plant. Other products include men's slippers and ladies' snow boots and cocktail boots.

The firm, which now employs 125 people, most of whom are women, won't be adding very many to their staff as a result of the addition. The addition, 54 feet by 162 feet, (the same size as the main plant itself), is simply a consolidation of storage facilities, which have been rented in various parts of Stirling.

Qualities of Leadership Stressed At District H. & S. Council Meeting

By ELIZABETH FORT

"Take A Look At Yourself—You, Too, Can Be A Leader!" was the theme of the leadership training course held this past weekend at the Moira Secondary School and sponsored by the Belleville and District Home and School Council.

Mrs. B. Stenson, council president, chaired the general sessions.

"Take Off Your Mask" was the text of the devotional talk delivered by Mr. H. Occomore.

The opening address, based on the course theme, was given by Mrs. A. J. Fort, vice-president and leadership training chairman of the Council.

In her remarks, Mrs. Fort stated that leadership can be broadly defined as the exercising of influence over others on behalf of the purposes, aims and goals of Home and School. Leadership in Home and School is based on the democratic principle. Democratic leadership produces an eager, alert organization with creative reactions and results. Leadership is responsibility!

Every teacher, every parent, is a leader! If you teach a child, if you are the parent of a child, you are a leader! Leaders are hard workers with an enthusiastic interest in what they are doing. Don't expect to be perfect. Always allow for the margin of error! It is not a sin to make a mistake; the crime is to make it more than once!

The effectiveness and vitality of our Home and School organization depends directly on the quality of our leadership.

The quality of our leadership depends upon the field of endeavor, depends upon the training received, depends upon practice and persistence, depends upon you!"

ASSETS OUTLINED

Mrs. Fort outlined ten personal qualities that prove valuable assets to the successful leader and went on to say that the competent leader also needs to know the techniques of developing group action. These "Trainable Factors" or "Trainable Skills", he acquires through experience, through training, or both!

"Leadership Training provides the opportunity for a potential leader to acquire necessary skills and knowledge which will make his work easier and more effective".

In closing, Mrs. Fort urged delegates to assess their abilities objectively. "Greatness in leadership develops with greatness in Purpose! We have that purpose in home and school! With enthusiasm, with purpose with training, with experience, you can be a leader, too!"

"Evaluation" was the topic of the principal session on Friday evening and was chaired by Donald W. Maddocks, district representative, community programs branch, Belleville.

Mr. Maddocks in his introductory remarks, explored the true meaning of evaluation.

"Without objective evaluation the whole organization is "flying blind". Evaluation is the instrument that can keep it 'on course". No volunteer group should wait until danger signs are looming all round before it stops to see where it is. This is why we have evaluation!

A practice session on evaluation followed. A film entitled "The Test" was shown and immediately afterward the delegates formed into small groups to discuss and evaluate the film as to its possible use in a Home and School Association. Following the discussion, the groups reported back to the general session. The consensus was that the film would be excellent provided it were carefully introduced and explained before showing.

Mr. Maddocks distributed sample evaluation sheets used in various groups as post-meeting reaction slips. Some different methods of evaluation were discussed and, in closing, Mr. Maddocks emphasized that evaluation properly used is a group process. Mr. Maddocks was thanked by Mr. J. Welch.

PUBLICATIONS DISPLAYED

A broad range of publications, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dave McDonald was appropriately displayed with special emphasis on the subject of the program. Many new books and pamphlets were featured from the Ontario Federation and the Courtice Memorial Library. In addition, there was a fine display by the Corby Public Library arranged in co-operation with Mrs. W. Lockyer. Those who assisted with the publications included Mrs. H. Blanks, Mrs. H. Brodie Sr., Mrs. O. Bradley, Mrs. J. O'Neill and Mrs. P. Rawlyck.

In the devotions Saturday morning, Mr. S. H. Whitaker emphasized the importance of the whole person. "Our educational process should turn out ladies and gentlemen; we, as parents, should see to the education of the whole child and make sure that in the home and in the school he is educated as a whole person. The worthwhileness of high ideals, honorable occupations in the Christian way of life is beyond measure".

Mrs. A. R. Garlepy, Peterborough, vice-president for Area "C", brought greetings from the Ontario Federation. She said that a greeting always opens a channel of communication and that it is a two-way channel, working both ways. "In mediaeval times, in the feudal system, barons received scrolls of greeting. This greeting summoned them for service to the whole state."

"Home and School greets you; Home and School summons you!"

"Be a good member, interested and enthusiastic, good members are important!"

"This is your challenge and your summons as members of Home and School!"

Mrs. Dave McDonald spoke on the topic "Groom Yourself for Leadership." In part she stated that to groom yourself for leadership one must first think of being well informed, and this, of course, requires reading and study.

Mrs. McDonald displayed a chart showing literature that are "essential tools" for the basic knowledge of Home and School work.

During her talk, some of the books she high lighted were: from Ontario Federation — "The Guideposts", The Ontario Leadership Training Manual", "A Course of Study", "Program Aids", "Strengthening the Home Source of Our Nation's Greatness", and others included: "Committee Common Sense", "Short Cuts to Effective English", "Effective Public Speaking", "Techniques of Instruction and Process of Learning", "Evaluation" "Members' Roles" and "Discussion Techniques".

In conclusion, Mrs. McDonold specified that the wealth of information contained in the books she had brought to their attention, if studied, could in a practical and material way, make the task of leadership more successful, easier and more enjoyable. It would certainly eliminate wasting time by groping in the dark for guidance, program material and other assistance required for planning.

She said, "From time to time, it is necessary to brush up on your techniques so that they relate to present day challenges; a prime requisite if you are to "Groom Yourself for Leadership!"

DELEGATES WELCOMED

Mr. W. J. Musgrove, principal, Moira Secondary School, extended a warm welcome to delegates attending the course

Mr. W. H. Crown, Scarborough, leadership training chairman of the Ontario Federation, led the session, "Members' Roles in Home and School."

A role play set the stage for the session. The play was completely unrehearsed; a few delegates were given slips which indicated the play situation and the type of member they were supposed to portray.

Immediately following, delegates were asked how many of the member types they could identify.

Small discussion groups were quickly organized. These groups were asked to discuss what they felt were the functions of member and list these functions.

In the reporting period after the discussions, the following functions of members were tabulated: - firstly, the function of responsibilities, responsibilities to participate in the activities of the group, responsibility for regular attendance, responsibility to let natural abilities be known and to improve latent abilities; secondly, to promote better parent-teacher relationships by social contact, by individual action, by good public relations and by sponsoring good liaison between the home and the school; thirdly, to promote Home and School by being proud of our membership, by a working knowledge of the Constitution and the Guideposts, through Association bulletins, through our day to day contacts and by interpreting the real purpose and the worthwhileness of Home and School; and lastly, to evaluate with judgment for improvement as well as for good credit, evaluate ourselves as Home and School members - in the Associations, in the Councils, in the Federation - "Are we fulfilling for which Home and School was organized?"

Mrs. Crown was introduced by Mrs. A. J. Fort and thanked by Mrs. L. Jourard.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Mr. Jack Eilbeck, district representative, community programs branch, Toronto, opened the afternoon session, "Discussion Skills" by showing the film entitled "How to Conduct a Discussion".

The film demonstrated methods and types of discussion, the elements of good group discussion, the construction of a discussion situation by a leader and the basic qualities of a good discussion group.

An animated discussion followed. Areas where discussion could be used in Home and School were defined. The importance of good physical arrangements for discussion were emphasized. A discussion leader should make sure that members of the group are introduced, that the topic is clearly stated so that the discussion will have a purpose; that every member of the group participates and the group reports on its areas of concern.

In closing, Mr. Eilbeck stated than discussion has a purpose whether it be for involvement, education, information, clarification or understanding and never make an implication of limitation when using the discussion group method!

Mr. W. J. Musgrove presented the Course Summary and Evaluation at the conclusion of the sessions. He felt that both films used were excellent and that the discussions were good with a maximum of participation. He praised the use of the role play in the session on Members' Roles and recommended that it should be used more frequently.

Mr. Musgrove posed this question to the delegates, 'Do we refer back to the original purposes of Home and School enough, or do we become too involved in organization and other aspects that we fail to precipitate action? Have we lost touch with the purpose? Are we doing what we set out to do?"

He also suggested that through publicity and different billing we could do a good community service by making courses of this type open to other community organizations and to the general public.

Mr. Eilbeck was introduced by Mrs. A. R. Garlepy and he and Mr. Musgrove were thanked by Mrs. J. Winstanley.

A coffee hour was arranged for delegates on Friday evening by the Moira Secondary Home and School Association.

APPROVE IN PRINCIPLE

In the Commons, second reading or approval in principle was given a government bill authorizing a 23-mile CNR branch line in northwestern Alberta. A resolution preparatory to a bill was passed for another 57-mile line in Quebec's Gaspe.

The Liberals tried unsuccessfully to set aside regular Commons business for a debate on unemployment.

Speaker Roland Michener ruled out the motion on grounds that the subject can be discussed when the throne speech debate is resumed.

In the daily hour for private members' bills, H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) tried to win Conservative support for a bill to levy heavy penalties on industries polluting interprovincial waters. It was the same bill that Mr. Diefenbaker offered unsuccessfully in 1956, while in opposition.

Mr. Herridge got support — but not passage of the bill. It was "talked out" and fell to the bottom of a list of 50 other such measures. Meanwhile, as some MPs noted, the polluted Ottawa River kept flowing past Parliament Hill's back door.

Canadian Boxer J.J. Parker Held in Swindle

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Two men, one of them claiming to be a former Canadian heavyweight professional boxer, have been arrested in what police described as a swindle of more than $9,000 from a 73-year-old widow.

The men were identified as James. A. Parker, 33, who gave a Niagara Falls, Ont., address, and Peter R. Barresi, 25, of Buffalo. Parker was charged with first-degree grand larceny and conspiracy. Barresi was charged with conspiracy.

A third man is being sought, police said.

Parker told police he once fought under the name of James J. Parker and had been matched with world light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in Toronto in a non-title bout in 1956.

75 Evacuated As Block Burns In Kirkland Lake

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) Fire swept a three-storey downtown business and apartment block today and ice-cloaked firemen were still fighting it 10 hours after the alarm was turned in.

First word of the fire, in the Stalmack Building on Government Road West, was turned in about 2 a.m.

It burst into full flame a few minutes after 9 a.m.

The fire is believed to have started in the basement.

About 75 persons were evacuated.

Neil's Shoe Store, on the ground floor, was swept when the flames ate upwards through the floor.

Yolles Furniture Store next door suffered heavy water and smoke damage and firemen said it was still threatened.

Flames spread through the walls to the roof and burned out the law office of Robert Price. Mr. Price salvaged his records before fleeing.

A steady east wind was reported fanning flames.

HAD 45 APARTMENTS

The burning building contained 45 small apartments, offices and stores.

Firemen attempted to reach the basement immediately but heat and smoke forced them back. Firemen wearing oxygen masks entered the building and made their way down but bund partitions blocking their way.

Water was poured into the area through several small ground-level windows.

The basement under the shoe store housed a bank of electrical panels and meters and firemen said the blaze appeared to originate in that vicinity.

Ron Cybulski, a tenant, reported the fire to Archibalt Tippet, whose wife called the fire department.

Regular firemen were joined by off-duty crews and volunteers.

Temperatures ranged from nine to 13 degrees above zero, but the chill wind froze the spray on firemen's clothes and covered the hoses in ice.

Firemen said hoses began to freeze solid when they were turned off to move them to other locations.

The fire was believed to be coming under control at 8 a.m., but smoke continued to pour from the building as the fire smoldered in the walls of the wooden, stucco-covered block.

At 8:45 a.m. a new outbreak was reported near the rear of the building, which is divided into two sections behind a common front.

A fog nozzle was used to quell this outbreak, but a fresh blaze jumped across the basement and caught the wall of the furniture store.

At one time there was five feet of water in the basement.

Volunteers helped residents salvage what they could.

One man wrapped his dishes in a blanket, but the person carrying them outside slipped on ice and broke them all.

Grimsby Faces Special Tax For Deficit

GIRMSBY, Ont. (CP)—Residents of this Niagara Peninsula centre face a special $25 annual tax for the next five to seven years because of faulty budgetting by the town council.

When the council asked the Ontario Municipal Board to approve a new loan recently, it was discovered Grimsby had a $200,000 deficit. The loan was refused and the board ordered the town auditor to show how the deficit came about.

Town officials explained that, during the last five or six years, efforts were made to keep the tax rate down. At the end of each year a deficit resulted and this deficit was never carried into the next year.

If Grimsby can't raise the money, the law requires that the deficit be written off immediately. This would involve a tax hike that would cost residents an additional $25 annually over the next five to seven years.

Grimsby is 15 miles south of Hamilton.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP)—The U.S. dollar was at a premium of five per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Montreal reported near noon today. Tuesday the noon rate was $1.04 32-32.

Pound sterling was at $2.95⅝, up 1-16.

Miss LaMarsh Makes Hit at Valentine Tea

TRENTON — Breezing informally into the main dining room of Trenton's Hotel Gilbert, yesterday afternoon, Miss Judy LaMarsh, MP for Niagara Falls, greeted old friends, shook hands with Liberal party stalwarts, drank tea and nibbled sandwiches and found time to chat with each and every one of the 40-odd guests assembled to honor her at a Valentine's Tea.

Receiving with Miss LaMarsh were Trenton's first lady, Mrs. James MacDonald; Robert Temple, Liberal candidate for South Hastings; Mrs. Temple and (Dr.) Pauline Jewett, Liberal candidate for Northumberland.

Greeting the guests at the door were "Mac" McGaughey, president of the Hastings South Liberal Association; Bob Ransom, president of the Trenton Liberal Association; Roy Sills of Thurlow Township and Paul Russell of Belleville.

Pouring tea were Miss Hazel Farley and Mrs. Kay Bussey.

Miss LaMarsh seemed to regard the tea as a pleasant lull in her busy round of Quinte area speaking engagements, and made it quite evident that she was delighted with everyone and everything in general.

As for the Liberal ladies of Trenton, they were entranced with Miss LaMarsh.

"Isn't that an attractive hat?" one of them was heard to murmur.

Two District Men Continue Tour of Italy

TRENTON — Two district young men, Fred Boulton of Trenton, and Carman Carr, of Brighton, are continuing a hitch-hiking tour through France, Spain and Italy after the unpleasant experience of having language difficulties result in their conviction on a charge of stealing four parcels of meat from a store in Rome. Ben Thompson, M.P. for Northumberland, enlisted the help of the External Affairs Department and, after the exchange of telephone calls between officials of that department and Italian authorities, the trouble was cleared up. The two young men went merrily on their way, heading for Naples, determined ot study Italian seriously before embarking on another trip to that country. They set out on their adventure on October 9, sailing on the Homeric for England and working there for a few weeks, seeing the countryside on their off hours, before crossing the channel to France and starting on their hitch-hiking tour.

Plan to Spray Sound Elms To Guard Against Fungus

TRENTON — Big trees, small trees, short trees, tall trees, healthy trees, sick trees - - - all were discussed at length by members of the Trenton Board of Parks' Management at last night's meeting.

Gathered together to talk about the inroads of the Dutch Elm disease on Trenton's elm trees were board members, E. M. Parker Jr., (chairman), Miss Marion Baker(secretary), John Saylor, (treasurer), Bill Ireland, Clyde Mason, parks gardener Bart Boers, town engineer Eric Aldersey, clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry, Councillor James Duncan, and Dr. W. A. L McDonald, chairman of the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board.

Dr. McDonald, (who while admitting that tree doctoring was rather out of his line, has made a study of the subject) said that the disease was caused by a fungus; the result of certain insects laying eggs between the bark and the wood of the tree. He said that once the disease was in a tree the only measure to be taken was to cut the tree down and burn it.

Mr. Aldersey said that the public works' department would be cutting down an elm tree on Front Street "any day now", and suggested that a sample of the tree could be sent to a government laboratory for analysis to see if there was any trace of the disease present.

Mr. Boers assured the members that none of the elm trees in the town's parks were suffering from the disease.

Dr. McDonald said that the only way to save the trees would be to spray healthy trees, every year, just before the buds burst on the branches.

It was decided to earmark all desirable town trees for sprayng and to find out costs of the suggested annual spraying.

Meantime, an effort to educate the public on the advantages of spraying elm trees on private property will be made. And still along the line of public education . . . in late March or early April, an attempt to acquaint the home owners of the town, with the value of planting trees on their property.

The board will explore a number of ideas for instigating a tree-planting program in Trenton.

The trees could be supplied by the parks' board or town council, and planted on boulevards or on private lawns if the owners wanted trees. The owners could be asked to share the cost of the trees, or pay for the trees and the board could plant them. The board could plant trees on every lawn of one or more "pilot" streets, providing the owners were willing.

"A lot of people don't know where to get a tree," said John Saylor, "Maybe we could get a nurseryman to come in and have a tree sale. He might charge $2 a tree if he could sell enough."

"People buy trees at Christmas time and throw them out," agreed Mr. Larry.

Mr. Aldersey said that in some communities tree-seekers were contacted through advertisement and the municipality paid the cost.

Dr. McDonald said that in Sweden, anyone cutting down a tree was obligated, by law, to replace it.

"One of the evils of our modern sub-division system is that the developer immediately levels the land," observed the chairman.

In all events, something is going to be done about tree-planting in Trenton. "A tree on every lawn" is the slogan for the future.

Recreation director William Workman and recreation committee member Bob Sager joined the group for a discussion on recreational facilities with R. A. Stencel, of R. A. Stencel and Associates, consulting engineers of Toronto.

Mr. Stencel outlined the possibilities of setting up a recreational centre in the sanitary land fill area and quoted "realistic" prices for the installation of such things as wading pools, open-air swimming pools and skating rinks.

Parks board chairman E. M. Parker, Jr., while admitting that the ideas advanced were interesting and the prices quoted "attractive," told Mr Stencel that the parks board was in no position to discuss concrete plans for the development of the area, as the sanitary land fill area has not been turned over to the board as yet. Council still holds the property, said the chairman, and a talked-about waterfront development authority has yet to be formed.

"It's presumptuous for us to plan yet," said Mr. Parker.

Raise Prices For Membership In Association

TRENTON — Thorne W. Spear, president of the Trenton Community Concert Association, announced today that membership fees for the 1962-63 season had been raised by one dollar to $7 for adults. Student tickets will remain at $3.

Because the Tuscon Boys, appearing next Saturday night (Feb. 17), are such an outstanding attraction, the association directors have voted to allow anyone purchasing a 1962-63 membership ticket at the high school auditorium door, to also buy a single admission ticket to the event.

EIGHT DEATHS IN MONTH

Trenton's recent hospital expansion was amply justified in January when the average daily population at the institution was 112.9 persons. In all, 477 adults and children were admitted and 69 babies were born. Treated at the out-patients department were 683 persons and there were 238 emergency cases.

In the operating rooms, 66 major operations and 127 minor operations were performed.

X-rays totalled 515 and there were eight deaths during the month.

Too Many Peaks

Nikita Khrushchev has proposed that the 18-nation disarmament conference, scheduled to begin at Geneva March 15, start its work at the summit level. The Western powers are expected to reject this suggestion, but propose a summit meeting at a later date. It is not likely that Khrushchev will be seriously disappointed.

For some reason, (perhaps as the result of victory over hard-shell Stalinists on the home front), Khrushchev seems to be eager to negotiate with the West and to start this process in a hurry. The Geneva disarmament conference provided the first opportunity. But does anyone seriously believe that a statesman of Khrushchev's stature really believed that much could be achieved at a gathering of eighteen heads of state? There would be too many voices to permit those which really matter to be heard clearly. True, Khrushchev could silence some of them. The representatives of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Bulgaria and Rumania would speak only on demand—Khrushchev's demand. That, though, would still leave fourteen countries to be heard from.

Of this number only the opinions of two, or at the most three, would be of any real importance. But would the U.S., Britain and France be able to exercise control over all the spokesmen for the remaining ten countries—Canada, Italy, Brazil, Mexico, the United Arab Republic, India, Burma, Sweden, Nigeria and Ethiopia? We doubt it. The temptation to grab the headlines would be too great to resist.

Khrushchev could hardly press for a summit meeting at the opening of the Geneva talks and ignore any of the 18 nations participating in these talks. It would seem unlikely, though, that he will be really unhappy if he gets the summit meeting he wants without so many minor peaks cluttering up the landscape. The relief gained would be more than worth the slight delay.

A Man Worth Praising

Three men, two of them spies and the third falsely suspected of espionage, have been returned from prison to their own countries.

Rudolf Abel, the Russian, is a professional spy. One may regard him with contempt, for his choice of an occupation or for the cause he served. Or with respect, for his exceptional talents in his chosen profession. Or his compatriots may regard him with admiration, for his patriotism. It all depends on the point of view.

Francis Gary Powers, the pilot of the U-2 is a man with a large appetite, whether for adventure or for money seems uncertain. This prevents him from being taken as seriously as Abel, sparing him the full force of the hatred of his enemies and denying him the complete admiration of his fellow-countrymen.

The third man set free was Frederic Pryor, a 28-year-old Michigan resident. Pryor went into East Berlin carrying a copy of a thesis he was writing on East European Communist trade. It contained facts and figures. In the present state of tension in Berlin, it is hardly surprising that his possession of this information should have led to a suspicion he was a spy.

Pryor does not value himself highly. He regards his release as "just a bonus in the deal" of Abel for Powers.

Pryor says: "There is an opportunity to make a lot of cheap propaganda slamming East Germany—don't do it in my case."

There, we suggest, is a man who merits the unstinted admiration of those on both sides of the Iron Curtain, not because he was not a spy, as were the other two, but because, after being unjustly imprisoned for five and a half months, his concern is that his treatment shall not cause additional tension in the existing dangerous international situation.

He may lack Abel's talents or Powers' daring but he is worth both of them rolled together.

Western economic growth is the one way to make Khrushchev really willing to co-operate in building a more human world. We must prove to Khrushchev beyond all question . . . . that time is on our side, that progressive capitalism is the wave of the future, not communism. —Henry A. Wallace, former U.S. vice-president.

There are those who seem to take for granted that a country like Soviet Russia, with less than half the per capita income of the United States, can afford a major successful space program while we cannot. That is, at best, ridiculous and, at worst, deliberate sabotage.—Dr. Edward S. Welsh, executive secretary of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Council.

Strictly Personal

It Is True That Statistics Can Lie

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Just as hardly anyone really believes in "freedom" as an abstract principle, hardly anyone really believes in "law" as an abstract principle. Our attitude toward both these ideas, in Luther's favorite words, "depends on whose ox is gored."

For example we don't actually subscribe to the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution — except when it is used by someone whose views we agree with.

When gangsters or Communist sympathizers "take the Fifth," we deplore this legal "loophole," and often feel we should prosecute them simply because they refuse to incriminate themselves.

On the other hand, there is a great deal of sympathy on the radical right toward Gen. Edwin Walker, who resigned from the U.S. Army after being rebuked for his political views.

Walker, as you know, called Truman, Acheson, Eleanor Roosevelt, Ed Murrow, Eric Sevareid, Walter Kronkite and others "pinks" and leftists. When he was asked some awkward questions about the John Birch Society, Gen. Walker took the Army equivalent of "the Fifth."

That is, he invoked Article 31 of the U.S. Army Code, which says that no person may be compelled to answer any question which "may tend to incriminate him." This is precisely the purpose of the Fifth Amendment.

Now Gen. Walker has a perfect right to "take the Fifth" — as do the hoodlums, the suspected Communists or anybody else. The protection of the law is for all, whether or not we like their morals, their politics or their accents.

Yet the same people who upbraid the radical left for taking the Fifth applaud the radical right for doing the same. Indeed, they have tried to make a martyr out of Gen. Walker, merely because he was reprimanded for an action that would outrage these same people if he had tried "leftist" indoctrination of his Army division.

Only a minority of people are willing, in actual practice, to apply the same abstract yardstick to all groups and individuals. Most of us want to cut and fit both "liberty" and "the law" to protect those we agree with, and to leave all others naked to the winds of prejudice.

Unfortunately, both the politicians and the lawyers have degraded and perverted the ideas of liberty and the law, so that the public has become quite cynical about such noble abstractions. It is worth remembering that none of us is safe if we do not safeguard the activities of persons we find repugnant to our deepest beliefs.

Immigrants Go to Sweden

Windsor Star

One normally does not think of Sweden as a mecca for immigrants but that it is. It is estimated the number of foreigners gainfully employed there is 123,000, or almost four percent of the work force. There have been, in addition, 100,000 others who have become Swedish citizens in the postwar period.

Sweden, a nation of 7,500,000 has about the highest living standards in Europe. Its people all are employed, and steadily. Steady work at fair rates of pay are what potential emigrants are seeking.

Time was when Sweden was a fine source of immigrants to this continent. They were among the best of all, cleanly, industrious and honest. We could do with a lot more of them in Canada.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A WORD TO THE ACTIVISTS

As the Lord was about to ascend into heaven after his resurrection, he said to his disciples: "Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be endued with power from on high" (Luke 24:49).

We are not a tarrying generation. We want to be up and doing.

There have been centuries when the best minds have given hours every day to meditation and reflection, but not our best minds today. We feel that if we are to be really successful in life we must catch an early train, be in the office before anyone else, stay after everyone has left, and keep everlastingly at whatever we happen to be doing. This is fine. In fact, it is magnificent. But it is not sufficient. It is not the whole story. We actvists are creating one of the most remarkable periods in history but we are sadly lacking in some things which our forbearers had.

One of these is that we cannot tarry. We cannot sit down quietly for a few minutes every day and meditate, reflect. Yet it is often to the quiet mind that God makes His most stupendous revelations. To be sure, He speaks to us while we are active, but He also has messages for us which He speaks only in the quiet.

"Tarry ye." In Jerusalem, in whatever countryside, in whatever village or city you happen to live, tarry for a while and think it over. Best of all, think it over with the Lord.

Horse Proved A Real Gem

In our untiring endeavor to show readers all honorable, legal and available means of making money, rare, to quote Ogden Nash, is the stone unturned, the stern untoned or the tern unstoned.

Note this case study in how to pile up a million or more. It comes from Steven Low, president of Latin American Mines Ltd.

"A Mr. Schlesinger, as a young man before the turn of this century, travelled to South Africa to seek his fortune. There he could barely eke out an existence as a peddler of trinkets.

"But one day he heard that a famous and well-to-do diamond dealer had died. He rushed to the market place where the dead man's belongings were being auctioned. He concentrated on only one item and he got it — the dead man's horse.

"The late diamond dealer's faithful horse, with unerring instinct, led his new owner to all the best diamond prospects. Schesinger's future was assured. From this beginning he amassed a gigantic fortune of some $400,000,000."

This is all very instructive. But what, let it be asked is the modern equivalent of that crazy horse? It's a wise helicopter that knows its old master.

Show Capital Silent City

St. Thomas Times - Journal

Since a little more than one year ago the capital of Brazil has been the city of Brasilia. Up until then it was Rio de Janeiro, a picturesque city of about 3,000,000 people, but about eight years ago the then President Kubitschek took it into his head that Brazil should have a new capital with the legislature and department buildings all together in one area.

He was a man of driving force, and set about striving to realize his dream. After five years' work the new parliamentary buildings opened for business in 1960. The new city was called Brasilia. It stands 600 miles westward from Rio, all structures of glass and chrome where a few years ago only jaguar and howler monkeys used to roam in the forest.

Ominous reports have been reaching the outside world about Brasilia. An English tourist decided to go and see for himself if the stories were true. First the mud. It rains there day after day, and if scrapers took the top layer off one day there was more the next, inside as well as outside the buildings. The members of Parliament and those who have business there hate the place. The legislators fly home to Rio and other places every weekend from Thursday to Tuesday.

Buildings may be miles apart. The visitors drove along the main street and found the silence hard to bear. Brasilia was like a deserted city. Everybody appeared to be away. There were not even automobiles, and far from a planned city for 500,000 people, he felt as if he was in one of those ancient cities that explorers have sometimes found in the jungle. Buildings and equipment are already showing signs of deterioration.

The population of Brasilia is chiefly composed of civil servants and shopkeepers. In what might be called the suburbs, there is a shantytown which houses thousands of workers who have been brought in for the construction. The shanties were supposed to have been demolished when the job was done and the laborers sent home, but the whole place remains occupied.

Many more millions of dollars would have to be spent on making the new capital into a city. But Brazilians smile grimly to themselves when that subject is mentioned For Brazil is practically bankrupt.

Make Igloo Of Plastic

Montreal Star

Our attention was caught the other night by a TV commercial on behalf of a cigaret "as refreshing as an igloo in August."

It set us to thinking about the ways of the Department of Northern Affairs, which are sometimes inscrutable. Because last August, tucked in behind the clutter of D.N.A. prefab buildings at Igloolik. ("The Place of Houses") up to the top left-hand corner of Hudson Bay, there was indeed an igloo

A plastic igloo, made of blocks of that light-weight foam stuff.

Now, the igloo — or more properly, the snowhouse — has considerable virtues. In the Arctic winter, the material for it is available almost anywhere. An Eskimo skilled in cutting and fitting its cunningly spiralled blocks of hard snow can whip one up in a surprisingly short time. A seal-oil lamp will keep it at least faintly warm It will withstand even the most vioent of Arctic gales.

But its biggest virtue of all is that eventually it melts.

It melts just about the time that the stench from the assortment garbage which has collected on the floor below the sleeping bench becomes completely unbearable to the Caucasian nose and distinctly injurious to the Eskimo health.

A plastic snowhouse does not melt.

Which is why we have some serious reservations about that description of an igloo in August as "refreshing."

To Your Good Health

Contact Lenses Are A Matter of Preference

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 30-year-old mother and have worn glasses since grade school. Now I want contact lenses, for vanity's sake.

Should I consult an optometrist or an oculist? Will a future pregnancy affect vision to the extent of creating a problem if I invest in these lenses? What other things should I consider before I switch? — Mrs. D.M.

If you have a strong hankering for contact lenses, and can afford them, why not try them?

A small proportion of people who begin wearing contact lenses find that they can't get along with them — "can't abide 'em." But most people can. You run a modest risk of being one of the people whose eyes will be unduly irritated. I warn you of this just so you'll know the truth; I'm not trying to keep you from trying them if you are so minded.

In the majority of cases, contact lenses work very satisfactorily. It's a matter of balancing the cost against the desire.

As a personal opinion, I say that an attractive pair of glasses on an attractive woman can enhance her appearance. However, quite a few years ago (before contact lenses were invented) a very clever author composed the couplet about "men never make passes at girls who wear glasses." This was brilliant poetry; it was lousy psychology. It's clever but untrue.

Only this winter a highly experienced eye specialist told an American Medical Association meeting of his experience: On repeated occasions he has fitted contact lenses only to have patients return and say that, although the contacts were wholly satisfactory, they'd decided they would go back to ordinary glasses.

It's a matter of preference! Contacts should be removed when you go to sleep — or should be slid to a different position to rest the eyeball. Some people simply don't like the process of putting the lenses in or taking them out. Again, personal preference.

It's possible to lose a contact lens — diving into a swimming pool, skiing or even walking. Such a nuisance, if it happens.

On the other hand, contacts have been developed to the point at which they do an excellent job from the standpoint of vision and health, and in the case of athletes, actors, etc., they are virtually a necessity.

I've tried to give you both sides of the argument. A future pregnancy should have no influence whatsoever.

An optometrist or an oculist (or the more usual term these days, an "ophthalmologist")? I dislike entering into the argument between them, but my preference, and my advice, is to go to an ophthalmologist (or oculist).

Yes, the optometrists can fit contact lenses, but the ophthalmologists, being trained physicians, can do more than that. They can see whether any sort of eye condition is present, aside from the mere optics of "seeing."

Dear Dr. Molner: I agree with you about giving up smoking, but how does one do so? I seem to be a compulsive smoker. — T.S.

It's mostly habit, but there's a slight addictive factor. The first two weeks are pretty rough; it's easier once you've passed that length of time.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any danger in having varicose veins in the testicle? — T.I.H.

This condition is called "varicocele" (vary-ko-seal). It can occur at young as well as old ages. It isn't dangerous, but great discomfort or swelling is a sign that surgery is advisable. (In lesser cases a suspensory gives relief but not a cure.)

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POSSESSIONS

People in this world are judged all too often and too much by their possessions.

Many of the enjoyments of life come from possessions which we accumulate, yet they should not be the things that tell others of our definite selves.

Possessions are just fleeting things anyway. The melting process of earning, increasing and handing around to others than those who first earned and accumulated, will always go on

There is only one permanent possession or belonging that counts for time and eternity — and that is the man or woman.

The stock market will always have its ups and downs. The gilt-edged securities are those which a man or woman puts away in the vault of his or her heart, "where neither rust nor dust doth corrupt."

It doesn't pay to worry about the possession of land, stocks, bonds, houses, precious stones — or anything else that can be lost, or won through the ingenuity of the brain and a man's health and determination.

I knew a man who carried around with him a great library. I loved to sit and talk with him by the hour because I always learned from him. He carried possessions around with him that were priceless.

You can't wipe out the personality or the charm of a man or woman unless you break his or her spirit.

You may be unusually full of wealth and not realize it. Sometime talk it over with yourself in a quiet way. It may change the whole plan and way of your life. "In the use, not in the bare possession lies the merit wrote Gilbert West.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the dining car, I was seated with three middle-aged businessmen of obvious prosperity and consequence. Strangers to me, of course. One of them, who was obviously the senior of his companions, was the rudest, most petulant man I have ever encountered. He griped, he grunted, he boorishly instructed his companions to write down his dinner order. He glanced briefly and contemptuously at me and others within his view, taking a long, brazen stare at the table across the aisle occupied by a happy family party of modest condition.

When the waiter arrived, he abused him for not coming sooner. When the meal was served, he scolded the waiter loudly. To his companions, he hardly spoke at all, and then in the most surly fashion. It would be hard to invent a more totally disagreeable person.

In the club car after dinner, one of his companions sat beside me. I enquired discreetly who the interesting personality was with whom I had shared the table.

"He is the stinker," said my neighbor, "by whom I am employed. And it is difficult to say whether he got rich by reason of his manners, or whether his manners are the result of his getting rich. In any case, he is a sad spectacle."

In prosperity, all is not milk and honey.

Miss Judy LaMarsh, Liberal M.P. for Niagara Falls, congratulates Roy Sills on his election as president of the South Hastings Liberal Association at last night's annual meeting.

Roy Sills, Thurlow Twp. Farmer, Heads Liberals

Mr. Roy Sills, prominent Thurlow township farmer and active in farm organizational work, was last night named president of the South Hastings Liberal Association as party members met for their annual meeting at Queen Alexandra School in Belleville.

Mr. Sills succeeds Irvine McGaughey of Trenton who had headed the South Hastings Liberal organization for the past 15 years. Mr. McGaughey asked to be relieved of his duty as local Liberal head because of health reasons.

Vice presidents named were Hugh O'Nell of Trenton, Mrs. Grace Radcliffe of Trenton Paul Planovsky of Batawa and Mrs. Effie McCabe of Belleville.

Robert Dawson was named treasurer, while local real estate broker, Douglas T. Stork, was named secretary.

Also included on the executive are former Federal Liberal candidates or members from the South Hastings riding. They are: Frank S. Follwell, A. McLean Haig, and Dr. D. C. McVicker of Deseronto.

REMAINS ON EXECUTIVE

Mr. McGaughey is also on the executive as the immediate past president.

In stepping down from his post as president of the South Hastings Liberals, Mr. McGaughey concluded active participation in the Liberal party organization after 40 years in the saddle. He started as a poll worker 40 years ago and worked up to the presidency which he has held for the past decade and a half.

Guest speaker for the annual meeting was Miss Judy LaMarsh, Federal Liberal member for Niagara Falls.

Mayor A. McLean Haig, in a personal capacity, welcomed Miss LaMarsh to the city and told Liberals attending the annual meeting that the forthcoming Federal election was the most important campaign since Confederation.

"We have had other important elections, but this one will determine whether Canadians are willing to put up with being misgoverned month after month," he said.

He said the issue at stake behooved Liberals to go out and organize and thus assure the return to Ottawa of a member of which all could be proud.

BIG MISTAKES CLAIM

Mayor Haig said the Diefenbaker government had fumbled Canadian affairs throughout its administration. From the scrapping of the Arrow, the government conversion loan, the Coyne issue and the approach to the common market decisions had been big mistakes.

"So let's go out shoulder to shoulder firmly dedicated that a Liberal government will be returned to Ottawa and honor returned to this country," he said.

Former member for South Hastings riding, Mr. Frank Follwell conducted the election of officers and paid tribute to retiring president Irvine McGaughey for his long years of service to the party.

However, Mr. Follwell noted that Mr. McGaughey as immediate past president would still be a member of the executive committee, a capacity in which his long experience would be of great value to the association.

Nuclear Dilemma Facing Canada Subject of Talk to Kiwanians

Niagara Falls M.P., Miss Julia "Judy" V. LaMarsh, discussed the "Nuclear Dilemma Which Faces Canada," at the Kiwanis luncheon held at the Centre Tuesday afternoon. Approximately 50 members and their wives were in attendance.

Miss LaMarsh said the nuclear dilemma which faces Canada today, holds some meaning for all of us. She said only since the last war has Canada had any question about building her own defence.

The USSR has her role in the nuclear weapon field, she said, and as long as there is a balance of terror between the two blocs, we could assume there would be no nuclear war.

NATO drew a line down the centre of Europe and said if anyone stepped over that line they would be engaged in warfare, and as a result of this line, we have built a strong conventional force and that line has worked for the past 12 years.

Miss LaMarsh said, "since NATO has been at work, not one nation has fallen to communism."

For a few years NATO stood still, she said and lost its potential. There was a question as to whether or not it should become a nuclear nation.

In her address, Miss LaMarsh said, France, in a fit of national pride, developed her own nuclear weapons. The thought of what would have happened had there been nuclear weapons in Katanga or the Congo has chilled many. The feeling has been that these weapons should be confined to those who already hold them.

Miss LaMarsh said because, in the case of a nuclear war, attacks would come over the pole and across Canadian land, Canada has had to concern herself with this fact. She believed this is the time when Canada has to make a decision. It is a very difficult decision for her to make. If there were such a thing as an anti-missile-missile, this might change the whole situation, but we don't have such a thing as yet.

Meanwhile the balance of terror heightens, and anything could tip it.

Canada has to make a decision and this decision cannot be made by the military or the politicians, but by you, the people" she said.

Miss LaMarsh was thanked by Ralph Graham and thanked by Frank Follwell. Guests present were introduced, following the dinner.

Truck Strikes House, 3 Die As Fire Results

BAIE ST. PAUL, Que. (CP)—Three persons were burned to death today when fire destroyed their home after it was struck by a truck which careered off a nearby highway.

The impact of the heavy trailer truck hitting the house set off the explosion and fire.

The victims were Joseph Lizotte, 78; a Mrs. Gagnon, believed in her 60s, and five-year-old Annie Tremblay, daughter of the owner of the house, Jean-Louis Trimblay.

Mrs. Gagnon was Mr. Tremblay's mother-in-law.

Driver of the truck, Herve Challlon of Montreal, was slightly injured.

Miss Judy LaMarsh Assails Diefenbaker Govt.'s Record On Defence and Expansion

Failure of the Diefenbaker government to come up with a definite defence policy and its lack of progress in further expanding the Canadian economy, were sharply criticized in Belleville last night as Miss Judy LaMarsh, Liberal M.P. for Niagara Falls, spoke to the South Hastings Liberal Association at Queen Alexandra Public School.

The occasion was the annual meeting and election of officers of the South Hastings Liberals.

Miss LaMarsh spoke in support of the candidacy of Robert Temple, Belleville barrister who will carry the Liberal standard in South Hastings in the next federal election.

Mr. Temple introduced Miss LaMarsh to the meeting, while appreciation for her forceful address was extended by Mrs. Ralph Plumpton of Corbyville. Also speaking briefly at the meeting was Mr. Lloyd Woolsley, Liberal candidate for the Prince Edward - Lennox riding.

"DO NOTHING" GOV'T.

Miss LaMarsh dubbed the Diefenbaker administration a "do nothing" government in its five years in office, despite the fact that it has the greatest political power ever assembled in Ottawa.

"The Conservatives have had virtually no opposition in parliament but in their five years in office have done virtually nothing," she said.

Miss LaMarsh admitted that the Liberals were not all perfect when they were in power, "but at least they made decisions and knew where they were going."

Despite great promises by Mr. Diefenbaker, since the Conservatives had come into power, she said, Canada has lacked leadership and any solid sign of progress.

She attacked the Diefenbaker defence policy, especially for its scrapping of the Arrow interceptor in favor of two Bomarc installations which were designed for nuclear warheads, but so far have no warheads of any kind.

"Why the delay?" she asked.

The Conservatives had said the Arrow program was no longer necessary and work on the project had been stopped overnight, throwing 16,000 highly skilled personnel out of work, most of whom went to the United States to find employment.

After the Arrow was scrapped the RCAF had to be content with operational aircraft which could not even catch a TCA jet, she said.

Now American Voodoo interceptor aircraft are being purchased.

"How will the government ever justify the destruction of the Arrow?" Miss LaMarsh asked.

TRADE PROBLEMS

But the Conservative government's lack of a military defence program was only one aspect of the government's lack of progress, Miss LaMarsh charged.

To exist Canada must produce and sell on foreign markets as its population was not sufficient for her industry to depend solely on domestic markets.

One of the Diefenbaker promises had been that 15 per cent of Canada's trade with the United States would be diverted to the United Kingdom, yet when the British came to Canada to talk trade the government had slammed the door in their face saying "we don't want to talk about it," the speaker asserted.

Now the Canadian High Commissioner in Britain was talking on Britain's proposed entry into the common market, which Miss LaMarsh said was purely a domestic issue.

For 20 years after World War I Canada had been doing well. It developed into the third greatest trading nation in the world, and, although not a great economic power, was listened to when international affairs were discussed.

Then, Miss LaMarsh said, suddenly Canada began to falter. The date of her faltering coincided with the election of the Conservative government in 1957.

COYNE CASE

Referring to the Coyne issue Miss LaMarsh said in denying Mr. Coyne a hearing the government had ignored one of the basic principles of the right of a man to be heard.

Then when the Senate had ordered that Mr. Coyne be heard, the minister of finance had been proven a "flat liar."

Despite the Coyne incident and the bungling of the Canadian economic program, the minister of finance was allowed to retain his post.

"One wonders just who is the prime minister of Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker or the minister of finance," Miss LaMarsh said.

Despite its shortcomings, however, the Conservative government would have to stand on its record in the coming election.

"It must stand on its no defence policy, its 500,000 unemployed and its tinkering with the finance situation," the speaker said.

"Let us not forget the Coyne issue, the scrapping of the Arrow, our declining trade with foreign markets and the list of unfilled promises of the Diefenbaker government.

"Also we must not forget that prior to Diefenbaker administration we had good government for 20 years."

Miss LaMarsh said there was no comparison between the Liberal leader Lester Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker.

In contrast to Mr. Diefenbaker, she said Mr. Pearson "was a man with a plan and a man who knows where he is going."

Blabbermouth Parrot Killed By Robber

KOBE, Japan (AP)—Police are looking for Morisuke Ogura, suspected of fleeing from his employer's store with 520,000 yen ($1,722) after killing his only "eyewitness"—a talking parrot.

The parrot was able to speak the names of its master and the store's employees on sight. The bird was found strangled.

PAUL PLANOVSKY

Former Member Czech Govt. Joins Liberals

A man with four years parliamentary experience in his native Czechoslovakia has joined the Liberal party organization in South Hastings.

He is Mr. Paul Planovsky of R.R. 3 Belleville an employee of the Bata Shoe Company at Batawa, who from 1945 to 1948 was Democratic member in the Czech parliament before he was forced to flee the country when the Communists took over.

Last night at the annual meeting of South Hastings Liberals, Mr. Planovsky was named vice-president of the party organization.

A professor of geography and physical culture in his native country prior to World War II, Mr. Planovsky fought with the Allied forces against Nazi armies on the Eastern front. After the war he became mayor of the city at Presov in his native Slovakia, then sat in parliament at Prague as a deputy minister of defence. In 1948 along with 60,000 other persecuted patriots he left his native country.

He is a member of Bridge Street United Church choir and a member of Moira Lodge No. 11. Last spring he received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Montreal.

Tonight Mr. Planovsky will speak at a pot luck supper in honor of the 25th anniversary of Mr. S. Alec Gordon as organist at Bridge Street Church. His subject will be "My experience with Communism especially in Soviet Russia."

Block Burns At St. Thomas

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Fire licked through a downtown business block today, destroying a drug store, a barber shop and four apartments. Unofficial estimates placed damage between $75,000 and $100,000.

The blaze, believed to have started in the basement below Smith's drug store, spread up through the partitions, breaking out again on the second floor after firemen appeared to have it under control.

Tenants of the four apartments escaped without injury.

also told him: "I pay Raymond $10 a week, whether he stamps or not, and $20 flat per truck load."

Thomson also said Dr. Raymond was paid 50 cents for each wrapper stamped.

Cpl. Lutes said he and the other corporal met Dr. Raymond a few days later. They told him they would need 200 to 250 baskets of meat stamped each week.

They asked for 25 stamped wrappers immediately and offered $1 each for them. The corporal said Dr. Raymond did not want to see the meat and agreed on the $1-a-wrapper price. Later, however, Dr. Raymond said he thought the idea was "too dangerous" and returned the money without offering the wrappers.

Cpl. Lutes said later he saw Dr. Raymond at Thomson's place. The doctor stamped a box of meat the undercover men had bought from Thomson.

GOOD FOR WIENERS

Cpl. Lutes said he paid Thomson $25 for a 100 pound box of "dead stuff" which Thomson said was good for wieners, hamburger and bologna and would pass for inspection "if frozen."

The corporal said no payment was made to Dr. Raymond. He faces three charges, two of unlawfully selling as food a dead animal and a charge of conspiracy. Thomson also faces two charges of unlawfully selling and one of conspiring with Raymond.

Hooton and Carrey are each charged with one count each of selling the meat.

Also mentioned in Tuesday's testimony were Larry Fritz of Chepstow, Ont., and Edward Peconi of Ottawa.

Fritz has already been convicted on an unlawful selling charge. He was jailed for two months and fined $1,000.

The six were arrested Jan. 4 when police cracked down on province-wide tainted meat operations. It was revealed thousands of tons of bad meat had been sold in Ontario and the United States.

Bancroft Man Asphyxiated In Motel Room

A Bancroft man, Horace Arnold Kemp, age 69, was found dead in his room at the Alexander Motel, located at the western outskirts of Bancroft, Tuesday night, by the owner, Archie Haggerty.

Police at Bancroft said Mr. Haggerty could see smoke coming from Mr. Kemp's room and when he went to investigate he found the mattress smouldering and told police Mr. Kemp appeared to be dead.

Dr. O. W. Anderson, coroner for the Bancroft area, was called immediately and pronounced Mr. Kemp dead at the scene.

It is believed he was smoking in bed and fell asleep. Police said they presumed he was asphyxiated by the smoke.

The mattress was completely destroyed and there was a small amount of smoke damage to the motel room.

Mr. Kemp had been a permanent resident at the motel for some time.

Ontario Provincial Police Constable D. R. Hooker investigated the incident.

Hoped for Girl, Disappointed 3 Times Over

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Gerry McCarthy of nearby Cooksville, who were hoping for a daughter Tuesday, became the parents of triplets—all boys.

The triplets and their mother, Betty, are doing well.

Said Mr. McCarthy, who already had two sons, Chirstopher, 5, and Stephen, 3: "I have a small hockey team now."

POLICE QUESTION

Seconds before the explosion Aloysius J. Leahy, Yetman's co-worker, was about to leave the house and join Yetman in the car.

ESCAPES BY SECONDS

Leahy, who boarded with the family at the Brock Avenue and College Street house, realized after the blast that he had missed certain death only by seconds.

"I had my hand on the front door of the house when I heard a terrible bang and the whole house shook.

"I saw smoke and wreckage across the street and when I ran over I saw that Walter was dead."

Leahy and Yetman have worked together for six years and Leahy has roomed at the Yetman home during that period.

Leahy said that what saved him was "the luck of the Irish" and the fact that Yetman had gone out earlier than he "to warm up the car."

"I stayed behind . . ., and that kept me a little longer than expected. But I just had my coat on and my hand on the door when it (the explosion) happened."

In speaking of the person or persons who booby-trapped the car, Leahy said.

"What kind of a person would do something like this that could have affected so many other people? This was right beside the school and if it had been later, think of how many children could have been injured or killed."

He said the explosion was so powerful he would have been killed had he stepped outside a second earlier.

Yetman had received threats of death prior to the early-morning blast.

The manner in which the bomb was attached to the car was not known. Speculation was it was rigged to the starter.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

Until 1927 Canada had no diplomatic representatives in foreign countries.

Robert Temple (centre), Liberal candidate for South Hastings, is an attentive listener as Miss Judy LaMarsh, Liberal member for Niagara Falls, and Maurice Callaghan, long time Belleville party stalwart, get their heads together following last night's party association meeting at Queen Alexandra School. About 250 persons attended the meeting.

The three teachers, Mrs. D. Durand, nusery class, Mrs. C. Lynch, principal and junior class, and Mrs. C. Gibson, senior; each gave a resume of the daily time-table of their class.

The 21 children, seven in each of the three classes, arrive at school at nine o'clock on the school bus, taxi and car. Classes are dismissed at 11.30 except for four pupils who remain for the afternoon class held until 3 p.m. Four children are driven from Picton every day.

Mrs. D. Maddocks, chairman of the education committee spoke briefly to thank the teachers for their patience and perseverance in their help with the development of the retarded child from attending school. Thanks were also expressed to the faithful helpers who come to the school every day to help the teachers.

Three Charter Members to Be Honored

TORONTO (CP)—Three charter members of the first branch at Stoney Creek will be honored at a 65th anniversary luncheon of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario in Toronto Feb. 19.

Mrs. H. P. Van Wagner of Burlington and Mrs. J. M. Morden of Hamilton will be among the 1,300 guests. Mrs. Maud Glidden of Hamilton, the other surviving member of the group, will not be able to attend because of illness.

Other head table guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee of Stoney Creek. It was Mr. Lee's father, Erland Lee of the Farmers' Institute, who helped Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless organize the first branch on Feb. 19, 1897. The group became international later.

By 1900 there were 33 women's institutes functioning in Ontario and the Federal Women's Institutes of Ontario came into being in 1919. A similar Canadian group was formed the same year and in 1933, the Associated Country Women of the World, an international organization of Women's Institutes, was formed.

There are now 38,000 members in 1,450 junior and senior branches in Ontario.

To mark the 65th anniversary, it has been proposed that a $50,000 foundation fund be established to send a trained economist into one of the newly emerging countrits to teach leaders. It is hoped the fund will be closed by the end of this year so that the first worker can be sent in 1963.

Two Brownie Packs' M.A. Holds Meeting

On Thursday evening, the Mothers' Auxiliary of the two Sir Winston Churchill School Brownie Packs, met at the school in the teachers' room. The regular meeting was preceded by a short executive discussion.

With the guidance of Mrs. W. Eakins, Brown Owl of Pack One, the group selected May 31 as the most appropriate date for the "Mother and Daughter" banquet. President Mrs. Laurine Fournia suggested that each member present investigate the cost of a hot dinner and bring a report to the March meeting so the plans could be finalized.

To help defray the costs of such a meal, an auction sale was approved for the April get-together.

Due to the resignation of Mrs. George Hume as treasurer, Mrs. Pauline Caniff agreed to handle the finances.

A donation to the newly-formed Pack 17 was moved by Jean Desmond to be used by the leaders to purchase initial supplies.

The commissioner for the north-east district, Mrs. Betty Hay, invited everyone to attend the district meeting; the coming division tea and bake sale will be one of the main topics. The receipts from the bake sale remain in the district, and being the sole money-raising project the co-operation of the mothers will be appreciated.

Taps, led by Brown Owl Eakins, closed the meeting and after coffee and cookies, she opened the supply box to show the group the equipment necessary to properly conduct a Brownie meeting.

10 Designers Each Showed Six Creations at Montreal

By JANET WILSON

MONTREAL (CP)—The Association of Canadian Couturiers, "on its own" for the first time in its seven-year history, held its spring show Tuesday in the Montreal salon of President Raoul - Jean Foure.

The 11 - member association first had been sponsored by the Primary Textiles Association and later by the Canadian Fabrics Foundation. The decision to strike out on its own was made, Mr. Foure said, because some members felt handicapped in designing evening wear using only Canadian - made fabrics.

In the collections Tuesday, 10 of the designers each showed six creations of which three were in imported fabrics from Paris for femininity and flares, flounces and capes abounded.

Lines, for the most part, were semi - fitted. Seams were curved, skirts easy, sleeves short and collars almost non-existent.

Colors varied widely with the individual designer, but most had at least one outfit with either orange or yellow in it. Off - whites and grey - greens also were popular.

WOOD OUTFIT IMPRESSES

One of the most striking outfits was by Angelina of Toronto and was in bright red, white and blue. Of textured wool, the back - buttoned bolero had long sleeves with wide horizontal stripes — vivid blue bordered in white — matching the stripe on the waist of the slim, matching sheath.

D'Anjou of Montreal, who showed only three outfits, used 30 yards of synthetic old-gold jersey to create an elaborate ball gown reminiscent of the 1800s. The ruffled caplet was trimmed with satin and lace and both it and the long, flounced skirt were removable to show a slim, low - necked satin sheath in white.

Frances Stewart of Ottawa showed a wide, hand - woven wool coat with a trim, silk sheath that matched the coat's lining. The coat, in an olive tweed, was gathered at the yoke and flared at the hem to convey a pyramid impression.

Louis Beral of St. Catharines, inspired by a trip to Italy, used vivid orange in a synthetic-and-cotton blend terrycloth for an angle - belted, loose - skirted afternoon dress. A high ruffled collar of pin - striped blue topped the dress and hung in ruffles from its elbow - length sleeves.

Olivia of Hamilton's colors ranged from pale cream to sunny yellow. One coat, in a synthetic blend flannel, was semi - fitted with a deeply scalloped and loosely - bowed front. A matching dress was slim and sleeveless and flared into a scalloped hemline.

Cannifton UCW Talks on Rural Church

Cannifton United Church Women held their meeting in the Sunday School rooms on the 7th of February, at which 18 ladies were present.

Several letters of appreciation for plants, supplies and get-well cards were read.

Mrs. A. Boyd was appointed as pianist for 1962, while Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Empson will be in charge of the quilting sessions for the coming year. Mrs. Akey and Mrs. D. Brenton assumed responsibility for the sewing materials needed by the quilting group.

A discussion re the resuming of children's dinners was not fully debated through, but it was decided to have the dinner as usual this month, and the issue to be further discussed at next month's meeting.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

The World Day of Prayer is on March 9th. The service will be held in the Cannifton United Church at 8 p.m. It was decided to have the service at night as the children in the Explorers, CGIT girls and the evening group of the Cannifton UCW as well as the UCW of the other circuits in the Cannifton charge have been invited to attend.

A film illustrating the beginning and meaning of the "World Day of Prayer" will be shown in lieu of a guest speaker. It is hoped that as many as possible will attend this special service when all Christian people unite in prayer all over the world. This concluded the business session and the president, Mrs. Douglas Brenton, handed the meeting over to the program convener, Mrs. G. Brenton. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. R. Pound, theme "What is the Task of the Church?"

Mrs. Adams read the Scripture from St. Matthew 28, and St. John 21, "The church is called to worship God, to preach the gospel and to strive for right relations among men," such is the task of the church.

Mrs. G. Crosby read a story from "Hasten the Day," and also gave the study book, taking her lessons from "Signals for the Sixties," by M. Oliver and R. Kenyon. She said in part: her subject being "The Rural Church." "Two-thirds of the pastoral charges in the United Church are rural but the church in its outlook is urban, and the shortage of ordained ministers in the rural church is great. The greatest need of rural churches is the preaching, but coupled with that is the need for a full program related to age and needs of the people.

CHARACTER—FAITH

"It seems impossible to reverse the trend which causes people to leave the rural districts and come to the cities. Character is the product of strong religious faith which knows its dependence upon God. Rural life cultivates this faith and the nation which fails to recognize the worth and dignity of rural life is doomed," says Dr. Lane.

Mrs. Roy Pound stated a few facts of today's rural church and Mrs. Julia Brenton concluded the study period with a few words about "Rural Ministry."

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

THIS YOUNG GIRL'S SUCCESS IS WELL DESERVED

A teenager on our road has the baby-sitting concession all sewed up.

In fact, a mother has to put in a bid for her services weeks in advance to assure a booking.

True, there are other young girls in the neighborhood who are conscientious and reliable and get a fair share of sitting offers. But what makes this one girl stand out head and shoulders over the others can be summed up in one word: Courtesy. Like babies, it's her business.

It's not that her manners are more polished, or that she has a secret formula for handling children or getting them to bed without a squawk. It's just that she takes the job in hand like a professional and conducts herself with such assurance that she fairly sparkles with confidence.

For instance, before parents leave, this competent sitter courteously requests any and all phone numbers where they can be reached for the entire evening. She also arms herself with phone numbers for the family doctor, immediate neighbors, the police department, the fire department — and Con Edison, just in case the electricity goes out.

If anyone phones while she's sitting, the youngster politely takes messages, then makes sure they're neatly written, complete with return numbers, and left on a rack beside the phone. She never lets her friends call her when she's sitting, and wouldn't think of calling them.

During evening jobs, this sixteen-year-old usually does homework. But she makes sure that the work table is returned to apple-pie order before she leaves, and no one's ever found a piece of scrap paper or so much as a paper clip left around as evidence of her labors.

Naturally, she exercises a sitter's privilege and helps herself to goodies from the ice box during the evening, but, unlike others of her age who sometimes are thoughtless, she cleans up crumbs and washes any plates or glasses she may have used for her nibbling.

If she turns on the TV, she keeps the sound low enough so it won't disturb the children, and so she can hear the slightest sounds from their room. Whenever they've forgotten to put toys away, this paragon finishes the clean-up job because she's basically orderly. Besides, she feel it's impolite to expect mother to do it when she gets home.

Any wonder she's booked solid? Here's a case where courtesy and common sense literally created a booming business.

* * *

Question: I met a woman at at a tea the other day and recognized her name immediately from hearing a neighbor mention her very often. Naturally, when we were introduced, I said she knew my neighbor, thinking this was a good way to break the ice. But she was unresponsive and broke away as soon as possible. Did I do wrong in mentioning that we knew someone in common? — Mrs. R.Q., Teaneck, N.J.

Answer: When you mentioned your neighbor's name so gratuitously, it may have given the woman the impression that your neighbor was gossiping about her. It's always better form to lead a conversation gradually to a point where mention of a mutual friend would fit in naturally. Instead of saying, "I'm Mary Jones and my neighbor Mrs. Street told me about you," it would be more gracious to say, "I'm Mary Jones and I live in the yellow house on Fuller Road." Mention of your address then would remind the other person of Mrs. Street, and would give her the opening to mention your mutual friend without your dropping her name like a bombshell.

Present-Day Dolls Have Long Way to Go to Match Exploits of Ancestors

TORONTO (CP) — Present-day dolls that can walk, sit and talk may seem like the latest thing in sophistication but they still have to go some to match the exploits of their ancestors.

"Dolls dressed in the latest Paris fashions were shipped abroad by French designers long before modern printing techniques made today's slick fashion magazines possible," says doll manufacturer Mannie Grossman, "and an occasion dolls have even been involved in espionage."

Mr. Grossman, who operates one of Canada's largest doll-making firms, has done some research on the history of his product.

"In 1396, King Charles VI of France sent several dolls to Queen Isabella of England to show her the latest Paris styles. By the middle of the 16th century, French couturiers were doing a heavy export business in fashion dolls."

The costumes, Mr. Grossman says, were exact to the smallest detail, and even the hair styles and jewelry in vogue were accurately produced.

USED FOR SMUGGLING

"These fashion dolls were considered so important that countries signed special agreements for their safe passage in time of war. War or peace, ladies had to have their fashions, and no ship carrying these stylish ambassadresses was to be bombarded.

"During the American Civil War messages and contraband were concealed inside dolls, then smuggled through the Northern lines by little girls."

Mr. Grossman said it was perhaps this historical fact that set the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the track of an unusual case of espionage in the Second World War.

FBI agents noticed a stream of letters, purportedly from doll collectors across the U.S., were being sent to Senora Inez de Monanali in Argentina. Interwoven between gossip about dolls was a code relaying military information to Japanese agents.

The FBI found the letters were written by Mrs. Velvalee Dickinson who with her husband Lee owned an antique doll store in New York.

JAILED AND FINED

Dickinson died in 1943 before agents closed in. At her trial Mrs. Dickinson admitted Japanese agents had paid $25,000 for secrets. She was sentenced to 10 years and fined $10,000.

Mr. Grossman said that among Canadian Indians dolls are often more than playthings.

"The Ojibwa Indians of Lake Superior believed a dead child was too young to look after herself in the afterlife, so a doll of feathers was buried with the child as a companion in death.

"And in British Columbia, the Kwakiutl tribe also used dolls for funeral ceremonies. When a body was buried near water, a spirit canoe carrying a doll figure of the dead man was set afloat to carry his spirit one its last journey."

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Husband Insults Guests

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—What can I do about my husband who falls asleep continually? He falls asleep when we are watching TV or even at the card table when we are playing bridge. When we have people in for the evening this is most embarrassing to me.

Our friends are no longer asking us to their homes and I feel they are making up excuses not to come to our place. I have explained to them that it is not only when they are here that he falls asleep, but that he falls asleep every night when we are at home alone. I persuaded him to go to a doctor for a check-up, and he assured him that he is in good health.

I feel that we are losing our friends and also that he has lost interest in me. Please help me, as I am at my wits' end.—N.

DEAR N.—TV has put more than one husband to sleep!

A person sleeps when he is tired, or bored, or ill.

Which is it? Does he do heavy physical work? If so, a scheduled nap before or after dinner might re-energize him. Does he really like bridge, or is this your idea?

For a diagnosis I would need more clues, but my guess would be some lack of satisfaction in life; unhappiness in his home or his job.

To treat the case one needs to know the cause. This can't be done through one brief letter to a stranger—namely me. See a social worker or psychiatrist who can examine all angles and discover what's wrong.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—I am a woman in the 50 range, and I recently took a refresher course in typing and general business, then I became interested in selling. I am in perfect health, and love to work and be out amongst people.

But some of my friends have laughed at me. They say things that amount to, "Silly old thing," with a little laugh behind it that makes it worse. Do you think a person who refused to sit back in a rocker at my age is silly or presumptuous? Don't you think they should be proud to have me for a friend instead of criticizing? They have given me some pretty bad moments.

Just because my life has been up to now filled with babies, housework and even working out at household jobs, is this any reason why I cannot now improve my position, since I do have to earn?—MRS. M. M. M.

DEAR MRS. M. M. M.—"Silly old thing," at 50? How old are they? Or are they already relegated to rocking chairs? (No reflection, Mr. Kennedy!)

There are those who think life begins round the fifty mark. Your courage and interest in living is an inspiration. With such drive you will make a fine salesperson. Good luck!

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—I'm going with a girl who is a nurse. My problem is that I would like to get married but she says that she would like to keep on with her nursing for a few years yet.

Should I keep on going with this girl or break off? I love her very much. She is 22 and I am 25. Please help me.—BROKEN HEART.

DEAR BROKEN HEART—If nursie prefers to nurse sick people to making her romance thrive, I'd prescribe a new girl friend. She has no business wasting your time.

SPECIAL PRECAUTIONS should be taken by bike riders when a left turn is necessary. A hand signal is definitely not sufficient! Make it very clear to your youngster that he must come to a complete stop, look behind and ahead of him. When he's sure no car is approaching, then it's time to turn.

Two Projects

by Mary Moore

NUMBER ONE PROJECT:

The Mad Hatters' Tea Party was held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital in Brantford and I was invited to be a judge of the Mad Hats that some of the members created and wore.

This was the third Annual Mad Hatters' Tea Party — and it is so popular the Women's Auxiliary are urged each year to have another. "Don't change the theme. It is so much fun". They combine the Mad Hatters' theme with a sale of work and a tea and it is a resounding financial success. All proceeds are donated to new hospital equipment.

The Winning Hat was designed, made and worn by Mrs. Phillips, who could be a great grandmothtr, I am sure — it was huge and loaded with flowers and fruit and its note of originality consisted of "streamers" down her back of Chinese glass chimes which tinkled merrily all during the Tea when she was an attendant at the bake table.

Many of the sandwiches and cookies were in hat shapes and were delicious. Some of the hat shapes (double-decked rounds — one 2" — one 1"), were covered with cheese and had little parsley flowers, some were peanut-butter-covered and had "feathers" made of carrot curls. The cookies were works of art — many miniature millinery masterpieces — and I envied their ingenuity and patience.

NUMBER TWO PROJECT:

Ken Woods was a "Crossroader". He came to Olivet United Church on Sunday and told his story. Our Y.P.U. conducted the entire service from chairman to organist to soloist, scripture reader and prayer. You may be familiar with Crossroads Africa — an idea that sprung from and was made to grow by Dr. James Robinson of New York. University students are invited to apply and are strictly screened out of hundreds of applicants. They have to pay some of their expenses if accepted.

Ken is twenty-two. He went to Northern Rhodesia and was one of a party of Canadian and American students who worked with an equal number of African students building a stadium in Kitwe. As a goodwill ambassador from Canada he would be hard to equal to say nothing of excelling. He is a high school teacher in Oakville, Ontario and teaches Industrial Arts and mathematics.

Afterwards we had a "Fireside" and we had an opportunity to fire questions at Ken who answered them ably and amiably until ten o'clock.

I want to add something that will interest conveners of such affairs. We served instant coffee and instant tea. To my delight the instant tea was a huge success (of course the coffee was too).

Here are the proportions to use: To 1 cup instant tea add 24 cups boiling water. To make this practical measure into large tea kettle or pot 24 cups water. (I used a 4-cup measuring cup.) Bring to boil, pour over instant tea and serve at once. These amounts will serve 30 people.

BONARLAW W.I.

BONARLAW — The W.I. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. W. J. Barlow, with a fair attendance. Mrs. G. Burkitt opened the meeting.

Thank-you cards were received and read from boys in the service. A plant was sent to a sick member and "Happy Birthday" was sung to two members.

A splendid address on "Citizenship" was given by Mrs. Bert McCoy, Mrs. E. Heath gave a reading.

The district president Mrs. Rollins who was introduced by Mrs. Barlow addressed the meeting giving an account of a bus trip which would prove interesting to W.I. members. Mrs. Rollins was presented with a gift from the W.I.

Mrs. George Thompson put on a contest.

The hostess and assistants served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held on February 28th at Springbrook United Church basement when a pot-luck dinner will be held.

The Experts Say

Woollen Goods Need Lot Of Care And Attention

By EDNA BLAKELY

TORONTO (CP) — When it comes to woollen goods, they need a lot of care and attention to get utmost value out of their fine wearing qualities.

A man who likes woollen suits should have at least two of them, so that each suit can have 30 hours' rest between wearings to regain its shape.

The same goes for women's woollen suits. The care and attention is well deserved, and will repay the wearer throughout the long life of the garment.

This is the advice of the Canadian Wool Grower and Sheep Breeder magazine, which suggests a guide for the proper care of woollen clothes.

Whether it's a man's suit or a woman's, when it is laid aside for cleaning remove everything from the pockets. Shake every piece separately and brush thoroughly, not forgetting the trouser cuffs on the man's suit, and under the collar and lapels on either suit. Check that all buttons are still firmly on.

Fold trousers along the crease. If it's a woman's suit, fold the back of the skirt and place carefully over a coat hanger bar or grip in a special trouser or skirt hanger. The jacket should be placed on a coat hanger which fits the shoulders properly—and button it so the coat will hang properly

Leave woollen clothes hanging in a draft if possible, so the air can get round and through the garments

Fibres become damaged by dirt so it is important to keep clothes clean. Dry-cleaners extract about 1½ ounces of solid dirt from each suit after approximately six months wear.

An ill-fitting hanger can spoil the set of the shoulders of a wool dress or the weight of the entire garment may pull the dress out of shape. It is often wise to hang the garment from loops attached to the waistband, allowing the bodice to fall over the skirt.

Woollen sweaters, whether machine or hand knitted, should be aired after each wearing If the garment is quite soiled, soak for 15 to 30 minutes in warm water with pure soap flakes or a soapless detergent containing no soda.

The water can be as warm as is bearable to the hand. Work up a good lather and gently squeeze it through the garment, alternating with soakings. Avoid rubbing one part against another part of the fabric because this leads to felting.

Rinse two or three times in warm water and dry away from excessive heat. Roll in a towel but do not twist. The garment may be put through a rubber roll wringer with light pressure on the top roller. Stretch to its original shape and drop the garment on a towel. If pressing is necessary use a damp cloth.

Israel's State Head Receives Delegation

JERUSALEM (AP)—A delegation of 547 women from Canada's Hadassah Wizo, in Israel for their 19th biennial national convention, were received Tuesday by President and Mrs. Ben Zvi.

Isa Cas, an Eskimo living on Hudson Bay, presented Eskimo soapstone and walrus tusk sculpture to the president and his wife.

Delegates were introduced to Israel's state head and his wife by Mr. Harry Cohen of Sydney, N.S., Hadassah's national president.

Earlier Tuesday, each of the Canadian guests planted a tree at the Canadian Hadassah Wizo forest on the Juden mountain slope west of Jerusalem.

Rabbi Dr. I. Weinstock, head of the Jewish national funds religious department, recited the blessing at the ceremony while Mrs. Cohen unveiled a stone column of Jerusalem marble to mark the site permanently.

The mission will make a sightseeing tour of Israel with particular inclusion of various institutions promoted by Hadassah Wizo.

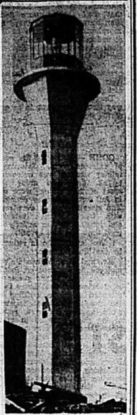
New $66,000 Lighthouse, First of Type, Throws Beam Of Light 27 Miles From Shore



NEW-STYLE LIGHTHOUSE

A modern $66,000 lighthouse has replaced the 122-year-old beacon that guided ships into Yarmouth Harbor on the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia. The new 91-foot-high structure features vertical lines rising straight from the ground, a striking difference from the old lighthouses that tapered toward the top. (CP

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—For 122 years Cape Forchu lighthouse beamed its light 17 miles out to sea, guiding mariners safely into Yarmouth Harbor on the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia.

Last year the transport department demolished the landmark, fearing its rotting timbers might not survive another furious Atlantic gale.

"It has served its purpose well," said lighthouse - keeper Albert Smith after the last souvenir hunter drifted away from the ruins.

Today a new $66,000 lighthouse, the first of its type to mark Canada's coast line, sends its revolving light 27 miles from shore.

In some respects it is similar to the new look in lighthouses in Europe. The 91-foot tower rises in straight vertical lines from the ground, rather than tapering toward the top. At the peak its octagonal shape veers outward in an inverted cone.

"The Europeans are building a lot of tall and thin lighthouses with the large platform with the walkway which makes a good marker in the daytime," says J. N. Ballinger, head of the transport department's marine services branch in Halifax.

TRADITIONAL COLORS

On the top of the cone is a lantern 10 feet in diameter enclosing the light and a 2½-foot-wide walkway. The interior of the tower itself is only five feet across. A spiral staircase replaces the traditional steel ladder leading to the top.

Adhering to tradition, the lighthouse — completely automatic, even to the changing of a burned - out bulb — will be painted in red and white stripes.

Mr. Smith says he thinks the new lighthouse will catch the public's fancy and attract tourists, particularly those from the United States who aren't permitted to visit their own lighthouses operated by the coast guard.

While they can get close enough for a good look at the one here, however, they won't be permitted inside because of the limited space.

A fog alarm building is due to be completed shortly.

For a time there was some thought of keeping the old lighthouse as a historic site but the Yarmouth Historical Society decided against the move.

"The upkeep would have been too much," said R. B. Blauveldt, a society member.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. T.I. — I feel my daughter dislikes me. Why should she?

Diana I. — My mother expects big displays of emotion every day.

• • •

Mrs. T.I. — I am a widow with a daughter of 14. Both her father (who died when she was 4) and I were demonstrative parents and Diana can have no doubts that she was, and is, a welcome and loved child.

For the past few years, however, I've noticed her reluctance to be embraced, hugged or kissed by me. During her childhood, a goodnight kiss was routine. Now she not only ducks that, but recoils when she thinks I expect an embrace, as for instance, after I've presented her with an elaborate gift.

My concern is not merely over my own deprivation of these sweet filial gestures. It's over the fear that she's emotionally cold and numb or that she's suppressing her feelings too strongly.

How can I get through the wall she's building between us?

• • •

Diana I. — Can you imagine what it does to a person to be expected to go into a song-and-dance act entitled, "I love you, I love you, I love you, Mother!" every hour on the hour?

It's gotten so I'm afraid to mention anything I want to my mother. She'll knock herself out getting me much more than I asked for, and then expect me to knock myself out thanking her. I needed a cheap wrist watch to wear to school. So she gave up getting a new winter coat and bought me a dainty, fancy watch with two diamonds in it. I'll only wear it to parties. She shouldn't have sacrificed for it. And she shouldn't sulk because I'm not acting grateful enough.

I'm sorry I'm Mother's only child. She needs a half-dozen, at least, to fill her hunger for hugs. I don't like all that stuff.

• • •

The Council: Well, we're back to the law of the pendulum here — every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. The more Mrs. I. insists upon, the less Diana can dig up — even as an act — by way of emotional display.

Our impression is that Diana certainly loves her mother. But having found her fleeting expressions of affection, the quick thank-yous which graced her lips naturally, to be so inadequate, she has given up the effort to fill the insatiable longing of a love-hungry woman. We suggest that Mrs. I. find surcease from her worries, as follows:

1. Stop stressing the physical demonstration of love. Forced kisses are painful all around — to the giver, the receiver and the observer. Accept whatever wells up spontaneously within Diana. And, for a while, "drink to her only with thine eyes." Exchange loving, meaningful looks, instead of pawing and clutching her possessively.

2. Don't worry about her lack of emotional expressiveness. It may well be limited to you because of your over expectancy. How does she act with a cuddly pet, with a newborn infant, with a disabled person and with her young friends? Those are the settings in which to study her ability to feel and respond.

3. As a widow there are obviously deep emotional voids in your life. It is unfair to throw the whole burden of filling them on Diana. She recoils from so gigantic a responsibility. It might help you both if you offered some of your vast reserve of love to the rejected and abandoned children in our institutions. Did you know that Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York and others use motherly volunteers to caress its infant patients?

To Diana we say, yours is the job of developing the one attribute that marks the mature person — the ability to give and receive love. Life with Mother offers a few pointers. Collect others, too. It's not easy.

Grand Manan Has Best Inshore Fishing Fleet and Economy in the Maritimes

By DAVE PIKE

GRAND MANAN, N.B. (CP) Residents of this archipelago—a proud, independent people not given to exaggeration — boast they have the best inshore fishing fleet and one of the soundest fishing economies in the Maritimes.

More than one-sixth of the 2,600 islanders participate directly in the fishing industry, a million-dollar business which affects the earnings of everyone on Grand Manan from storekeeper to school teacher.

All year about 400 fishermen operate from more than 175 fishing boats ranging from $4,000 purse seiners to $70,000 trawl draggers.

The industry has its ups and downs. Last year lobster catches were off 30 to 40 per cent and herring 90 per cent. But year-to-year landings usually balance out to provide the island at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy with a higher than average standard of living.

GATHER DULSE

Grand Manan is famous for its dulse, a purplish-red seaweed picked from tidal rocks by fishermen between May and September and dried in the sun. Resembling pickled cabbage, dulse is rich in iodine and mineral nutritives and its taste has a sea tang. Dulsers operate mainly from Dark Harbor, the only large break in the cliffs of the uninhabited western coastline.

Bruce Hutchins, manager of the Grand Harbor Fishermen's Co-operative, says the island fishing fleet is one of the best-equipped and most efficiently operated in the Maritimes. The co-op has 150 members.

The fishing fleet includes 124 multi-purpose lobster boats costing $4,000 each. The 225 lobster fishermen who haul traps from November to May also handline from their small boats for pollock, cod, haddock and some halibut. Five purse seiners operate the year 'round from 50- to 60-foot boats costing at least $15,000 apiece.

PROUD OF DRAGGER

Pride of the fleet is the trawl dragger. About 50 men are employed on 10 of these roomy boats with modern equipment.

Thirty sardine carriers transport sein and weir catches to salt fish processing plants on the mainland, carrying between 36,750 and 122,500 pounds of fish each trip.

Chief company on the island is Grand Manan Sea Products Limited, with three plants, which shipped 500,000 pounds of fish in 1960. Mainland companies have taken over much of the plant processing formerly done on the island. Most of the lobster catch is shipped to U.S. centres such as Boston.

Lobster dealer Lawrence C. Cook of Seal Cove, president of the Grand Manan Board of Trade, didn't think poor landings last year made much of a dent in the island's economy. "The whole fishery balances up in the end; poor catches mean higher prices."

A large portion of the fleet anchors within a T-shaped wharf at North Head. A $350,000 extension was due for completion early this year

TOURIST SLUMP

What was once a thriving tourist industry is in decline as a result of inadequate transportation to and from the mainland. Two hotels have gone out of business in recent years.

The present ferry, a 35-year-old converted yacht with limited accommodation for passengers and space for only nine cars below decks, was put on the run in 1946 as a temporary vessel. Even islanders often have to book auto space up to two weeks in advance. There are 505 vehicles on the island. The ferry operates between the island and St. Andrews and Saint John, N.B.

Pressure for a new ferry has built up during the last decade. Leon Small, the island's Liberal member in the New Brunswick legislature, said plans for a new diesel ferry with space for 125 passengers and 25 cars below deck are being studied by the provincial works department.

Better means of travel on the island itself are also being considered. The Board of Trade has named a committee to study feasibility of building a road around the entire island, 15 miles long and six wide. A paved road runs down the eastern coast.

Eldon Clowater, committee chairman and island manager for the St. Regis Pulp and Paper Company, says his firm is willing to co-operate in building the road. It would open western and central areas and make it easier to reach woodlots.

VANDALS BENEFIT

NEW YORK (AP)—Parking meters make money for vandals as well as for the city, says Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes. Barnes said Monday the city takes in nearly $8,000,000 a year from the meters but loses another $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 because of broken or vandalized meters. He estimated that of about 52,000 meters in New York some 12,000 are out of commission.

Temporary Thaw in Cold War Seen in Recent Spy Swap

By HAROLD MORRISON

The Soviet - American spy swap appears to be an indication of a temporary thaw in the cold war which the Americans are studying with a rather cold-fish approach, fearing it may contain a booby trap.

The initial excitement generated by the sudden announcement that Russia has agreed U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers has given way to new questioning and appraisal.

Has the U.S. obtained the best of the deal?

What value was there in getting Powers back if it meant turning over to the Russians their master spy, Col. Rudolf Abel, who apparently operated in the U.S. for more than 11 years before he was uncovered through an informer?

U.S. diplomats say the public generally is glad to see Powers free simply because he is an American. But some congressmen would like to question the 32-year-old pilot and find out how his plane fell into Russian hands almost intact and why he allowed himself to be taken alive.

HOPE GROWS

But amid the questioning generated by the Powers-Abel exchange—with the release by East Germany of American student Frederick L. Pryor thrown in — there is growing hope that the spy swap may lead to other exchanges, and that out of these may finally come some concrete decisions reducing tensions and controlling the arms race.

U.S authorities feel, however, the public should be cautioned not to read too much into the spy exchange. It may tend to seize and enlarge on any token Soviet offer.

Premier Khrushchev may have U.S. public sentiment in mind in announcing he was releasing Powers in the interest of promoting better relations with the U.S. However, this time Khrushchev appears to be less successful than in the past. Americans appear unsatisfied with this one move. They are looking for something more concrete.

TALK OF VISITS

There is talk of a possible television exchange between Khrushchev and President Kennedy — Khrushchev to appear before U.S. TV audiences and Kennedy before the Russians. There is even talk of a possible exchange of visits by Kennedy and Khrushchev.

All this is in the realm of what U.S. diplomats describe as "atmospherics" — a diplomatic compartment of the cold war that may contain more froth than body. They hope these atmospherics will form a bridge of understanding to reduce tensions where they really matter: Berlin, Cuba, South Viet Nam, the possibility of Soviet secret preparations for new nuclear tests, the continuing Communist threat to encircle the world.

They believe it is still a long way from a spy swap to an end of the cold war.

Ont. Appeal Court Orders Magistrate to Convict Hotel On Two Violations of Act

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Appeal Court Tuesday ordered senior Magistrate T. S. Elmore to reverse his earlier decision and convict the Royal York Hotel on two violations of the province's Labor Relations Act.

The Appeal Court concurred with Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court who also ruled that Magistrate Elmore was wrong in acquitting the CPR- - owned hotel.

But Tuesday's Appeal Court ruling went further.

It said Magistrate Elmore should "impose such lawful penalties as he may thing appropriate" for the hotel's action in threatening to dismiss and finally dismissing between 400 and 500 striking employees.

WILL APPEAL RULING

W. R. Jackett, counsel for the CPR who had appealed Chief Justice McRuer's ruling, indicated the case now will be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach delivered the Appeal Court's oral judgment. Mr. Justices J. B. Aylesworth and F. G. MacKay concurred.

Their lordships ruled the hotel strikers, who walked off their jobs last April and whose picket lines have been a thorn in the side of the hotel ever since, did not intend to injure their employer.

The strikers' purpose, Mr. Justice Roach remarked, was merely to bring about what they considered improvements in their working and financial conditions.

"The statute has recognized the lawfulness of the strike called in this case," he said, "and has expressly retained the status of striking employees."

CRITICIZES WORKING

But, he said: "Chief Justice McRuer said, and we concur, that the language of the Labor Relations Act leaves something to be desired."

The Appeal Court ruled that in spite of the statutes the hotel threatened the original 1,188 strikers with dismissal. They were each sent a letter telling them to return to work, or be fired.

The court found a second letter, sent to employees July 18, constituted a refusal to continue employment contrary to the act.

The CPR's counsel argued a worker must quit his job before he can go on strike. Mr. Jackett said if he fails to do so, he is breaking his private contract with his employer and can be fired.

Mr. Justice Roach commented: "That's where you and I appear to disagree. I can't follow that. I've been struggling earnestly, but I can't."

CLAIMS ON HIS OWN

Mr. Jackett said although the law gives a worker the right to engage in the activity of a union — in this case the Hotel and Club Employees Union (CLC) — he is on his own when he strikes and must give his employer notice.

"A strike," he maintained, "is not an activity of a union, but an activity of a person who goes on strike."

At one stage in the hearing Mr. Justice MacKay commented the law did not state a striking employee must be taken back by his employer.

Two weeks ago the 400 to 500 persons still on strike rejected a settlement proposal by Labor Minister Warrender. It called for a return to work of 90 per cent of the strikers in thee stages duing 1962.

After an initial mass walkout, 521 returned to work. The union claims 485 remain; the management says the figure is 403. Others have found jobs elsewhere.

Speculation on Pre-Easter Election Date Fades, New Dates Now June or Oct.

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Speculation on a pre-Easter election date has faded rapidly amid growing indications that the government intends to carry on the work of the current session of Parliament in its normal pattern.

Bets now are being made among parliamentarians that the general election, expected some time this year, will be held in June. Another large body of opinion still is unshaken in its belief that the election will not be until October.

New developments Tuesday in the popular Ottawa - game of forecasting the election date were these:

1. Informed sources said the government probably will move today or Thursday for the formal establishment of Commons committees. The work of drawing up the lists of members serving on the 17 committees has not been purposely delayed by the government. The Liberals submitted their nominees Tuesday.

2. An unusually large number of Conservative party campaign workers has been seen on Parliament Hill, including retiring B.C. provincial leader Deane Finlayson and Arthur Burns, who master - minded the Conservative travel arrangements in previous campaigns. Word however, is that they are working in terms of a post-Easter or autumn election.

3. Time is rapidly running out for the government to get royal assent this weekend, if it wants it, on the $10 old age pension increase and other pension legislation, increased veterans benefits, and bills authorizing construction of new railway lines. The railway bills must be approved by a committee which has not yet been set up. Dissolution must come this weekend for an April 16 election.

4. Mr. Diefenbaker is continuing to accept engagements for the next two months—and of the kind that he would not be expected to accept if he planned a general election. Latest word was that he has agreed to open the Sportsmen's Show at Fort William April 25. This is the kind of non-political function he would be unlikely to tie himself to if he expected to be campaigning then for re-election.

N.S. ARMS

The Arms granted to Nova Scotia in 1625 were the National Arms of Scotland with the colors reversed.

Prisoner's Arm Twisted Say Two Witnesses

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Testimony from two witnesses Tuesday said a St. Catharines policeman twisted a prisoner's arm behind his back while he was slumped on the floor of a police station and the man's head struck the floor with a thump audible 100 feet away.

The witnesses, who said they saw the incident through a window from a post office, were testifying for the plaintiff in a suit for damages brought by Joseph Lament Sr. on behalf of his son, Joseph Jr., 39.

Mr. Lament is charging that an assault by three officers caused injuries which left his son paralyzed in the right side and mentally and physically incapacitated.

James T. Andrews and Edward Maske, postal workers, whose testimony also agreed with that of William Fyfe, a fellow postal worker, given Monday, made the statements in the Ontario Supreme Court of Ontario. The case is being heard by Mr. Justice Neil Fraser.

The witnesses said Const. James W. Kirkpatrick, 40, used a headlock to take the younger Lament into the police station in the early morning of July 29, 1960.

SEE HIM SLUMP

After being propped against a counter, Lament slumped to a sitting position. Const. Kirkpatrick, Const. Douglas A. Fraser, 28, and Sgt. Victor R. Dawson, 47, stood around the prisoner, they said, and after a few minutes Const. Kirkpatrick reached down and twisted Lament's arm behind his back.

Lament's head, they said, then dropped down and struck the floor with a noise loud enough for the witnesses to hear — more than 100 feet away.

The three witnesses said at no time did they see the officers strike Lament with their fists or feet.

Lament was arrested on a charge of impaired driving.

The case is continuing.

Eleven Members Of Drug Ring Get Jail Terms

NEW YORK (CP) — Eleven members of a big international narcotics ring, two of them from Canada, were sentenced Tuesday to prison terms ranging from five to 25 years each for smuggling $150,000,000 worth of heroin into the United States.

Vito Agueci, 41, of Toronto was sentenced to 15 years and another Torontonian, Rocco Scopellitti, 26, received a 10-year term.

Meanwhile, three other defendants, who escaped trial by jumping bail and fleeing to Europe, were held in custody after new bails of $350,000 each were set in the case. They were returned last month from Spain.

The convicted smugglers, who often concealed heroin in blankets brought over by innocent immigrant Italians, were told by Federal Court Judge William B. Herlands:

"The court has no vengeance in mind. I have only in mind the protection of the community. The case at hand was not dealing with ordinary narcotics pushers. The courts must do anything in their power to make it clear that anybody who engages in this traffic will receive no mercy from the court."

OVER 10-YEAR PERIOD

The ring was estimated by the government to have imported more than 200 pounds of heroin during a 10-year period.

Heaviest prison sentence was 25 years against Charles Shiffman, 59. Others sentenced were Joseph Valachi, Robert Guipponi and Matthew Palmieri, 20 years each; Charles Tandler, Anthony Porcelli, Michael Maiello, and Luigi Lo Bue, 15 years each; and Filippo Cottrone, five years.

The 11 were convicted in federal court Dec. 27 after a trial that began Oct. 27.

Two other defendants, including Albert Agueci, 39, Vito's brother, were slain by mobsters before the trial to silence them.

CATCH IN SPAIN

Three men whom police named as ringleaders in the case jumped bail totalling $110,000 and fled. These three, Frank Caruso, Salvatore Maneri and Vincent Mauro, were seized last month in Spain. They appeared during the day before Judge Herlands who held them in bail of $350,000 each without setting a date for their trial on narcotics charges.

The three had false Canadian passports when arrested. The passports carried their pictures but assumed names and listed all three as Hamilton, Ont., confectionery men and storekeepers.

Prosecutor Edward Brodsky claimed in court that none of the defendants was himself an addict. However, Palmieri disputed this and told Judge Herlands he was an addict until he broke the habit during the trial because of a lack of dope.

Judge Herlands called Palmieri a big distributor of narcotics in Manhattan and said Shiffman and Tandler were "one of the main sources of supply to Chicago."

New Brunswick's present form of provincial assembly dates back to 1891 when an act was passed abolishing the legislative Council.

Cars Taken Across Fraser Canyon by Aerial Ferry

NORTH BEND, B.C (CP)—The only way to get your car to North Bend is by air—but you don't need an airplane to do it.

This community of 450 inhabitants in the Fraser Canyon has an aerial ferry, a platform accommodating one car at a time which swings across the boiling water on two cables.

The 950-foot journey from Boston Bar takes just over a minute and gives the motorist a magnificant view of the savage gorge of the Fraser.

The ferry can take vehicles up to eight feet wide, 18 feet long and three tons in weight. With its frail railing and 1¾-inch cables it is not calculated to inspire confidence in the casual visitor.

"Some of the tourists are afraid," says ferry operator Steve Springenatic. "But they always go over in the end."

There's more to the trip than the ride, however. North Bend is a picturesque community spread out on a meadow and there is good fishing in several lakes along the eight miles of road to Chaumox, an abandoned Indian village.

The Inhabitants say the best time to come is on a mid-summer evening, for North Bend specializes in cool twilight.

Because of the steepness of the canyon, the sun has always set by 5:15 p.m.

The little community, 90 air miles northeast of Vancouver, was founded as a Canadian Pacific Railway divisional point. With the coming of the diesel locomotive, however, its inital purpose was gone.

As ralway activity declined, logging increased and the community has suffered no ill effects. In fact, some say it will soon need a bridge.

Accused Given Life Term in Woman's Death

KITCHENER (CP) — Robert Simmons, 20, of Galt Tuesday changed his plea to guilty of non-capital murder in the stabbing death of Mrs. Shirley Coleman, 23, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

An Ontario Supreme Court jury deliberated six minutes after Simmons changed his plea of not guilty of capital murder.

Mrs. Coleman died Jan. 2 after being stabbed in the home where she had been living with Simmons.

Simmons changed his plea after the mother of the dead woman, Mrs. Pauline McArthur, who testified she lived in the same house as her daughter and the accused, told of hearing her daughter cry out that she had been stabbed by Simmons.

Mrs. McArthur testified her daughter went out on New Year's Day with Robert Oakes, 28, of Hamilton and returned at 12:45 a.m. On Jan. 2. She said Oakes did not enter the house.

She said she heard her daughter go into her room and seconds later heard her say: "Bobby, you can't stay here."

HEARS CRY

Then, she said, she heard her daughter cry out: "Mother, Bobby stabbtd me." The daughter came out of the bedroom and collapsed.

Mrs. McArthur testified Simmons was behind her with the tip of a kitchen knife pressed against his own stomach. She had talked him into putting the knife down.

She said that on two previous occasions Simmons had slashed his wrists because he felt he was losing the affections of Mrs. Coleman. She said Oakes was in the house on one of these occasions.

Dr. G. J. Hammersely, who viewed the body of Mrs. Coleman soon after she was pronounced dead at South Waterloo Memroial Hospital in Galt on Jan. 2, described a knife would extending from the front of the upper abdomen to the side of the spine. He agreed a 10 - inch butcher knife, with seven - inch blade which Crown prosecutor Harold Daufman placed on exhibit, was the "possible weapon."

CAN'T TELL

He said a moderate amount of pressure on the knife would be required to make a wound of this depth, although he couldn't tell how much. The witness said the tissue the knife went through was soft. He found no other wounds in the area of the upper chest. Death was due to massive internal bidding.

Dr. K. H. Berkeley, who had known the victim as a patient for six years, said he was called to attend her at the hospital at 1:33 a.m. on Jan. 2, and she died four or five minutes later. He said Mrs. Coleman was unconscious when he first saw her and she never regained consciousness.

He testified that in his opinion she had died as a result of the wound.

Pensioners Can Ride Free

HAMILTON (CP) — Old age pensioners will be allowed to ride free on the city - owned Hamilton Street Railway during off-peak hours, city council decided Tuesday night.

Council will ask the Ontario government to authorize a subsidy to pay for the service.

Controller Victor Copps, who introduced the proposal, said there are about 11,000 old age pensioners and about 5,000 recipients of old age assistance in Hamilton. He suggested that bus passes be issued annually and that the subsidy be $5 a pass. The motion was approved by a 10-to-8 vote.

Calgary and Edmonton have similar systems, Mr. Copps said.

Among those opposing was Alderman Hugh Brown, who said the city had purchased the transport service on the understanding it would pay for itself.

"This is the thin end of the wedge," he said.

Never Billed For Royalties Says Manager

TORONTO (CP)—W. S. Low, general manager of the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada, Limited said Tuesday night his association never billed the Nanaimo, B.C., Civic Properties and Recreation Commission for royalties on the playing of God Save the Queen or O Canada.

"We as an association," said Mr. Low, "have not billed, will not bill, and will never bill anybody anywhere at any time for the performance in public of God Save the Queen.

"There is a version of O Canada which is still in copyright but we don't deal with that either. We do not, have not or ever will attempt to require the payment of licence fees of national anthems or any country's national song. O Canada is considered a national song."

Earlier Tuesday the Nanaimo commission rejected an alleged claim by CAPAC for royalties on God Save the Queen and O Canada played at the opening and closing of sporting events in the Civic Arena.

A spokesman for the commission said bills for $18 had been sent to the commission on two occasions.

NEVER SPECIFIES

Mr. Low said his association never specifies titles of works played in arenas but collects a flat government-approved quarter-annual fee for the right to perform copyrighted works in arenas, based on seating capacity.

He said it was possible that the Nanaimo commission had received an inquiry from his association field staff as to what music was played at sporting events at the arena. If no answer had been received from the commission, his field staff might have billed the commission anyway, based on what the association was informed was done.

He said that method was used at times to "flush out" information that was not otherwise forthcoming.

Fund Started For Policeman Shot to Death

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Nathan Phillips and Chairman William Allen of Metropolitan Toronto launched a fund Thursday for the wife and four children of Police Const. Fred Nash, killed Monday in an east-end gun battle.

But sympathetic citizens beat them to the punch. Police Chief James Mackey said his department received $5,100 before a fund was opened. Most of it came from a Toronto businessman who wished to remain anonymous.

The mayor and Mr. Allen started the public fund with donations of $25 each.

Concerned about the Nash family was Mrs. Edmund Tong, widow of a Toronto police officer fatally shot 10 years ago.

"I hope she (Mrs. Nash) gets better treatment," said Mrs. Tong who complained that her police pension had been cut by $1,000 to $1,700 Jan. 1.

PLANS TO APPEAL

Mrs. Tong, 53, cares for an epileptic daughter, Margaret, 32, and has a son, Raymond, 23 at the University of Western Ontario. She said Raymond's plans to become a lawyer may be curtailed. Mrs. Tong is preparing to appeal the cut.

Controller William Denison said he thinks "this is a very special case in view of the fact Mrs. Tong's daughter is an epileptic. We will be very willing to listen to an appeal.

"I'm sure the taxpayers would want the administration to be generous with families of policemen killed in the discharge of their duties."

C. O. Bick, chairman of the metropolitan board of police commissioners, said the board of control told Mrs. Tong at the outset her pension would be reduced to $1,700 in 1962.

Mrs. Nash, 34, will receive an allotment from the commission —the amount has not yet been set—and $4,500 in group insurance.

TEST FALLOUT SHELTER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hundred navy men and scientists will go into an experimental underground fallout shelter next Saturday to stay there, isolated, for an undisclosed time to test living conditions after a nuclear attack. The defence department said the shelter is a corrugated steel structure 25 by 48 feet buried five feet underground.

Commonwealth Conference Group to Get Good Look At Canadian Engineering

TORONTO (CP) — Fifteen members of the Duke of Edinburgh's second Commonwealth study conference — one of 20 groups that will tour industrial Canadian centres — are going to get a good look at engineering progress when they move into the Brockville and Cornwall areas May 17.

The area this group will study includes the old cottage industries of Upper Canada Village and the giant engineering achievements of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The group will stay in the area four days.

At the same time, 19 other groups will fan out to industrial centres from Newfoundland to British Columbia, all studying at first hand the theme of this year's conference — the effect of the changing industrial environment on the community.

The conference opens May 13 in Montreal when about 300 men and women from 30 countries meet to hear an opening address by the conference president, Prince Philip. Other keynote speakers include Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, former governor - general of Canada, who will be chairman of the conference, and Dr. Arthur Lewis, principal of University College of The West Indies.

Meetings will be held at McGill University and the University of Montreal before the entire group makes a one -day visit to Ottawa. After that the 20 groups, each with a Canadian leader, will spread out to see how the people of Canada have been affected by various industrial situations.

Prince Philip is not scheduled to tour with these various groups, although he will take an active part in meetings at Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

The conference, financed by Canadian industry and labor, is similar to one held in Oxford, England, in 1956.

Delegates, most of them in the 25 - 45 age group, have been chosen by committees in their own countries for their potential for responsibility and leadership in industrial management and labor organizations in the future.

Gordon Hancock, assistant study tours officer, says "the whole purpose of the conference is to give these people the opportunity to observe, to talk with people, and to learn about both the achievements and the mistakes we have made in this country in meeting the opportunities and the problems of industrialization."

During their tours, the delegates will meet people from all phases of the community. They will spend time with management, labor unions, ethnic groups, youth organizations, senior citizens and various civic bodies. Plans call for each delegate to spend half a day in a typical Canadian home.

Sixty - seven of the delegates will be Canadians.

The conference will end June 6 in Vancouver after two special trains carry delegates across Canada.

Amalgamation May Be First Step for National Power Grid

- - Macauley

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Economics and Development Minister Macaulay hinted Tuesday that the proposed amalgamation of Ontario's three hydro - election systems could be the first step toward a national power grid.

"A national grid may be some distance away," he told a press conference, "but we have to start some place — and above all, we have to see that the North has an adequate supply of power at a reasonable rate . . ."

A national power grid would link the country's generating and distribution systems under a central control and provide stable power supplies to all areas.

The proposed amalgamation of the southern, northeastern and northwestern hydro systems would mean stabilized hydro rates and would attract industries to the northern parts of the province, said Mr. Macaulay.

If Southern Ontario absorbs the increased wholesale rates caused by amalgamation — he estimated the increase at 77 cents a kilowatt — then the northern rates could remain constant "for the forseeable future."

The increased rates in the South, he said, will be at the wholesale level and would not be reflected in higher rates to the consumer.

He listed these advantages of amalgamation: A more just allocation of costs and benefits in all areas; lower costs in the future through the most economic development of energy resources; a better balanced system to withstand economic fluctuations; more reserves; and more predictable long - range rates.

Royal Family On the Move In Three Areas

LONDON (CP) — Representative of Britain's Royal Family were on the move Tuesday in three areas of the globe.

Prince Philip was due in Bogota, Colombia, after spending five days in Venezuela. He is making a two-month, 36,000-mile tour of South America to encourage British trade.

The Princess Royal sailed in the royal yacht Britannia Tuesday for Gibraltar on the first leg of a Mediterranean tour. Her departure was delayed 18 hours by storms which lashed the British Isles.

The Duke and Duchess of Glouchester left London Tuesday for Kenya. They will make a stop at Malta and arrive in Nairobi this afternoon for a three-week visit. The duke is the Queen's uncle.

38 Charged Must Elect Method of Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirty-eight persons charged with conspiring to traffic in narcotics must elect their method of trial next week, Magistrate Gordon Scott ruled in police court Tuesday.

He told the accused that if they did not elect for trial next Tuesday he would order a preliminary hearing. In any event, he said that the case of 16 of those charged will proceed Feb. 27.

Police charge that the 16 were members of the smaller of two drug conspiracies and 22 others comprised a larger consiracy in which drugs were cached at various spots in the city, including gasoline station washrooms.

The 38 were arrested in a mass roundup of suspected drug traffickers launched by RCMP and city police drug squads Jan. 9 after months of undercover work.

The arrests caused a temporary panic on Vancouver's illegal drug market as supplies temporarily dried up and underworld price of drugs spiralled.

Township Funds Short $22,000

TIMMINS (CP)—Reeve Jack Atkinson of Mountjoy Township said Tuesday night a discrepancy of $22,000 has been found in township bank accounts.

He said a shortage was discovered by an audit and that the money disappeared over a period of 4½ years. He said the township was overdrawn at the bank by $22,000 and the money was extracted from government grants.

"The Crown attorney has been notified and the matter is in his hands," he said.

BEGIN RAIL PROJECT

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Dinsdale plowed through a thick growth of young voplar trees with a 22-ton bulldozer Monday to signal the start of construction of the Great Slave Lake Railway from northern Alberta to the Northwest Territories. The line will run 430 miles from a point just west of here to Hay River, N.W.T.

Student With 83 Per Cent Average Buys Car and Makes Money in Taxi Business

By ED TREFIAK

HULL, Que. (CP) — Money problems and university students are traditional buddies, and some students manage to overcome their difficulties in unusual ways.

But how many show the ingenuity of Claude Gratton, who last fall plunked down his life savings for a down payment on a new car and went into the taxi business.

Claude, a 21-year-old University of Ottawa philosophy student, found that business boomed from the start. About a month ago his taxi became the flagship of a two-car fleet. He now employs two drivers—one of them a student—and spends "too much" time behind the wheel himself.

"I drove all during Christmas and New Year's weekends so I didn't have much of a holiday. And I don't have much time to go out with girls right now."

GETS GOOD MARKS

Study time is often cut to four or five hours a week, but Claude doesn't seem to be in any danger of failing.

"I noticed my average was down to 83 per cent in the Christmas exams. That's about five per cent lower than usual, so I guess you could say the business does cut into my studies."

Scholarships have always provided Claude with enough money to handle university expenses, but he decided several years ago to take a part-time job because he wanted to feel independent, "and besides, I'd always wanted a business of my own."

He spent some time as a restaurant clerk and hospital attendant, then two years ago began his first independent venture.

"I bought a pick-up truck, and used it for two summers to sell fruit and vegetables to cottagers around the lakes north of Hull."

He would go to the Ottawa market early in the morning to buy produce, take it back to his father's grocery store in downtown Hull to be weighed, then head for the lakes.

Cabbies don't mind. "People liked to see a student working for a living, so I thought that maybe if I went into the taxi business they'd encourage me."

"I had a little trouble at the beginning. I was under 21 at the time, and the police were afraid I might not be able to get a taxicab licence. But I got it without too much trouble."

Other Hull taxi-drivers seem to take kindly to their young competitor.

"They're sympathetic. One said he couldn't see how I was making a profit with only one car. He'd been driving for seven years, but said he wouldn't risk setting up a business with one cab."

Claude graduates from university this spring, then plans to study criminal law. What will happen to the business then?

"I'll stick with it. I had planned to study law at McGill University or Osgoode Hall, but it looks now as though I'll take it right here in Ottawa."

Protestant and R.C. Groups Give Silent Sermon Boost

By GEORGE CORNELL

A silent sermon is being preached in many places today on racial brotherhood.

The method was started by an Ohio man who found it difficult to convey the message by spoken words. He resorted to an unspoken technique.

It has since spread widely, with both Protestant and Roman Catholic groups giving it a boost.

Its basis is a little printed card and a small bronze lapel pin with an engraving showing two hands clasping in front of the Christian cross.

An uncounted and growing number of Americans now are carrying the card and wearing the pin as a symbol of commitment to inter-racial unity. They call themselves "brothers."

Whenever anyone asks about the pin, they can either explain its meaning or merely show the card. It says, in part:

"We know that when we are separated from one another, we are separated from Jesus Christ himself. He will seek continually to accept all men as we have been accepted by him . . ."

There is no organizational setup or membership list involved in the movement but it has been picked up and expanded by a number of church offices, in the north, south and midwest.

Among the centres now distributing the pin and card, all of which disclaim any official sponsorship of the movement, are these:

The National Catholic Conference for Inter-Racial Justice, Chicago; the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, Cincinnati; the National Council of Churches regional office, Nashville, Tenn. and the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity, Atlanta, Ga.

The movement was begun by five members of the Church of the Advent in Cincinnati, at the behest of one of them, Eric Van Hagen, a writer, poet and a victim of cerebral palsy.

At the time of the 1957 Little Rock, Ark., crisis on school integration, he wanted to do something to improve race relations.

Board on Health Services Caught in Fierce Contest Between Doctors and Govt.

By JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP)—In its first western hearings the Hall royal commission on health services got caught in the fierce contest between Saskatchewan's medical profession and the CCF provincial government.

Two weeks of public sittings in Winnipeg and Regina also produced the first concrete suggestions from provincial governments on how prepaid medical care might be made available to all Canadians.

Time and again the question of compulsion in any federally supported medical plan was argued before the seven-member commission under Saskatchewan's Chief Justice Emmett Hall. Another recurring issue was drugs, their cost and the promotion activities behind them.

But it was the doctor-government impasse over Saskatchewan's proposed medical insurance plan that came to dominate the sittings, more particularly those in Regina.

Saskatchewan's compulsory scheme is tentatively scheduled to go into effect April 1 but it seemed apparent that barring the unlikely prospect of a compromise between the government and medical profession this date would have to be delayed. Either that or doctors would be bucking the plan at the outset.

WON'T CO-OPERATE

The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Saskatchewan and the Saskatchewan division of the Canadian Medical Association told the commission they will not co-operate in the plan. They contended it would substitute quantity for quality, impose government control of doctors and destroy the intimate physician - patient relationship.

They said doctors would continue to treat patients "in accordance with our capabilities" but hinted they would demand cash payment.

Health Minister W. G. Davies gave no indication the government is considering backing down on its plan. He insisted the program is basically a good one and suggested it could serve as a model for the rest of Canada, with Ottawa paying most of the cost.

There was a general feeling that the Saskatchewan conflict underlined the necessity for understanding between governments and the medical profession in approaching any national program of state - supported care.

Manitoba became the first province to place before the commission a concrete proposal for federally subsidized medical insurance.

WOULD BE VOLUNTARY

Under the plan submitted by Premier Duff Roblin, Ottawa would provide per capita grants to help finance provincial schemes for making medical insurance available to everyone—on a voluntary basis. In effect, the federal grants would go toward paying premiums of those unable to afford them.

The Manitoba Medical Association submitted a proposed scale of government subsidies for those unable to buy their own insurance. These would range from $36 to $108 annually for families — depending on size and income — and from $20 to $43.20 for individuals.

Closely tied to the whole question of a state-supported scheme was whether it should be compulsory for all, citizens and doctors. This has become a central issue. It cropped up repeatedly at the first regional meetings last fall in the Atlantic provinces.

The medical profession has indicated it wants no part of a scheme that smacks of compulsion, and is on guard against government control generally. Chambers of commerce and boards of trade take a similar line.

FAVOR COMPULSION

Organized labor has advocated an out-and-out national plan compulsory for all, and has been inclined to de - emphasize the constitutional problems involved. Farm organizations and similar groups also have been tolerant toward the idea of compulsion, contending a certain degree of it would be needed to make a plan work.

A possible basis for dealing with the problem was advanced by O. J. Firestone, one of the commissioners, who suggested the provinces might decide whether their individual programs should be compulsory.

Those who oppose a state-controlled plan have argued it would produce doctor shortages, too great a demand on their services and professional mediocrity that they contend have occurred in Britain.

Others have held that despite shortcomings, there is evidence that the British plan has generally been a success.

The question of drugs came up many times. In Regina the commission heard there is a spread of up to 750 per cent between the price drug stores pay for a drug and the price to government and hospitals. In Winnipeg, Manitoba Health Minister George Johnson called for creation of a national board to evaluate new drugs.

The Manitoba Medical Association said drug advertising aimed at doctors should be controlled.

The problem of recruiting medical personnel was aired, as it was earlier in the East. Grants, bursaries and fellowships were advocated as means of increasing the flow of young people into the profession.

Princess Margaret Will Increase Public Functions

LONDON (CP)—Look for an increase in public activities by Princess Margaret in the coming months.

After that long holiday in the Caribbean, which drew unfavorable comments from press and public, the irrepressible princess is buckling down to work.

Her list of engagements, somewhat sparse lately, is beginning to lengthen. Before the month ends, she will open a new chapel in Surrey, inaugurate a church hall in Stephney and attend an exhibition sponsored by the British Colour Council.

And one of the bright spots in the diary is a dance given today by an association of Canadian universities in Britain. The ball will be at Quaglino's, a London restaurant, and the Princess will be escorted by her husband, the Earl of Snowdon.

Last week Clarence House made a point of announcing that other activities are on tap — a visit to a Kent factory in April and to the Girl Guides in May.

Those who like to read between the royal lines will probably leap to the conclusion that somebody has taken the princess aside and given her a gentle lecture. Evidently, there is a desire in court circles to efface the memory of the recent unfavorable press the princess and her husband have received.

Comment has concentrated upon the Caribbean holiday following so closely after the Nov. 3 birth of Viscount Linley, the Snowdons' first child; the travel arrangements which involved taking over much of the first-class section of a commercial airliner, and the costly repairs to be carried out at their London home, 1A Kensington Palace.

Appeal Court Dismisses Bribe Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday formally dismissed a Crown appeal against the acquittal of three men charged with conspiring to bribe a police officer.

Attorney-General Roberts announced last week the appeal would be dropped on recommendation of special prosecutor Gordon W. Ford.

A Supreme Court jury last June 9 acquitted Joseph McDermott, Vincent Feeley and Robert J. Wright, a former provincial police constable, of charges laid after an investigation by OPP undercover agent George Scott.

Feeley and McDermott still face charges of keeping a common gaming house and all three are charged with conspiracy to obtain information from a police officer.

Economic Crystal Gazers See Project as Answer

ACCRA (Reuters) — Ghana's economic crystal gazers see the long - awaited, controversial Volta River power project as the answer to many of the west African country's industrial, domestic and development ills.

After nearly 11 years of planning and hoping, the Ghanaian government has obtained financing for this multi-million-dollar project, which holds the key to the country's future industrial development.

A dam will be built across the Volta at Akosombo, in eastern Ghana, 60 miles north of Accra, to provide badly-needed power for both industrial expansion and domestic requirements. When the project is completed in five years, not only will Ghana have cheap power for industry, but most up-country areas finally will be able to discoard their troublesome, smelly kerosene lamps

The over-all cost of the project will be about $196,000,000, of which Ghana will provide half The remainder will be obtained through loans from the international bank, the United States and Britain.

CREATE NEW LAKE

Besides new industries and a giant aluminum smelter which is part of the plan, the project will create Volta Lake—a new source of prosperity for a sizable area in itself.

When the 370-foot high, 2,100-foot long rock-fill dam nears completion — about mid-1964—a lake covering 3,500 square miles will begin to form behind it. From its southern-most point, at Akosombo, the lake will stretch up to Tamale, nearly 400 miles north.

The lake will wipe out a few old industries, but create new ones.

Agriculture will, in some areas, give way to fishing. The vast lake is expected to produce some 10,000 pounds of fish a year.

The seasonal rise and fall of the lake waters also will make some 600 square miles of land available for cultivation of rice and other crops. This will help Ghana diversify her agriculture which has been dependent on one crop, cocoa.

It also is hoped the lake will encourage growth of a tourist industry.

TRAIN DERAILED

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian National Railways freight train was derailed Tuesday in Pickering Township about 15 miles east of Toronto. Police said that about 20 cars of the westbound freight left the tracks, but no injuries were reported.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, the No. one and two teams in the National Hockey League standings, both boast excellent home records this season. Each team had only lost two games at home in games played up to the morning of February 10th or after the first 154 games played during the 1961-62 season.

Toronto garnered one more point on home ice than Canadiens. In 25 games at Maple Leaf Gardens, the Leafs won 19 and tied four for a total of 42 points out of a possible 50. In 25 tilts on the Forum freeze, the Canadiens won 18 and tied five for a total of 41 points out of a potential 50. Boston Bruins were the giant killers in three of the four games lost at home by these two front-running teams. Toronto was beaten by Boston in both of their home losses and it was Boston and Chicago that topped Canadiens in their two losses on home ice.

Canadiens had the best road record with the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Black Hawks close behind. In 25 road games the Habitants won 11 and tied six for 28 points out of a perfect 50. Chicago had eight wins and the same number of ties for 24 points out of a possible 50 in their 25 games on the road. Toronto rated third in games away from home. The Leafs won nine and tied four in 26 starts for a total of 22 points out of a potential 52.

Poorest road record belongs to the Detroit Red Wings. In 25 games away from the Motor City, the Red Wings won four and tied three for 11 points out of a possible 50. The Boston Bruins road record is five wins and three ties in 27 contests for a total 13 points out of 54.

The last-place Bruins had the poorest record at home. In 26 games, the Bruins had seven wins and two ties for 16 points, out out a possible 52. On the road they had five wins and three ties for 13 points out of 54.

Bobby Hull, Chicago's Black Hawks' rapid-shooting left winger, is currently in the midst of a hot scoring streak. The Hawk star has 33 goals after the 53rd game this season, tops in the NHL at this time. He had scored 18 goals in the 14-game span from January 11 to February 10.

The 23-year-old Hull is said to have the hardest and most accurate slap shot in the game today. He uses both the wrist and slap shot and scores his goals almost evenly between the two methods. In his first five NHL seasons Bobby is scoring goals at a better rate than Gordie Howe did in his first five years.

Since joining the Hawks as an 18-year-old, Hull has averaged one goal every 2.57 games. Howe averaged a goal every 2.63 games in his early years with Detroit.

Tommy Ivan, general manager of the Chicago Black Hawks, thinks Hull will improve his scoring in the years ahead. "He'll improve his scoring," he says, "if he shoots the puck lower. Sometimes, he shoot too high."

In their first five National League seasons Howe played 298 games, scoring 113 goals and 144 assists for 257 points. Hull played in 329 games getting 133 goals and 157 assists for 290 points.

Howe's best season in this period was [illegible]-51 when he garnered 86 points with 43 goals and ditto assists. Hull's best year was 1959-60 when he won the NHL scoring crown with 39 goals and 42 assists for 81 points.

Defeat Napanee High

BCI Hoopsters Win Three

By PETER CARVER

Belleville Collegiate Institute's Collegians hoopsters swept three games from their counterparts from Napanee District Collegiate in C.O.S.S.A. action last night at BCI.

The local seniors won a lacklustre affair by a 48-31 score. The win was their seventh against a single loss.

The Belleville Juniors, showing a great team effort, copped a close 53-49 decision. BCI's bantams completed the sweep by takng ther game 35-24.

SENIOR GAME

As the score indicates neither team played a dazzling brand of ball but did reach their potential in spots. The first quarter was loosely-played with the collegians capitalizing on shoddy Napanee passing and ball-handling to score 12 points while the losers could manage only three.

The second stanza was a repetition of the first with Belleville players left unguarded under the Napanee basket on many an occasion.

The Collegians rebounded both baskets but Napanee came back in the final minutes of the half with the buzzer ending their brief rally. Belleville led 22-11 at the half.

BCI's fast-break offence and backboard control at both ends of the court enabled them to pot a dozen points while Napanee scored nine in a see-saw third quarter.

The final period was the slowest of the game with both teams throwing the ball at random and failing to complete their plays. BCI scored 12 points, once again, to Napanee's 11.

Bruce Regensburg sparked the winners. His many rebounds and tip-ins accounted for 22 of the winners' points. Peter Weston turned in a good effort with 8 points while Larry Campbell hit for six.

Bob Paul was tops for Napanee collecting 12 points; Thurlow and Bartlett each added 7 points.

Paille May Bump Gump For Goal Job

Hasn't Lost In Four

By LAURENT CHASSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lorne (Gump) Worsley seems to be faced with an old problem — competition for the New York Rangers goaltending job.

The colorful netminder is ready to return to action after a 19-day layoff with an elbow injury, but substitute Marcel Paille may not let him.

The reason: Paille has been a standout for the Rangers, engaged with Detroit Red Wings in a tight battle for the National Hockey League's fourth and last playoff berth. New York currently holds it with 49 points, two more than the Wings.

Both goalies accompanied the Blueshirts on a mid-week trip that calls for games in Chicago tonight and Detroit Thursday night.

But Paille, recalled from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League Feb. 3, was expected to be player-coach Doug Harvey's choice to goal, at least against the Black Hawks.

The Rangers haven't lost—winning three games and tying another — since Paille took over. Among the victories were 2-1 decisions over the league-leading Montreal Canadiens and the third-place Hawks, snapping winning streaks for both clubs.

PAILLE LOOKED GOOD

Paille has given up only seven goals during this span. And in each case, he's blanked the opposition in the final period.

Competition is nothing new for Worsley. He's had to fight off challengers just about every season since he came to New York in 1952-53.

The Rangers brought 21 players, including Worsley and Paille, to Chicago. But only 15 —exclusive of the goalie—can dress.

Of the 13 forwards who made the trip, Camille Henry and Rod Gilbert are unlikely to play.

Henry, ordered to rest because of a rundown condition, is working out with the team and is within three pounds of his 151-pound playing weight. Gilbert is a rookie just called up from Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

The defenceman likely to sit out is Pete Goegan, acquired last week from Detroit.

The New York-Chicago game is the only one scheduled tonight.

The Black Hawks still have a chance to overtake the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs for second place. They're seven points behind the Leafs at the moment.

The Leafs, winless in four starts, got discouraging news Tuesday.

Dick Duff skated for the first time since he broke a foot bone five weeks ago but assistant coach King Clancy estimated it will be another two weeks before the left winger can return to action.

In 37 games before his injury, Duff scored 14 goals and assisted on 17 others.

Royals Crush Flyers

Hablets Tie Teepees

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The tired Montreal Canadiens were dealt a handful of trouble by St. Catharines Teepees but they still managed a 4-4 tie Tuesday night and edged back into sole possession of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series.

The Habs, playing their fifth game in six days, were trailing 4-2 well into the third period. But goals within 40 seconds by Rejean Richer and Johnny Taylor gave them the point they needed to squeeze ahead of Hamilton Red Wings.

Guelph Royals moved back to fourth place in their seesaw battle with Niagara Falls by crushing the Flyers 6-1 in the night's other game. Borden Smith scored three times.

The Teepees got a two-goal effort from George Standing and Fred Stanfield and Jim Sanko scored singles. Bill Inglis and Yvan Cournoyer scored for Montreal before the third-period clinchers.

PLAY TIMID CONTEST

Montreal outshot the Teepees 34-24 in a clean game which saw only four minor penalties, a sharp contrast to their last meeting in St. Catharines Saturday.

Don Dibernardino got things rolling at Guelph with a goal in the first minute of play. Bob Brown and Bill Taylor also tallied in addition to Smith's three.

Terry Crisp counted for Niagara Falls on a second-period power play when the Royals were leading 2-0, but Guelph scored another in the second period and wrapped it up with three unanswered goals in the third.

Three minor penalties were called on each team plus a misconduct to Gary Dornhoefer of the Falls.

In the OHA Metro Junior A loop Brampton poured in six goals in the last period to defeat Whitby 9-7 and climb out of the cellar for the first time this season.

Brawling Players Draw Fines

ST. PAUL, Minn. (CP) — A former Ontario resident was one of two Muskegon, Mich., hockey players who drew fines in municipal court Tuesday as the result of a Nov. 15 brawl during a Muskegon-St. Paul game.

Bryan McLay, 24, a native of the Lakehead was fined $100 on a charge of disorderly conduct. Donald Stephenson, 22, was fined $50 for third-degree assault. Both changed their pleas to guilty after originally demanding jury trials.

The city asked for dismissal of charges against Lawrence Lund, 21, a native of Edmonton. The brawl, involving several city police officers, began when a player from each team was sent to the penalty box.

Five Tigers Holdouts

Some Sign, Some Won't

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitchers Ernie Broglio and Larry Sherry, disappointments last year after excellent seasons in 1960, have signed their 1962 baseball contracts hopeful of regaining their effectiveness.

Broglio agreed to terms with St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday and took a substantial pay cut after getting more than $20,000 a year ago. The 26-year-old right-hander, beset by arm trouble, wound up with a 9-12 won-lost record and a 4.11 earned run average in 1961. The previous season his 2.74 era was second best in the National League when he won 21 games while losing 9.

Sherry received an approximate $1,000 token boost in pay to $25,000 from Los Angeles Dodgers. The relief specialist missed three weeks last season with a sprained ankle and compiled a 4-4 record but was credited with 15 saves. In 1960, Sherry posted a 14-10 record while appearing in 57 games.

The Cards also signed pitchers Bob Duliba and Johnny Kucks Tuesday to run their signees to 26. Second baseman Ken Aspromonte became the 33rd player in the Cleveland Indians fold.

BUCS GET GIBBON

Only outfielder Bob Skinner and pitcher Larry Foss remained unsigned after pitcher Joe Gibbon came to terms with Pittsburgh Pirates. New York Mets completed the signing of their battery staff of 13 pitchers and four catchers when pitcher Bob Botz indicated he was satisfied with his pact.

Three rookies—shortstop Tom Tresh, second baseman Pedro Gonzales and outfielder Don Lock — agreed to terms with New York Yankees. Baltimore Orioles received signed contracts from pitchers Bill Short, Darold Knowles, Steve Cosgrove and Dave McNally, giving them 28 players in the fold.

Boston Red Sox signed third baseman Frank Malzone, catcher Russ Nixon and pitcher Billy Macleod. Rookie infielder Dick Phillips signed with San Francisco Giants.

Pitchers Jack Spring, Bob Belinsky and George Conrad came to terms with Los Angeles Angels, leaving only outfielder Leon Wagner and infielder Felix Torres among the unsigned.

Outfielder Al Kaline, reported to be asking for $45,000, arrived at the Detroit Tigers training camp site at Lakeland, Fla. Kaline, along with first baseman Norm Cash and outfielder Rocky Colavito, are among five unsigned Tigers regulars.

Brenchley Given Gate

Chamberlain Wolves New Coach

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Murph Chamberlain, colorful and rugged veteran of the National Hockey League and assorted coaching jobs since the end of his playing days, took over the reins of Sudbury Wolves again Tuesday.

Chamberlain was given the job when the club executive dismissed coach Chirp Brenchley after a five-month tenure in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

He is placed with a club mired in fourth place, a situation which has drawn the ire of Sudbury fans and led to Brenchley's downfall.

Chamberlain, long-time star with Montreal Canadiens, coached teams in Sydney, N.S., Charlottetown, Vancouver, Buffalo, Windsor and Chatham before joining the Wolves in 1959, the EPHL's first year. They finished first that season but slio to fifth the following year.

The third-place Canadiens increased their margin over Sudbury Tuesday night with a 4-2 victory at Sault Ste. Marie. Freddie Hilts scored twice and Billy Carter and John Rodger got singles for the Habs. Ed Kachur and Don Grosso scored for the Thunderbirds.

SAULT HAD LEAD

The T-Birds scored the first goal after four minutes of play but that was the last time they held the lead.

In Kingston, meanwhile, manager-coach Wren Blair fired off a letter to the league executive demanding an assist for Frontenacs goalie Ed Chadwick on the winning goal Sunday, when Kingston defeated the Canadiens 4-2.

Blair maintained Chadwick cleared the puck over the blueline to Orval Tessier, who passed to Tom McCarthy for the score. Only Tessier got an assist.

A goalie's life is tough enough, said Blair, without forcing Chadwick to take a back seat to Hull-Ottawa's Cesare Maniago in the goalies' scoring race. Maniago is the only EPHL goalie with an assist this season.

Frenchman Wins Slalom Race

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—Charles Bozon of France drove through a howling blizzard in masterly style Tuesday to win the special slalom race of the World Ski Games with a total time of 141.67 seconds in two runs.

Bozon was cheered by hundreds of home-town supporters who braved the worst weather at a major international ski race in many years. Guy Perillat of France was second and Australia's Gerhard Nenning third.

The snow storm got worse from minute to minute as 29 racers ran the two heats.

Five skiers were disqualified, helping two Canadians move to higher places. Jean-Guy Brunet of Ste. Agathe, Que., who had been placed 16th unofficially, moved to 14th, and Verne Anderson of Rossland, B.C., advanced from 21st to 18th. Brunet's time was 76.60-78.59 — 155.19, Anderson's 79.79-78.07—157.86

After three days of brilliant sunshine Tuesday's blizzard broke unexpectedly on the 22-country meet, generally considered to represent the world championship. The heavy snowfall caused a power failure and also forced the organizers to revise the schedule of remaining races.

SIGNS MANAGER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A spokesman for lightweight title contender Carlos Ortiz said Tuesday the Puerto Rican battler has signed actor Arthur O'Connell as his manager.

The spokesman said Ortiz, 25, has been without a manager since Sept. 24 when his contract with Ed Ferguson of New York ran out.

Has Adjustment Problem

Kidd 'Lonely, Homesick'

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Fred Foot says that runner Bruce Kidd's performances have been off lately because he is "lonely and homesick."

Foot said Kidd, attending the University of Toronto while his parents live in Ottawa and his girl friend in Kingston, also has the problems of adjusting to college life "like every other freshman."

In recent American appearances, said the coach, Kidd placed behind runners he should have handled with ease.

"The simple truth is that Bruce is lonely and homesick."

"I noticid a definite change in Bruce after he returned from visiting his family in Ottawa over Christmas. He lost some of his aggressiveness and kick, although his workouts have been good.

"The excitement of the big indoor meets is starting to wear off and Bruce has become depressed and worried about his showing."

But Foot says Kidd will overcome it and in the meantime he will move into Foot's home to overcome problems of loneliness.

HORNETS GET GOALIE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League purchased goalie Claude Evans from Springfield Indians Tuesday. Evans, 29, played this year with Vancouver of the Western League. The Hornets say they will retain Gerry McNamara, their regular goalie.

Deny Liston Patterson Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Championship Sports, Incorporated, is expected to announce in New York Friday that Floyd Patterson will defend his heavyweight boxing title against Sonny Liston, The Herald-Examiner said Tuesday.

The bout will be in June in Yankee Stadium, the story said.

"There's no foundation to that report at all," said Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports, in New York.

HUNGARY TOPS SCOTS

BUDAPEST (AP)—The champion Hungarian soccer team Ujpesti Dosza overpowered the Scottish Dunfermline club 4-3 in the first leg of their quarter-final series of the European Cup winners tournament. The game was fought out in driving rain that favored the Scots.

Jerry Barber Says

Youth Chasing Age Off Golf Links

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—PGA champion Jerry Barber believes the older players are being driven out of tournament golf.

The 1961 golfer of the year said Tuesday a PGA rule penalizing players falling behind the group in front is discriminatory.

"The game is being dominated by the younger players," the 45-year-old Barber said. "They are trying to make gold into a game of speed. It doesn't seem to matter how well you play the game, but how quickly you can get off the course."

The rule calls for a penalty of two strokes if a player falls a hole behind the group in front.

"Older players are slower players," said Barber. "They do more thinking. Golf is a thinking game, not a race. It will run players like Cary Middlecoff off the courses. Can you imagine Ben Hogan or Bobby Locke trying to play golf this way?

"It takes four hours for me to play a round properly. Now they want us to get off the course in about three hours and a quarter."

Ice Strongest Team

Terriers Open Tonight

GALT (CP) — Galt Terriers, Canada's representatives in the world hockey championships in Colorado next month, say they will ice their strongest team of the season tonight when they open a Western Canadian tour at Fort William.

Team officials said earlier that four regulars would not be in Fort William because of job commitments. But goalie Boat Hurley and left winger Don Rope now are listed as definite starters.

Captain Bob McKnight and defenceman Ted Maki may also fly out for the first game of the 11-game tour.

Manager Len Gaudette said Tuesday that "we have exaggerated our problems a little." He said that even if some players can't play in all the exhibition games "we'll still have a full team."

Jack McLeod, former member of the New York Rangers, who was leading scorer last year for Trail Smoke Eaters when they won the world championship at Geneva, will fly in from Moose Jaw to meet the Galt team in Fort William.

The team now carries 20 players. Seventeen will be eligible for the championships. Gaudette said the final team will be picked March 1.

Close Overtime Battle

Macs Shade Petes 3-2

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Writer)

PETERBOROUGH — Scoring the tying goal with three minutes left in regulation time and connecting midway through the overtime session, the Belleville McFarlands edged the Peterborough Monsens 3-2 here last night in a thrilling OHA Eastern Junior "B" playoff review.

Last night's game wound up the regular schedule for both clubs but they meet again in Belleville Friday night in the opening game of a round-robin playoff series. The Macs ended the schedule tied for first place with the Kingston-Frontenacs, the third team in the round-robin series.

Belleville fought an uphill fight all the way in one of the best junior tilts of the season last night. The Macs were never ahead until Bobby Boyle scored the winning goal at 5.13 of the ten-minute overtime beat.

Boyle broke away from the pack at centre ice, out-skated two Peterborough players and drove a hard shot past goalie Jim Horton for the winner.

Bucky Ethier shared star billing for the winners when he potted the tying goal at 16.59 of the third period. He grabbed Garry Hull's rebound, skated in front of the Pete's net and flipped home a backhander. This goal climaxed a sustained attack by the Macs which appeared at times to be for naught as they just failed to finish off their plays around the net or were beaten by Horton's fine play.

Peterborough opened the game scoring at 17.39 of the first period when Gary Dalliday took the puck from Greg Marchen in his own zone, swept down the boards, rounded the Mac net and slid the disc past Parker. Both goalies had been outstanding to this point.

After a series of penalties in the second heat, Gary Duvall completed a play with Gary Reid and Boyle to tie it 1-1. He rapped home a cross-fire shot from close in while the Monsen's were a man short.

Wayne Milburn put Peterborough back in the lead shortly after while the Macs had a man in the penalty box. Milburn took the puck from Nicholls, skated into the Belleville zone and beat Parker with a corner shot.

Belleville battled hard in the third and came close several times. They hit the post at 4.10 and had Horton rob them another time with a great block on a screen shot. Then came Ethier's equalizer and Boyle's winner.

The winners picked up 11 penalties, including misconduct penalties to first-liners Moe Hunter and Dave Smith that cut the club's effectiveness. The Macs had only 13 players dressed, Mavety out with an eye injury. Ted Rowland turned in one of his best performances of the year on the blueline to pick up some of the slack. The Monsens drew six minor penalties.

Peterborough fought hard until the end, lifting goalie Horton in favor of a sixth attacker for the game's final 45 seconds. The Macs held them off despite two faceoffs near Parker's cage.

Belleville — Parker, Zakos, Reid, Rowland, Boyle, Weston, Smith, Hunter, Ethier, McGuire Hull, Keller, Duvall.

Peterborough — Horton, Walsh, Nichols, Payne, Dalliday, Milburn, LeBarr, Asta, Rutherford, Shearer, Morris, Marchen, Thompson, Taylor.

Referees — Ike Hildebrand and Ned Vitarelli of Peterborough.

Stone Wins BC Curling

VANCOUVER (CP)—A last-rock draw shot to the eight-foot circle gave veteran Reg Stone of Trail a 10-9 victory over Vancouver's Howie Christopherson Tuesday night for the British Columbia men's curling crown. Stone will represent the province in the Canadian championships at Kitchener March 5-9.

Stone, 47, captured the B.C. title for a record sixth time. His brilliant shot enabled him to win the deciding game of a best-of-three final after losing the opening game 11-4 earlier in the day. Stone fought back to force a deciding game by downing Christopherson 12-6 in the second game.

Stone's rink also won the provincial championship in 1949, 1952, 1953, 1955 and 1957. Others on the Stone rink are Harvey McKay, 39, and Reg's 46-year-old brother Roy, who plays third.

Minor Hockey

The midget league playoffs got under way last night but the clubs failed to accomplish much in their goals-to-count series. Both games ended in ties.

The Untouchables and Rovers fought to a 2-2 tie. Mallory and Lancaster scored for the Rovers with Brooks getting an assist. Chambers and Tomaso had the Untouchable markers with LaBelle and Lentini drawing assists.

Bishop Six and Riske Boys battled to a 5-5 deadlock. C. Hannah fired two Bishop goals with one each for G. Rutherford, C. Dyble and K. Naegel. Rutherford drew two assists with L. Mott, Hannah and Naegel getting one. B. Derry potted a pair of goals for the Riske Boys with one each for Flindall, Brennan and R. Post. Trapnell drew the lone assist.

In the squirt league, the Bruins blanked the Barons 3-0 in the first game of their playoff set. Hyde registered the shutout while M. Wood scored two goals and S. Lowen one.

Maple Leafs edged the Royals 2-1, also a playoff tilt, with B. Clement and L. Burley scoring for the winners and G. Adams for the losers.

In consolation play the Flyers topped the Canadiens 5-2 with D. McCormick and A. Walt each scoring twice. A. Gannon had the other goal. D. Demers and B. Lazarink scored for the Canadiens.

The Black Hawks edged the Browns 8-7, paced by J. McKenzie with three goals. Rick Alexander, J. Cochrane, G. Doyle, R. Richardson and I. Ineson scored one goal apiece. C. Powell triggered four of the losers' goals with the others going to B. Hurley, R. Chaplin and R. LaBelle.

Red Wings and Frontenacs tied 3-3. D. Fobert scored twice and G. Andrews once for the Wings. Frontenac goals went to D. Hunt, R. Matthews and R. Adamson.

The Rangers downed the Macs 4-1 in an exhibition game. T. Meagher had two Ranger goals, B. McKee and S. Baziuk one each. S. Moore scored in defeat.

Wins Two of Three

Quinte Shades Picton

By BILL BURLEY

The Seniors of Quinte Secondary School took their seventh straight win last night by defeating Prince Edward Seniors in a 58-52 victory. The little Saints followed suit with a one point edge thriller by taking Picton 47-46. The Picton bantams took Quinte by a 48-30 landslide.

SENIOR GAME

With their win over the first place BCI team last Friday, the Quinte Saints moved up with the collegians in a first place tie.

Last night the Saints kept their new position and assured themselves a place in the C.O.S.S.A. playoffs.

In the first quarter the Saints built up a six point lead only to be quickly equalled by Picton in the second.

The third saw a number of individual scorings rather than team play. Both teams scored the same number of points but Quinte still led the game by two points.

The fourth was a tense quarter in the dying minutes of the game. With only a few minutes left in play Quinte led by 3 points. A group of three technical and personal fouls against Picton pushed the Saints to a six point lead and the victory.

High scorers of the game were Rick Lee of Picton with twenty points and Wayne Gilroy of Quinte with 19 points.

Defeat Port Perry 6-2

Pepsi's Win Loop Title

Scoring at a two-a-period pace, the Belleville Pepsi's dumped Port Perry 6-2 on the latter's ice last night in a well-played Lakeshore Intermediate league hockey fixture.

Last night's win was a four-pointer and widened the Pepsi's pennant-winning margin at the top of the league standing.

The Pepsi's jumped into an early 2-0 lead on goals by Goyer and Jones at 4.44 and 6.58 of the first period.

Port Perry came roaring back to tie however on goals by T. Jones and Roberts before the period ended.

Hull fired what proved to be the winning goal at 13.40 of the middle heat and before the period was over, Brown's goal had made it 4-2 for the Pepsi's.

Port Perry battled hard but were unable to dent the twine behind Barclay in the third period. The score remained 4-2 until Jones at 17.55 and Brown at 19.40 added the two final Belleville markers.

Barclay of the winners and Melnyek of Port Perry turned in strong games in their respective nets as both clubs went all out for the win.

The winners picked up six of the game's eight minor penalties. None of the penalties figured in the scoring.

Dave Jones and Wayne "Wiener" Brown spearheaded the Belleville attack, each scoring two goals. Jones added two assists and Brown one. Gary Goyer had a goal and assist, Ron Hull one goal, Tom O'Meara, "Shaker" Baker, Fiori Goegan and Floyd Crawford an assist each.

Eddie Cantor at Seventy Still Busy Writing Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Reflections at 70 by Eddie Cantor—

"Sometimes you almost have to die in order to live."

Cantor discovered this 10 years ago when he suffered a heart attack. He's still around to talk about it—and other matters, and he did so on the occasion of passing his three-score and ten:

"People in this town die too early. It's terrible. They work, work, work, always meeting deadlines. Pretty soon they meet so many deadlines they become headlines.

"I remember when I had my heart attack 10 years ago. A woman wrote me: 'Cantor, we want to see less of you—longer.' That's not a bad idea.

"I think it was Heywood Broun who labelled me 'The Apostle of Pep.' One day after the attack, the nurse told me I would be able to sit up and dangle my legs over the side of the bed. I had to laugh. Look at the Apostle of Pep now—getting to dangle his legs over the side of the bed:"

It has been 10 years since Eddie pepped up an audience by tapping his palms together, doing his hop-skipping dance and singing "If you knew Suzie."

"I still keep busy," he said. "I'm writing a monthly column in the Diner's Club magazine. It's mostly reminiscence of people I have known—Will Rogers, Fanny Brice, W. C. Fields, etc.

"Sometimes people ask me, 'why the hell are you always reminiscing?' I tell them it's because I don't know where I'm going, but I know where I've been.

"Those were much better times. Nowadays you've got Khrushchev and the bomb and hundreds of people killing themselves on the highways every holiday. Does anybody wonder why I prefer to reminisce?"

Eddie also reported that he had just finished 195 five-minute radio shows which are distributed to 1,000 independent stations. The program is called Ask Eddie Cantor.

"The mail is fantastic," he said. "I get an average of 2,000 letters a week, asking me questions about everything."

Sport Columnist Says Shots Made by 'Ghost' Players

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS moved fast after a sports columnist asserted that some of the shots shown on that network's Sunday afternoon This Wonderful World of Golf were not made by the contestants during the match, but by "ghost" players a day or so later.

The hour-long program showing top golfers competing on courses all over the world with Gene Sarazen as commentator, is not produced by the network, but by an outside packager. When the allegation was made, CBS executives and the packager went into a closed door huddle. Result is that next Sunday the program will start with an explanation that occasionally the producers have taken "dramatic licence to illustrate" a shot.

For a while it looked as though the public was due to have its faith in another area of TV entertainment shaken, but Bill Macphail, head of CBS sports department, explained that a few shots were added later to demonstrate better how champion golfers played a particularly interesting role.

WEREN'T FAKED

"They weren't faked shots," Macphail said. "For instance, one player would drive off a tee and the ball would go into the rough.

"If there were no cameras there to show how the ball landed, the producers would go back a day or so later and dribble a ball into the rough to show exactly how it landed.

"Then they'd have somebody simulate the shot that made the ball bounce into the position it actually took — except there were no cameras to catch it originally.

"Anyway, it will all be explained at the beginning of the next show."

Many Plants Seek Inspection Of Their Meat

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 70 slaughter and meat processing plants not subject to federal inspection have asked for such inspection as a result of the recent disclosures of sales of meat unfit for human consumption.

Dr. K. F. Wells, veterinary director-general of Canada, said Monday that the applications were received in the first six weeks of the year. Previously, applications were received at a rate of one or two a month.

The increase in applications, he said, could be traced directly to the outcry over the sale of uninspected meat. Most of the applications were from Ontario, with Quebec second and a few from other provinces.

Under federal law all slaughter and meat processing plants which ship meat to another province or out of the country must be inspected by the meat inspection service of the federal health of animals division.

Dr. Wells said the growing list of applications for federal meat inspection comes from firms not subject to federal inspection laws.

Senators Want Full Story of U-2 Spy Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have told the state department they want the full story of U-2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers — from his ill-starred flight over Russia to his walk to freedom.

Spokesmen for the Senate Foreign relations committee say they expect they'll get the information after the Central Intelligence Agency questions the 32 year-old flyer.

But if they don't the senators indicated they may have to question Powers themselves.

State Secretary Dean Rusk commented Monday in an interview that he is glad Powers was returned but said he doesn't think the incident "moves us very far in the great issues that divide the Communist and the free world."

"It is of some advantage to get unnecessary irritations out of the way, and when people are being held in each other's country, this is an irritation that we could do without. But I would not draw any conclusions from this return of Mr. Powers with respect to questions like Berlin or Southeast Asia."

So far Powers has been kept under wraps since he was exchanged Saturday for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

The only official word Monday on the pilot's whereabouts was a state department statement that he is seeing his family and will be questioned.

Evidently the only members of his family permitted to see Powers are his wife, Barbara, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers. But where they are holding their reunion is a secret.

WANTS TESTS PROTEST

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—The chairman of a large dairy firm today urged nearly 3,000 stockholders in the company to protest against nuclear tests to stop the threat of contaminating milk. Alec Horsley, 59, chairman of Northern Dairies, put his ban-the-bomb message in the annual report distributed to shareholders.

Australia's National Health Scheme Voluntary But More You Pay the More You Gain

Canada's royal commission on health services has heard arguments for and against compulsory medical insurance. This story describes the operation of Australia's voluntary scheme.

CANBERRA (CP)—Since the Second World War Australia has evolved a national health scheme based on the principle that the more you help yourself the more the government helps you.

With the exception of pensioners and their dependents, it is a long way short of "everything free for everybody."

For example, the government pays eight shillings (96 cents) a day for each hospital patient whether or not he is a member of one of the 114 benefit organizations in the country.

But if he belongs to such an organization, he not only gets extra money from the benefit fund, he also receives more from the government. The total from the fund and government may be as high as £4 ($9.47) a day depending on the rate he pays to the benefit organization.

Membership in any such organization is voluntary but the advantages are obvious and 72 per cent, or about 7,500,000, of the population are covered. Membership fees range from six to 60 cents a week.

PAYS DOCTORS

Doctors' bills are under a plan that is similar in most respects. The difference is that government doesn't contribute at all unless a patient is paying into a medical benefit fund.

Sixty - eight per cent, or 7,173,000, of the population are provided for under medical benefit schemes, paying 15 to 48 cents weekly.

Another feature of the health plan is that between 70 and 80 per cent of prescriptions for drugs are subsidized so that the patient pays a maximum of 60 cents regardless of how expensive the drugs are. The government pays the rest. And it's not necessary to belong to any organization to qualify for this.

For the country's nearly 800,000 pensioners and dependents, drugs and medical treatment are completely free. The government also subsidizes their hospital costs at a basic rate of $1.44 a day.

The part played by the federal government in all these matters is solely financial. It does not itself provide treatment and, in the administration of the schemes through the health department, has no contact with individual patients.

Treatment is given by private medical practitioners, state, municipal and private hospitals and institutions just as it was before the development of the various plans.

The over - all result is that more ailing people get medical advice and treatment promptly; that more of them use private hospitals and medium-level accommodation in public hospitals; and that hospital and doctor fees are met more promptly.

The government asserts that by "adopting a plan of mutual co - operation between the government, the citizen and the instrumentalities and professional men who assist in providing the services, the government has achieved a workable system which allows every citizen the maximum of essential protection with the widest possible freedom of choice; yet without imposing a heavy financial burden on any individual or an unduly heavy burden on the national treasury itself."

TB CAMPAIGN

For the fiscal year ending June 30, total cost to the federal government various health schemes is $180,414,500. This includes $52,168,500 for hospital benefits; $25,211,000 for medical care; $77,832,000 for prescription drugs; $10,728,000 for pensioners and $14,475,000 for treatment of tuberculosis, provided free under an agreement with the six states.

It's easy to join one of the 114 benefit organizations. Most will accept anyone as a contributor. New members must wait two months before qualifying for benefit except for accidents (immediate) and pregnancy (10 months). The organizations are non-profit.

Medical payments are normally not made for examinations leading to prescription or the like may cover the costs to the patient.

FEES ARE LOW

The weekly cost for hospital benefits ranges from six to 30 cents for single persons and 12 to 60 cents for families. For those paying enough to qualify for fund benefits of $1.92 or more a day, the government contributes a total of $2.40. For those making lower contributions, the total government payment daily is $1.44.

Weekly contributions to medical benefit funds range from 15 to 24 cents for single persons and 30 to 48 cents for families. For certain major operations a patient may get as much as $142 toward his surgeon's bill.

RAWDON — Wellmans L.O.L. No. 172 held a euchre party in the Orange Hall recently with four tables in play. The prize winners were as follows: ladies' high, Mrs. Raymond McConnell and law, Mrs. Robert Wallace; men's high, Milford Wrightman, and men's low, Keith Clancy. Refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bailey recently attended "Open House" at Queen's University, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sharp recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keating and daughter, Marguerite, Marmora, and the former's mother, Mrs Paul Sharp.

A large number of Rawdon and Sidney farmers attended the annual meeting of the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture held recently when president George Carlisle presided for the afternoon. The newly-elected president is Russell Sills.

FATHER-SON BANQUET

There were 30 in attendance when the Rawdon circuit AOTS Men's Club held their annual father and son banquet in Wellmans Lodge Hall.

Mr. Gibson Patterson, associate agricultural representative, gave a special address pertaining to farming procedure. He was introduced by William Heath and thanked by James Pollock.

President Craig Watson was in the chair with Ralph Jeffs as pianist, while Orno Sharp led in the assembly singing. The toast to the sons was proposed by Councillor Burton Morton and Douglas Warren responded. The worship service was in charge of Allen Fletcher.

CAPTURE SUSPECT

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—One of the FBI's "10 most wanted" men was captured Monday night as he raced through Salina in a stolen ambulance, its siren sounding. Police identified the man as Watson Young Jr., 29. The FBI said Young had been added to its most wanted list only a week ago. He is charged with the fatal shooting of Hannsel E. Gupton, 64, and his wife Mary Alice, 58, in Indianapolis Dec. 13, 1961.

No Provision For Continuation Of Subsidy

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal government spending estimates for 1962-63 tabled Monday contained no provision for continuation of an interim $50,000,000 subsidy paid to the major railways in the last year.

The special subsidy was put up last June as a temporary payment "related to" the recommendations of the six - man MacPherson royal commission on transportation.

The payment was also designed to hold down freight rates in the wake of a multi-million-dollar wage settlement reached last May between the railways and their non-operating employees.

Omission of the temporary subsidy from the 1962-63 estimates may indicate the government plans other legislative action to help the railways, as proposed in the over-all transport blueprint of the MacPherson commission.

SUBSIDIES TO SHRINK

The commission, contending that competition must rule transport, rather than regulation, proposed a series of special subsidies aimed at helping the railways streamline their operations to meet competitors in a wide-open market.

The subsidies would start at almost $100,000,000 in the first year, but shrink over the following 15 years to about $22,300,000. They were to be specifically earmarked to offset rail losses on passenger trains, branch lines and shipments of Prairie export grain at the low Crowsnest Pass rate level.

No clue was given on government plans for the $20,000,000-a-year "roll-back" subsidy which has been paid since 1959 to ease the effect of a 17 - per - cent freight rate increase authorized in late 1958.

Current legislation under which the "roll-back" payments are made does not expire until April 30.

Menon Issue Enlivens Quiet Indian Election

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The election battle of Defence Minister V. K. Krishna Kenon today emerged as the hottest spot in the closing stages of India's biggest and so far dullest campaign.

Prime Minister Nehru went to bat for Menon Monday, accusing vested interests, including industrialists, of opposing the defence chief because they were afraid to tackle Nehru himself.

Menon has faced a bitterly personal campaign by his opponent in Bombay for the elections starting Friday.

Gandhian disciple Achrya J. B. Kripalani has accused Menon of being a "Chinese agent" and "crypto - Communist." Opposition posters plastered across Bombay show red bayonets piercing India from the north.

Kripalani, who is strongly backed by Bombay industrialists, has accused Menon of totalitarian ambitions and of failing India by allowing China to infiltrate 12,000 square miles of border territory.

TACTICS MAY BACKFIRE

Political observers, who gave Menon only a 50-50 chance at the start of the campaign, now see a sharp shift in his favor and attribute it to Kripalani's tactics.

Nehru himself and his ruling Congress party are in virtually unassailable positions, due to the 72-year-old prime minister's personal hold over the 210,000,000 registered voters.

Nearly 2,000 candidates were listed to contest 494 parliamentary seats in the world's biggest free elections, beginning Friday and staggered over 10 days.

Nehru's congress party has been continuously in power since 1947 and has 371 seats in the present House.

Its majority might be reduced by two right-wing groups, the Hindu-based Jan Sangh party and the two-year-old conservative Swatnatra (freedom) party.

Claims Alberta Seeks to Deter Fluoridation

EDMONTON (CP)—A member of the royal commission on health services charged Tuesday that the Alberta government has placed a "deterrent" against fluoridation of community water supplies.

The charge was made by Dr. C. L. Strachan, a practising dentist from London, Ont., who noted at a commission hearing that recognized health authorities have repeatedly endorsed fluoridation as a means of combatting tooth decay.

He said fluoridation cuts dental decay by 60 per cent.

Dr. Strachan asked Alberta Health Minister J. Donovan Ross why the province maintains a "deterrent" by requiring that community fluoridation plebiscites obtain a two-thirds majority.

Dr. Ross replied that this requirement had been set by the legislature. Dr. Strachan asked whether the legislature did not take the advice of the health department—the minister had said he personally favored fluoridation.

Dr. Ross said provincial legislators can "throw my recommended legislation right back in my face and sometimes do."

The commission chairman, Saskatchewan's Chief Justice Emmett Hall, cut the exchange at that point, observing that it was not within the commission's authority to question cabinet ministers on matters of government policy.

ON WAY OUT — The mythical thunderbird, mascot of British Columbia coastal Indians, is on its way out. Indians at Bella Coola, 250 miles north of Vancouver, no longer take seriously generations-old myths surrounding the strange-looking eagle that stands atop many totem poles. The thunderbird dance, a ritual of tribal initiations, now is used chiefly to raise money at community concerts in white communities. (CP Photo).

Mythical Thunderbird, Mascot Of Coastal Indians, May Be Headed for Extinction

By JOHN MATTERS

BELLA COOLA, BC (CP)—The mythical thunderbird, a weird - looking eagle that is the mascot of coastal Indians, appears headed for extinction.

A creature standing atop many totem poles, the thunderbird has been a symbol to the outside world of the native community living on the shores of the Pacific whose people long ago mastered the art of making dug-out canoes.

Lawrence Pootlass, hereditary chief of the Bella Coola Indians—keepers of the thunderbird legend—says his people no longer take seriously the myth handed down through the generations.

Once the main ritual of tribal initiation ceremonies, the thunderbird dance now is enacted at community concerts to raise money for the Parent-Teacher Association or hospital.

SEEN AT CHRISTMAS

The performers have under their arms soft drink bottles filled with water, which is sprayed on the audience if the show starts to get dull.

"I don't know how long the thunderbird dance will last," said the 31-year-old chief who works at a nearby sawmill. "My kids only see it once or twice a year."

Mrs. Pootlass and the six children live here while her 31-year-old husband works at a sawmill about 20 miles down Dean Channel. Natives once used to make their living as employees of coastal canneries, but most of those have closed in recent years.

The children, born in a United Church mission hospital here, attend the same school as white children and, like other natives, are accepted in community activities.

BUILT OWN ROAD

Until recent years Bella Coola successfully kept people out, and kept others in. A group of Norwegians who travelled by sea first settled here in the 19th century and no one could make his home at the townsite without permission of Norwegian community leaders.

There wasn't an overland route to the interior of British Columbia until 1954, when members of Bella Coola Board of Trade, who said their pleas met no response from the department of highways, built a road themselves.

The route through the Coast Range involved construction of 50 miles of road, 10 through mountains.

The most famous person to walk through what now is Bella Coola was Sir Alexander Mackenzie, who made the historic journey from Fort Chipewyan, on Lake Athabaska, to the Pacific Coast in 1793.

About 15 miles from town there is a rock on which Sir Alexander wrote his famous inscription in vermillion and grease: "From Canada by land, 1793."

It was 133 years later that Cliff Kopas, then living near Calgary, decided to follow the explorer's route on horseback. He and his young bride settled here and raised a family.

Mr. Kopas, who owns a general store, has been a member of the Board of Trade since it was formed 10 years ago and has become unofficial mayor of the community.

He organized townspeople into work crews which built the road through the mountains and cleared a 3,400 - foot aircraft landing strip out of timber

Township Buys Feeder Canal From Crown

DUNNVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The Township of Sherbrooke has purchased the 100-year-old feeder canal, which runs two miles from Stromness to the Grand River, from the Crown Assets Corporation for $5,100.

The canal joins the Grand River near its Lake Erie mouth.

With the purchase the township gets all the leases covering water lots for summer cottages and docking facilities for the local fishing industry. Fifty-five acres of land go with the canal, all of it said to be suitable for industrial expansion.

The canal, which operated horse-drawn barges as late as 1876, now is a source of drainage for half of Sherbrooke Township and a small part of Mounton Township.

Medical Bills For Child Paid By Students

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP)—It took 9,000 pounds of assorted chocolates, but the medical bills for two-year-old Karen Dodge are paid.

Karen was scalded two days before Christmas when she spilled a coffee pot off the kitchen stove.

Her father, Herbert Dodge, had let his hospital insurance lapse.

Little Karen needed blood transfusions, round-the-clock nursing and skin grafts. Students and teachers at Brownell junior high school in Grosse Point where Dodge teaches, went from door to door selling chocolates—9,000 boxes.

The profits came to $3,700 and Monday the student committees went to doctors, the hospitals, the laboratories, paying the bills.

Refusal to Hold Summit Meet Annoys Reds

Pravda Charges West Does Not Want Accord

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said today the Anglo-American refusal to participate in an 18-country "summit" showed the two countries did not want a solution to disarmament.

The comment followed letters handed over here Wednesday in which President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan turned down a proposal by Premier Khrushchev that heads of government should open the 18-country Geneva disarmament talks in March.

Kennedy and Macmillan repeated their suggestion that the disarmament parley be opened at the foreign minister level.

United States Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson today received the British and French ambassadors, apparently to discuss the disarmament conference.

Pravda said the refusals by Kennedy and Macmillan to participate "can mean but one thing: A conscious desire not to seek a solution to the problems of disarmament."

TERMS IRRESPONSIBLE

The Pravda article, by political commentator Victor Mayevski, said the refusal was "an irresponsible step which cannot leave the peoples of the world undisturbed."

He said the Western position contained "all kinds of reservations which only stress the lack of serious arguments and, alas, lack of sincerity of the West."

Observers in Moscow believe Khrushchev may attend the Geneva disarmament conference next month despite the Anglo-American refusal to make it a heads-of-state affair.

FLAG ISSUE STILL UP IN AIR IN HOUSE

Proposals Talked Out in Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—The issue of a distinctive Canadian flag was blown about the Commons chamber again Wednesday and remained, as usual, up in the air.

For the second time in this young session members pondered what sort of flag—or flags—should be adopted.

The occasion was debate on a private bill proposed by Laurier Regnier (PC — St. Boniface) urging the government consider a national referendum asking Canadians: "Are you in favor of a flag for Canada which would not include the emblem of any other country?"

The same question was debated last year. The same result occurred Wednesday with the matter still under debate at the end of the allotted hour. But no vote was taken; the proposal was "talked out" and reverted to the bottom of a long list of other private MPs' proposals.

WILL DELAY

Liberal Leader Pearson said a referendum would mean more delay and accentuate the country's division on the question. The federal cabinet should choose a flag and submit it to parliamentary approval, but "I do believe that the Union Jack or an emblem with the Union Jack should continue to be honored in this country. . ."

Murdo Martin (CCF—Timmins) backed the Regnier referendum proposal.

Margaret Aitken (PC — York Humber) wanted retention of a Union Jack and Robert Lafreniere (PC — Quebec Montmorency) supported the Pearson formula.

Mr. Pearson reiterated the Liberal plan: Decide on a flag in cabinet, then submit it to Parliament for ultimate approval. "That flag would be the national flag of Canada." He said a Liberal government would take such a step within two years of taking office.

Mr. Pearson said such a flag would have to be distinctive in the sense that it could not be mistaken for that of any other nation.

O. W. Weichel (PC—Waterloo North) favored a referendum but said a Commons committee should make the final choice of a flag.

European Lands Not Worried About War

TORONTO (CP)—The nations of Europe are not worried about a nuclear war, Public Works Minister Walker said Wednesday night.

He told members of the Ontario Insurance Adjusters Association he gained this impression from talks with people in England, France and Sweden last November.

Mr. Walker said it is evident no country desires war less than Russia.

"It has been shown that they get other nations steamed up to get concessions but in a crisis they always back down."

Adenauer Talks To de Gaulle on Political Unity

BADEN-BADEN (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met in this West German city today in a surprise conference to discuss political union of the six-country Common Market.

The unexpected meeting was announced barely 12 hours before the two leaders got together.

Adenauer is disturbed by de Gaulle's hesitancy to move quickly toward giving the members of the Common Market political as well as economic unity.

DANCING PARTNERS — Smiling Princess Margaret of Britain dances with her husband, The Earl of Snowdon, as they attend annual ball of Canadian Universities Society in a London restaurant. GOVT. DECLINES TO GIVE DETAILS OF GRAIN DEAL

Opposition Beaten On Two Votes

OTTAWA (CP)—The government declined Wednesday to make public the documents involved in sales of wheat and barley to Red China.

Questions about the arrangements have been before the Commons since Jan. 29. The government's reply has been to let the matter stand until Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton returns from an illness which began more than three weeks ago.

Wednesday George McIlraith (L—Ottawa West) said in the Commons there seems to be "no adequate reason" for the delay. The matter was twice put to a vote and over-ridden both times by the big government majority.

Both votes were 146 to 44 with one Conservative and the CCF.

Vivacious Princess With Hubby Sparks Canada's Valentine Ball

LONDON (CP)—A vivacious Princess Margaret, suntanned from her recent West Indies vacation, danced until nearly one o'clock this morning at a Canadian Valentine's Day ball.

The function was the annual dinner-ball given by the Canadian Universities Society of Great Britain; the place, Quaglino's, a restaurant off Piccadilly favored by the debutante set.

The princess was escorted by her husband, the Earl of Snowdon. It was her third public engagement since the birth Nov. 3 of their son, Viscount Linley.

The guests of honor were received by George Drew, Canadian high commissioner in London.

Margaret held an animated conversation during dinner with her neighbor, Lovat Dickson, president of the society. About 300 members of the society and their guests attended the ball.

After dinner the Snowdons led off the dancing to the music of Tommy Kinsman — one of Princess Margaret's favorite bandleaders in the days when she frequented London's night spots.

Dressed in a sapphire velvet gown, and with diamonds sparkling at her wrist and throat, the petite princess swirled around the crowded dance-floor looking more like a glamorous cover-girl than the Queen's regal sister.

After the princess and Lord Snowdin had circled the floor, Drew and Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, wife of the deputy high commissioner, joined them and others followed. Mrs. Drew, suffering a slight illness, was unable to attend.

The ball was in aid of the society's fund for providing scholarships and helping Canadian students who come to Britain for post-graduate work.

The princess and Lord Snowdon rocked with laughter at a cabaret impressionist who freely poked fun at British politicians, world leaders and even earls.

The princess's new long hair-style drew admiring glances and many of the guests commented that Lord Snowdon, too, acquired a new style in the Caribbean. His fair hair, lightened by the sun, was cut shorter and brushed straight back, replacing the former part at the side.

The princess ventured on the crowded dance floor several times while Lord Snowdon spent most of the time at their table, almost chain-smoking through a cigarette holder and chatting with other guests.

Wednesday's Algerian Toll In Communal Clashes Is 33

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Rail, gas and electricity workers went on strike here as violence again broke out in Algiers today.

The strikes were called to protest the killing of European public service employees earlier this week and to demand more protection from security forces. Three thousand persons Wednesday followed the funeral procession of a utility worker killed by Moslem insurgents Monday.

Shots from a speeding car in Algiers badly wounded a Moslem motorcyclist today following large-scale violence in Moslem - European communal clashes Wednesday.

Thirty-three persons died and 86 were injured in Moslem-European - communal clashes mainly in Oran and Algiers, the country's two largest cities. Twenty-one of the dead were Moslems.

The death toll was only exceeded by that of Jan. 3, when 38 were killed in violence rising out of Algierian independence claims and European opposition to them. Every day since the New Year has seen its list of dead and injured in communal trouble.

Europeans in the Belcourt suburb of Algiers poured out of their houses and attacked Moslems indiscriminately Wednesday night after a car sped through a main street spraying bullets that killed two persons and wounded three.

Five Moslems were injured by the rioters and a Moslem shot two of them dead.

Twenty - three dead were counted in the western port city of Oran as troops opened fire on enraged Moslems, rioting after their quarter was blasted by 44 plastic bomb explosions attributed to the anti - independence European Secret Army Organization.

The Moslem rioters ousted police and rescue workers and poured into the European quarter, sacking and burning stores and stoning cars.

Troops opened fire on one group of rioters and killed nine. A French lieutenant died and four soldiers were injured in another street battle.

The dead officer was Lieut. Philippe Jacquot, son of Gen. Pierre Jacquot, commander-in-chief of NATO's central European forces.

Some 11,000 Women Sized In Clothing Research

OTTAWA (CP) — A research project — measuring 11,000 females in 59 different places—may someday pay off for women in Canada.

The project is the key to a plan to devise standard sizes for women's clothing—based on body measurements.

To get the basic data, specially-trained researchers in the United States measured 10,000 women — fat, thin, tall, stout, plump, skinny, young, old and in-between.

Then, to make sure the U.S. information could be applied to Canadian women, researchers measured 1,000 women in this country.

They measured each of them in 59 different places.

"How can you find 59 different places to measure on a woman?" asked one reporter at the press conference where the plan was explained. There was no answer.

The idea will get its first real try-out in Canada this month starting with the bare essentials—children's underwear.

Underwear made to the rigid specifications of the Canada Standard Size is to be sold in some of the larger stores across the country. If successful, it will be expanded into other kinds of children's clothing.

The CSS system took nine years to devise. The specifications have cabinet approval in a formal order-in-council.

Last October the cabinet authorized 19 dimensional standards for children's clothing, ranging from girls' panties to boys' ankle-length drawers.

Since then, some manufacturers have turned out underwear to the specifications. This entitles them to carry a special label, a big C with Canada Standard Size inside the loop.

The label will contain a size, such as 26Y, which means the garment will fit a girl with a hip measurement of 25 to 27 inches and a waist measurement of 19 to 21 inches.

The number is the key hip measurement. The letter is the second control factor—A for a slim chest, B for a sturdy chest, Y for a slim waist and Z for a sturdy waist.

The new sizing system may eventually replace the present method of buying children's clothing by ages.

NOWLAN REJECTS DEMAND FOR CBC CONTROLS

PC Backbenchers Get Into the Act

OTTAWA (CP) — Revenue Minister Nowlan Wednesday overrode some voices of discontent from Conservative back benches and gave a flat "No" to a party supporter's request for government interference in CBC programming.

Detecting what he called "cat calls" after his Commons statement, Mr. Nowlan added in even stronger terms that government interference with the publicly-owned CBC would lay the foundations for a Fascist or Communist state in Canada.

Cries of "shame"—identified by one Liberal MP at the time as coming from the government side of the House—followed Mr. Nowlan's "No" to a request that he use his influence to remove the CBC television program Quest and try to control "apparently degenerate minds" that appeared to have taken over CBC programming.

Edwin W. Brunsden (PC — Medicine Hat) made the request after saying he had received letters describing the program as "depraved," "disgusting," "absolutely immoral" and "garbage" as well as "a rank violation of the sanctity of the Canadian home and family."

REFERS TO QUEST

Later, Mr. Brunsden said he was referring to the CBC network television series Quest on Sunday nights, and particularly one recent program in that series entitled Crawling Arnold.

Quest has a varied fare of dramas, comedy sketches, interviews and topical monologues. It runs for a half-hour starting at 10:30 p.m. EST each Sunday.

Mr. Nowlan, who reports to the Commons on broadcasting, said that even he has been "disturbed" by the number of protests he has received about programs similar to the one Mr. Brunsden mentioned.

But he said the action should be taken by the senior officers J. Alphonse Ouimet, Vice-President Capt. W. E. S. Briggs and their associates in Ottawa—and not by the government.

"Protests should be sent to them so they may hear what the Canadian people are saying and deal with the censorship of this organization," he said. He suspected that many complaints go to junior CBC officials in Toronto who may acknowledge letters but "toss the protest in the waste basket."

Heroin Dealer Given 15 Years At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — John Ross, described as the "largest retail distributor of narcotics in this country," has been sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in prison for possessing heroin.

Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer imposed sentence Wednesday against the 41-year-old Ross. The sentence was the maximum for a first offender.

Ross, a Negro, was convicted last Oct. 6 of possession of narcotics with intent to sell. Police said he was found with 2.2 pounds of heroin with an illicit market retail value estimated between $250,000 and $500,000.

Orbital Flight Again Delayed By Bad Weather

27,000 Square Miles Covered by Storm

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A 54-mile gale sweeping across the central Atlantic forced the United States today to cancel its ninth attempt to rocket astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., around the world. The next try is Friday—at the earliest.

The storm, covering an area of about 27,000 square miles, was diving 18 - foot waves through the area where Glenn would have to land in event of an emergency during the first few minutes after liftoff.

The centre of this storm is located about 950 miles east of Bermuda.

The postponement was announced by Paul Haney, news director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, at 1:18 a.m. EST.

As it did Wednesday, the "scrub" came after a special weather briefing for Project Mercury director Walter C. Williams at the Cape Canaveral control centre. The briefing began at midnight.

Immediately after the decision was made, the White House was advised of the further delay in the planned launch which was first scheduled for Dec. 20.

Glenn was awakened at 1:05 a.m. by his doctor, William Douglas, and advised of postponement.

Subsequently Douglas said that Glenn appeared to be somewhat disappointed and the doctor quoted Glenn as saying:

"Everything is still go but the weather. When we get weather we will go." The doctor said Glenn then went back to bed.

Earlier in the day Glenn's psychologist, Dr. Robert Voas, said the astronaut had heard of inquiries by reporters on the subject of how he relaxed after these repeated postponements.

Voas said Glenn asked him to "tell the press my relaxation consists of sleeping." The doctr said Glenn did not take sleeping pills or tranquillizers.

Soviet Hockey Team Out of Title Match

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians announced tonight their withdrawal from the world ice hockey championships in Colorado Springs, Colo., next month in protest against the exclusion of Communist East Germany from the competition.

The Soviet Ice Hockey Federation announced the decision in a statement published by the official news agency Tass.

Vassili Napkstnikov, head of the federation, said:

"This decision was taken in connection with the disgraceful act of political discrimination against the (East) German democratic republic, a full-fledged member of the International Ice Hockey League."

The Western allied travel bureau in West Berlin has refused to grant the necessary travel documents to the East German athletes.

Napkstnikov also attacked international league president Robert LeBel of Chambly, Que., for refusing to move the championship to another site after the East Germans were prevented from travelling to the United States.

Uncle Sam Busily Taps Peace Drum While Fighting Brushfire Conflict

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States is beating the peace drum with one hand while trying to put out a dangerous military brushfire with the other. Prospects for both ventures, which have implications for Canada and other countries, are not bright.

The guerrilla fight in South Viet Nam has startid to swell and U.S. authorities acknowledge that at any moment, if the Communist Chinese decide to move in force, the jungle war could flare into a major battle that might spread and gradually suck in the Western powers.

While the United States has spent more than $2,000,000,000 in the last seven years to support a pro-Western regime in that Southeast Asian territory, the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem is reported to be growing more unpopular by the day. Reports of a Korean-type military coup are growing.

South Viet Nam is supposed to be protected by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization of which the United States, Britain and France are major members. But Britain and France are cool to the idea of involvement in that jungle land. President Kennedy finds himself virtually alone.

He has described the Communist infiltration there as causing a war "of growing ferocity." He is reported to have increased U.S. manpower aid to more than 4,000 servicemen, working as military instructors but ordered to return enemy fire. He has enlarged the military assistance program in South Viet Nam by putting Gen. Paul D. Larkins in command.
